EATEN FRANCE AWAITS DICTATORS' TERMS

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE
President Roosevelt has said that he is working out a plan for compulsory conscription of American youth for arms in defense of the country. There will be a force at the disposal of the country which will be used to attack rather than to defend. There are some who would say that this is a foolish argument. The pioneer citizens of this country did not consider the use of arms in their hands sufficient to insure the country from the Indians. They succumbed to the argument that the frontier was the enemy of the country. They took the view that it was better to be prepared to resist which is the reason that we are here to-

Republicans At Work On Platform

Plan for Universal Service Is Studied by President

The American people for the most part doubt and uncertainty are even openly questioning the downfall of the government in the country and the control of the western hemisphere by the dictators. Such an obsession is silly, of course, as it perceives militarization.
There is one answer to this condition which will jitter and get nanking back to normal is preparedness. American people know they are prepared to defend themselves and their country. That assurance will be given to the public mind and nervous normalcy. It is the United States embarking upon an armament program. It is the thousands of tanks and guns and ships will be out by a mobilized force to equip our defenses and render the British empire, fighting to preserve civilization we must resist the attacks of dictators.

Miss Pass to Represent Lions in Lake Revue

The Cisco Lions club will be represented in the Fourth of July bathing revue at Lake Cisco by its pianist, Miss Martha Jo Pass. Martha Jo, incidentally, had the program for the day, presenting Miss Gloria Graham, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Graham, in a violin number, with Miss Clara June Kimble of Eastland, as accompanist, and Joe Tom Poe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Poe, in two readings.
Neil Lane announced that plans for the annual Cisco Rodeo were completed and that a pep rally for the rodeo would be held on the vacant lot adjoining the First Baptist church next Friday night.
"We are going to have a surprise for you," he said. "For the next two weeks people in Cisco are going to quit talking about Hitler and talk about this rodeo."
Charles Lockhart, Jr., of Abilene, was a guest of C. M. Nevill.

Three Recruiting Stations In Area

ABILENE, June 19 (Sp)—Two of six new U. S. army recruiting stations in the Dallas district will be opened at Breckenridge and Eastland about July 1, Sergeant Herman Parham, in charge of the local station, disclosed yesterday.
A station already has been established at Brownwood, he said. The other three are in East Texas, at McKinney, Gainesville and Mount Pleasant.
A report that a new station will be opened in Abilene is unfounded, Parham added.

ATTEND HEARING

Harry Reynolds and R. L. Ponsler attended the statewide protraction hearing called at Austin yesterday by the Texas Railroad commission.

COUNCIL MEETING

There will be a meeting of the recreation council tonight at 8 o'clock, in the recreation offices, 215 Huey building, it was announced today. Members are urged to attend.

NAZI PLANES RAID ENGLAND, 7 SHOT DOWN

LONDON, June 19 (P)—The air ministry announced today that seven German aircraft were shot down during bombing raids during the night on eastern England.
Eleven civilians were known to have been killed and 14 injured.
Most casualties occurred in one locality where bombs fell on a row of houses.
No severe damage was done to any military objective.
From the Thames estuary to Yorkshire, the German bombers ranged.
The British press association said that the bombs dropped on the Thames—bottleneck of British shipping—exploded harmlessly in marshes.
Watches Cheer
Bomb-roused sleepers in Essex cheered hoarsely as one German raider was shot down and burst into flames near a main highway.
Another bomber was sent crashing into wreckage in Norfolk. Up and down the coast searchlights, anti-aircraft guns, the thud of bombs and the roar of planes made the night bright and noisy with the light.
Raid warnings lasted for nearly four hours at some east coast centers, and dawn was breaking as people streamed out of shelters.
There were indications that the royal air force might have struck an almost simultaneous blow at Germany.
British sources said the Gremen and Hamburg radio stations were suddenly silenced last night—a precaution usually taken to prevent raiding planes from "riding the beam" to an objective.
Battle In Glare
Watches in East Anglia, which includes Essex and Norfolk counties, let out a roar of cheers when they saw a German bomber plummet to earth and crash in the flaming climax of a brightly searchlighted sky-fight with a British fighter.
People for miles around could see the battle in the glare of searchlights which held the raider until it struck the earth.
Bombs dropped near the east coast village injured one man seriously and demolished an empty

Youth Would Be Divided Between Arms, Industry

WASHINGTON, June 18 (P)—President Roosevelt Tuesday disclosed he was working on a huge plan for eventual government service for all of America's young men, some of whom would be in the fighting forces and the rest in such vital activities as industrial production and conservation of resources.
Young women, too, may be included in the plan, he said at a press conference. He emphasized a period of disciplined training, say a year for each youth, would be good for the young people of the nation, besides promoting the national defense.
Almost as he spoke, the house naval committee unanimously recommended a $4,000,000,000 additional naval program, to give the United States far and away the mightiest navy that ever sailed the seas. The committee, with its thoughts on the German march in Europe, acted with unheard of speed. Only this morning it had received the program from Admiral Harold R. Stark, the chief of naval operations.
To Meet Any Threat
The tremendous bill, legislators said, is designed to give the nation a fleet strong enough to meet any threat from Germany, Italy and Japan—to defend both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts at the same time.
The 200 fighting craft which would include, besides battleships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines, two new types of vessels, informed sources asserted. One, it was said, would be a speedy transport capable of carrying completely equipped detachments of marines with their tanks and light artillery. Legislators assert the navy already was negotiating with the maritime commission for two and probably three such vessels.
The other new types would be a heavy cruiser of about 28,000 tons, carrying 11-inch guns and strong armor, and capable of making swift journeys to any trouble spot in the south Atlantic.

Stressing that the idea of universal training was still in the study stage, President Roosevelt said he might have something to say to congress on the matter in three, four or six weeks, if the WASHINGTON, June 19 (P)—Nazarenes increased their benevolent giving 51 per cent, to a total of $18,000,000 during the quadrennium, it was announced Monday night by Dr. R. T. Williams, in the quadrennial address of the board of general superintendents to the tenth general assembly in Oklahoma City's municipal auditorium.

Pastors of the denomination received over six million dollars, an increase of approximately two million over the previous four years.
The church holds first place among the 25 leading denominations in per capita giving, having averaged more than $30 per member for each of the four years.
The report showed an increase of 24 per cent in church membership to a total of 172,144. The membership doubled in a decade, having been $1,649 in 1930.
In this quadrennium 362 new congregations have been organized.

SEVEN INCHES OF RAIN HERE THIS MONTH

Rainiest June in Many Years Is Recorded In Cisco

Thundershowers still falling toward noon today at 10 o'clock had pushed the total rainfall for the first 19 days of June to 7.2 inches, according to the records at the city hall, making the month already by a considerable margin, the rainiest June in many years.
This morning's rainfall totalled approximately one inch at ten o'clock.

Included in the month's record of rain was one downpour of more than four inches, a virtual cloudburst, which subjected some parts of the city to small floods and increased the level of Lake Cisco by more than a foot. The total rise in the level of the lake during the past few weeks has overcome the loss sustained during the last two years, although it is still considerably short of the high water mark. It was pointed out that the lake has caught very little water during the last four years, although rainfall has been ample to give good crops, there was little run-off during the period.
With the soaked condition of the ground now, however, a modest fall of rain on the lake watershed sends water into the lake.
Considerable damage has been done to grain crops, since there has been little opportunity for the past three weeks to harvest the crops. A great percentage is still in the fields and little likelihood that it can be harvested now.
Sandy land districts south of Cisco are waterlogged and farmers there were viewing further precipitation rather gloomily.

Superintendent of Eastland School Dies

EASTLAND, June 19 (Sp)—P. B. Bittle, superintendent of the Eastland public schools, died about 10:30 Tuesday morning while en route from the high school to the Eastland hospital.
Moreland Baldwin, band instructor at the Eastland schools, said Mr. Bittle called him to his office to confer with him about an order for some books and while he was in his office Mr. Bittle said he was not feeling well. He told Baldwin that he had a dizzy spell on the way to school and fell.
Before leaving the office, Mr. Bittle asked Baldwin to call Dr. L. C. Brown, which Mr. Baldwin did, waiting in the office until Dr. Brown arrived. Baldwin then went back to his work. Dr. Brown took Mr. Bittle in his car and started to the Eastland hospital with him when he died en route.
Mr. Bittle, who was 65 years of age, had been superintendent of the Eastland schools for 13 years. He had also been reelected for the present term. He came from Big Spring to Eastland.

Madame Marie Terese Petaim, of El Paso, Texas, sister-in-law of France's Premier, Marshal Henri Philippe Petaim, who claims her late husband's younger brother is too old to be in such a responsible position. Madame Petaim is 83; Marshal Petaim 88.

Rodeo Committee Announces Plans

The junior chamber of commerce rodeo committee met Wednesday afternoon to further plans for the annual rodeo to be held here July 3 and 4 at Chesley field.
The committee reported that men and trucks were busy on the construction of an arena at the athletic field.
Automobile caravans to advertise the rodeo will go on the road the early part of next week, according to plans being made. Included on the hours will be music by a local fiddlers' band, and two troupes. A complete loud speaking system has been secured for the arena, which will include an anticipated 50 cars.
A "pep rally" and sample of the programs to be presented by the caravans will be given here Friday night at 7:30 on the vacant lot east of the First Baptist church. Much cowboy regalia and western spirit will be in evidence at this time.
The committee warned citizens to watch the paper for advance notice of when to start wearing cowboy attire in the business district. This and the jail sentence involved in the failure to adhere to this requirement, is the source of much of the fun of the yearly event.

PETAIM TELLS ARMY TO KEEP ON FIGHTING

Details of Demands Not to Be Known Until France Acts

By Associated Press
German bombers howled up and down the English east coast from the Thames estuary to Yorkshire last night and early today, while war-broken but unconquered France awaited the peace terms which Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini are reported to have decided quickly and secretly at Munich.
Four of the German raiders were shot down in the spectacular aerial fighting and ground gunning along England's shores—a preview of the epochal "battle of England" which Prime Minister Winston Churchill forecast yesterday.
That the demands of the German and Italian dictators on France might not be the "honorable peace" which the French insist upon was seen in the order from Premier Marshal Henri Philip Petaim to his battered troops to fight on against the Nazi invaders of France.
Await French Reply
It was explained in Munich, scene of the historic meeting of the axis chieftains, that the world probably would be left waiting for details of their decision until France accepts or rejects.
Hitler and Mussolini left Munich immediately for undisclosed destinations, presumably their war headquarters.
While the two geography-revisers of a "new Europe" strode from the meeting which will change the map of the world, the French calmly awaited the bad news.
Responding to the order to fight on, issued in the name of Marshal Petaim and Generalissimo Weygand, weary poilus fought up and down a broken front with a heroism born of desperation.
"All French and allied combatants on land, sea and in the air are notified that no armistice and no suspension of fighting have occurred," said the order broadcast from Bordeaux. "Negotiations are the only thing that has been planned and they have not yet commenced."

Fire Insurance Rates Show Drop

AUSTIN, June 19 (P)—Fire insurance rates in Texas last year were reduced from an average 99c per $100 to 91c, the lowest in Texas history, it was announced at an insurance commission hearing Thursday.
Blaine Satterfield of Austin, a member of the fact-finding committee of the Texas Firemen's and Fire Marshals association, told the commission also that an average 16.24 per cent underwriting profit was too high.
The state commission considered many matters pertaining to writing fire and windstorm insurance but decisions were withheld pending a study of evidence.
Miss Bessie Lee Lawrence of Sweetwater spent the week-end here with her parents.

Air Unit Added to Ranger NYA Project

Addition of an Aeronautical Mechanics unit to the NYA shop project at Ranger was announced this week by H. A. Ziegler, NYA district director, Fort Worth.
Claude C. Lear of Borger has been selected as instructor of the unit. Mr. Lear comes highly recommended in the Aeronautical field. In addition to four years of army experience, he has had several years to his credit with various independent airplane factories.
About twenty boys will be initially assigned to the new unit, it is expected.
Opening date of the Aeronautical Unit has been set as coincidental with the removal to the new barracks, about July 1. Occupancy of the new barracks will permit the enrollment of an additional 40 boys.
Applications should be addressed to Jack Hale, NYA area supervisor, 212-2-4 National Bank Building, Eastland.

MAKES HOME HERE

Mrs. Rosalie Mary Pentecost of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, arrived Friday to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. P. R. Warwick, and Mr. Warwick. Mrs. Pentecost has been here several times and has many friends in Cisco.

Let Consuls Be Consuls--Only

MAYOR LA GUARDIA of New York, deeply distressed by the entrance of Italy into the war (for La Guardia is an American of Italian origins, and fought with the Italians in an American aviation unit during the World War), has called attention to a point of the greatest importance.

The persons of duly accredited consular offices will be fully protected, he assured, and all of their rights under the treaties respected. But, he added,

"On the other hand, may I most respectfully say we shall expect consular officers to adhere strictly to their consular duties."

Those are fair, clear words, and they lay down a basic policy which without doubt all the people of the United States will echo.

DIPLOMATS and consular officers are privileged people. Countries receive them from the lands of their origin to facilitate official communication between the countries, to smooth the paths of trade, and to look after the interests of citizens of the country from which they come in the country where they are accredited.

But it ought to be plainly noted that the consular and diplomatic privileges apply only to persons plainly accredited by their home governments in performing services and duties agreed on by treaty between the two countries concerned. They do not include working for the home country in any way outside those agreed channels and fields.

THE country faced this problem when it was yet young. "Citizen" Genet came here from revolutionary France and immediately went to work with direct agitation among American citizens in his cause, and with outfitting privateers, recruiting volunteers, and engineering military expeditions against powers with which the United States was at peace.

Washington had an answer to all this. It was to insist on, and to secure, Genet's recall.

The same answer would be given in any similar situation today. Diplomats and consular officers of all nations with which the United States is at peace are welcome, and will be protected in their proper functions. No activities beyond these well-defined spheres will be tolerated for a moment.

Posters urging Colorado voters to restore racing in that state show the horses running the wrong way. That's nothing new to folks who bet 'em.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Hungary's Scout Stamp Shows Excellent Design

ONE of the finest examples of stamp design is the 1939 Hungarian issue above, one of four values commemorating the World Girl Jamboree at Godollo, Hungary last July. The stamp combines several designs—the Girl Scout lily, the shield of Hungary, the crown of St. Stephen and a clover leaf—without crowding or obscuring any one of its components. Below is another stamp of the same issue.

Girl Scouts also were honored philatelically in Rumania's Boy Scout issue of 1935 in a stamp picturing sea, land and Girl Scouts. Soviet Russia pictured a Girl Pioneer at salute in the Pioneer issue of 1936.

Boy Scout stamps include issues of Hungary, Rumania, Holland and Netherlands Indies.

Candidate for State Supt. Campaigns Here

Demanding an elimination of pernicious politics from the state department of education, S. R. Lemay of Athens Tuesday brought his active campaign for state superintendent of public instruction to Eastland county.

Lemay, for 18 years superintendent of schools at Athens, polled 275,000 votes for the post in 1938, although he was able to devote only six weeks to the campaign.

This year he is conducting an intensive person-to-person campaign, talking Texas school programs with business men, farmers, workers and newspaper editors.

Among the items in his platform Lemay listed:

- 1. Distribution of rural aid money by an automatic method, free of political pressure, so that schools may know in advance how to plan their budget.
- 2. Maintenance of the $22 per capita apportionment.
- 3. Intensified instruction in house and damaged several others.

The authoritative British press association said bombs dropped on the Thames estuary "fell on the marshes and did no damage whatsoever."

Anti-Aircraft Fire

Hundreds of searchlights flashed on at the first alarm and caught several planes which twisted and turned in the beams as the curtain of fire crept up on them.

Anti-aircraft batteries were in almost continuous action for more than two hours.

Anti-aircraft guns kept up a drumfire against the Thames estuary raiders aiming their bombs at crowded docks and vital shipping. The thunder of exploding bombs continued until after midnight, despite the rain of anti-aircraft shells.

Planes were heard over many towns, and air raid sirens shrieked.

What appeared to be flares were dropped by planes before explosives shook houses in Norfolk.

Houses were shaken also by bombs near the east coast town.

An indication that British airmen were repaying the attacks was seen in the sudden silencing of the Bremen and Hamburg radio stations. Reuters, British news agency, said the stations went off the air for the second successive night without explanation.

COME ON IN, THE WATER'S FINE.

But before you go swimming, the Oil Belt Safety Council asks you to remember that a lot of people are drowned every year because they didn't follow a few simple rules of water safety.

Never swim alone.

Wait at least an hour after eating.

Don't swim when overheated.

Don't dive until you are sure the water is deep enough and free of obstructions.

Never swim far from shore unless accompanied by a boat.

Keep your head if you have trouble in the water. Don't give way to panic and exhaust yourself further by frantic struggling.

Float on your back while signaling.

legislators were still in session. He did not say whether the plan contemplated calling up all the men in certain age groups at the very start, or whether it would be put into effect more gradually.

But he did assert that he felt some sort of training, involving a measure of discipline, ultimately should be provided for every boy.

The chief executive said he had spoken hastily when he recently praised a newspaper editorial recommending universal military training. He was thinking, he explained, of military training in the broad sense, training of men who would be in uniform fighting, in uniform behind the lines, in factories and munitions plants and those maintaining a certain necessary conservation of resources.

Take Seven Years

The $4,000,000,000 naval program, which would take seven years to complete would authorize the navy to build 200 combat ships, raising the total to 738.

The proposal was submitted as a substitute for a $1,200,000,000 naval bill introduced by Senator Walsh (D-Mass) and Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), respective chairmen of the senate and house naval committees.

Testifying publicly after a closed

ed session of the house committee by Chairman Vinson considered the plan "essential to the defense of the country, its possessions and the Monroe doctrine."

Stark did not break down the proposal in terms of appropriations to the present tonnage of 250,000.

Just before final approval of the bill, the committee gave the house a voice in agreement treaty-making and to the sale or charter of vessels without the consent of congress.

Joseph Roberts 16 years ago with his appointment by President Coolidge as prosecutor in the Teapot Dome Oil scandal.

Today, by virtue of a distinguished legal career and a reputation in the high court all through the crucial New Deal test, Roberts is talked of for the presidency. But if the general public old justice is interested, few know it.

Roberts is a Philadelphia lawyer, graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1901, where he later taught law. He became district attorney in 1903, special deputy attorney general to prosecute cases arising out of espionage, sedition and in 1917-18. . . . ### Ticket to Hollywood

BY W. H. PEARS

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
FRANCIE WINSTON—a girl with a voice and ambition to crash the movies.
GUSTY GAIR—garage mechanic who can give out on a trumpet.
JERRY FINNEY—Movieland's youngest glamor man.

YESTERDAY: When Gusty and Francie play and sing for the Elspeth City Jam session, a movie talent scout hears them. He tells of a super-broadcast and forthcoming movie in which youngsters from 48 states are to be starred. Unable to decide whether Francie or Gusty should have the chance for fame, the scout leaves a ticket entitling one of them to participate in the Hollywood broadcast.

CHAPTER II
IT WAS Francie who finally broke the silence, a silence strictly their own, walling them off from the music and chatter that filled Maw's Airport rendezvous.

"Gusty?"
 "Huh?"
 "Was—was . . . he really here? I mean, we didn't dream it?"
 "Naw," Gusty tried to sound disgusted, but his voice shook. "You can see the ticket, can't you?"

Francie nodded dreamily. "Jerry Finney . . ." she breathed, and the name raced a chill along her spine.

Gusty was deep in a reverie of his own. "I got 50 bucks in the bank," he said finally. "A guy'd have to squeeze some to get there on that."

"You!" Francie exclaimed. "What about me?"
 "Don't get yourself in an uproar, Sugar. Girl singers are a dime a dozen. Good hot trumpet men are mighty scarce. Besides, it was me he was talking to."
 "Oh!" Francie's brown eyes were stormy. "That's not true. You're—you're so conceited you think no one else—"

"Holy smoke, Francie, wasn't it me that first got you to swing out?" Gusty stared reproachfully. "That old aunt of yours was teaching you a lot of long-hair stuff. Didn't I fix it with Duke so's you could sing with the band? And now you're as good as I am!"

"Well, I am!" Francie raged. "Mr. Koon distinctly said he didn't care which of us went."
 "Gusty snorted. "Just because

The ticket lay on the table between them. Gusty reached for it. "Gusty Gair, don't you take that!" Francie cried. "I'll never speak to you again."
 "Okay, Francie. No girl's going to tell me what to do."

But the thought of losing him sent quick pain into her throat. "I—I meant what I said," Francie replied, without conviction. "For an instant Gusty's face showed genuine alarm, then hardened into its 'so-what?' mask."

Her chances of getting to Hollywood, Francie knew, were no better than Gusty's. And yet something within her rebelled, as it has in women's breasts from the beginning of time, against male domination.

"Gusty Gair, don't you take that!" Francie cried. "If—if you do, I'll never speak to you again." "Sugar, you can't get along without me," Gusty grinned. Francie choked down angry words. Could she? It had never occurred to her to date any other boy. Gusty's only rival was the curly-headed shadow who flickered periodically across the local movie screen, leaving the imprint of his charm on her heart—Jerry Finney.

By contrast, Gusty was rough and loud and terribly conceited. His romantic moments were rare.

Weston asked. Francie crumpled at his feet and buried her head in his lap. "Oh, Pops, I hate him!" "Hate whom, dear?" "Gusty. He's nothing but a big—"

"Amen," Aunt Hat nodded vigorously over her solitary lay-out. "I never—"

"Please, Hat . . ." Mr. Weston frowned. He was a big man with iron gray hair and a gentle smile. He ran his hand over Francie's disheveled curls. "Now what's wrong, dear?"

Incoherently Francie told them about the amazing Mr. Koon.

Aunt Hat leaped up, scattering cards in every direction. A large-bosomed woman with lemon-colored hair, she had sung once in Die Wilkure and then had given up opera for matrimony. She could forget neither her single flight into Valhalla nor the man who had blighted her career. Her voice still retained a Wagnerian sonority.

"Francie, darling, what an opportunity!"

"Easy, Hat," Mr. Weston protested. "The whole thing's undoubtedly a joke."

"Oh, Pops, no! It—it was . . ."

"You're taking this much too seriously, dear. I'm afraid Hat's been filling your head with foolish ideas. Even if you had the ticket, I wouldn't like the idea."

He chuckled. "I'm hardly the type of father for a glamor girl."

Aunt Hat said sharply, "I suppose you'd rather she stayed in Elspeth City and married a garage mechanic like that windbag Gusty?"

"Perhaps," John Weston said. "I don't happen to agree with your opinion of Gusty. Hard knocks have made him the way he is. It's his defense. His mother died when he was 10. His father put-tered around in show business and doubtless neglected to send money for Gusty's keep."

Francie stopped crying and listened wide-eyed.

John Weston continued: "I remember when the boy was holding down three jobs at once. He worked for his trumpet lessons and at the same time sold magazine and learned the garage business."

"He needn't be such a braggart," Aunt Hat sniffed.

"He's not a—" Francie broke off, remembering that she hated Gusty.

"The boy's only trying to sell himself, Hat."

"So you uphold him in snatching the ticket away from Francie?" Aunt Hat demanded indignantly.

"I do not," Mr. Weston retorted. "However, I will say that he probably was under the influence of the same glamorous nonsense you've been stuffing into Francie."

Aunt Hat retired sulkily to her game. The cards snapped against the silence. Mr. Weston toyed with Francie's hair.

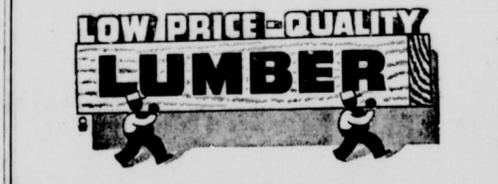

"Hollywood's just like Elspeth City, dear. People fall in love, marry and have babies the same

Sue Witten Is Honoree At Shower Tuesday

Misses Jessie Lee Haynie and Marie Hunterman were co-hostesses Tuesday evening in the Haynie home at a surprise shower given for Miss Sue Witten, bride-elect.

Miss Sue Witten will be married to Mr. John Paul Godwin, band director at Levelland, Sunday, June 23.

Her chosen colors, green and white, were carried out in all appointments. The table was laid with lace and bore a reflector centered by a crystal bowl of fruit, and crystal candle holders with tall green candles.

When the honoree arrived, she was greeted by the strains of Wagner's Bridal Chorus, from Lohengrin, played on the cornet by John James Haynie. A clever reading, entitled "While I Will Stay An Old Maid," was given by Miss Octava Jones.

The gifts were presented to Miss Witten on two large drums.

The invited list included Misses Alice Spencer, Ruth McKissick, Nanelia Bible, Daisy Wood, Norma Ghormley, Bobby Grace McWhorter, Lucy Cole, Octava Jones, Lucy Morehart, Marge Moses, Cathryne Russell, Mmes. Chas. Brown, T. A. Smith and Marston Surles.

Mrs. Clayton Is Hostess to Circle

The Elizabeth Truly circle of the First Baptist Women's Missionary society met Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Mrs. A. P. Clayton, Jr. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. C. A. Farquhar, and the short business meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. S. Surles. The Bible lesson was taught by Mrs. J. R. Burnett, after which the hostess dismissed the group with prayer.

Those present were Mmes. C. A. Farquhar, W. I. Ghormley, J. R. Burnett, T. E. House, Terry Chas. Teague, C. S. Surles, Joe Britain, Jay Warren, Gayle Moore and the hostess, Mrs. Clayton.

Forthcoming Wedding Is Announced

Mrs. Ruby Miller was hostess Monday afternoon in her home when she entertained with a lovely tea announcing the approaching marriage of her daughter, Zona, to David Gaston Alford of Randolph field, San Antonio.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Nick Miller and presented to a receiving line composed of Mrs. Ruby Miller, Miss Miller, Mrs. Carl Alford of Rising Star, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Miss Julia Clare Harper of Brownwood, Mrs. Mary H. Donohy of Dallas, aunt of the bride-elect, Mrs. N. A. Smith of Dallas, cousin of Miss Miller, and Miss Dick Alford of Rising Star, sister of Mr. Alford.

Mrs. R. E. Grantham showed the guests to the dining room, where Mrs. C. H. Fee and Mrs. Rex Moore presided at the crystal service.

The dining table was laid with lace. In the center was placed a reflector, edged with sweetpeas. Placed on the reflector, was an old-fashioned crystal scale, on one side of which was a tiny red schoolhouse and teacher, and on the other side, over-balancing the scale, was an airplane and pilot. This arrangement was flanked on the four sides by tall silver tapers in crystal holders.

The buffet was dominated by a doll dressed as a bride, carrying a bouquet. Silver candles were also used here.

Assisting in the dining room were "air stewardesses" Mrs. Franklin Crofts, Miss Evelyn Gough of Warwick, Georgia, Miss Johnny Alford of Rising Star, and Miss Cathryne Russell. Miss Jane Moore presented the guests with tiny silver airplanes to which was attached a card bearing the words "Zona and Gaston, soon."

The guests were then shown to the music room by Miss La Verne Dunbar of Abilene. There they were entertained with piano selections by Miss Clara June Kimble of Eastland. Presiding at the bride's book was Mrs. Pete Clements, Jr., and other members of the house party were Mrs. W. J. Armstrong and Mrs. G. C. Rosenthal.

Lovely roses, gladiolas and nasturtiums were used throughout the house for floral decorations.

Miss Miller and Mr. Alford plan to be married on his graduation from Kelly field, San Antonio, which will be within a few weeks.

Over 100 guests called. Out-of-town guests for the tea included Mrs. Walter S. Harper and Miss Edith Ziriax of Brownwood; Mrs. Everett H. Everett; Miss Georgia Mae Hall, of Odessa; Mrs. R. L. Perkins, Jr., Mrs. B. A. Tunnell and daughter, Gwendolyn; Ranger; Miss Faye Stone of Carbon; Mrs. L. E. Richardson of Longview and Miss Frances Roberts of Rising Star.
