College gridiron habits are hard to break but when these former football stars, now Flying Cadets at Randolph Field, Texas, go into a huddle, wearing parachutes, helmets and goggles they chatter about barrel rolls and loops instead of forward passes and spinner plays.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE
The destruction of the French republic was a fact long before it was openly accomplished. It was a fact because a great proportion of the people were already depending upon the government to support them or guarantee their support and it is fundamental that a republican government is supported by the people. It is fortunate that the American people have before them an example of France to learn from. They have seen the fruits of national supinuity and individual dependency, and to learn from them out of an attitude which is doing to the foundations of this republic exactly what the Blums and the socialists did to France.

The government can no longer coddle its citizens than a fond father with immunity coddle a son. Citizens of countries are ruined in the process. Self-reliance goes by the board when protection and support are guaranteed. What have we to make of countries and the governments of countries if it is not to live with some danger, with some challenge, if strong qualities are developed. Nature and the spiritual life of people have a peculiar way of developing nothing or which there is no need, these are notably economical in their expenditures of energy.

France is reported to be organizing a totalitarian government. In a society in which the government supports the people and the state is regarded as the end rather than the means, a totalitarian government is the proper form. For its people support must be regimented. A de-

STATE CHURCH CONFERENCE TO OPEN HERE

300 or More Expected For Program of Christian Church

The second consecutive annual adult conference of Christian churches in Texas will open at Lake Cisco Monday, July 15, to continue through July 19. Around 300 are expected. Classes in Bible and other phases of church and Sunday school work will be taught by nationally recognized instructors.

At least two departments of the program will be open to the general public. These are the vesper services to be held at sundown at the Cisco country club and the teachers training course and daily vacation Bible school to be held each morning of the conference at the First Christian church.

Last summer the vesper services were very beautiful and attended by large numbers of Cisco people not otherwise connected with the conference. The daily vacation Bible school for all children from beginners through junior classes, will be held from 8 to 10 each morning. The teacher training courses to be conducted in connection with the school are likewise open to all teachers interested without regard to denomination.

The Rev. Clark W. Lambert of Hillsboro, former Cisco pastor, will be host to the conference and will arrive Sunday to direct the activities incident to its opening. He will preach at the First Christian church at both morning and evening services.

37 ATTACKERS REPORTED TO BE SHOT DOWN

Defenses Ready Is Indication in Attack Warning

LONDON, July 11 (AP)—England, on guard and ready, watched through the dawn today without any indication along the coastal no-man's-land of Nazi invasion which commons was warned last night might come at daybreak.

Britons speculated whether this warning, by Sir Edward Grigg, undersecretary of state for war, was the authorized first word that the zero hour is near.

Most members of parliament, however, took the statement as only an indication that Britain's defenses are ready and the next German move is awaited.

Sir Edward said: "Tonight thousands of our soldiers will be on the alert, waiting for an attack which may come in several places at dawn."

He spoke while the thunder of bombs and the rattle of machine-gun fire still signalled the greatest air fight of the war over England—an attack which Sir Edward said might be only a prelude to the worst.

Account for 37
British battle planes and coastal guns drove the Germans off late in the day after shooting down or disabling 37 of the raiders.

Some members of parliament took the undersecretary's statement as implying only the need for increased watchfulness hour by hour along the coastal no-man's-land where the next blow is expected—soon.

Acknowledging the loss of two British planes, the air ministry reported that in incessant dog-fights throughout the day 14 German bombers and their guardian fighter craft, sprung at England from close-range bases in France and the low countries, were shot out of the sky. Another 23 were reported "so severely damaged that they were unlikely to reach home."

The British said "a few persons" were killed by high explosives inland.

At times, at least 150 planes battled simultaneously along the coast—the Germans trying for hits on ships and attempting to break through British defenses for inland attacks.

Unlike raids of weeks ago when the bombers came a few at a time without fighter escort, yesterday's raiders brought whole flights of fast, light, fighting planes to ward off the British Spitfires and Hurricanes.

Guarded in Circles
One squadron of nine big bombers was guarded by 50 lighter warplanes. The bombers were guarded within two full circles of Messerschmitts.

Some of the British fighter planes literally dived through the ring of Messerschmitts to reach the bombers. One British pilot was credited with roaring high over the ringed bombers, then diving into the center and bringing them down.

City Adopts Budget: Fixes Rate of Tax

The city commission Tuesday night fixed the 1940 tax rate for the city of Cisco at $2.50 on the $100 valuation, apportioned the $1.50 to the general fund and $1.00 to the bond interest and sinking fund, and, on the basis of estimated $98,170 income in 1940, adopted a budget providing expenditures of $99,964.10.

The budget was prepared by D. P. McAlpine who recently audited the city's books. It is printed in full below.

The ordinance fixing the city's tax rate for 1940 provides for tax accounts for prompt payment of taxes. These discounts as set out in the ordinance allow three per cent for payment of all taxes in October, 1940, two per cent for payment in November, 1940, and one per cent if paid in December, 1940. Discounts on the "half-and-half" payment plan are provided as follows:

Tax Discounts
 Taxpayers who pay one-half their taxes for the year, 1940, before November 30, 1940, will receive a three per cent discount on the balance of such taxes if paid during or before March, 1941, a discount of two per cent if paid during April, 1941, and a discount of one per cent if paid during May, 1941.

The commission ordered publication of the tax levying ordinance.

The commission, wrestling with problems of finance resulting principally from non-payment of taxes, approved bills but did not order them paid. The body instructed the city attorney, Clark Roberts, to proceed with collection of taxes for that period, including $28,594.18 set aside for bond payments, were $108,878.56.

The 1940-41 budget is as follows:

This amount would require an approximate annual provision of $40,000.00 in the sinking fund or a total of $240,000.00 to November 1, 1940. McElreath Is Encouraging To Operators

With prospects that a new Pioneer field had been uncovered, the Groover and Rose and Jones and Stasney McElreath wildcat, four miles southwest of Cisco, is cementing six inch in Caddo pay to acidize. The acid will be put in the well about Monday.

The well, at a total depth of 3,030 feet, has about 68 feet of saturated lime and a natural production estimated at 25 barrels a day. Judging from the normal response of Caddo formation to the acid, operators were of the opinion the well would complete for 200 or more barrels.

The oil will command the highest market price, testing about 43 gravity.

Royalty trading and leasing activity was spirited today in the vicinity of the well. Location of the test is in the southwest quarter of section 104, block 3, H&TC and in a district hitherto untested. Success of the well will open to activity a territory as large as the old Pioneer field, which produced from the same formation.

Operators were attracted to the location this week in large numbers, indicating a great interest in the operation.

City Health Officer W. P. Lee reported that the general health of the city is good. He told the commission there has been only two quarantine cases during the first six months of 1940. One was a case of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria. A representative of the state board of health registered only a few complaints after inspection of city cafes, dairies and other places where food is sold.

Dr. Lee said. Dr. Lee predicted a large number of complaints about mosquitoes this summer, due to the unusual rainfall, and sought cooperation in dealing with these pests.

Nine births and three deaths were reported in Cisco in June. There were three births and two deaths in Precinct six, outside of Cisco.

Tax matters and routine business occupied the remainder of the session.

Tuition Fee For College Here Is Set

The Cisco public school board in a special session Tuesday afternoon, fixed the tuition rate to be charged by the Cisco junior college at $45 per semester, payable monthly. This would make the tuition for the nine months term total $90. Payable monthly, the student would have to pay only $10 per month to take care of this cost.

The college will offer foundation courses during the first year, with provisions that other departments will be added as the need for them develops, it was announced. The courses already decided upon are history, science, mathematics, English, foreign language or education.

Basic Courses
 These are required courses, basic to all college studies, it was pointed out. It is the objective of the program adopted for the junior college to organize later courses of a technical character, providing training which will equip a student to earn his or her own way, it was announced. However, these courses cannot be added until the fundamental courses, essential to securing recognition of the school are under way.

All college departments must be headed by instructors with master degrees and these instructors can teach in no other departments of the college. Two or three full-time college teachers will be added, and high school teachers with M. A. degrees will assist.

Election and assignment of the faculty was deferred until a later meeting. Selection of library and laboratory equipment is being done. A fund of $4,000 is being raised by local contribution to pay for this equipment. This fund is now approximately three-fourths raised and the committees, their work interrupted by Fourth of July activities and other incidents, will be called together early next week to complete the campaign. Response to it has been splendid.

BRUCE CATTON'S AMERICAN ROUNDUP

WASHINGTON—If the Senate secretary of war—as it now seems very likely to do—Henry L. Stimson will be in a position to do two things which have long been very close to his heart. These are:

1. Aid the allies (or Great Britain at least) by making surplus U. S. war materials available.

2. Hammer Japan's march to power in the Orient by cutting off her imports of essential war materials.

A considerable amount of power over both of these matters will come into Stimson's hands because of two amendments which were tacked onto the so-called "army speed-up bill," recently passed and signed by the President.

One of these amendments provided that the President might establish a system of export licenses to control the shipment of such war materials as he might designate as essential to the U. S. preparedness program. The President has already acted under this provision, naming Col. Russell L. Maxwell as export control administrator and putting an export ban on a long list of raw and finished materials.

ON this list there is only one item which would particularly hamper the Japanese—military tools. The goods which Japan has been importing most heavily from the U. S. since she started the war in China—oil, scrap iron, copper and automotive equipment—do not come under the ban.

There are, however, two points to consider in that connection.

The first is that it will naturally be the secretary of war who will from time to time notify the President that the list ought to be extended to include other commodities.

The second is that debate in the Senate clearly showed that the law setting up this export-license system was intended to be one-sided if the administration wished; that is, that it would be legal to stop the shipment of, say, scrap iron to one country but not to another.

Thus the secretary now has full legal authority to "trade in" old rifles, cannon, tanks or what-not when he places new orders. After such trade-ins, of course, the manufacturer could sell the traded-in goods to Britain.

As secretary of state, Stimson was the first statesman to try to exert pressure to halt Japan's conquest of Asia. More recently, he has served on the American Committee for Non-participation in Japanese Aggression—the committee which advocated an embargo on U. S. sales of war materials to Japan.

Advantages Offered By Junior Colleges, Writes Dean of Tarleton

Thanking Cisco and praising the community for the fine class of students who go to the college and expressing appreciation for the cooperation which the Cisco Daily Press has given, Dean J. Thomas Davis of John Tarleton college, Stephenville, has written B. A. Butler, editor of the Press in which he referred to the Cisco school system in very complimentary terms.

Dean Davis explained that the college at Stephenville from time to time has heard expressions with reference to junior college Laguna hotel.

Homer Ferguson was program chairman for the day, presenting Mrs. James Moore in a series of three enjoyable readings.

credits which he wished to correct, and also to point out advantages in attending junior colleges, especially those of the first class.

His letter:

Mr. B. A. Butler, Editor
 Cisco Daily Press
 Cisco, Texas.

Dear Mr. Butler:

I am writing this letter for two main purposes. First, I want to express my deep appreciation for the very fine students coming to us from year to year from your good city. I presume that you have noticed that they are among the leaders of the college, and your city has just cause to be proud of the students going out from your high school. We appreciate them here very much.

In the second place, occasionally there comes to us from different sources unthoughtful expressions of people with reference to junior college credits. There are many advantages of attending a junior college, especially one which is rated at the top. Students who enter John Tarleton college and finish with creditable work can transfer anywhere in the United States without any loss of credits whatever. There is no college or university in the land which does not accept John Tarleton college credits at their face value. In fact, we have students from foreign lands who come here solely because of the scholastic rating of this institution as given out in the publications of the United States. In addition to the high rating of the institution, there is the closest cooperation between the students and the faculty here which almost approaches a fraternal friendship.

I am not accustomed to emphasize this information, because it would be a big task to try to disseminate such information over the entire state; but I felt that your people were entitled to a statement due to the fact that so many of your good students come to John Tarleton college. I want to remove any fear of anxiety with reference to the transfer of credits to other institutions.

Now, I want to thank you personally for the splendid cooperation your good paper furnishes not only to the school system of your city but to John Tarleton college as well. You have a strong school system with able administrators, and I congratulate your people that they recognize that fact and

Shared Advantage, Shared Burden

The forthcoming Pan American meeting at Havana is going to provide some very practical tests of mutuality.

If the American nations are to co-operate for their common advantage, it is obvious that they ought to share responsibilities.

For instance, Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, Brazil's foreign minister, has indicated that he does not believe European possessions in the Americas ought to change hands "by unilateral action." Translating that from diplomatic into English, it means that the United States alone ought not to grab such an island as Martinique to keep it from falling into German or Italian hands.

That is right enough, and we believe the United States would go along with it. But Dr. Aranha has decided not to go himself to the Havana conference, but to send a representative. This suggests that Brazil is handling gently the hot potato of just how far she will go in taking part in any such mutual action.

THE United States has clearly indicated that it would prefer to handle any such problems jointly. For 10 years it has labored to make the Monroe Doctrine not merely a policy of the United States government, but a joint policy of all the American republics. Let no one make any mistake about it. If there is a threat of seizure of Caribbean islands or other South American territories whose occupation by a European power would endanger the Panama canal, the United States will act alone if necessary.

It would be helpful if, even before the Havana meeting, both presidential candidates could make clear that in inter-American matters there is no party. U. S. diplomacy is often handicapped by the feeling among other American countries that a change of administration may mean a change of policy.

But in the present emergency both parties are bound by the logic of events to closely-similar inter-American policies. To have both candidates say so, perhaps even in a joint statement, forthrightly and definitely, would probably help smooth the path of the American emissaries to Havana.

The City of Brotherly Love will be remembered as the place where the embattled delegates needed six rounds to put the right man down for the long count.

An eastern university offers a summer school course for janitors, no doubt an effort to bring sweeping reforms to our educational system.

Phainting Phil Scott, former British heavyweight, volunteers for service with a dive bomber unit, which doesn't surprise those who remember him in the ring.

That west coast gent pole-vaulted 15 feet again. A few more hours in the air and he'll qualify for his pilot's license.

Before military technicians stop matching wits we'll see warships which carry planes, which carry tanks, which carry planes, which carry—oh, well.

Katherine Badgley, independent executrix, petition to probate will of Archie Munn, deceased, approved and citation issued for hearing July 15.

A. M. Foote, administrator of the estate of Mary Elizabeth Foote, petition to settle claim of Mrs. Berl Harmon, approved and settlement authorized.

I Give You TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Rain is the biggest west Texas, any time. The San Angelo Standard many years, has had the printing of a rooster on the west Texas, any time. The emblem of the party and, back in the days of the GOP was in the saddle, was a postmaster's convention San Angelo and when a rain—the rooster was the delegates thought the insult and were about the convention before it was held, and go to another somebody explained.

Once, a Chinese newspaper (printed in English) was a columnist and asked for "Rain-Making." The man was in the form of a joke who was in poor physical condition, went to a doctor who said, "I'll examine you for $5." The man said, "God help you and, if you want half." The Chinese was informed that west Texas would be glad to help him way to make it rain.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram always "plays us" a general pour in west Texas. So the idea that rain is a Star-Telegram reporter, Antonio on his vacation, using a round of beverage ums and, emerging from a shower. So he hurried telegraph office and wire managing editor: "It's raining San Antonio"—which isn't a novelty; besides San Antonio isn't in west Texas; therefore, outside the Star-gram circulation zone.

"The 'standard lead' on Texas rain story used by Texas farmers and stockmen which fell last night—editor ironically suggested.

STORIES IN STAMPS
Fairy Stories Never Came True for Aut...
AND they lived happily after." The usual ending of Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tales was never real life. He was never translated from an unattractive, dressed pauper into a handsome prince and he never married a princess. That happened to only in the stories that Hans Christian Andersen, one of an issue of three, the 125th anniversary of his birth, was unlucky in love and remained a bachelor until his death, a happy old man of 70. He in love many times—or that he was—but someone else always won the girl. One of his greatest loves, Jenny Lind, "the Swedish Nightingale." She was fond of a writer, too, but he lacked courage to propose. It may have been that the singer preferred a man to marriage at the time, but married six years later.

"Beneficial Rains Fall in West Texas" is the customary headline. Once, according to tradition, floods cost a number of lives but, true to custom, the headline ran: "Beneficial Rains Drown Seven in West Texas."

At that, it could be true—if you would let me pick out the seven.

The Santa Rita well was named for "the Saint of the Impossible" so says Martin W. Schwetmann, teacher at Texon, who has made a study of the history of the oil well which marked the discovery of the west Texas field and enriched the University of Texas to the extent of many millions of dollars.

Few stories in the realm of petroleum are more dramatic than that of Frank Pickrell, who found himself faced with the necessity of starting a hole before midnight in order to hold his leases and the water-well equipment to be used was a hundred miles or so away. To get it aboard, an Orient train was held for hours in San Angelo that final day. The equipment was transported, unloaded, moved on to the location, and drilling was actually begun.

But still one condition had not been complied with—two disinterested witnesses were needed to the fact that the well had started. Only Pickrell and the crew were in the wilderness, many miles from a ranchouse, if one had known where to look for a ranchouse in that lonely and silent region.

It was near midnight—and midnight was the deadline. Far down the road there was a gleam—the headlights of a car. Pickrell flagged the auto down and, fortunately, it contained two men. Quickly he explained the situation, they viewed the drilling, then took him into San Antonio and there a lawyer drew up the necessary statement, which these two signed—and Pickrell had saved his leases and thereby set in motion the events which led to the wealth that enabled the university to build its stately tower and other fine buildings.

The recent death of J. S. Bagwell, publisher of the Sulphur Springs News-Echo, removed from the stage of life one of the best known newspaper men in the state. "The Echo man" picturesquely described himself as "an old-line, bone-dry, deep-water Baptist." He will be greatly missed.

Our friend, Bob Blake, has assumed the duties of editor of the Live Oak County Herald at George West.

Those who called in the J. M. Typhoid Control Is Outstanding U. S. Achievement

AUSTIN, July 11 (Sp.)—The control of typhoid fever in the United States represents an outstanding achievement in preventive medicine. In 1900, the national death rate from this disease was 31.3 per hundred thousand, today the rate is 1.9. This marked decrease in typhoid deaths is based on knowledge of its cause, how it is spread, and the application of control measures. Perhaps at this time, no other disease is more vulnerable to scientific attack than typhoid fever. "Indeed, it is a public health point of view, there should be no typhoid fever," declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

However, Dr. Cox pointed out that typhoid, while an unnecessary evil, was a persistent attacker of Texans. Each year about four hundred Texans die of typhoid, and approximately four thousand are ill. The average duration of illness is about six weeks, which makes typhoid responsible for the loss of 163,000 man days in Texas each year.

Typhoid prevention is a simple procedure. Typhoid vaccine is injected under the skin in the upper part of the arm, in three doses, usually at weekly intervals. It ordinarily protects against the disease from two to three years or longer, although one who is deftly exposed to infection should be re-vaccinated at more frequent intervals.

Typhoid fever can be controlled by the use of pure water, pasteurized milk or clean milk, clean foods, proper disposal of sewage, screening against flies and destroying their breeding places, and by the general practice of vaccination.

Certain people, apparently healthy, carry the germs of typhoid in their intestines or urinary tract and cause many cases of typhoid each year by insanitary habits. They are called typhoid carriers, and many cases of typhoid result from personal contact with these carriers.

In selecting a place for a vacation, choose one where the milk and water supplies are pure. Be sure that the food supply is screened against flies. When camping, it is best to boil water for drinking, unless its purity has been certified. Clear, sparkling stream water may be polluted.

476 Producing Oil Wells in This County

The latest report on oil production in Eastland county shows 476 oil wells producing 2,195 barrels of oil daily, according to Omar Burkett, state representative from the 196th district. Callahan county, also in Mr. Burkett's district, has 1,236 wells producing 1,271 barrels of oil daily.

Eastland county wells range in depth from 800 feet to 4,400 feet, and Callahan county wells from 250 feet to 4,000 feet.

Cost of lifting per barrel in this area is from 30 cents to 85 cents. The price for 29 to 40 gravity oil or better is 89 cents to $1.03 per barrel.

Additional NYA Enrollment Offered

An additional enrollment for NYA state-wide projects has been set for this month according to word received from J. C. Kellam, state administrator.

The expanded Inks dam project offers work experience to unemployed youths between the ages of 18 and 24, inclusive, permitting these youths to receive industrial training in the trade of their choice.

Shop units include machine shop, blacksmith and foundry, sheet metal, woodwork, radio and electricity, drafting and twelve other trades.

A youth between the ages of 18 and 24, inclusive, is eligible for NYA registration if he is in need of employment, work experience, and training. Application blanks may be obtained at the county welfare office at Cisco.

A department of labor survey has proved it — women spend more for their clothes than men.

Willkie's Liberalism Stems From Heritage, Home Training

Won National Recognition in Fight With TVA

By TOM WOLF

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
It is no accident that Wendell Lewis Willkie, the stocky, tanned, self-styled "Indiana farmer" who overnight was boomed to be standard-bearer of the republican party, says today, "By nature and by upbringing I am a liberal."

More than a half century before he was born, four people decided to leave a Germany crushed under the heel of Prussianism for the young, growing, free United States. From these grandparents stems the Willkie liberalism.

Elwood, Ind., where Wendell Willkie was born on Feb. 18, 1892, was an ideal place to augment this social conscience which was young Wendell's heritage. Elwood was becoming a ghost town—its once abundant natural gas supply was failing, industry was leaving, workers were being thrown out of jobs. It was a place to make young Wen think.

From his parents, Herman and Henrietta Willkie, young Wen acquired his bookishness, his love for argument. Both his father and his mother were lawyers, his mother the first woman admitted to the Indiana bar. Much of his education was picked up in the Willkie's 6700-volume library.

Wen got his first job when he was 11, helping his older brother Ed cart abandoned houses out to surrounding farms, where they sold them. When Wen was 15 he went to join his older brothers at the University of Indiana.

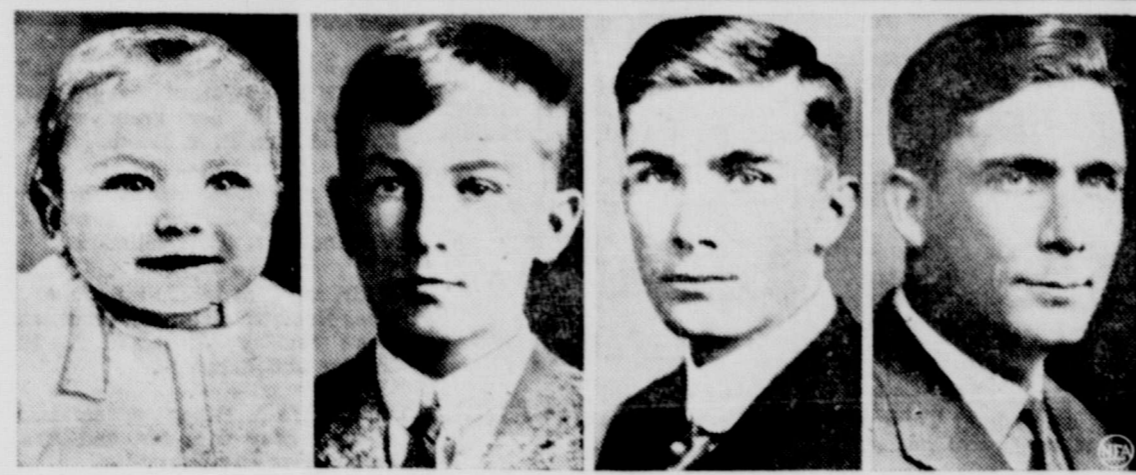

At college Willkie invariably wore a brilliant red sweater, chewed tobacco to show how tough he was. He was considered a radical. Actually his radicalism boiled down to a great interest in the socialism of Jack London, a respect for Teddy Roosevelt, and a worship of Big Business-hating Bob La Follette.

WORLD WAR CAPTAIN

His powers as an orator were widely developed in college. He was a brilliant debater, won the position of senior orator for his class (1913). Summers he worked as a jack of all trades.

After he graduated from law school he met pretty Edith Wilk, who had been a classmate at Indiana, where she became a librarian in Elwood. On Jan. 14, 1918, after he had joined the army and was about to leave for France, she married Wendell Willkie.

Wendell had volunteered the day America declared war, became a captain in the 325th artillery. Back in America in 1919 he was offered a job in the legal department of an Akron rubber company.

He spent 10 years in Akron, earned a reputation as a poker player and fighter of the Ku Klux Klan. He joined a law firm, tripled its business, and attracted the attention of B. C. Cobb, industrialist who later became head of the giant Commonwealth & Southern corporation. Cobb took Willkie to New York, picked him to be president of the sprawling utility. Willkie was then only 41.

HOLDS DEMOCRATS DESERTED HIM

It is somewhat ironic that President Roosevelt should have been the man responsible for focusing public attention on Willkie. His pet Tennessee Valley Authority and Willkie's Commonwealth & Southern had the same territory, were always in conflict.

Despite pressure to go easy, Willkie launched a fight against the federal agency, won out when the government bought his firm for more than 78 million dollars.

In the midst of the TVA fight came the 1936 elections. Wendell Willkie, a lifelong democrat, voted for Alf Landon. "I didn't leave the democratic party," he later commented. "The democratic party left me."

To Willkie, the campaign issue is basically simple: "Farming, business, and industry have made this country great . . . not government." He believes Big Government tends to fetter rather than to free mankind.

Learns How to Terrace Farm From Zebra

ODENTON, Md., July 11 (AP)—A zebra taught Dr. M. B. Waite how to terrace his farm.

From a zebra he learned how to stop the waste of precious, life-giving topsoil, through erosion, and how he's growing daffodils and tobacco.

The "zebra clue" came in building terraces—parallel, curving steps or basins around hillsides to lead off rainwater slowly and safely.

By time-honored fashion, farmers plow, even on steep hills, in straight furrows. But there are perfect channels for heavy rain to rush down, gouging away the topsoil.

Back in 1907, Dr. Waite—who retired five years ago as a U. S. department of agriculture plant pathologist—plowed to build terraces that followed the contour of the hill. Each terrace was to have a gradual downward incline.

But he would meet little hills or bumps that would force the terraces to go up.

One day at a zoo he noticed zebras have curving, parallel draining flow down to the next stripes. Sometimes a stripe ended abruptly, or tapered off.

Why not, he decided, simply stop a terrace when it came to an elevation, and let the water it was

County to Get $3,928 More to Operate Schools

AUSTIN, July 11 (Sp).—Eastland county will receive $3,928 more from the state this year to operate its schools than it did last year, State Supt. L. A. Woods estimated Monday. This is based on the assumption that the county will have the same number of students next year as it had last year.

Supt. Woods said the action of the state board of education in raising the per capita from $22 to $22.50 was another step toward bettering the educational facilities of Texas.

Supt. Woods has led the fight for increased state per capita appropriations to schools since he came into office. The per capita when Supt. Woods was first elected was $16, and it has been raised year by year until the $22.50 mark has been established.

Supt. Woods pointed out that increased state assistance to schools, plus more efficient management and improved teaching methods have been largely responsible for Texas' being raised to 18th educational ranking in the nation from the low mark of 36th which it held in 1832.

It is not expected that the additional per capita appropriation will increase state expenditures as a whole, Woods pointed out, since the scholastic population has decreased in some localities.

to start such terraces.

They, and other conservation steps, proved profitable for Waite. He soon had a rich, terraced peach orchard, and recently has turned mainly to growing tobacco and to daffodils as a cash crop.

Terraces and most conservation practices are not very new, but, Cotton said, "there is a grim reawakening to the necessity of combating erosion." Waite's farm, he added, illustrates that an individual can go ahead on his own without government aid to do the job.

NYA Residence and Shop Projects Are Increased

ABILENE, July 11 (Sp).—Expansion of residence centers and shop projects in a program closely linked with national defense will double employment on National Youth administration projects in Texas during the current fiscal year, J. C. Kellam, state administrator, announced here Monday.

Kellam disclosed expansion plans before a meeting of about 25 district directors, area supervisors and heads of district divisions from San Angelo, Amarillo, El Paso and Lubbock districts at the Hilton hotel. The session, opened at 10 a. m., was adjourned late in the afternoon.

Texas NYA rolls probably will be increased to 14,000 or 15,000, Kellam said. Of that number, he estimated 10,000 would be employed in residence centers and shop projects where training for manual crafts will be stressed.

With stressing of manual training, the administrator said clerical and landscaping and beautification projects would be curtailed or abandoned entirely.
