Combined With Cisco Daily News and Cisco American and Round-Up November 1, 1937

In an area of benevolent climate, blessed with an abundance of the purest lake water, possessing the best in recreational facilities, situated on the Bankhead, all-weather route, with three railroads and many highways, Cisco is the best place in Texas to live and to work.

CISCO, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, 1940

NUMBER 5

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Some of our good Cisco people have discovered with surprise that they have been selling themselves short. They have been seriously underrating themselves. That is a pretty bad state to be in, for it is certainly necessary that a body know his assets and liabilities thoroughly if he makes a success of his affairs.

Tonight, the Lions and Rotary clubs are sponsoring a community meeting on the Cisco Junior college that is to be opened here this fall. The purpose of this meeting is not to raise any money. That already has been done. It is not to argue about the value or lack of value of the proposed college. The need of it and the interest of those who seek education are already established in the response of prospective students, a response far greater than any who urged the organization of the school hoped for. The purpose of the meeting this evening is to raise some spirits.

A great deal of planning, spadework, organization and solicitation has already been done. Tonight the Cisco Junior college is assured. Tonight's dinner should rightly be a dinner of celebration. It should mark a discovery. Cisco has done a difficult thing. It has made a success out of a possibility that was confronted with many and earnest doubts. I say a success, despite the fact that much hard work remains to be done within the next four weeks. What remains to be done is purely organizational. The materials have been provided. The students are ready. Funds for the purchase of the equipment are principally raised. The school is guaranteed by the very existence of the means to organize and conduct it.

You may think you know all about the school. You may think you appreciate the significance of the institution and what it will mean year after year, term after term and season after season to the boys and girls who will graduate from the high schools in and around Cisco—boys and girls who will have no other chance, perhaps, to secure college training. You may think you understand the influence of such an institution upon the future of Cisco. Perhaps you do. Perhaps you do not. In any case, you are invited to this meeting tonight to hear more about our college, and to join with the others in celebrating that which was done in 1941 "couldn't be done." You have a right, as a Citizen, to be proud of your community and the people who make up that community. The column is proud of them and grateful for the opportunity to be here. It also has discovered that Cisco was being sold short.

British Troops Guard Suez

British troops run from trucks to take up positions in the burning Egyptian desert during recent training maneuvers. These troops are now defending the Suez Canal against an Italian invasion aimed to shut Britain's Mediterranean gateway.

Nazis Speed Up Aerial Attacks

A SOUTHWEST TOWN IN ENGLAND, Aug. 8 (AP)—Two waves of German warplanes raided this town last night and early today as German airmen suddenly accelerated their attacks on Great Britain.

The Germans twice dropped brilliant flares to light up the whole town. Immediately afterward, the dull thud of bombs was heard somewhere on the outskirts and then British fighters were heard racing to intercept their enemy.

Scores of searchlights swept the sky as the engines of the bombers were distinctly heard. Elsewhere, one enemy plane which crossed the northeast coast early today sped a short distance inland and dropped a number of bombs before rushing out to sea; one bomber seen over the northeast coast was believed to have dropped three bombs. The Germans also harassed Wales.

Large Livestock Division At Fair

ABILENE, August 8 (Sp)—An enlarged livestock division will feature the West Texas fair, scheduled in Abilene October 7-12.

Catalogue of the exposition, now in the hands of the printer, will announce increased premium lists in livestock classes. Knox Pharr, superintendent of the division, reports that physical facilities of the fair plant are in good condition and will be better able to accommodate the animals than last year.

Premiums in the farm horse and mule show will total $312, an increase over last year. Premiums in other classes will include $449 on Palomino horses, $600 in the Hereford show, $300 in the Jersey cattle division, and $200 for sheep and goats.

To emphasize the fact that the West Texas fair is a regional event for west Texas people, entries in the Jersey show will be accepted from a 16-county area in central west Texas only. This will eliminate professional showmen from distant points.

Sea Battle Off S. A. Coast Reported

VICTORIA, Brazil, August 8 (AP)—A new sea battle between the British armed cruiser Alcantara and a German raider, both already battle-worn—was believed to have been fought yesterday off the South American coast.

The recapture of their running engagement for a second time within two weeks was indicated by two explosions reported off the coast of Brazil.

The Alcantara left Rio de Janeiro, 80 miles southeast of Victoria, Monday when four days of heavy rain forced her to stay with an unbroken rain front.

The raider was reported to have been sighted on Page Eight.

TWO GROUPS AT METHODIST CAMPS HERE

Arrangements have been made to take care of two groups of young people—ages 12 to 15 and 15 to 24—at the Cisco Methodist camp, which opens Monday afternoon. While this is a camp primarily for the youth of the Cisco district, campers are expected from a number of places outside the district. Last year 15 or 20 campers from as far away as Fort Worth attended. While it is a camp conducted by the Methodist church, it is open to any young people who desire to attend.

The activities of the camp will consist of swimming, handicraft, games, study, social recreation, worship and hikes. Campers will need to bring hiking clothes, bathing suits, sheets, towels, toilet articles, a happy disposition and a good appetite. Each camper may take one of four courses: "Bible" by the Rev. F. W. Walker; "Worship" by Mrs. Bert McGlamery; "Courtship, Marriage and Homebuilding" by the Rev. W. H. Cole; or "Hymns in Worship" by the Rev. F. L. Wilshire. Books for the camp will be provided at the camp.

A Youth Crusade caravan consisting of one young man from Virginia, another from Georgia, and three young women from Texas will conduct the worship and the social activities. The caravan will be directed by Miss Lela Latch of Cisco.

Others on the camp staff are Miss Marian Chambliss, counselor of the girls and swimming instructor; the Rev. W. H. Cole, counselor for the boys; LeRoy Meador, swimming instructor; the Rev. F. L. Wilshire, business manager; Mrs. F. L. Wilshire, dietitian; Mrs. Archer, cook; the Rev. Joe Patterson, camp director, and Mrs. Charlie Yates, nurse.

The fee of $3.50 covers all necessary expenses. Further information concerning the camp may be obtained from the camp director at 191-W.

The Methodist church is conducting a number of camps at its encampment at Glen Rose, but those in charge of the camp at Lake Cisco say that they expect it to be the best of the season. No other camp this summer will have the privilege of a caravan except this one at Lake Cisco.

Miss Marian Chambliss or the Rev. Mr. Patterson will enroll campers, or they may report at camp Monday afternoon.

WPA Program at Fee Esta Park Tonight

Once again the streets of our town will glow through the soft evening hours at Fee Esta park when the WPA Recreation project offers the fourth in their series of weekly Thursday night programs. These programs, which were originally scheduled for Wednesday nights have been changed to Thursday to suit the convenience of many people who were unable to attend on Wednesday evening.

MEETING ON COLLEGE OPEN TO PUBLIC

Lions and Rotary Clubs Sponsor Special Dinner

Tonight's joint meeting of the Lions and Rotary clubs, featuring the Cisco Junior college, will be open to women as well as men, it was emphasized. As a matter of fact, the program is being sponsored by the two service clubs as a community gathering and is therefore open to all who are interested in the college and wish to attend.

Dr. E. H. Hereford, chief college examiner for the state department of education and the state junior college association, will be the speaker for the evening.

A program to include numbers by a quartet has been arranged by the joint program committee. The dinner will be held on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel at 7:30 o'clock. L. A. Warren will preside.

It was emphasized that there would be no collection of money for the school tonight. The program is simply to acquaint the people of the community who attend with the college plans and to emphasize the responsibilities and opportunities that it presents.

Handley Youth to Meet Nominee

DALLAS, August 8 (Sp)—That 17-year-old Johnny Stout of Handley, Tarrant county, will receive a personal introduction to the presidential nominee, Wendell L. Willkie, is the word that has come to Texas-for-Willkie club headquarters in Dallas. Recently Johnny bicycled 1,025 miles from Handley to Elwood, Ind., to be present when Willkie makes his acceptance speech.

Since then the Texas youth has been invited to address several groups in Elwood on the subject of the Lone Star State. Arrangements for Johnny to meet the presidential nominee are being made by the committee in charge of the home-coming ceremonies. Texans traveling on the special train to Elwood for the ceremonies August 17 will be met by Johnny Stout, who will make the trip home with the Texas party.

VFW to Advertise Jamboree in Tours

Tours advertising the VFW jamboree at Lake Cisco August 16 and 17 will be conducted by the Cisco Veterans of Foreign Wars next Saturday and Monday. It was announced. All principal towns and communities within a considerable radius of Cisco will be visited.

The Schaefer-Hittson orchestra, "Jukes, the Water Clown," and other entertainment will be carried.

Letters have been written commanders of VFW and American Legion posts in this area inviting them to enter girls in the "Queen" contest and riders in the burro derby. Return cards for their replies were enclosed.

Albany Legion Elects Officers

ALBANY, August 8 (Sp)—Officers of the Guy Taylor Post No. 61, American Legion, were elected Saturday night. Joe Burton was elected post commander, succeeding Joe K. Whorton, who has served post two years.

Other officers named were Jess Barker, first vice commander; C. E. Francis, adjutant; C. M. Reese, service officer; T. H. Moore, chaplain; R. L. Tollett, sergeant-at-law.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Clark and children are spending today in Abilene.

Today's War Map

Today's War Map shows the new theater of the war, the shift from the Western Front to Northern Africa. The Italian attack seems directed at Britain's Far-Eastern throat, the Suez Canal, jugular vein of England's life line.

Tax Drive of City to Continue

The city commission in a special meeting last night heard reports of the progress of the campaign to collect delinquent taxes and gave its attorneys the green light for full speed ahead on the campaign. City Attorney Clark Roberts and special assistant F. D. Wright presented a report in detail on the progress of the campaign. Complete lists of all taxable personal property, especially of automobiles, are being made. Answers to questionnaires which were sent to delinquent tax-payers were considered.

The committee ordered postponement of further projects in the city WPA street paving program until the delinquent tax campaign has had time to show sufficient results to justify continuing it. The repaving of South D avenue will not be completed but additional projects will not be undertaken immediately.

A number of individual tax matters were considered and action taken.

Stimson Orders Munitions Speed-Up

WASHINGTON, August 8 (AP)—Secretary Stimson ordered six army arsenals Wednesday to go on a three-shift basis August 10 in order to increase production of munitions at least 65 per cent.

The war department chief said the arrangement was authorized temporarily in order to obtain maximum production of needed war supplies from the six establishments.

The order was issued after conferences with Sidney Hillman, labor member of the national defense commission, he said, and it was approved by President Roosevelt.

Officials said the step would make possible the employment in the arsenals of more than 8,000 additional skilled mechanics and of possibly double that number of semi-skilled and unskilled personnel.

While the program is in effect, laborers and mechanics will be paid time and a half for time worked over 40 hours per week. The result will be three shifts of 8 hours per day, six days per week.

TROUBLE CORRECTED

The Hickok Producing and Development company has overcome crooked hole trouble in its No. 2 Wright and Harrell this week and is drilling ahead. The well is located four miles north of Cisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cunningham have left on a vacation trip to points in California.

DISTRICT 7 WPA NURSERY SCHOOL HERE

65 Attend Session of Conference Wednesday

Approximately 65 officials, sponsors, teachers and guests gathered at the Cisco WPA Nursery school Wednesday morning for the opening session of the District Seven Nursery school training conference.

The invocation was said by the Rev. Joe I. Patterson, pastor of the First Methodist church, followed by a welcoming address by Mrs. Bertie N. Lomas, manager of the Cisco school.

The morning session consisted of talks on various phases of the school work, including suggestions for instructors. Those who spoke were Mrs. Geraldine Hines, Miss Winnie Higgins, Miss Sarah Lou Clure and Miss Elizabeth Reese, of Fort Worth; Mrs. Elzie R. Jesse, Mrs. Vera Hutchinson, Mrs. Beatrice Thompson, of Eastland; Mrs. Alta James, Miss Edna Moad, Mrs. Pearl Healer, Mrs. Naomi Cox of Ranger, and Mrs. Bessie Pass of Cisco.

Mrs. Charles Sandier, member of the Cisco sponsors' board, closed the morning session with a discussion on the merits of a good nursery school from a sponsor's viewpoint.

A chicken dinner was prepared and served by Cisco NYA girls to approximately 90 at 12:30. The afternoon session included study groups for teachers, parent education leaders, cooks and housekeepers.

Members of the Cisco sponsors' board present were the Rev. Patterson, Mrs. B. E. Morehart, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clements, Mrs. Chas. Sandier, Mrs. W. C. Hogue, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. Edward Lee, Chas. Kleiner and Dr. Lee Clark.

Out-of-town officials who attended were Mrs. Edna E. Hartwick, district director of professional and service projects, of Fort Worth; W. T. Francisco of Fort Worth, field supervisor of nursery schools; Miss Frances Hardesty of Fort Worth, assistant district supervisor of recreation, and the following recreation supervisors: Mary Jane Driehoeffer of Ranger, Mrs. Kenneth Jameson of Eastland, and W. T. Brock of Cisco. Joe A. Clark, secretary of the Cisco chamber of commerce, was also present.

French Munitions Train Explodes

MIRAMAS, France, Aug. 8 (AP)—Dozens of freight cars loaded with munitions exploded yesterday during a fire of undetermined origin, injuring 20 persons and leveling nearby buildings in this large rail center west of Marseille and near the French seaplane base at Istres.

Railroad workers moved 80 carloads of munitions out of the danger area. The fire spread to the other cars and prevented their removal.

Violent explosions continued through the day.

Mrs. C. R. Hanford and daughter, Julia Ann, of Terrell, formerly of Cisco, are spending this week here.

Turkey Raisers Are Warned of Trouble

Eastland county turkey growers are being warned by the county agent that dry, hot weather, stagnant water, and lack of proper feed make a combination which is a set-up for turkey troubles, especially cholera.

Turkeys suffering cholera lose weight rapidly, almost refuse to range and eat, get feverish, and drink lots of water. A post-mortem examination shows sections of the intestines to be reddish and inflamed appearing.

The quick, sure remedy is to vaccinate with a cholera-typhoid mixed bacteria, provide clean, cool water, and feed plenty of any good growing mash.

SERIAL STORY

SUMMER THEATER

BY MILDRED WILLIAMS

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JOHNNY REGAN—young man in love with two girls.
JEAN REYNOLDS—Johnny's sweetheart since childhood.
MOLLY TRAVERS—ambitious young actress.
ANDRE MASTERS—the Theater's leading man.

YESTERDAY: Johnny tells Jean that Molly will marry him. Instead of being heartbroken, Jean is angry. His request that she sell or give the cameo to him only increases her rage. While Johnny tells Molly of Jean's refusal, there is a crash, a scream: The lamp turned over. Get out! The theater is on fire!

CHAPTER XI

The theater was on fire. The old lamp had turned over, the kerosene spilled. A spark from the switchboard had ignited the oil.

With half of his mind, Johnny heard the garbled explanation of the blaze, with the other half he was trying to figure out the quickest way of helping Jean Reynolds save the valuable Cape antiques she had gathered for the set.

"Cover your face, Molly, and stay close to me. We're going up."

"You're crazy. The stairs are on fire," she whimpered.

"Get over there on the lawn and don't come back again."

"What are you going to do?" Molly was hysterical.

Johnny pushed his way through the screaming crowd of actresses. Choked with smoke, he reached the stage door again just as Jean threw out the Carstairs silver service.

"Thank heaven for somebody who's not an actor," Jean shouted when she saw him. "Get in here and help me, Johnny."

Johnny took her orders. He was amazed at her courage and efficiency.

"Get everything as far away as possible. Hey, Rex!" she had seen Arnold in the crowd—"Cart this over to the Dunbar's lawn as we bring it out.

Johnny followed her back into the burning building. She even laughed. "Fourth of July celebration," as she worked. He glimpsed Molly and Masters sitting on the lawn across the street watching the blaze. Just as if it were a play with sound effects.

Johnny had never been so tired in his life. He was drenched to being heartbroken, Jean is angry. His request that she sell or give the cameo to him only increases her rage. While Johnny tells Molly of Jean's refusal, there is a crash, a scream: The lamp turned over. Get out! The theater is on fire!

"Last trip, Johnny!" He wanted to tell her how brave she was, but there wasn't time. She toppled against him weakly. "You'll have to go in alone this time. The liquor set, it's Bohemian glass and I promised Mrs. Wilson nothing would happen to it."

"Damn the liquor set, I'm taking care of you. Get Dr. Warren, somebody. Jean's fainted. Go on, I'm all right."

In a daze Johnny found his way across the stage once more. He brought out the liquor set; his coat pockets were full of tiny glasses.

"Where's Jean?" he asked Earl when the liquor set was packed safely away.

"Dr. Warren took her home. Her hands were burned. Everything safe?"

"Jean wanted it taken back to the people who own it. Can you help me with it?"

"Sorry, old man, I'm busy," Earl strolled off without concern. Johnny stood and watched him. Whose responsibility was this anyway? Certainly not Johnny Regan's, and only Jean Reynolds, by request. Carter Earl's as head of the theater, should have offered assistance.

"So it's up to me," Johnny told himself, "for the stuff spends the night on the lawn where the Portuguese lads can have a go at it."

Since he couldn't expect any help from the theater crowd, he'd have to find some Cape Cod cronies. With Rex Arnold's beach wagon.

"Hello, Johnny. Well, here I am, safe and sound," Molly, looking fresh and young again without her make-up, came up with Andre Masters. "I sat over there on the lawn and let the sparks fly upward."

"I hear Miss Reynolds burned her hands," Johnny nodded. Masters looked at the antiques piled on the lawn and whistled softly. "An antique dealer would give his eyes for that stuff. Careful of scavengers," he warned.

"I'm getting it back to the owners tonight," Johnny said, and shrilled out the gang's whistle for Rex.

"On, come along, sweet," Molly told him. "We're going to the inn. All this stuff will be here when you get back." When Johnny shook his head, she continued, "Well, when you've finished your homework, look us up."

Johnny watched them go down the street. They were black silhouettes against the still smoldering theater. He felt detached from them as if they were characters in a movie. Rex Arnold, who came up at that moment, was more real and important to him.

"Could we pile all this stuff in your station wagon?" Jean got it together for the set, and now that she's laid up, we'll have to get it back."

Rex helped him pile Hitchcock chairs on top of highboys and fasten silver sugar bowls to the knobs of tables.

"We've sure missed you and Jean this summer," he said. "You earning out a living as a shopkeeper and Jean hanging around the theater."

"What about the apprentice?" Jean said you were lovey-dovey."

Johnny didn't answer. He wondered what Masters was saying to Molly at the inn. They took the seats out of Rex's station wagon and piled in the furniture and valuables.

"Ready to go?" Rex asked, and they threw the car into gear.

From the top of the hill they looked down on the ruins of the theater. The theater. What a part it had played in life at Cape-town! Johnny recalled how he had sat in the balcony on hot summer afternoons, munching peanuts with a dozen other kids.

He remembered the first actress who'd ever smiled at him.

"Gosh, you're poor company," Rex ejaculated. "Silent as a funeral."

"This is a funeral," Johnny told him. "The Wharf theater has died. Doesn't it kind of get you?"

Rex said he guessed so, but he thought a drink would fix that up. "All I want is a bed," Johnny retorted. "But I do want to drop by the Meltons' to tell Jean not to worry."

DR. WARREN had just left the Meltons' and Jean was supposed to be asleep. Sue told him. "Tell her Johnny's here," he said. "It's important."

And so he stood beside Jean's bed holding one of her bandaged hands.

"I came to tell you that everything is back where it belongs. But why on earth did you go clear to Chatham for a bell-pull?"

"It was on Mr. Earl's list," she said. "Darling, you look so tired." Johnny drew himself up with a jerk. He mustn't tell her he would like to put his head in her arms and cry. He mustn't tell her that all he wanted was a friend like Jean, not a sweetheart like Molly.

"Where's Molly?" Jean asked, oddly.

"She's with Masters at the inn. I'm supposed to catch up with them, but I'm going home to bed."

Johnny's eyes were tender when she looked at him. "Johnny, I've decided to give you the cameo. I think I meant to all the time; something just got into me at the theater tonight."

He sighed with relief. "The fight was partly my fault. I was too bossy."

"No, you were right. You've always been my big brother and acted like it. I was the one who wanted it to be different. Even tonight when we were mad as two hornets, you came to help me when I needed you most. That was a real pal, Johnny," she continued slowly as if feeling out the right words. "So tell Molly the cameo is yours for a wedding present. I hope you'll both be very, very happy."

"I'm not going to take it, Jean. Don't ask me why; I can't explain why."

Johnny went, reluctantly. But it wasn't until he was out of the house that he realized what had happened. The cameo was the only piece of property borrowed for the theater that hadn't been returned to its rightful owner.

Although privately financed construction has declined throughout July and is "moderately below last year's corresponding period," Dr. Beuchel looked for an upturn, springing from "huge backlogs of orders in the electrical equipment industry, the high rate of activity in new spring production, and domestic air lines, and the rate of sales of passenger cars and trucks.

PROSPEROUS FALL SEEN BY ECONOMIST

AUSTIN, August 8 (Spc).—National business is quietly waiting to move from blueprint to construction stages; by fall, the present business lull will disappear in booming activity.

This was the optimistic prediction today by Dr. F. A. Beuchel, assistant director of the University of Texas bureau of business research. An extended lull in industrial activity, lagging since early July, was Dr. Beuchel's outlook for the weeks immediately ahead.

He looked for marked activity to develop this fall, however, when Britain can continue buying on a large scale, or, in any event, when U. S. national defense moves into full swing.

Dr. Beuchel saw optimistic evidences of near-future industrial strength in contract backlogs for heavy engineering, shipways construction, provision of ammunition and fuel storage facilities, barracks, machine shops extensions, power plant improvements at navy

Phosphate Is Needed Soil Specialist Says

Phosphate is the main thing lacking in Eastland county soil, according to M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist, who spent two days in the county in July, speaking to peanut growers at Gorman on July 22, and making a tour of soil building demonstrations with County Agent Cook on July 23.

Thornton explained that our virgin soils were lacking in phosphorus and that the amount of nitrogen in the virgin soils was limited. Phosphorus can be added only in the form of fertilizer, but nitrogen can be added by planting inoculated legumes such as cowpeas, soy beans, vetch and peanuts. However, when feed crops and cotton are planted on land where no legumes have recently been grown and turned under, it is necessary to add both nitrogen and phosphorus to the soil.

Thornton also pointed out that peanuts, cowpeas, soy beans and other legumes are soil depleting crops if the seed are not inoculated before planting as they take nitrogen out of the soil instead of adding it to the soil.

In line with Thornton's information on Eastland county soil building, nine farmers and ranchers of the county are cooperating with the county agent in demonstrating soil building by turning under two consecutive crops of legumes that have been fertilized with superphosphate. T. E. Castleberry, I. S. Echols, F. E. Harrell, J. D. Inabert, F. M. Spurlen, Robert Tucker, Ed Townsend and George P. Fee.

An inspection recently of I. S. Echols' soil building demonstration which consists of 42 acres of cowpeas, 30 acres fertilized with 100 pounds of 45 per cent superphosphate per acre and 12 acres left unfertilized for a check plot, showed that the fertilized peas are making twice as much vine and peas are offering more resistance to dry weather. The fertilized peas were still green and bearing, while the check plot was turning yellow and through bearing until it rains.

Echols will follow the peas with a winter crop of vetch.

sia Tuesday extended their trade-agreement for another year, with the Moscow government reserving the right to suspend purchases at any time that American defense restrictions made exporting too difficult.

The soviet already has raised objections to the restrictions imposed on the export of machines, tools and other equipment declared to be needed in this country's defense program.

The text of the agreement, made public by the state department, showed that soviet Russia agreed to purchase at least $40,000,000 worth of goods in this country during the next year—the same amount as in the treaty which expired today.

Mary was a Wiser Girl—When she picked her SECOND She'd seen so many friends replace their old refrigerators with silent Servel... The Gas Refrigerator that freezes with NO MOVING PARTS

-SILENT-

1 Mary was sarcastic when Jim suggested they needed a new refrigerator. "You picked our present chatterbox, smarty. Now come over to Sue Chapin's with me." And in no time at all Jim's ear is obediently cocked against Sue's gas refrigerator. "Say, girls, this is silent!"

--SAVINGS--

2 "And look at these savings, young man," beams Mary, finishing a batch of Sue's gas bills. "Servel runs for just a few cents a day." (And this low cost stays low because there are no moving parts in the freezing system of a gas refrigerator to wear and run up expenses!)

-TINY FLAME-

3 "Just a tiny flame like this does all the work," Mary adds, brandishing a lighted match like a regular salesman. "You see, a little gas flame takes the place of noisy machinery in this different refrigerator... circulates the refrigerant that makes constant cold and ice."

4 Now Mary's the family's expert on refrigerators, and Servel is their pride and joy. Servel's silence and greater economy won Jim... just as it had Mary and the thousands upon thousands of people who every year change to the gas refrigerator.

Whether it's Your Second... or Your First... BE WISE TO VALUES TOO.

If you look at ONE refrigerator, look at Servel — If you look at MORE than one, look at Servel to see the DIFFERENCE!

The League Comes Home

ALL things turn at the last, they say, to the place whence they sprung. The traveler of the world comes home to die and be buried in the churchyard of the village where he was born; the aged, stumbling, old man returns to childhood things.

So there comes now to Fine Hall, on the quiet campus of Princeton university, the last sad, battered remains of the League of Nations. The hope of keeping together some of its economic, financial and other non-political departments still flutters feebly, and so space will be made for them on the campus where Woodrow Wilson once walked and dreamed of a better world.

There is something appropriate about that.

We do not know for certain, but it seems likely that Wilson, who while a university president was also a deep student of government, meditated on a better and more orderly world as he strode the shady paths of Princeton. He did not know then that his was to be the leading role in trying to bring that ideal into actual being. But at Princeton the mind and thought was already forming which was later to offer to an eager world 14 points of a war settlement, the last of which was:

"A general association of nations must be formed under specific covenants for the purpose of affording mutual guarantees of political independence and territorial integrity to great and small states alike."

It was not to be. This is no time and no place to weep for the League, nor for the bruised and all-but-dead remains of it which now come creeping home for sanctuary on the Princeton campus.

It seems mockery to talk now, as Wilson talked then, of "the principle of justice to all peoples and nationalities, and their right to live on equal terms of liberty and safety with one another, whether they be strong or weak."

The League failed. The return to Princeton is scarcely more than decent burial. But can the world afford to forget the better world order which it was vainly designed to assure?

A Pittsburgh man seems to have put the wrong interpretation on the duty of a husband to provide his wife with bed and board. He is in court for beating his spouse with a plank.

A Rochester wife complains that her husband ate razor blades just to make her nervous. Well, one must do something with them.

Political paradox is that of the democrats, who bolt their party to make it hang together that much looser.

Abandon all hope for gents like the one who spends these hot days worrying about the snow he'll have to shovel off his walk next winter.

It is written that the intellectual type is most subject to having hay fever, confirming the thesis that the ragweed sufferer has something besides a cold in his head.

Pellagra Gives Health Officials Some Concern

AUSTIN, Aug. 8 (Spc).—Pellagra, while not a communicable disease, is of concern to the state health department since the Texas pellagra mortality over the last five years shows an annual rate of 697, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

"Pellagra is a dietary deficiency disease caused by insufficiency of the proper foods. The disease infects a person slowly and the victim begins to have a sore mouth, stomach trouble, and reddening and scaling of the skin. When these symptoms appear, the disease has been present for some time," Dr. Cox pointed out.

The longer period of time a person has been infected with pellagra, the harder it is to cure, so one should be on the lookout for the early symptoms, such as nervousness, indigestion and burning of the feet and hands. In its late stages, pellagra may be so severe as to affect the mind.

Pellagra is not contagious. If a person maintains the right dietary and is not otherwise diseased, he is in no danger even if he lives with a pellagra patient. The prevention of pellagra is easier than its cure. Simplest rule of prevention is careful attention to the diet at all times. To make sure that your daily quota of foods includes pellagra-preventive vitamins, it should include plenty of milk, some fresh meat, and as many fresh vegetables as possible. Tomatoes, whole wheat products, salmon, and brewer's yeast are particularly valuable for their pellagra-preventive qualities.

Having provided the essentials in your dietary, you should by all means consult your family physician when you need special assistance in diet correction or procedures.

BRUCE CATTON'S AMERICAN ROUNDUP

DRAFT ISN'T "REVOLUTIONARY" TO ARMY-NAVY GROUP WHICH WILL DIRECT SELECTIVE SERVICE

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Selective military service proposed in the Burke-Wadsworth bill and denounced variously as "revolutionary" and "dangerous" is old stuff to the six-man Joint Army and Navy Selective Service Committee.

For years the committee has been devising just such a law, simplifying regulations, studying draft procedure in the United States during the World War and subsequent movements by other countries.

Committee members are officers of the army, navy, marine corps, officers' reserve and national guard. If Congress enacts legislation for compulsory training these men will be the nucleus of the selective service headquarters staff.

THEY WANT TO KNOW—
SENATOR EDWARD BURKE OF Nebraska, co-author of the selective service bill, has been getting about 1000 letters a day. Business men write that they think compulsory training is a good idea, mothers of sons between 21 and 31 say they think it's a bad idea.

Men who haven't finished paying for their homes, silos or cars want to know if their installment payments will have to be made if they are called up and get only $21 a month. Men on relief ask if their families will get relief checks if they're drafted.

Government lending agencies haven't formed a definite policy on these matters, which would probably be left to an administrative board of appeals.

Farm Security Administration and Federal Housing Administration officials point out that most of their borrowers are men past 31 and not likely to be classified as "available for immediate service."

It seems likely that WPA would continue relief payments to dependents of men called up.

M-DAY CHANGES
M-DAY won't be quite as it was planned, if Congress agrees on peacetime military service. For one thing the "civilian effort" will be unnecessary.

Goal of the Protective Mobilization Plan was 790,000 recruits in 60 days. The first 60 days after the United States entered the war in 1917, only 290,000 men enlisted.

M-Day planners did not expect more enthusiasm from a later generation. So they were going to couple selective service with the "civilian effort"—specifically, committees of leading citizens in each community who would "promote" recruiting. They give pep talks in the neighborhood.

This "sell the war" campaign was to get out volunteers during the month or so which would elapse before the selective service machinery could be geared to wartime speed.

According to present plans, a peacetime selective service law would bring in more than 790,000 young men for military training by April, 1941.

Embarrassing question: Selective service questionnaires ask elected officials who hold federal, state, municipal and county jobs, "How much of your time is actually devoted to your position?" And in an election year too!

National Guard Ready To Train-With What?

Because the national guard doesn't have the real weapons, guardsmen must use such contraptions as the "machine gun" above. Gunner James Wingo is shown getting instruction from Corp. A. C. Rosenberg. This board-and-pipe gun will be used at the Plattsburg maneuvers. The U. S. army itself grabs all the really modern machine guns, such as the one in operation at left.

Regular Army Needs Equipment, Leaves Only Obsolete Material ... And Not Very Much of That

President Roosevelt has asked authority to call up the national guard. Many units of the guard are participating in the big nation-wide August war games. What does the guard have to work with? Does it possess the equipment necessary to really train men for modern warfare? This survey by NEA service discloses the true state of preparedness of this vital arm of the nation's defense.

By NEA Service

National guardmen assembling for the big August war games and likely to be called into active duty shortly by the president are going to need an active sense of imagination and lots of it.

Because the regular army has first call on equipment, guardsmen will probably find themselves drilling with broomsticks and rolling across country in "paper tanks."

The shortage of guard material is as serious as that. The guard has no Garand rifles, the army's newest and fastest weapon. The guard lacks ammunition, automatic rifles, heavy machine guns and mortars. It cannot hope to have a full tank company. The boys may even suffer a shortage of winter clothing.

Steps are being taken to make up these deficiencies, but production is not yet sufficient to equip both the national guard and a rapidly expanding army.

The president has asked authority to call out four national guard infantry divisions, seven anti-aircraft regiments, and four or five harbor defense and mobile tractor-drawn regiments. This is a tremendous strain on existing facilities of a guard which now numbers 242,300 officers and men.

The war department lists some 7,300 separate items of equipment vital to the soldier. Of these, 252 items are designated "critical." It is in these critical items the guard faces its greatest deficiencies. The guard will do practically all its training with old and obsolete weapons—or with none at all.

Army Grabs Garand Rifles

First major deficiency is the Garand rifle. Only 50,000 have been produced so far and the army has taken these. Even if production of this semi-automatic weapon were stepped up, it would take at least two years more to model. The rate at which both the 75 mm. guns and the 155 mm. howitzers are being manufactured under the new national defense program precludes any new artillery for the guard this year.

Speed-up production is slated for spring, but by that time growth of the regular army will call for the new guns as fast as they are turned out.

There is a serious shortage in the 37 mm. anti-tank guns which are now being delivered to the army in small quantities. Under the new "triangular" setup there will be 18 anti-tank guns to a division. This compares with 72 in the German division, 32 in the Italian and 48 in the French. Thus, the guard cannot possibly hope for equipment in a weapon in which the army is deficient.

The same is true of anti-aircraft equipment. The president has asked for seven more national guard anti-aircraft regiments. A year ago we had 11. Four units were added in November and six more this spring, bringing the total to 21 regiments. Thus, anti-aircraft strength in the guard was doubled in a year. But in this doubling the strain on equipment was increased.

Equipment of an anti-aircraft unit is extremely expensive, difficult to build. Up to last year, when a sizable order of 3-inch guns was built, it took 18 months to produce a complete gun.

While this time has been reduced, it is still one of the most critical items of supply to the entire army.

Not Much Fun Ahead

But much more serious is the shortage of the two newly authorized weapons of the anti-aircraft regiment—the 37 mm. and the 90 mm. guns. Only a few, an estimated 5 to 15, of the 37 mm. rapid-fire cannon have been built. Orders for 1,400 have been or will shortly be placed.

This gun, which replaces the machine-gun for fire against low-flying aircraft, can also be used for anti-tank work. But the national guard won't use it for a long time—not until all the regular regiments have been supplied.

The guard will use the officially discarded 30 and 50 caliber machine guns. Neither will the guard use the 90 mm. guns which have now been demonstrated as superior against the big bombers over Europe. Approximately 300 of these will be built—for the regular army.

Finally, the guardsmen may do a bit of shivering this winter under the unprecedented demands of the national defense program. In ordinary conditions, it would be no problem feeding and clothing 50 to 60 thousand guardsmen. Sufficient uniforms are on hand to take care of that number. If 400,000 draftees are outfitted this fall at the same time, the clothing problem may become something else again. The guard would be quite sure to suffer a shortage of heavy winter clothing.

Likewise, the guard may be crowded out of its regular barracks with the new deluge of recruits. And, like the guardsmen of 1917-18, they will have to do the pioneering, building camps of their own.

There is no fun ahead for the guard.

Farmers Will Teach Teachers At A&M College

COLLEGE STATION, August 8.—It looks like anything might happen in 1940. The routine will be revolutionized here when approximately 600 Texas teachers of vocational agriculture meet at Texas A. & M. college for the annual state-wide conference, August 7-10, when farmers are scheduled to teach the teachers.

R. A. Manire, Austin, director of vocational agriculture, said, "Our teachers of vocational agriculture need to find out more about farmer thinking." Ten farmers, one future farmer and two non-farmers will be the speakers.

The subjects of discussion will range from "Problems of Politics for Triple A," through "Developing District Programs for Soil and Water Conservation," to "Agricultural Economics from the Farmer's Point of View."

Farmers who will do the teaching include: Walter Hammond, Tye; Peter Harton, Danevang; Romeo Korth, Ee'eto; V. C. Marshall, Heidenheimer; R. C. Miller, Orange Grove; Leo Owen, Sinton; V. A. Peterson, Danevang; George Slaughter, Wharton; Tom Walton, Groveton; and Jess Watson, Newcastle. The future farmer will be R. C. Scruggs, newly-elected president, Texas Association of the Future Farmers of America. Two non-farmers will be Director Manire and J. B. Rutland, Austin, state supervisor, F. F. A.

Manire said that these men have been selected because they have become leaders among farmers in their own communities and in the state as well.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Lighthouse Marks Spot Where Columbus Landed

A HUGE beacon, to light sea and air travelers, is to be the New World's memorial to its discoverer, Christopher Columbus, under a project sponsored by the 21 republics of the Pan American Union. The projected lighthouse is to be built in the Dominican Republic, which Columbus knew as Hispaniola, and where he established the center of Spanish colonization in America.

Five stamp issues of the Dominican Republic have advertised the project. Official stamps issued in 1928 and 1931 showed suggested designs. A 1937 airmail also pictured the lighthouse. Most recent of the lighthouse stamps were the New York World's Fair commemorative, above, and airmail, which featured the lighthouse with the words "Lighthouse" and "Perisphere".

The present plan, the post office will include not only the light but also an airport, museum, and a Columbus library. The lighthouse will be a "Great Navigator" with a "Lighthouse" and "Perisphere".

Eastland County Is Good Apple Growing Area

The next fellow who tells you that Eastland county is no apple country, tell him he's all wet. In refutation of such statements, Claude Strickland, secretary of the land bank branch at Eastland, stands ready to testify.

Evidence that Eastland county can produce as good apples as may be found anywhere was furnished Saturday when Mr. Strickland brought in a basket containing about one dozen of fine apples.

Another refutation of the statement that this is no apple country are the orchards of Clyde, in Callahan county, famed for their fruit.
Mr. Strickland said the apples brought in Saturday were grown on a single tree in his yard at Eastland. The tree is eleven years old and a consistent producer.

"This tree," he said, "produces about 20 bushels every year, all uniform in size."
"The sandy lands of Eastland county, especially the area around Nimrod, will produce as good or

Attic Fan Is Subject of A&M Bulletin

COLLEGE STATION, August 8 (Spc).—The summer sun beating down on the house roof raises temperatures in many attics to 130 degrees Fahrenheit or more. This makes living and sleeping quarters extremely uncomfortable. At night accumulated heat is dissipated so slowly that it usually is early morning before it is cool enough for comfortable sleeping.

However, it is possible to prevent heat from accumulating in the attic during the day and to cool the house at night by making use of a ventilating fan. Changing the air many times an hour, this fan will drive out the warm air and bring in the night air which is 15 to 20 degrees cooler than the daytime air.

The ventilating fan system can serve almost every type of home. A propeller-type exhaust fan is located in the attic over an open grill placed in the ceiling of the top floor. Louvered openings or windows are provided in the attic which, when provided with sufficient outlet area, permit an easy egress for the air which is drawn up from the rooms below. Cool air is pulled through open windows and doors. Home cooling by attic ventilation is NOT a substitute for air conditioning, but is a practical and relatively inexpensive means of securing relief from summer heat.

The Texas Engineering Experiment station of the A. & M. college has issued Bulletin 52, "The Installation and Use of Attic Fans," by W. H. Badgett, research associate. It is for use of architects, builders, attic fan dealers, and home owners interested in attic fan installation for summer comfort.

Copies of this bulletin may be secured by writing the Texas A. & M. Engineering Experiment station, College Station, Texas.

Time to Change TO A FRESH...COOL...CLEAN MODERN KITCHEN

Menard Lady Glad She Changed 15 Years Ago

Now she writes:
I like my electric range because it is so clean—no soot, no smoked pots and pans to clean. And it is so safe and cool I can cook an entire meal on the hottest days and my kitchen is no warmer... I can cook a whole meal in the oven, turn on low heat, and never have to bother with it until serving time. I bought my range from the first shipment your company received here, some 14 or 15 years ago, and I've never regretted buying it one minute since... Before then I had used all kinds of fuel—wood, coal, gas and coal oil—but electric cookery is the cleanest, safest, and most economical of all.
MRS. LULA MADDOX,
Menard, Texas.

We Asked Tony and TONY SAYS:

Tony knows what he's talking about

They may look blank when you mention "tonia" - emotional soap suds, but ask him how to sell Frank and Tony - we're talking to an expert. He's been doing it for years, and what he knows about selling has been learned from experience.

Ask Tony where he sells his soap, and he'll answer "I just follow the crowd!" There you have Tony's secret of success. He doesn't work his soap in a quiet corner. No, Tony! Tony! He stands where you find the crowds. Where you don't find them, he'll lead you there. But if you want to sell more than you do - "Follow the crowd!" he'll be following to the front!

The jamboree, the first of its kind to be undertaken by VFW anywhere, is expected to attract thousands.

Among highlights of the two-day event will be the selection of a VFW sweetheart, and a donkey derby.

Banner to Locate Unit in Cisco

Construction began this week on the first unit of a plant to be established by the Banner Creamery of Abilene from which pasteurized milk, ice cream and ice will be distributed.

The building now under construction will be 30 feet in width and 60 feet in length. It will be modernistic in design, with white stucco finish and black bands trimming, with transparent glass block corners.

British Admit--

from Libya was characterized as "reflecting the desperation" of Italian Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, to achieve victory to offset British successes in smashing at Libya's air and naval bases and Briton's said, wrecking water pipelines and supply concentration.

Graziani, they added, must face not alone the British regulars—seasoned troops with long experience in Africa—but two great natural allies; thirst and intense heat. Between the Italian positions and the British Egyptian base at Mersa Matruh, on the Mediterranean, there is a shimmering, waterless stretch of almost 400 miles.

Should the Italians break through the British outposts, they would still face a long march across the desert and, said a British source, because of heavy British air bombing they would have little hope of more supplies or of keeping contact with the rear base.

Winners in FFA Camp Contests Are Announced

The annual F. F. A. encampment closed at noon Saturday at Lake Cisco. The winners in various contests in which the boys engaged were announced by T. G. Caudle, director of the encampment. They are as follows.

Sylvester and Richland Springs were tied with a total of 44 points, and an additional contest was given to break the tie, with the decision going to Sylvester. Paint Creek placed third with a total of 41 points.

Peacock placed first in playground ball, Paint Creek first in water polo, Hobbs first in horse shoe pitching and Burkburnett first in washer pitching.

In the boxing matches Lambert Mason of Sylvester won the feather weight division. The light weight champion was G. Winslett of Hamlin. B. Morrow of Paint Creek was awarded first place as welter weight, and J. Davis of Hobbs was champion in the light-heavy weight division. Bobby Fidler of Perrin was declared heavy weight champ.

The swimming and diving events were well divided among the various schools.

Added attractions for the boys were a visit to the fish hatchery Friday morning and a hog calling contest.

Burglars Rob Feed Mill Of Large Amount

Burglars, who apparently kept close track on the movements of city patrolmen and timed their actions accordingly, broke into the Thornton Feed mill on South D avenue Tuesday night and broke open the big safe in the office, rifling it of money and jewelry valued at several hundreds of dollars.

More than $100 in cash, a diamond ring and two watches formed the principal loot.

Entrance to the mill was gained by jimmying the rear door.
