PEACETIME DRAFT BILL BECOMES LAW

Quick Action in Senate and House Approve Compromise

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Peacetime draft legislation, requiring registration of approximately 16,500,000 men through 35 for military training, was finally approved by Congress Saturday and dispatched to the White House. The Senate approved the peace-time draft measure Saturday morning and sent the bill to the House where it was passed last night, where it was passed last night. The Senate's action came after the bill had been sent to a joint conference committee and approved by a 37 to 33 vote last night with instructions to its members to insist on the adoption of a clause giving the government power to consider industrial plants where owners proved recalcitrant in accepting or speeding up these orders.

This provision, much more drastic than a compromise version passed in the House, was adopted by the joint committee and the measure returned to the Senate for action.

Rising Star Starts Work on Market Bldg.

RISING STAR, Sept. 14 (Sp)—Civic leaders this week could see Rising Star's public market building becoming a reality as preliminary work got under way. The building, which is the answer to a long cherished dream on the part of Rising Star citizens, will be located just east of the band stand on South Main street. It will be 60x120 feet and built of native stone. Specifications call for the walls to be finished on the inside and a concrete floor. The building will have a sheet iron roof and an entrance on the west side.

Camacho Welcome For U. S. Visit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Secretary Hull hinted at United States recognition of General Avila Camacho as the next president of Mexico by asserting today that Camacho would be welcome if he desired to visit this country. Hull would not discuss the disputed Mexican presidential election.

Union Services Are Concluded

The summer union services, held Sunday evening on the lawn of the First Methodist church, with the Methodist, Christian and Presbyterian churches cooperating, were concluded last Sunday night, it has been announced. The three churches will conduct their fall and winter services according to past schedules.

Mixed Doubles Team in Offing

A fine mixed doubles team is in the offing, following the report that Sarah Palfrey, above, of Brookline, Mass., America's No. 3 woman tennis player, had announced her engagement to Elwood Cooke, of Portland, Ore. He ranks sixth among net stars. They will be married early in October.

FLYING CLASS TO BE FORMED HERE MONDAY

Robbins to Meet With Eligibles At 9 o'Clock at CofC

Reg Robbins, who will operate the Cisco Junior college CAA aviation school this fall, will meet eligible students at the chamber of commerce Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Only ten students can be accepted for training through the college program, under the rules of the CAA, and these must be between the ages of 18 and 26, have one year of college work to their credit and be of good physical condition. One may be a girl. The government will pay the cost of training the students. The operator will furnish the planes and other equipment. Since Cisco now has no suitable airport the actual flying instruction will be given at the Eastland airport, arrangements for which have been made by Mr. Robbins. The class room instruction will be taught at the Cisco college.

All students who are interested in taking this course were urged to be present at the chamber of commerce Monday morning to start organization of the class.

Although the college class must first be taken care of, Mr. Robbins will instruct out-of-school students who wish to pay for their instruction themselves.

Victory Dinner for Campaign Group Monday

A "victory dinner" for members of the campaign committee which carried out the successful drive to raise a $4,000 fund for equipping the Cisco Junior college will be held at the Laguna hotel Monday evening at 7 o'clock. The committee members will be the guests of the Cisco chamber of commerce. All who participated in raising the fund were urged to be present.

Meanwhile, the committee gave notice that it plans to deposit all checks given the fund for collection this week. Those who made pledges were urged to make arrangements to pay these as quickly as possible, so that the committee will be spared as much work in collection as possible.

Junior Band Practice To Begin On Monday

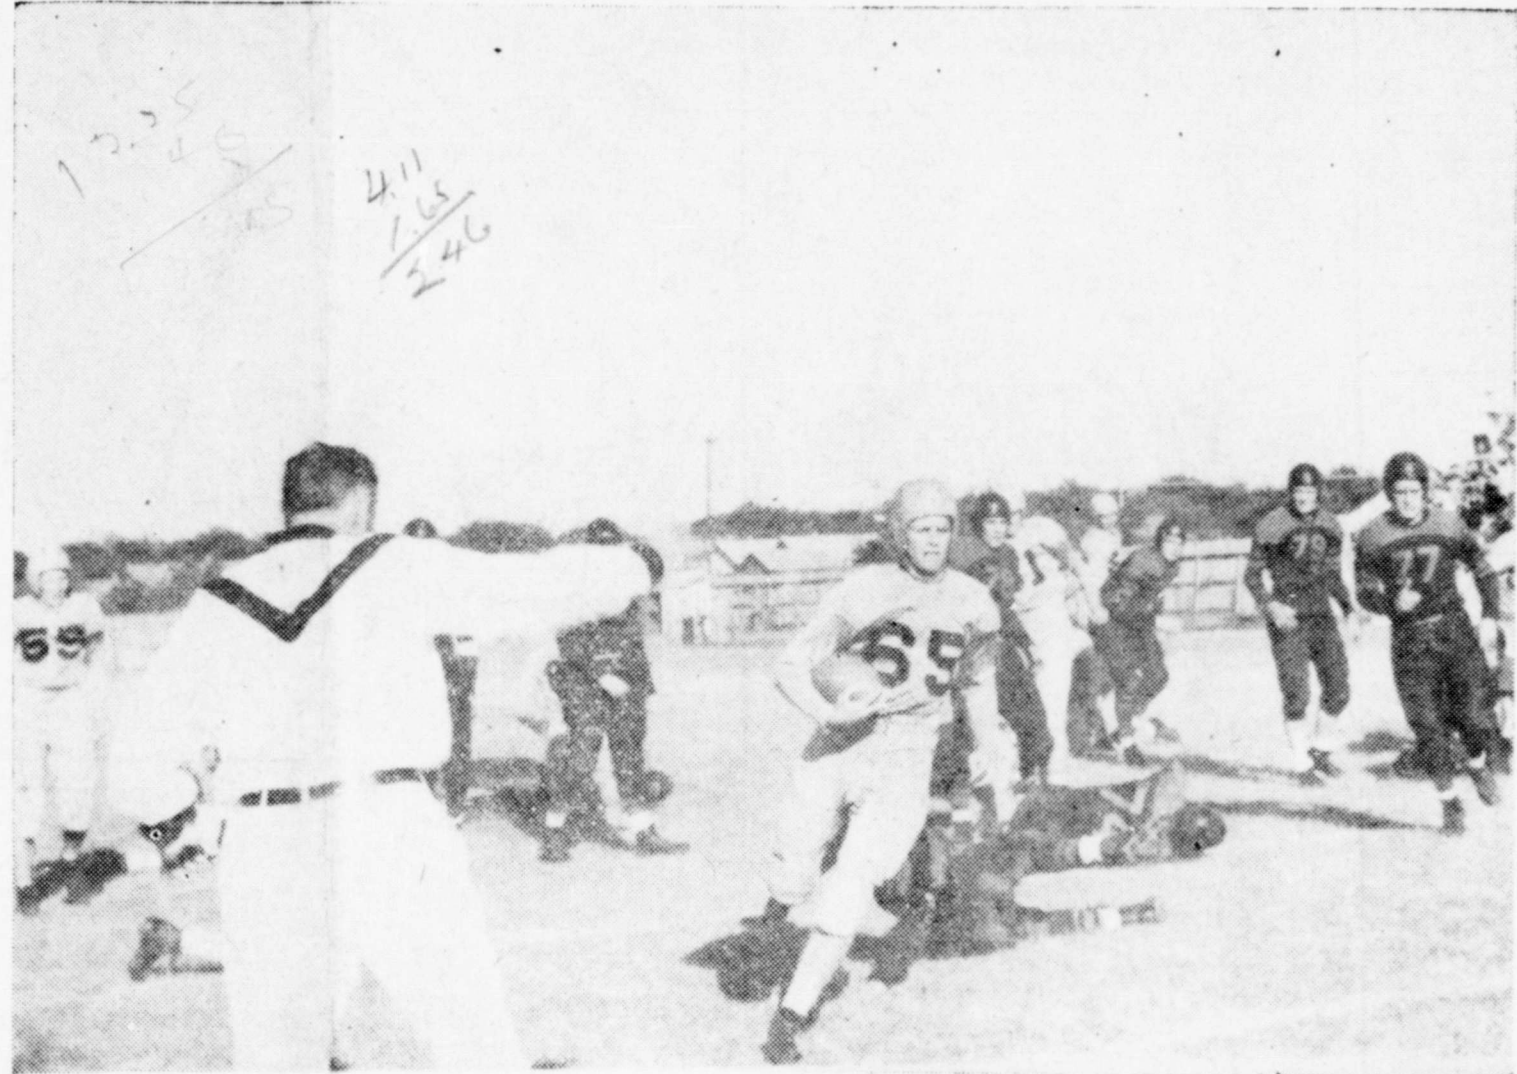

The Cisco Lobo Junior band will resume practice sessions Monday afternoon at 3:45, according to Dir. R. L. Collier. Rehearsals during the latter part of the summer have been deferred, but will be taken up again this week with the hope of building a larger and stronger band for the coming year.

It was also announced that there will be no drill practice for the senior band Monday morning. Dir. Collier stated that he would make later announcements concerning this practice.

Miss Cearley Will Represent Cisco

Miss Maxine Cearley will represent Cisco at the Graham Fair and Rodeo September 17, Joe Clark, secretary of the chamber of commerce announced, Saturday. P. G. Berry, Lake Cisco Amusement company manager, will take the Cisco entrant to Graham for the event Tuesday afternoon.

Warren Scores Third Touchdown as Loboes Beat Eastland

Coy Warren, No. 65, is shown here crossing the Maverick goal line for the third touch down which the Loboes scored Friday in their 40 to 0 trouncing of the Eastland team at Chesley field. The Lobo quarter made score in a brilliant broken field run behind fine blocking of his mates. At extreme left is John Pether, No. 55. No. 78 is "Sonny" Self, Eastland guard. Edgar Taylor, is directly behind Self, the "1" of his sweater numeral showing. The Lobo farthest in the right background is Louis Wingo. Bill Hart, No. 79, and Bush, No. 77, of the Mavericks are at right. The official with back to camera is Monroe Sweeney.

SECURITY TAX FOR DRAFTEES CONSIDERED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress Saturday to give "early consideration to legislation providing for men called to military service their insurance protection under the social security, railroad retirement and railroad unemployment insurance acts.

The text of his message follows: "The social gains of recent years, including insurance and other benefit rights, must be preserved unimpaired.

"The national guard legislation, which I recently approved, contained provisions evidencing this policy in connection with benefit rights of workers who are called into active service, and a similar provision is contained in pending selective service legislation.

"I recommend to the Congress early consideration of the problems thus recognized, and enactment of the necessary legislation incident to preserving insurance protection under the social security act, the railroad retirement act, and the railroad unemployment insurance act, and to facilitate state action under the federal-state unemployment insurance program.

"The agencies administering the federal acts have been considering the needed technical changes to meet these problems and are now ready to furnish recommendations to the Congress in this connection."

Two SS Classes To Meet Together

The Philathea and Goodfellow classes of the First Methodist church will meet together this morning at 9:30, it has been announced by class officials. Every member of both classes is urged to attend.

Attend Grading Demonstration

T. G. Caudle and members of the Cisco high school vocational agriculture classes attended a wool and mohair grading demonstration at Ranger Saturday.

Britain Subjected to Intense Invasion

LONDON, Sept. 14 (AP)—The next 48 hours "is a period of intense danger of invasion to Britain," neutral military sources said Saturday.

This statement came as German raiders tested the defenses of England's southeast coast after the eighth consecutive night of destructive raids on London, and another daylight attack on the capital.

At the same time the air ministry announced that large forces of RAF bombers wrecked barge concentrations and started fires amidst German shipping, harbors and docks on the French and Belgian coasts Friday night.

About 20 German planes roared over London shortly after air raid sirens sounded Saturday and were met with a heavy barrage of anti-aircraft fire.

Day's Third Alarm. A few minutes later planes moved high over the heart of the city. Two bomb explosions were heard a considerable distance to the west of the central London area.

The roar of planes faded and no more bombing or firing could be heard. A patrol of six British fighters circled the city.

The "all clear" sounded at 5:05 p. m., a little over an hour later. Weather conditions off Dover, nearest point to German-held France across the channel, were described, however, as slightly less favorable for sea-borne invasion than for some time.

A stiff southwest breeze ruffled the channel surface and mist formed over the distant outline of the French coast.

Although air raid warnings sounded twice for brief intervals in London and there were sporadic forays by German planes on northeast coast towns, only one bombing was reported in daylight Saturday after a week of history's greatest aerial siege.

One German bomber appeared out of a cloud bank over a southeast coast town, dropped two bombs and vanished into the cloud. Other German planes were sighted in the same area.

While the army, navy and RAF stood prepared to "repel boarders" on Britain's coast and air fields, the Postmaster General announced:

"Nothing!" "Why, what was wrong?" "Just men jumping over horses and horses jumping over men. That's all."

SABOTAGE IS SUSPECTED AS BLAST CAUSE

KENVIL, N. J., Sept. 14 (AP)—Activities of "foreign agents" were blamed Saturday by Senator Barbour of New Jersey for the explosions at the Hercules Powder company that killed at least 48 and within five frightful minutes blasted more than a score of buildings off the 2,000-acre plant.

While state police checked membership rolls of the German-American Bund against the roster of plant employees, Senator Barbour in a statement in Washington said he believed "when the facts are known, it will be discovered that it (Thursday's explosion) was due to sabotage."

Mr. Spencer has been in failing health for a number of years, but his condition was not considered critical until a few days ago. He is at his home at 504 I avenue.

W. E. Spencer Critically Ill At Home Here

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt said Saturday it made no difference whether Congress recessed or adjourned after it finished its current work because it could come right back if more legislation was needed.

He made this statement at a press conference in telling of his plans for the week-end and the coming week. He said he would leave tomorrow for a river cruise and return Monday.

Next Friday he will make an address after receiving a degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

Next Tuesday he will open the new $10,000,000 airport here in the capital.

Little Jacqueline Jumps to a Conclusion

PUEBLO, Colo., Sept. 14 (AP)—Jacqueline Wells is 4. She saw her first rodeo recently.

"What did you think of it, Jackie?" inquired a friend. "Nothing!"

"Why, what was wrong?" "Just men jumping over horses and horses jumping over men. That's all."

DEAN DAVIS IS SPEAKER FOR OCCASION

Six College Presidents Will Be Among Honor Guests

Six college presidents will attend the formal opening of Cisco Junior college Tuesday evening when an open-air meeting will be held in front of the college main building at 8 o'clock. The program will celebrate the successful inauguration of the college as a unit of the Cisco public school system.

College heads who have accepted invitations to attend are Dr. W. R. White, newly elected president of Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene; Dr. Don Morris, Abilene Christian college, Abilene; Dr. Frank Turner, McMurry college, Abilene; Dr. Tom Taylor, Howard Payne college, Brownwood; Dr. Hart, Daniel Baker college, Brownwood; and Dr. W. T. Walton of Ranger Junior college.

Dean Davis, of John Tarleton college, Stephenville, will be the principal speaker for the evening. Tarleton is a junior college maintained by the state of Texas.

Dr. E. H. Hereford, chief college examiner of the state, will also be an honor guest. Dr. Hereford recently spoke to a joint meeting of the Lions and Rotary clubs here on the junior college question, and praised the Cisco junior college highly, assuring the clubs that, if the school carried the program as outlined, it need have no fear of failing to secure full recognition.

Superintendents Invited

The superintendents of the following public school systems have also been invited as honor guests for the evening: Albany, Moran, Breckenridge, Eastland, Carbon, Ranger, Gorman, Cross Plains, Pioneer, Rising Star, Baird, Putnam, Morton Valley, Scranton and Olden.

The program will be presented from a platform erected before the main building on College hill. L. A. Warren, member of the Cisco school board, will be master of ceremonies.

The program will include a concert by the Lobo band and numbers by the Cisco junior college trio.

Seats will be provided for the public and the program will be open to all who are interested.

Auspicious Event

"We regard this as one of the most auspicious events in the history of the Cisco public school system," said R. N. Cluck, superintendent of the Cisco schools. "It is a distinct honor for Cisco to have the opportunity of entertaining at one time so many educators and college presidents as have accepted invitations to be present. These men are the leaders in education in our section. We are anxious that every person in Cisco who can attend this program.

"The program will not be long. I believe that it demonstrates beyond doubt the keen interest which educational leaders are taking in the junior college movement that so many of them will attend the formal opening of our new institution.

"I cannot stress too much the individual responsibility which every citizen of Cisco and every school patron in our territory should feel toward this event, and I sincerely hope that we shall be

Resurrecting Life From the Past

An old favorite of lurid fictioneers, from A Conan Doyle down through Dizzy Stories, is the device of bringing to life by means of magic potions the mummy of some Egyptian princess.

This one has always been good for a set of creeps and a thrill or two. But after we'd closed the book and gotten safely into bed, we always said, "Oh, tush, tush!" and relaxed to sleep, if any.

Now the German papers are full of reports that a Professor P. Busse-Grawitz, experimenting at Cordova, Spain, has actually done it. According to the German reports, this scientist with a name that sounds like a beer substitute, has actually taken tissue from 5300-year-old Egyptian mummies, placed it in certain solutions, whereupon this flesh which "died" thousands of years ago took on new life and began to wax and burgeon. Busse-Grawitz's theory seems to be that while the body dies the cells that make it up do not die, but "hibernate," ready to live again.

Eminent American scientists comment: "We doubt it."

YOU may doubt it or not. But certainly some of the countries of Europe have been doing a lot of resurrecting these days. While they have seldom gone clearly back 5300 years, nevertheless the past 20 years have seen a lot of things dredged up out of the past which men had believed—and hoped—were dead.

Up from the Middle Ages they have dug racial hatreds, which, by careful fanning and cultivation, have been made to live again almost as they did in the Dark Ages.

Slaughter of innocent women and children, fatuously believed to have vanished with Genghis Kahn and Attila, has been restored to grim reality. Hunger has been disinterred from a world of want to stalk again in a world of plenty.

Oh, yes, it is not fantastic! Herr Busse-Grawitz may indeed have succeeded in rousing to life cells called dead for 5300 years.

It would be no more fantastic than the grim set of horrors which have been resurrected from the catacombs of the world and made to dance across its face in a carnag-nole of racial hatred, religious and political intolerance, cold-blooded cruelty and ignorance.

U. S. government is seeking harness cutters for the army, preferably those who have experience on red tape.

The condemned small nation in Europe doesn't even get the usual hearty breakfast these days, no one eating that way over there any more.

What It Means

NAZIS' 'SECRET WEAPON'

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.

When the Germans tell you that they have a great surprise in store for you against the British, and the British admit the peak of air war is not yet, it adds up, for the military expert, to the probable use of poison gas in the near future.

And you can bet one gas that's coming will be deadly, almost invisible phosgene. If the Germans use it first—and they were the first to use chlorine in the World war—air experts expect they will drop it from the sky. The purpose would not be to decimate the population as so many people seem to think, but to spread panic and fear when panic and fear are already taking hold of the civilian population.

Phosgene would be a favorite for this purpose for these reasons:

- 1. It is almost invisible, and therefore will have a terrifying effect on civilians subjected to the first attacks. People will appear to drop dead like flies for no apparent reason.
- 2. It is easy to store in bomb-like containers and drop from the sky.
- 3. It is highly adaptable to use

"Okay"

In the British isles at this season, because the atmosphere is often hazy, almost foggy. The thin cloud of the stuff will be invisible under these conditions.

(Phosgene is no good in very wet weather, for water absorbs and dissipates it more rapidly than air.)

4. The Germans know that the British population has been lax in their use of gas masks.

I have it from well-informed military observers that both the Germans and the British have big stores of gases for use under desperate conditions—the Germans for the peak of their air attack against the isles, and the British to use against land invasion.

As protection, the British authorities have already distributed 30,000,000 gas masks among their people. They have rigged up thousands of underground air-raid shelters. One gas-proof subway shelter in London can house 8,000 people.

Phosgene is ideal for the Germans to use at the peak of their air war because it has all deadly effects and mysterious presence attributed to war gases in popular fiction, and not because it is widely destructive of human life. It disappears too quickly to be of maximum value as a weapon against trained troops.

But as a panic producer among civilians it is highly effective. Some experts figure one bomb of phosgene would produce more panic and fear among civilians than 100 actual explosives bombs.

The stuff is a simple combination of chlorine—the purifier you get in drinking water in minute quantities—and carbon monoxide. It is easy to compress into a liquid, and upon release becomes a gas.

Slight concentrations smell like fresh-cut corn in a field. Heavy concentrations smell like a silo full of fermenting ensilage. When a man smokes a cigaret in the presence of phosgene, he experiences a sharp metallic taste in his mouth.

In an area as big as a room 10 feet square, a lethal dose of phosgene is one-third of an ounce. If the victim is exposed thirty minutes, in higher concentrations, of course, it is quickly fatal. Doses of watery material form in lung tissues, stop oxygen, and the victim suffocates.

It is well suited to use against the civilian population also because victims would be likely to run or exert themselves. The slightest exertion produces death almost immediately.

Phosgene is known to all military forces. The common gas mask is one hundred per cent effective against it.

Military experts point to recent statements of the German high command accusing the British of dropping poisonous material in grain fields. They suggest the Germans are preparing to use gas and are "justifying" its use in advance—just as Hitler "justified" wholesale raids on London in advance by accusing the British of barbarous bombing of civilian populations.

STAMP NEWS

BRITISH abandonment of Somaliland Protectorate increases the value of that African possession's stamps, especially the coronation issues, the most recent releases.

Somaliland Protectorate was administered by India from 1888 to 1948, when it was taken over by the British Foreign Office. The first stamps were India overprints, issued in 1902. Somaliland's first issues were released in 1904. Ninety-five postage values are cataloged.

Cuba has announced issue of two values commemorating the centenary of the founding of the island's first medical journal and honoring Dr. Nicholas Gutierrez, first director of the publication. The stamps will show the cover of the journal and a portrait of Dr. Gutierrez.

The U. S. Famous Americans series will be concluded with the release of the inventors group in October. Dates and places of first-day sales are: Eli Whitney, 1-cent, Savannah, Ga., Oct. 7; Samuel F. New Speed Record Set by Motor Taxes

Minute after minute, in daylight and darkness, throughout each 24-hour day America's motor vehicle owners are paying special taxes at the rate of $4,799,520 a day, $3,333 a minute, or $55.00 a second, the American Petroleum Industries committee estimates. These taxes include all federal, state, and local taxes paid by virtue of motor-vehicle ownership.

State and federal gasoline taxes are by far the heaviest of these special highway taxes, amounting to $35.10 a second, or $2.10 a minute. Registration and license fees are being paid at the rate of $819 a minute; and federal excise taxes, exclusive of the gasoline tax, amount to $271 a minute. Miscellaneous other motor-vehicle taxes, tolls, and fees add another $137 a minute.

"It may not aid digestion, but it is true, nevertheless, for every one of the three meals a day eaten by motor-vehicle owners, $1,599,840 is paid in special highway user taxes," the committee said today. "Nor will sufferers from insomnia be lulled to sleep by brooding over the fact that they and other automotive taxpayers are paying special taxes at the rate of $1,750,000,000 a year."

BRUCE CATTON'S AMERICAN ROUNDUP

U. S. SEEKS TO BREAK ANGLO-DUTCH RUBBER MONOPOLY, DEVELOP LATIN AMERICAN FIELDS

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Although it has been more or less lost sight of in the press of more spectacular happenings, the government's drive to re-establish the rubber-growing industry in Latin America may eventually rate as one of the most important events of the year.

Launched as part of the hemisphere defense program, the venture is really one which the Agriculture Department has been plugging for 20 years. If completed along the lines now projected, it would not merely mean a strategically safe source for U. S. rubber import; it would break the Anglo-Dutch Far Eastern rubber monopoly and cut Uncle Sam's annual rubber bill in half.

Incidentally, it would probably mean more exports for the United States, by vastly increasing Latin America's purchasing power.

PERENNIAL REQUEST GRANTED
EVERY year for a long time the Agriculture Department has been asking Congress to finance the experimental and research work which must be done before the industry can be re-established in the New World. Each year Congress has turned the request down.

This year, however, the request came up just after the conquest of Holland, when Congress was beginning to worry about the future of the Dutch East Indies and the Malay peninsula, whence 90 per cent of the U. S. rubber supply now comes. So $500,000 was voted, and the department went to work.

Three research expeditions are now in the field; one along the Amazon and two ranging from Colombia to Yucatan. Local governments are giving full co-operation and are chipping in to defray various local expenses. Reports from the field expeditions will be ready until some time this winter.

If the war should choke off the existing rubber supply within the next year or so, none of this will be of any use in the emergency. What the experts have in mind is a long-range program which probably couldn't begin to have an effect on the world rubber market for eight or 10 years.

WHAT it could do, however, would be plenty. British and Dutch growers, secure in their monopoly, have let themselves get stuck with what industry would call an obsolete plant. Production on their Far Eastern plantations generally runs between 200 and 400 pounds per acre. New strains giving much greater yields have been developed, but since it takes a good five years to get a new plantation into production, the Far Eastern growers have gone along with the old low-yield strains.

In the New World, however, the story would be different. Once the best soils and climates were found, and the proper disease-resistant varieties of rubber tree selected, the Latin American plantations could start from scratch with yields of around 1200 pounds per acre.

Best guess right now is that the Latins could sell profitably at 10 cents a pound—as compared with the current level of around 20 cents for the Far East.

A good deal of research of New World rubber possibilities has already been done—chiefly by Goodyear, with stations in Costa Rica and Panama, and by Ford with a plantation in Brazil. Until June the Department of Agriculture could do little more than keep in touch with what these privately employed experts were doing now, however, with plenty of money available, it is really getting to work.

Mexican Theme Predominates at Club Luncheon

Beginning a new season of activities, the Twentieth Century club held a one o'clock luncheon at the First Christian church Friday, naming as guest of honor the retiring district president, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, of Ranger, District Six, Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

In keeping with the theme of the year's study, "Mexico," the luncheon rooms were colorful with Mexican appointments, including gay serapes, gourds, and cactus in colored pottery.

The table centerpiece was miniature wagons and Mexican figures, placed on gay maps, and at each plate was a tiny pottery bowl containing a cactus.

Mrs. J. T. Anderson, president of the club, welcomed and introduced the guests. Miss Ella Andrews was presented in three Mexican vocal selections, including the national anthem of Old Mexico. She was accompanied at the piano by Hjalmar Bergh.

An address by Mrs. Hagaman, a review of the past two years of club work, concluded the program.

Members present were Mmes. F. E. Harrell, C. H. Fee, S. I. Hillson, C. R. West, Alex Spears, Gary Smith, J. T. Anderson, William Reagan, John Shertzer, Homer Slicker, Lee Heltzel, J. E. Moriarty, E. To Be Here

Noted Reviewer To Present 1940 American Novel

Evelyn Oppenheimer of Dallas will be presented at the high school auditorium Monday evening, September 23, at 8 o'clock, at which time she will review the dynamic 1940 novel "Native Son," by Richard Wright, negro writer. Miss Oppenheimer, famous for her forceful, direct and appealing presentation of famous books and plays, will give her review under the auspices of the local chapter of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America. Mrs. Simon Coplin is district president of the organization, which has for its Cisco members Mmes. M. E. Goldberg, Bill Verner, Leo Lipschitz and Chas. S. Sandler.

In describing the novel to be reviewed, the New York Times wrote the following: "Native Son is more than an overwhelming experience in reading. It is a milestone, not only in American literature but also in American thought. In print, in conversation, on the radio, in the pulpit, rages heated discussion of the theme, the hero's character, whether he accurately portrays the viewpoints of twelve million native-born Americans. The book is the subject of feature articles in the outstanding periodicals this month. "Yet Native Son is in no sense a tract. It is a masterpiece of literary expression whose emotional power stirs the reader as have few novels of this or any other generation. That is why over a quarter-million copies have been sold in less than two months.

"Richard Wright has been compared to Steinbeck, Dreiser and Dostoevsky. The fact is that he is comparable to no one else. In Native Son he gives you an experience no other writer can offer.

fer. With this book he has taken his place in the company of permanently important American writers. If you have not already read his book, you owe it to yourself to do so at once."

And from the staff of the New Yorker comes the statement: "Overwhelming—Native Son is the most powerful American novel to appear since The Grapes of Wrath—so overwhelming is its central drive, so gripping its mounting intensity. It does for the Negro what Theodore Dreiser's American Tragedy did for the bewildered, inarticulate American white.

Hadassah, the sponsoring organization, has a United States membership of 80,000, and is enlisted by four projects, namely: (1) The Hadassah Medical organization in Mt. Scopus, Palestine, for the cure and prevention of disease among the Jewish people; (2) the child welfare program, which directs the physical and mental development of children otherwise underprivileged; (3) the Jewish national fund, which includes land purchasing and reforestation, as well as draining swamps for the prevention of malaria, and (4) Youth Aliyah, a project in which, in 1935, Hadassah became the sole American agency for Youth Aliyah, a movement for transferring Jewish boys and girls from the bondage of Europe to the freedom of Palestine. Already 6,200 Youth Aliyah children are in Palestine, free from persecution, and free to face whatever may come, as independent citizens. Youth Aliyah maintains and educates these children for two years. The 2,000 graduates have all found their places in the country as farmers, artisans, teachers, etc.

Admission to the review, proceeds from which are to be used for a very worthwhile project, will be 50 cents to adults and 25 cents to students.

Reddy helped me get better grades.

They said 'Johnnie is smart as a whip' —but he made poor grades

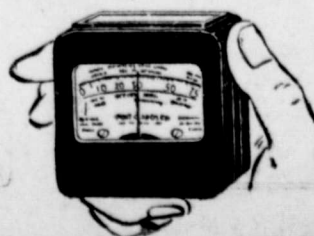

Maybe your child is like that—"smart as a whip," but, for some reason, doesn't get good grades. If so—well, now that school is starting again, you might do something about it. Suppose you try this:

Fix him up a study table and give him a lamp of his own.

You may find the result amazing. Many children, unknowingly, suffer from poor eyesight. Unless they have proper light for studying, they sometimes lack interest and enthusiasm for school work. . . The special shade on an I.E.S. study lamp spreads the light where it is needed. Call today and let our lighting experts give you a FREE demonstration.

SERIAL STORY

THIS COULD BE YOUR STORY

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

COPYRIGHT 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

All characters, organizations and incidents of this serial are entirely fictitious.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
SUE MARY JEFFERSON—stenographer in a law firm, alone in city, seeking new friends.

JOE STEFANSKI—ambitious college educated worker, in love with Sue Mary.

NICK ALEXANDER—leader of the Youth Progress group.

VERA OLIVER—active worker, who combines social and political duties.

YESTERDAY: Sue Mary goes to Youth Progress headquarters, helps Vera with typing. The place is a surprise to her, with young people intent upon affairs she has considered entirely out of her scope. Nick comes in, is glad to see her there, asks her to go to a concert with him.

CHAPTER VI

It was a benefit concert to help war refugees and it was held in a small hall crowded with intense-faced young people and a scattering of older men and women whose foreign faces were serious until the music began. Some of it was familiar to Sue Mary; most of it was strange.

"That's by the modern Russian," Nick told her during intermission. "You get the feeling of power, and freedom, and mass happiness."

"I like the Tchaikovsky," she said softly. "I know that one."

"Lavender and old lace," Nick said. "Like you: old-fashioned and very young — and sort of sweet. Different."

"Maybe there is something to this stuff about the sheltered girl? You're not like Vera or Natalie. They know what it's all about, and they'll get what they want. They're real workers. No illusions. You'll be a good worker, too. And yet you're sweet the way you are."

He wasn't making love to her. It was as though he was talking to himself. There wasn't that something in his voice that came to Joe's when he said goodnight after kissing her good night. Somehow it was hard to think of Nick ever being sentimental; not with his usual cynicism, his worldliness, his drive and force.

Yet sometimes that evening, when she looked into his eyes and heard the music surging around her in waves of beauty, she experienced an entirely new sensation—almost a heady feeling of danger.

THE office seemed bleak and dull the next day. The five-day week made it necessary to double up on work. Kitty was gone and Miss Grant kept Sue Mary busy. It was late afternoon when Miss Grant asked her to go to the Clark home.

"Mr. Ross isn't feeling well and he wants to give some dictation," she explained. "Just notes," she added quickly. "You can do it easily. I can't leave because some clients are coming in. Now go along. When you're through there you can go home and finish up that work in the morning."

It was the first time Sue Mary had been in such a home. The butler who admitted her took her to a small library with book-lined walls and dark polished furniture. Flowers gave a touch of color to the room and pictures of family groups in heavy, old-fashioned silver frames, desk ornaments, and a faint odor of good tobacco made it livable.

Like a movie set, she thought, wishing she could relax and enjoy, if only for those few moments, the luxury about her. How strange it must be to live in such a house day after day; accepting these things without even seeing them, taking them for granted as she took for granted her small room, her tiny radio, her few cakes of good soap and her one small bottle of perfume.

Someone had entered the room and Sue Mary came back to reality with a start. It was Mitzi Clark, last year's orchid debutante and the oldest daughter. She looked like her brother; blond hair, exquisitely groomed, poised and unself-conscious.

With her was Joan Brant. Sue Mary recognized her, too, from the roto pictures. This year she was society's No. 1 glamor girl.

It was Mitzi who spoke. "You're from father's office?"

Sue Mary's voice seemed strange to her own ears. She tried to be calm and assume the young business woman role, but she felt terribly gauche, awkward, wrongly dressed.

"He'll be down eventually," Mitzi said, taking some books from the desk. "He won't exercise, you know," she explained, turning to the other girl, "and now he's working harder because of all this war stuff."

"I'm sick of hearing war all the time," Joan Brant said. "It's a terrible crimp in the society season. I would get a lousy break the year I came out."

Mitzi laughed. "Could be worse."

"Well, we have to get along," she said to Sue Mary. "Miss Brant's being a deb, I'm being a former deb. This is my afternoon at the day nursery. Funny, but I get a sort of kick out of it. Working with those dirty, smelly little kids, I mean. They have so little and are so grateful."

"I think I'll help Alice Simpson campaign for a new social center. She's up to her neck in welfare work and social reform. Oh, well, it's something to do besides play bridge and go to cocktail parties."

THEY were gone with a swish of perfumed frocks and a gleam of silken hose, the clicking of their heels tapping a tune on the polished floor. Sue Mary decided she liked Mitzi; liked her more than she liked her blond, polo-playing brother. She didn't seem to pretend, and she looked healthy and clean and as though she might have become a little tired of being called an orchid deb.

Sue Mary wondered what Vera and Natalie and Nick would say about the girls. In the few times she had been with them she had come to sense the bitter undercurrent of their talk about the "upper class."

At first she had thought it just the natural desire to have the luxuries, the ease, the fun that went with that life; desires that she had and took for granted. But she wondered now a little if it wasn't something that went deeper. They were so bitter about the "idle rich."

She didn't feel that way. She didn't hate Mitzi Clark because she had looks and wealth and all the good times that went with

STAMP NEWS

WHITE HOUSE approval of the proposed series of U. S. defense stamps practically insures the issue, now tentatively scheduled for October or November release, following the completion of the Famous Americans series. It is possible that President Roosevelt may suggest designs for the new series.

Russia commemorates the 100th anniversary of the birth of Peter Ilich Tschaikovsky with an issue of five stamps. Three values bear the famous composer's portrait; his birthplace is pictured on two other stamps of the set.

Pitcairn Island's first stamps will be released Oct. 15. The series of eight designs and values will include stamps picturing Fletcher Christian, John Adams, Lieutenant Blish, views of the Bounty and of the island and a map of the island.

Reminders of the Canal Zone commemoratives, honoring the 10th anniversary of airmail service and the 25th anniversary of the opening of the Panama Canal, are to be destroyed on March 1, 1941.

American philatelists are sponsoring stamp auctions for refugee relief. Collectors contribute stamps and all proceeds will be administered by three major refugee aid organizations.

money. And she didn't hate old M. Ross Clark because he was a rich man. After all, he was responsible for her pay check each week.

Her thoughts were interrupted by his appearance at that very moment and from then on she was too busy to think of anything, but keeping up with his dictation. While her fingers flew and she covered sheet after sheet in her notebook, she thought of the work for which he was responsible.

He was worried about the war. As attorney for the plane and auto factories, the war boom tripled his work at the office. New designs, new contracts, new patents; and

Simmons Begins 49th Year With Good Attendance

ABILENE, Sept. 14 (Sp)—Hardin-Simmons university, west Texas pioneer in the field of higher education, will begin its forty-ninth year Tuesday with indicated increases in enrollment.

The school year will open as Dr. W. R. White begins his administration as the seventh president of the H-SU, established as Simmons college in 1891.

Dr. White, nationally known denominational leader, succeeds the late J. D. Sanderfer, president for the 31 years beginning in 1909, who died March 22.

The school year will usher in the observance of the H-SU golden jubilee, to be celebrated during 1941 and 1942.

On Oct. 11 and 12, the fiftieth anniversary of the passage of first resolutions providing for establishment of the school, will be observed at the annual meeting of the Sweetwater Baptist association.

On Monday trustees and faculty a more noticeable veil of secrecy descending over it all. A rigid guarding of files; a closer guard on carbon copies; even a stricter check on shorthand notes.

It brought a sense of world upheaval closer somehow. Sue Mary had discovered that by simply switching off the war broadcasts and merely skimming the stories the situation could remain remote. But it wasn't so easy now with the feeling of tenseness existing in the office.

And, of course, on Tuesdays and the evening with Nick and Vera and Natalie one was bound to listen. She was glad the coming election was holding their interest. Their energies now were thrown in that direction, and she had found herself gradually being caught up in the thrill of the coming battle.

will give a reception honoring Dr. and Mrs. White. First classes will meet Sept. 20.

Lobos Defeat Eastland 40 to 0 Open 1940 Grid Season Friday

Cisco Lobos opened their season here in fine style yesterday afternoon, trouncing Eastland Maverick eleven

Eastland lads were unable to get a first down, while the Lobos, led by the brilliant Warren exhibiting as fine downback as has been seen in season games, started a parade in the second quarter gathered momentum and went along.

Cisco boys were content to keep their opposition in the end, although costly penalties probably cost them at least in the second period they solved the problem by solving the problem of the defense. They solved the problem of the defense by solving the problem of the defense.

Warren recovered for the Lobos kicked both extra points. Warren and his teammates turned the game into a scoring three touchdowns and two extra points. Too much to be said about the Lobos' consecutive touchdowns but he was always assisted by more downfield blocking than we have seen in some time.

Two Action Shots from Friday's Game

Above: Garland Lassater nears the end of a successful foray into Eastland territory as No. 71 of the Mavericks, name not learned, rushes in to stop him. No. 77 of the Mavericks, coming up in the background, is Charles Bush of Eastland. Below: O'Neill of Eastland cracks the Lobo defense for a 15-yard gain which was nullified when one of his mates was ruled offside. Lobos in the picture are Warren, extreme left, No. 65; Lassater, Robert Donovan, Edgar Taylor, on hands and knees, Alton Lomax and Hal Page. The Lobo on the ground could not be identified.

Among the most thrilling plays of the game was Qualls' brilliant shootop catch of a long aerial from Warren which set the stage for the second touchdown of the game. Qualls took the ball apparently with both feet off the ground as two Maverick defenders closed upon him.

It was an alert group of athletes Coaches Petty and Cathy put on the field Friday. It is interesting and heartening to notice the excellent attitude of the Lobos on the field this year among themselves. They are aggressive, alert, and full of fire. Jibby Donovan turned in some of the nicest and cleverest hallops of the game. He is faster and much harder to bring down than last year. Lassater is surely a power-house, both on defense and offense. He loves the game rough and gives no quarter.

Cisco's line functioned well. Bruce Sanders at center and Lewis Wingo at tackle showed the makings of two of the best linemen the Lobos have had. "Red" Qualls can not receive too much credit for this particular victory. He is one of the best offensive ends the Oil Belt will see in many years. His defense is well above par and how he can snare those passes. Potter at tackle is also a distinct pleasure to the coaches and fans. He too was wide awake and is sure to rate his share of football laurels this year. Childers and Hal Page at ends were dealing out murderous blocks and tackles all afternoon.

Fullback Taylor, who saw action in his first football game, proved to the coaches that he will be a real power house before very long. Anxious to do his best, "Slim" was nervous, but at times used his speed and weight to good advantage. Watch Taylor, for he isn't afraid and will play some real football yet. Lomax was his old fiery self and Brown and Henson were superb.

Cisco used nearly all of their reserves, even to "Rabbit" Moseley, who entered high school this year. All performed well and showed promise. Jackie Leach, Glenn Doggett, Jack Page and others were in there playing a good brand of football.

Eastland had a light, fast team

Search for Parachutes
Armed patrols of police and the home guard turned out at one southeast coast town Friday night and searched riverside wharves and railroad sidings after reports that six parachutes were seen descending in that direction. They failed to find any evidence to support the reports.

High flying bombers rained high explosive and incendiary bombs on the southeast and western areas of the capital Friday night despite intense anti-aircraft fire.

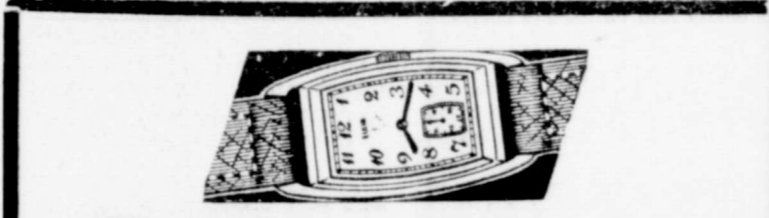

A time bomb, dropped in Friday's attack on Buckingham Palace, exploded in front of the great gray stone building Saturday, demolishing a gatepost and a section of iron fencing.

The superintendent of the royal residence said bombs dropped on the palace itself and surrounding grounds caused damage between $80,000 and $120,000.

US Population Moves Westward Reports Show

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Evidence of a major shift in American population during the drouth and depression years of the 30's came today in a census report that California's residents increased 1,190,437 in the decade.

The report showed California's population increased from 5,677,251 in 1930 to 6,873,688 this year. Where many of these people came from was indicated by census figures that five mid-west states—South Dakota, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska—had 300,830 fewer residents than 10 years ago.

Although figures are not available yet for some states, California's gain seemed to be only the most spectacular of larger gains stretching all across the southern half of the United States. Florida, for instance, gained 27.9 per cent, Texas 10.2 per cent, Louisiana 12.1 per cent, New Mexico 24.9 per cent, Nevada 20.8 per cent, North Carolina 12.4 per cent, Virginia 10 per cent, and Tennessee 11.3 per cent.

Also forecasting important changes in the apportionment of seats in the house of representatives, several changes were indicated in the rankings of the states.

California passed Texas for fifth place, Tennessee passed Alabama for 15th, Virginia passed Iowa for 19th, Louisiana passed Oklahoma for 21st, Arkansas passed Kansas for 24th, and Rhode Island passed South Dakota for 36th. More changes may occur when all the states have reported.

Million Plus Given GOP For Campaign

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Reports to the clerk of the house showed Saturday the republican national committee received contributions of $1,459,632 in June, July and August.

Its disbursements for the same period were shown as $886,144. The committee also reported unpaid obligations of $107,931, incurred from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31. For the same period, the committee reported receipts of $2,320,717 and expenditures of $2,032,139, of which $639,306 was in connection with the 1936 campaign.

The democratic national committee reported receipt of $333,548 from contributions, advertising and other sources from June 1 to Aug. 31, of which $197,411 came from the sale of advertising in the democratic campaign year book.

The committee's disbursements for the period were given as $339,141 and unpaid obligations as $39,045.

..USES WANT ADS

IF the CISCO DAILY PRESS had been published in the old days, a famous Greek legend would never have been written. Old Diogenes would have put up his lantern, spent his evenings playing pinochle and found his honest man in a jiffy with a two-line Want Ad.

For the CISCO DAILY PRESS Want Ads are like the famous Mounties. They invariably "get their man"—which means that they do what you want and expect them to do. If you're trying to sell your furniture or your home, if you are looking for a renter or a roomer, if you want to buy a business or a band-wagon, remember that a Want Ad will find your man and do the job for you quickly, easily, economically.

State Highway Upkeep Fund Is Provided

AUSTIN, Sept. 14 (AP)—The state highway engineer has announced that customary annual provision of funds has been made to cover cost of maintaining state highways during the fiscal year which began Sept. 1 and ends Aug. 31, 1941.

Total appropriation made by the highway commission for regular maintenance was $7,668,356.75. This will be distributed to the 25 field districts to cover cost of roadway and bridge maintenance, center-stripping, erection and maintenance of highway signs, etc.

Appropriations for district eight, with headquarters in Abilene, is expected to be in excess of $300,000. The 1940 fiscal year total was $378,113.28.

The highway maintenance appropriation represents a reduction of about 10 per cent in comparison with the state-wide maintenance budget of last year.

The highway department voluntarily decided to reduce the regular maintenance budget approximately 10 per cent to permit the use of the saving of approximately $748,733.49 in completion of needed improvements to the riding surface of existing highways and the surfacing of gaps in the state highway system.

STORIES IN STAMPS

British Centenary Issue Pictures Two Sovereigns

GREAT BRITAIN departs from philatelic custom to picture two rulers, Victoria and George VI, on the stamp above, commemorating 100 years of penny postage stamps. British issues usually picture only the reigning monarch, although the present Queen Elizabeth was shown on the coronation issue of 1937.

Although the honor of introducing the adhesive postage stamp and penny postage belongs to Victoria, the history of postal service begins with the system organized by Cyrus the Great of Persia in 500 B. C. For more than a thousand years, however, the service was restricted to government communications.

By the Middle Ages, postal service had spread throughout Europe. The first public post in England was put into operation between London and Edinburgh early in the 17th century.

For 200 years the system underwent few changes. Rates varied according to distance, weight of letter. Charges were excessive, service was irregular. Recipients often refused to pay.

Rowland Hill's postal reforms, inaugurated in 1837, produced the postal system that is now world-wide.

FEVER The RED SIGNAL of INFECTION
Anything in temperature above 99 indicates fever, and means the individual has an infection somewhere, except in cases of "heat stroke", where the temperature rises to an extreme degree from 106 to 110. A number of types of fever and many diseases are characterized by fairly definite types. For instance, in typhoid fever the temperature never gets normal during the entire 24 hours, after the disease gets under way, and the patient usually has a low pulse rate, considering the amount of temperature. In malaria there may be "intermittent fever". The fever comes up on certain days and dissipates on others, caused by the definite cycle of activity on the part of the malaria germ. With tuberculosis the patient has a low grade of "remittent fever", the type that is down in the morning and up in the afternoon, with "sweats" when the patient sleeps. In pneumonia the fever is continuous, running at a relatively high level, usually coming on suddenly following a chill, and runs above 103 until the "crisis" passes. The suddenly disappearing fever is designated as the "crisis" type—the gradually diminishing, as the "lysis" type. Fever is a red light of danger, and when it persists more than a day, should be investigated. Remember this, while fever is always the sign of infection, it sometimes takes time to establish the seat of infection. The safest physician is the one who investigates carefully before making a diagnosis. Full co-operation of the patient can often shorten the period of investigation, as well as treatment.

Many Still Have Unjustified Fear of Dental Chair

AUSTIN, Sept. 14 (Sp)—In spite of the great advances that have been made in dental instruments, local anaesthesia and operative methods in recent years, there yet are many persons who have an unjustified fear of the dental chair. Unfortunately, this attitude influences thousands to postpone the visit to the dentist until there is actual pain or until an accident to tooth structure occurs. Such a fear-complex not only is foolish but often produces real suffering, loss of teeth, serious illness, in addition to unnecessary expenditure of money. Dr. Geo. W. Cax, state health officer, states:

"It is true that some discomfort is connected with dental corrections, though often this fear may be psychological fear of pain rather than the pain itself. However, in view of the actual damage that can result because of delay, temporary inconvenience deserves no consideration whatsoever in a wise and economical personal dental program.

"Commonsense suggests that early discovered dental faults are more easily and painlessly corrected than those that are permitted to become aggravated through neglect and for which a cure is sought as a last resort. The time to discover dental defects, therefore is before one is aware that such trouble exists. Prevention of dental defects is less painful than correction. For this reason, it is excellent practice to adopt a regular semi-annual schedule as the minimum number of visits to be made to your dentist. Of course, if the necessity for dental attention should arise in the meantime, it is wise to make an immediate appointment with the dentist. Postponing a consultation on the fear-alibi increases the probability of real discomfort not to mention more serious complications.

In short, what one should fear is not the slight discomfort of the dentist's office when the visits are placed on a routine basis, but the pain, illness and unnecessary loss of money and time of a fear-postponing attitude.

Must Streamline County Gov't Officials Agree

NACOGDOCHES, Tex., Sept. 14 (Sp)—Local government in counties, the foundation of democracy, must be streamlined, its inefficient methods replaced by modern, economical administration, if the system is to survive, east Texas as county officials attending the Third Annual Institute of Government, sponsored here by the East Texas chamber of commerce, agreed unanimously, as the Institute's two-day session closed Friday.

With about 200 county officials and chairmen of local taxpayers' committees attending, the Institute devoted two full days to an intensive study of the most pressing problems of county government in this area, and heard suggested solutions to many of these problems from officials who have dealt successfully with them.

County Judge Jake Loy of Grayson county, a nationally recognized leader in the field, urged that authority for operating county governments be centralized in the hands of a judge and four commissioners elected at large in
