Bomb Kills Two New York Policemen

Two New York policemen, one of whose sheet-covered bodies is shown in this picture, became the victims of an attempt to blow up the British pavilion at the World's Fair when a bomb was carried out of the building a short time before it exploded. The force of the explosion, which wrecked a fence and tore a huge hole in the ground, is demonstrated by the shoe, a short distance from the body, which was blown off the bomb victim's foot.

CHALLENGE OF U. S. DOCTRINE IS DETECTED

Hull Statement Is "Seconded" by U. S. Senators

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—A charge that Germany is laying the foundation for a challenge to the Monroe doctrine came Saturday from Senator Pittman of Nevada after Secretary Hull's declaration that the United States would uphold the doctrine.

Aroused by a German note rejecting America's interpretation of the policy as "untenable," Pittman and other senators seconded Hull in his assertion that it remains a "basic policy" of this government to prevent "aggression" in the western hemisphere.

Well informed circles viewed the secretary's statement as one of a series of apparently co-ordinated administration efforts to reassure other American republics in advance of the Pan American conference in Havana.

Other developments regarded in the same light included:
1. A state department notice to the German embassy that German officials in this country must refrain from public criticism of the government.

2. President Roosevelt's deprecation of compromise and appeasement sentiment and his contrast of American and "totalitarian" methods.

3. Secretary Hull's statement that reciprocal trade program remains a fixed policy and that "the only alternative, especially after this war, would be the destructive force of totalitarianism."

Congressional reaction followed the same line. Denying any German implication that the United States is meddling in Europe, Pittman told reporters that such a charge "may have been made as a justification for a future violation of the Monroe doctrine."

If such a violation is attempted, said Senator Connally of Texas, "we are prepared to defend it with all of our resources." Connally is a member of the foreign relations committee headed by Pittman.

Indorses Stand.
Indorsing Hull's "sturdy declaration," Senator Vandenberg of Michigan added, however, that he believed the doctrine also meant the United States should "stay out of Europe."

Secretary Hull disclosed at his daily press conference Friday the receipt of a German note in reply to this country's statement to the Reich July 18 that it would not "recognize" nor "acquiesce" in

CANDIDATES IN GOVERNOR RACE GET HOT

By Associated Press

The Texas political campaign entered the stretch Saturday with the first primary only three weeks away.

Until the last few days the race had gone forward with a minimum of notice by the public at large—but this week found Governor O'Daniel injecting a shot in the arm with his first stump speech, which he had described as "too hot" for the radio.

James E. Ferguson warmed up with a speech in east Texas in which he said O'Daniel had lost much ground from his sensational campaign of two years ago.

Jerry Sadler attacked O'Daniel's tax record in east Texas speeches—and Friday night Ernest O. Thompson followed the governor to the Waco stump to "tell the whole story." His talk was largely an attack on O'Daniel's war record.

Harry Hines spoke at Victoria Friday, calling for a change in the state's gubernatorial leadership because of "critical conditions brought on by the European war."

He declared "Texas can't afford to wait and won't go on with a confused state of government affairs for another two years."

Hines planned speeches at Bay City, West Columbia, Angleton

Thunderous Welcome Is Given Hitler

BERLIN, July 6 (AP)—Adolf Hitler arrived at Anhalter station Saturday afternoon on a triumphal homecoming from his conquests in the west.

Berlin was ablaze with celebration. Church bells pealed. Bands and orchestras played on every street corner.

From the railway station to the residence of the chancellor, the streets leading to the Wilhelmstrasse were packed with Germans shouting a welcome to their leader.

Hitler climbed into an automobile with his entourage and started on his triumphal journey through his capital.

All gauleiters (nazi district leaders), all available admirals and high army officials stood along a red carpet beside Hitler's train.

Youth organizations in the station raised a tremendous din with bugle and drum corps and shouting.

At the exit of the station hung a huge iron cross among clouds of flags, swastikas and laurel wreaths. Great vases of flowers stood about the station.

2nd Half Of Ball Season Is Resumed

(By SOFTBALL REPORTER)

At last the rains seem to be over. I hope, I hope, and we'll be playing softball next week in earnest. The diamond has been cleaned and the lights are up again. After an absence (vacation) I find Recreation and Conoco on top with Miller-Penney and Putnam close behind.

The Red Front boys seem to have lost their rabbit's foot, but promise someone trouble from here on.

In hitting, Recreation is leading. Those Phippen boys and Rains are the present leaders. All the averages will come out early in the week. Several of the Conoco boys are up in the running. Johnson, Bennie and others could easily overtake the leaders.

From here on, the race will be tighter. Conoco and Recreation will battle it out for first place on Tuesday night. On Monday night Red Front and Putnam will lead off on fight night. Several good bouts have been arranged. Latson will fight Johnson; Phillips will battle Blackstock, and "Cotton" Anderson will fight "Toughie" Armstrong from Putnam. Two other bouts are about finished, making five.

We have had some of the best softball games possible to have anywhere in one of the better lighted fields in Texas. Fans are urged to take advantage on these hot nights of this entertainment at little expense.

Again the Lions club and sponsors want to thank the managers, sponsors, and players for their attitude on the field. It is a credit to any community to have such conduct displayed. Also to the papers go out thanks for their cooperation. Let's make a grand ending for the remainder of the summer.

Special praise should also go to the boys who box. They have fought hard and honestly. No one has offered a complaint or criticism. It is certainly a treat to work with such a group. I honestly believe it will be the making of a few of them. All of them will be helped and no one is about to be injured with all the precautions taken for their safety.

Sunday afternoon Putnam is coming to the softball field for a handball game. The admission is small and those Cisco players who wish to play should see Smitty Huestis at once, as he is arranging the game.

AIR RAIDS EXCHANGED BY BELLIGERENTS

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—Bombing planes struck at strategic points in Britain, Germany and the Mediterranean Saturday while the British were calling 300,000 more men to arms.

Strategic Gibraltar experienced its second air raid warning of the war, with aircraft blazing at a high flying, unidentified plane almost directly over the British fortified zone. The warning continued for an hour. No casualties and no damage were reported. In the first smash at the fort Friday night bombs fell harmlessly into the sea.

German bombers raided the south coast and southwestern district of England.

The air ministry news service reported that British Spitfires attacked two German Heinkel bombers off the south coast early Saturday, downing one in the sea and crippling another that vanished in the clouds.

The air ministry also announced that a German bomber was shot down in a raid over the northeast region Friday night. Early in the day bombs were dropped on a town on the south coast with damage to a few houses. Only one casualty was reported.

Bomb German Base
Retaliating, the Royal Air force bombed German airdromes Friday and naval bases. Friday night, three bombers failed to return from the two raids.

At the same time Britain ordered 300,000 men of the 1909 class to register Saturday, bringing the total of men under arms to more than 3,000,000. Three additional classes are to register later in the month, raising the total above 4,000,000.

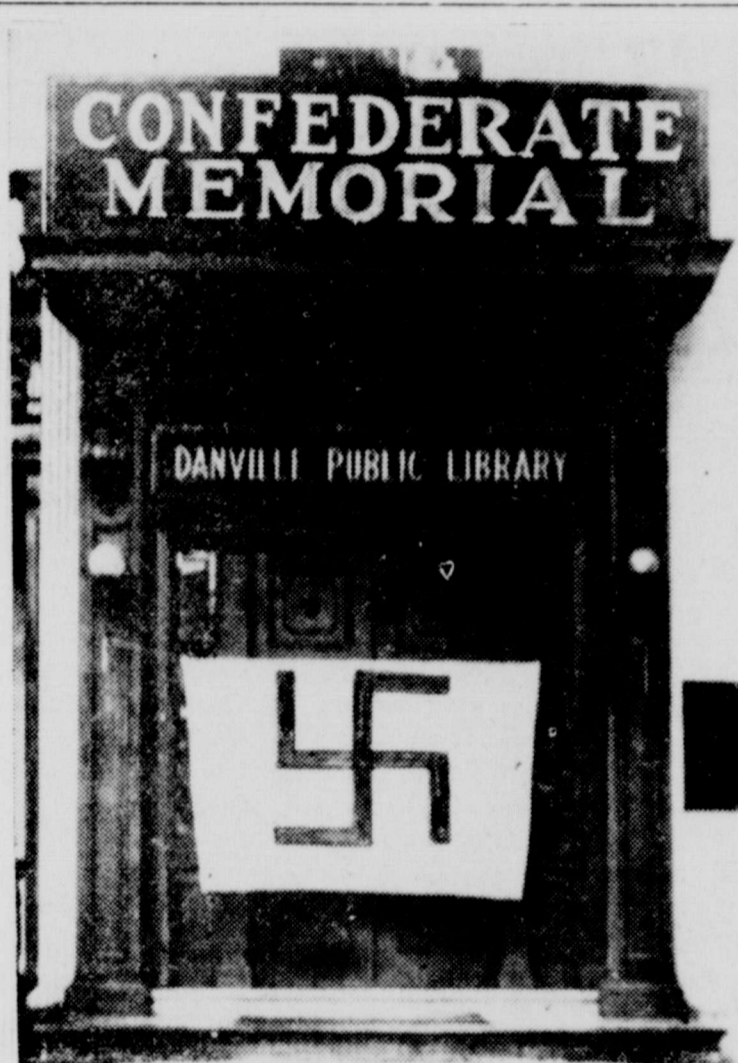

A settlement regarding the French fleet at Alexandria was expected shortly. It was understood the British have given Vice Admiral Godfrey, commanding the French units at Alexandria, additional

Eight of Ten Stolen Cattle Recovered

Of ten head of cattle stolen from the Alsop dairy, three miles west of Cisco, eight head have been recovered, a check-up Saturday revealed. Two were found by Sheriff Loss Woods, who made an arrest in connection with the thefts, and six were located by Constable J. J. Honea. Honea said he found two cows and a calf near Cottonwood; two young cows six miles northeast of Moran and one six miles south of Cross Plains.

Prank?

A swastika hung across the entrance to the Danville, Virginia, public library, a Confederate memorial and the last capitol of the Confederacy. It was placed there by unknown persons and officials are at a loss for an explanation except that it might have been the work of pranksters.

Junior College Plans to Board

Plans for the organization of the Cisco junior college to open next September will be laid before the Cisco public school board at its meeting Monday night, Supt. R. N. Cluck said Saturday. The school board will be the official board of the college. Upon it will fall the duty of deciding upon the work to be offered, the tuition rates to be charged, the organization of the faculty and so forth.

A president and dean must be elected and a registrar designated. A study of junior college library requirements is being made as well as a study of laboratory equipment necessary for science courses to be offered, and funds for the purchase of this equipment are being raised by popular subscription. The drive for these funds is being carried on through the senior chamber of commerce and already three-fourths of the amount needed has been obtained.

Fourth of July celebrations interrupted the campaign and the committees will be called together early this week to complete the canvass, it was announced.

A trip was made to John Tarleton college at Stephenville Friday to secure information on library equipment and a list of required books has been obtained. The library will be chosen from this list to meet the standard fixed by the state accrediting committee.

Dean Davis of John Tarleton has offered his assistance in the organization of the Cisco school. Supt. R. N. Cluck said he will contact all members of the state accrediting committee again in July and that he will make visits to six or seven other junior colleges in the state to study their equipment, curricula and organizations with a view to incorporating the best policies and educational ideas in the Cisco set-up.

As soon as the organizational plans are approved by the Cisco board, a campaign for students will be made, it was announced.

CANDIDATES NOT TO ORGANIZE TOURS

Candidates meeting at Eastland Friday morning, voted not to organize any speaking itineraries, but to adopt a policy that all candidates are at liberty to accept invitations to speak anywhere at any time, provided that the community does invite them.

An invitation from Morton Valley for July 12 was accepted as was an invitation from Gorman to speak there on Saturday afternoon, July 20, the program to begin about 2 o'clock. The sound equipment will be furnished by Gorman.

M'ELREATH TO BE DRILLED IN TODAY

Well Will Be Drilled Into Promising Formation Today

With the bit on top of the Caddo lime at 2,950 feet and prospects for oil and gas production excellent, the McElreath No. 1 of Grover and Rose and Jones and Stansey, wildcat four miles south of Cisco, will drill in today.

The well, in territory long considered promising, topped the pay formation higher than the Caddo has been found in wells with which it has been logged, a fact regarded as an excellent sign. Oil and gas shows were assessed up at three points in the Strawn series above. The first was at 2,290 feet, the second at 2,440 and the third at 2,580.

Operators were optimistic over the showing of the test and a commercial well which would have significant influence on oil activity in the area was predicted.

Location is in the southwest quarter of section 194, block 3, H&TCo survey.
Six inch pipe was set Saturday.

French Warships Escape to Toulon

GRENOBLE, France, July 6 (AP)—A large battleship and a number of other French warships which escaped from the British in the battle of Oran were reported to have arrived at Toulon Saturday.

Word came, however, of the sinking of two other French vessels.

The newspaper Le Petit Dauphinois of Grenoble, reported the 26,500-ton battleship Strasbourg, five 7,000-ton cruisers of the George Leagues class, and a number of other destroyers, submarines and gunboats arrived at the French naval base. The Strasbourg was said to have been damaged only slightly.

The French naval ministry announced the gunboat Rigault de Genoully was torpedoed without warning off Algiers by an unidentified submarine Friday afternoon. The fate of the crew was not ascertained.

The 1,378-ton destroyer Frondeur was attacked and sunk by two British cruisers after a two-hour battle off the island of Crete in the Mediterranean, the French navy announced.

Pastor Completes Gorman Revival

The Rev. Judson Prince, pastor of the First Baptist church, completed his part of a two-weeks' revival meeting which he has been conducting in Gorman, and will be in his pulpit at both services today.

The Rev. Prince reported a splendid meeting at Gorman, with 22 additions to the church up to Friday night.

Services today will be at the usual hours, with the morning sermon subject being "Singing in the Shadows."

Thursday evening there will be the monthly meeting of Sunday school officers and teachers at the pastorium at 10:05 West 10th.

The Next Senate Collie Belongs In

FOR the first time in its history the 24th senatorial district of Texas has the opportunity to have the dean of the Texas senate. Senator Wilbourne Collie of this county, with eight years of service in the state legislature, including a term as president pro tem of the senate and acting governor, would, if re-elected, have this distinction. It amounts to a great deal more than honor. It carries with it prestige and influence which few members of the legislature have. It implies leadership. It implies the confidence and respect of all other members of the senate. The fact that Senator Collie would hold this distinction is, considering the history of the district which he represents, a positive and high commendation of the character of service that Collie has given.

He is, if our memory does not fail us, the only senator to be elected from the 24th district for more than one term. That certainly means that Collie has served a constituency notably hard to please with distinction and success. It must be taken to mean that Collie is, therefore, the most generally satisfactory senator that the district has sent to Austin, that he has measured up to the standards demanded of this district's representative in the senate better than any of his predecessors. That fact must be admitted. It is logical to conclude, admitting that the voters of the district are no less severe in their requirements now than before, that it would be a long time before another as satisfactory to the majority of the citizens is found.

Whether or not the distinction of having the dean of the senate is regarded as important, Senator Collie's experience and acquaintanceships, his thorough knowledge of the legislative processes and organizations, and the tested contacts and friendships with the personnel of the government at Austin he has as assets of indisputable value which this district can secure to itself by the simple process of returning a deserving public servant to the senate.

Moreover, Collie has been one lawmaker who believed in giving the governor a chance, and he did so by cooperating with him. He took the position rightly that W. Lee O'Daniel had been elected by the people—decisively so—and that it was the duty of the legislature to recognize this mandate and to cooperate with the chief executive in his program, and he did so even though he did not support him in the first race. He was not one of those who arrogated to themselves the authority to override the expressed will of the people. He cooperated and he will continue to cooperate with the governor. Whether or not the governor is right in his program is beside the point here. He was and is entitled to a chance to put his program in effect, and Collie tried to do that.

Certainly that speaks highly for the character of the senator from the 24th district, speaks highly for his regard for fair play and his legislative duty, and it justifies us in voting for him at the next election. We can conclude that Collie will be actuated by the same sense of right and public duty during his next two years.

The early bird gets the worm, but there are those who prefer to wait and get a little tastier dish.

County and Cities to Split WPA Demand

EASTLAND, June 6 (Spe).—In order to meet the requirements of the W. P. A. authorities the Eastland county commissioners court and the city councils of the various incorporated cities and towns of Eastland county, have agreed to go 50-50 in putting up in cash $3.50 per month for each individual enrolling in the sewing room projects in operation in the county. This agreement is for one month.

The above action was taken at a meeting of those concerned late Wednesday afternoon and was made necessary when the W. P. A. authorities ruled that sewing room sponsors must put up that amount if the sewing room projects were to be retained in the county. There are between 250 and 300 persons enrolled at the various sewing rooms of the county.

Feeling that the towns and the county are not financially able to put up this money the following resolution was adopted at the Wednesday afternoon meeting and copies of it have been forwarded to the representatives in congress from this district:

"Whereas, the cities of Eastland, Cisco, Ranger, Rising Star, Gorman and Desdemona have been cooperating with Eastland County in sponsoring W. P. A. projects for sewing rooms; and

"Whereas, the county and some of the cities have been sponsoring road projects for the purpose of giving employment to the needy unemployed of Eastland county; and

"Whereas W. P. A. has been increasing its demands upon the sponsors for carrying on these projects; and have recently made demands of the sponsors of the sewing rooms to contribute $2.50 per person for textiles, in addition to the findings, utilities, rent and sewing machines now being furnished by the sponsors for carrying on said projects; and,

"Whereas, the cities and Eastland county are in such financial condition that they are unable to meet said demands.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that we, the mayors and city commissioners of the cities of Eastland county together with the commissioners' court hereby appeal to our congressman and senators that they use every effort in trying to secure some relief from these added burdens. Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the man and senators at Port Worth, Texas.

The person who pays no attention to periods of rest and exercise and continually overworks, burdens the kidneys with overwork. Wilkie's Liberalism Stems From Heritage, Home Training

Won National Recognition in Fight With TVA

By TOM WOLF

It is no accident that Wendell Lewis Wilkie, the stocky, tousled, air-styled "Indiana farmer" who overnight was boomed to be standard bearer of the republican party, says today, "By nature and upbringing I am a liberal."

More than a half century before he was born, four people decided to leave a Germany crushed under the heel of Prussianism for the young, growing, free United States. From these grandfathers stems the Wilkie liberalism.

Elwood, Ind., where Wendell Wilkie was born on Feb. 18, 1892, was an ideal place to augment this social conscience which was young Wendell's heritage. Elwood was becoming a ghost town—its once abundant natural gas supply was falling, industry was leaving, workers were being thrown out of jobs. It was a place to make young Wen think.

From his parents, Herman and Jennetta Wilkie, young Wen acquired his bookishness, his love of argument. Both his father and his mother were lawyers, his mother the first woman admitted to the Indiana bar. Much of his education was picked up in the Wilkie's 6700-volume library.

Wen got his first job when he was 11, helping his older brother Ed cart abandoned houses out to surrounding farms, where they sold them. When Wen was 15 he went to join his older brothers at the University of Indiana.

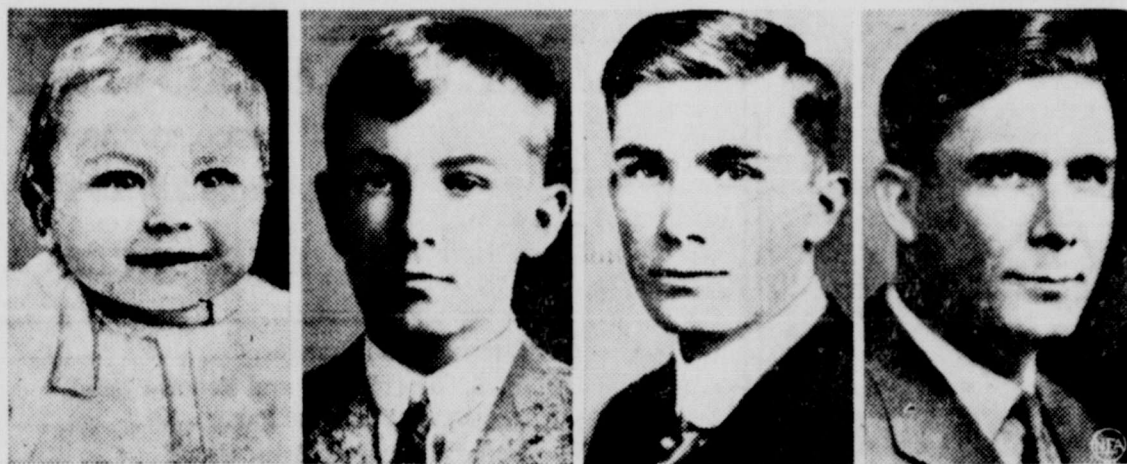

At college Wilkie invariably wore a brilliant red sweater, chewed tobacco to show how tough he was. He was considered a radical. Actually his radicalism boiled down to a great interest in the socialism of Jack London, a respect for Teddy Roosevelt, and a worship of Big Business-hating Bob La Follette.

WORLD WAR CAPTAIN

His powers as an orator were widely developed in college. He was a brilliant debater, won the position of senior orator for his class (1913). Summers he worked as a jack of all trades.

After he graduated from law school he met pretty Edith Wilkie, who had been a classmate at Indiana, where she became a librarian in Elwood. On Jan. 14, 1918, after he had joined the army and was about to leave for France, she married Wendell Wilkie.

Wendell had volunteered the day America declared war, became a captain in the 325th artillery. Back in America in 1919 he was offered a job in the legal department of an Akron rubber company.

He spent 10 years in Akron, earned a reputation as a poker player and fighter of the Ku Klux Klan. He joined a law firm, tripled its business, and attracted the attention of B. C. Cobb, industrialist who later became head of the giant Commonwealth & Southern corporation. Cobb took Wilkie to New York, picked him to be president of the sprawling utility. Wilkie was then only 41.

HOLDS DEMOCRATS DESERTED HIM

It is somewhat ironic that President Roosevelt should have been the man responsible for focusing public attention on Wilkie. His pet Tennessee Valley Authority and Wilkie's Commonwealth & Southern had the same territory, were always in conflict.

Despite pressure to go easy, Wilkie launched a fight against the federal agency, won out when the government bought his firm for more than 78 million dollars. In the midst of the TVA fight came the 1936 elections. Wendell Wilkie, a lifelong democrat, voted for Alf Landon. "I didn't leave the democratic party," he later commented. "The democratic party left me."

To Wilkie, the campaign issue is basically simple: "Farming, business, and industry have made this country great... not government." He believes Big Government tends to fetter rather than to free mankind.

BRUCE CATTON'S AMERICAN ROUNDUP

MOTHERS-SONS PLEA FOR DEFENSE PLANK CAUSED ROW AT REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

By BRUCE CATTON

PHILADELPHIA.—The whole story of the fight in the committee which framed the G. O. P. platform may never be told outside of the inner party councils. But one of the biggest battles—which the committee members called "a misunderstanding" after they had calmed down—came over the burning question of putting into the national defense a half dozen words to the general effect that the mothers of America don't want their sons to die on the battlefields of Europe.

At its height the row almost caused the resignation of ex-Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania, when C. Wayland (Curly) Brooks of Illinois threatened to take to the convention floor his fight for inclusion of the sons-and-mothers phrase.

Actual drafting of the plank was mainly the work of Senator Pepper, veteran of many of the G. O. P.'s inner wars.

STRONGER PLANK NEARLY WON

JUDGE KING SWOPE of Kentucky declared that the projected plank was altogether too short and simple, and demanded inclusion of a ringing phrase dealing with the mothers, their sons and the battlefields.

The argument in the sub-committee drafting this plank went on for hours. The full platform committee, headed by Herbert K. Hyde of Oklahoma, was debating other things in its spacious quarters on the roof of the Bellevue Stratford Hotel, convention headquarters. The sub-committee toiled in room 809. And up and down the north elevator between eighth floor and roof commuted the sub-committeemen, getting nowhere.

And the morning of the third day came. Senator Pepper, not as young as once he was, having labored more hours each day than a man of his age should, left the deliberations for a short time. In his absence, the sons-and-mothers clause got into the platform draft. Curly Brooks took up the fight for it—threatened to take the issue to the convention floor.

PARTY'S ELDERS PREVAIL

THE convention, waiting for a platform it could adopt before it should pick a candidate, canceled its morning session. Pepper, tired from the long siege, walked out of the committee room and threatened to resign.

When word of this deadlock got to the ears of the elder statesmen, important telephones began to ring. People like Joe Pew of Pennsylvania were called in—to quell the disturbers, persuade Pepper not to resign, and talk Brooks out of taking the fight to the convention floor.

Having canceled his morning session, the convention had to be adjourned again when its afternoon session met. This was over the wishes of the delegates themselves, who wanted to get on with picking a candidate. But—no platform, no session.

It finally ended happily, of course. The party's elders prevailed, and the defense plank didn't mention the mothers and sons.

JUST A SLIGHT MISUNDERSTANDING

AN official communique as to all these goings-on would read about like this: "There was a slight misunderstanding over the inclusion of a few words which the committee felt were unnecessary." History has a way of getting condensed like that, but it sometimes skips the best stories.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., July 6 (AP)—It's the courteous thing to do, but the law here doesn't require a motorist to stop after he hits a dog. Marvin E. Nelson charged Oswald K. any transfers of hemisphere territory from one non-American nation to another.

One point of Hull's statement was interpreted instantaneously as a rejection of Japan's pronouncement of a "Munroe Doctrine" for the Far East, another point as a defense of United States policy in aiding Great Britain.

German Reply

Germany said:

1. That the United States' position was "untenable" since it gave some European countries and denied others the right to possess American colonies.

2. That there was no "object" to the United States' note because Germany had not stated any intention of acquiring American territory.

3. That the Munroe Doctrine of noninterference can be "legally valid" only if Americans don't interfere in Europe.

While not replying directly, Hull said:

1. That the Munroe Doctrine has "not the remotest connection" with the matter of which countries have American possessions, but "did announce that further incursions would not be tolerated."

2. That the doctrine does not resemble those in other areas which are "alleged to be similar," but which seem to be only "the pretext" for conquest.

3. That the United States is not concerned with "the purely political affairs of Europe," but will cooperate with other nations to advance "the cause of international law and order."

Hard behind that statement came Hull's notice to the German embassy, growing out of an interview quoting Baron Edgar von Spiegel, German consul general at New Orleans, as saying Germany would not forget United States aid to her enemies.

While acknowledging that Von Spiegel apparently did not know he was speaking for publication, the department reminded the embassy that foreign diplomats can not "properly" discuss this country's policies and still remain here.

President Roosevelt's references to democratic government were made at his press conference in Hyde Park Friday. He declared that the democratic freedoms are essential corollaries to peace and expressed regret that some Americans seem to favor a corporate state.

Reject Municipal Light Plant Bonds

Sentiment against municipal ownership of electric plants last week was manifested by voters of Wellington, Tex., and McCook, Neb., home town of U. S. Senator Norris, who allegedly has used his franking privileges to promote political control of utilities.

Viewed as a personal defeat for Norris was the overwhelming vote at McCook, where, in a special election, citizens turned down by more than 8 to 1 a proposal to issue $425,000 in revenue bonds for the purchase of the local light plant system. The ballot was 1,110 against and 136 for the proposal.

The secretary of state is merely being ethical about it. It is an adroit game, and the fact that it is being engaged in at this time proves what is in the air and knocks the blocks from under the isolationist argument. It doesn't take a great amount of acumen to discern in the statements of Sec'y Hull what he anticipates. It isn't pleasant to contemplate. But the column will venture this opinion: Regardless of who is in charge of American foreign affairs when the issue comes to its real test, the country will be glad of the fact that Cordell Hull of Tennessee is in there now. He is the one saving feature of an administration which has muddled its domestic program so badly. The foreign policy of the United States is the product of the man from Tennessee.
