BRITISH BOMB BIG NAZI BASE AT BOULOGNE

Italians Occupy Somaliland as British Troops Withdraw

By the Associated Press

British bombers struck three times at the big German military base at Boulogne, across the channel from England, and presumably were raiding in the Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen areas last night and early today in a sudden renewal of aerial war-

An air raid alarm sounded i Berlin at 12:42 a. m. Tuesday (4:42 p. m. Abilene time Monday) The Bremen and Hamburg radistations went off the air about midnight, usually an indication raiders are near.

The Germans, for their part made wide forays over England and Wales after a day of minor activity. One German bomb in East Anglia killed three civilians and wounded a number of others.

The British bombers of the "night hawk" patrol went to work shortly after Britain acknowledged the withdrawal of 7.000 empire troops from the desert protectorate of British Somaliland, a retreat giving Italy her first major victory over the British since she entered the war in June.

Detained for Explanation of Presence in Mexican Zone

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20 (P) The Mexican gunboat G22 halted a United States freighter near the Pacific port of Acapulco, Mexico, yesterday, and last night Foreign Minister Eduardo Hay told the U.S. embassy the ship was "inside Mexican territorial waters" and was detained only briefly for an explanation.

Dispatches from San Francisco Calif., said a United States destroyer reportedly was steaming toward the area to investigate the boarding of the freighter Herman Frasch, out of San Diego, Calif., bound for Gulf of Mexico ports via the Panama canal. Informed sources here, however, said the incident was of "no extraordinary nature," and attributed the action to Mexico's increased vigilance against any possible attempts to land arms for a political revolu-

Barbour glanced antagonistically at Riggs. His eyes darted to the spot in the bookcase where the two large volumes had been removed. Then he saw the gun in Carroll's hand. "All right . . . but I wish this shooting would stop. Gets me nervous."

O'Leary heard him walk back into the reception hall. There was confused chatter at the foot of the stairway and, after several minutes, he heard the sound of footsteps as the startled host and his guest made their way back

O'LEARY had not taken his eyes off Riggs. He was studying the man closely. "What's the big idea?" he asked finally. Sullenly, the man glanced at "That's my business," he

"And ours," O'Leary snapped.

One of Nazi Flyers' London Guidebooks

Perhaps this very photo was handed by Air Marshal Goering to his Nazi pilots before they left their bases, their objective the famed Tilbury Docks, near London. The picture was taken earlier in the war by German reconnaissance photographers to guide pilots when they should swoop, throttles open, to drop loads of death along miles of the Thames Estuary's vital wharves. According to Nazi censor's caption, figures show: (1) Jetty dock; (2) large ocean liner; (3) breakwater pier; (4) docks; (5) railroad bridge (6) vulnerable entrances to a large, sheltered harbor.

F YOU will use Humble Gasoline day-in and day-out, year-in and year-out, you will always have a gasoline which matches performance with the performance of the car you drive.

We make that statement with the sober realization that it implies continuous improvement of this product to keep pace with the continuous improvement of automobile engines. We realize that it constitutes a promise to supply you a regular-grade gasoline second to none.

We have no hesitancy in making that promise: continuous improvement is a basic Humble policy.

Today, Humble Gasoline is made to specifications which meet the requirements of today's streamlined, speedy, high compression cars. It is seasonally adjusted with the changing seasons; it is climatically adjusted to driving conditions in Texas.

Fill up today at the nearest Humble sign—see for yourself that Humble is the gasoline for Texans!

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING COMPANY

Stop today for continuously improved Humble Gasoline (HUMBLE)

Frankly, this gasoline is not as high in quality as Humble. But it is a good gasoline of leaded, specified quality, manufactured for older automobiles. Thrifty price makes it popular with users.

This is definitely the best gasoline you can buy. It gives you extra performance with every gallon. We are enthusiastic about Esso Extra-when you try it, you will be, too.
