CISCO-BRECK GAME IS HOLIDAY FEATURE

Through the Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

It will be only a matter of time until Great Britain makes formal requests for war loans from the United States. A lot of preliminary talk has been going on. Great Britain already owes the United States some four billion dollars borrowed during World War No. 1, a loan long ago conceded uncollectible. Uncle Sam incurred a great deal of opprobrium abroad because of his efforts to collect this money and finally gave up the job as a bad one. Confronted with this record, which did neither the United States nor the borrowing allies any good so far as their peace-time relations were concerned, this country inevitably will have to make a decision on whether or not further credit will be given the British in their hour of need.

The rights or the wrongs of that unfortunate adventure in international wartime financing do not change the present facts concerning the needs of the British nor the relations of Britain's defense to the protection of our own democracy. If we concede that we have an important stake in the possibility of a British victory we must concede that there it a great deal of merit to the demand that the United States do all that it can to make a British victory possible. This conceivably includes furnishing Britain with supplies and credit for the purchase of the equipment she needs.

But there is also the fact that Great Britain has a tremendous stake in the possibilities of assistance from the United States. Britain has an empire to preserve, a democratic civilization of its own to protect, and it built this empire in the full knowledge of the exposures to the aggressive ambitions of other peoples that it incurred. Moreover, the diplomatic and military policies of the British government must bear a full share of responsibility for the conditions which gave rise to the present war. The United States cannot be called to account for the bad judgments of No. 10 Downing street, London. It is concurrent with freedom of action

ROLL CALL OF RED CROSS TO BE CONTINUED

Teams of Workers Are Assigned to City Districts

The period for the Red Cross annual Roll Call in Cisco, originally set for Monday and Tuesday of this week, has been extended to include the entire week, Roll Call Chairman Clark Roberts announced today. Inclement weather and the presence of a holiday within the week caused the extension, he said.

Cisco's quota for the Red Cross this year is $600. This will include both memberships and contributions. Firms can contribute but cannot become members, although individuals in firms may join. Those firms in which all individuals join will be given One Hundred Per Cent posters for display, Mr. Roberts said.

Following are the teams of workers and the territories assigned to each by the Roll Call chairman:

Teams and Districts
Mrs. Betty Fee Drumwright and Miss Lillian Shertzer—D and E avenues from Sixth street to Eighth street;
Mrs. Hugh Chief Brown and Mrs. Jack Anderson—Second and Third streets from E avenue to Front;

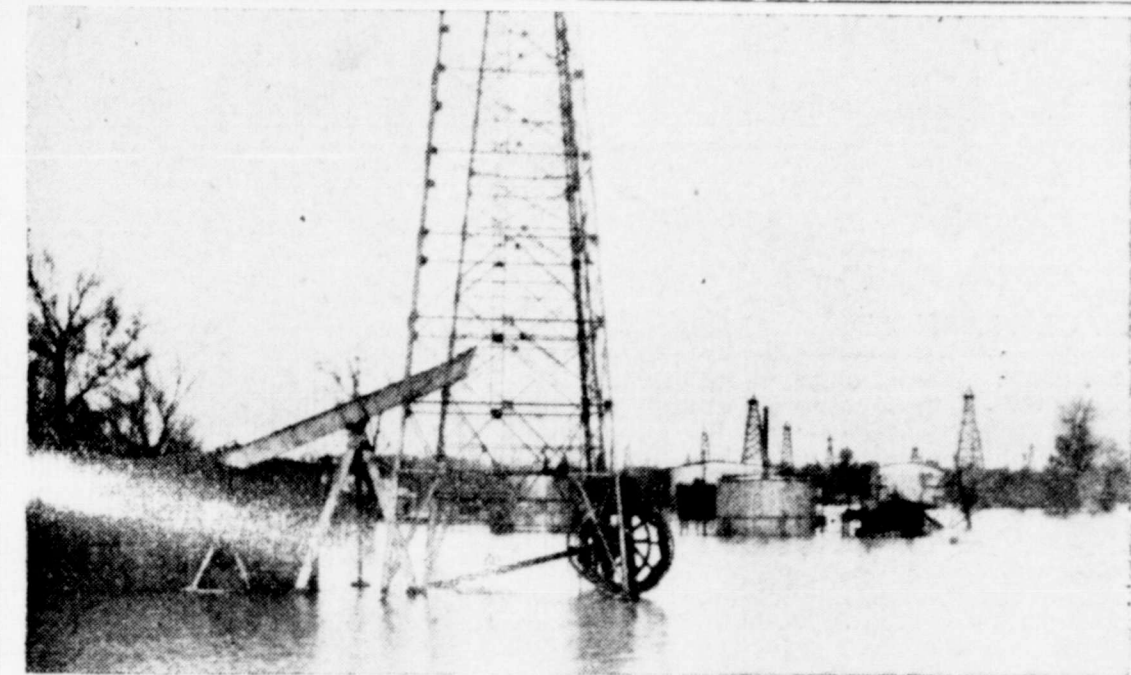

Miss Ester Hale and Mrs. Leon Maier—Fourth street from E avenue to Front;
Mrs. E. P. Crawford and Mrs. H. H. Monk—Fifth street from E avenue to Front;

Floods Ravage East Texas

Scene in the world's largest oil field near Kilgore, Texas, where floods forced cessation of all operations. Ten to twenty inches of rain fell five major east Texas rivers to overflowing, causing unestimated damage to crops and livestock.

When the above truck completed its trip across the east Texas highway flooded by mud Creek, near Whitehouse, Texas, highway officials ordered the road closed. The Erazos river, running wild in its highest stage in 35 years, marooned farm lands and caused unestimated damage to livestock and crops.

SCHOOLS OUT AT 11 A. M. ON THURSDAY

Cisco-Breckenridge Game Thanksgiving Feature

Although the Cisco Public schools had their Thanksgiving holidays last week, opportunity for students from families observing Thanksgiving next Thursday to be at home for the noon meal and for all students to attend the Cisco-Breckenridge football game at Breckenridge in the afternoon will be given, Supt. R. N. Cluck announced.

The schools will begin their Thursday schedule at 8 o'clock in the morning and complete it at 11 o'clock. No classes will be missed.

The Cisco and Breckenridge game, last on the 1940 schedule for both teams, will begin at 2:30 in Buckaroo stadium at Breckenridge. Reserved seats are now on sale at the Red Front Drug store here, where they may be purchased at the regular admission price of 50 cents. Reservation of seats for those who purchase their tickets here was undertaken as insurance to Cisco fans that they may obtain good seats without having to go to Breckenridge a considerable time before the game starts. Principal O. L. Stamey of the high school urged that Cisco fans take advantage of this opportunity to make reservations. Rivalry Intense

Although no title hinges on the outcome of the game, the rivalry between Cisco and Breckenridge has long been intense. This, and the fact that there is no other crucial game in the district Thursday—Stephenville having already won the title by defeating Brownwood last week—gives the Lobo-Buckaroo contest a glamor that is expected to attract a big crowd to witness it.

The Lobos, after two weeks rest, have recovered from the plague of injuries which cost them the services of some of their best players, including Coy Warren, during mid-season and sent them into a slump at the most crucial time, and the team is ready now to throw its full strength against the Buckaroos Thursday.

Given the dry turf and clear day now expected, the game should be a thriller.

Greeks About to Take New Base

ATHENS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Greek troops advancing in most places along a 100-mile front in Albania have "overshot" Pogradetz, 25 miles north of Koritza, and have entered the outskirts of Argirocastro, main Italian base in southern Albania, it was reported today.

At the same time, royal air force headquarters in Greece announced heavy daylight raids were carried out yesterday by RAF bombers on Durazzo, described by the RAF as the "only important port on the Albanian coast."

The RAF said direct hits were scored on shipping, including two hits on a 10,000-ton ship.

The Greek forces pursuing the Italians across Albania were reported in advance from the front to be about to take Argirocastro. The entry into the southern Italian base, the last remaining to the fascists in that sector, was reported yesterday, just four days following the capture of Koritza, northern base of Premier Mussolini's back-firing invasion of Greece.

Pushing Ahead
A government spokesman said the Greeks were pushing ahead and were capturing more equipment.

"The situation at the front is very satisfactory from the north sector to the south," he said. "The Italians are retreating. Our advance forces overshot Pogradetz. In the center sector we are advancing in conjunction with our troops of the southern sector, from which the news is good."

Below the threatened southern base, a large number of Italians virtually have been isolated, the Greeks, "full-fledged counter-offensive" which they declared is aimed at throwing the fascists out of Albania altogether.

At this end of the curving 100-mile battle front the Greeks fighting the fascist troops were fighting fiercely against forces threatening to back them up against the Adriatic coast.

On the northern front, the Greeks declared the Italians were retreating so fast their cavalry was unable to catch up with them.

Coupled with the Greek's proclaimed aim of wresting the whole

Temperatures Above Freezing Point in Cisco

A raw and blustery northwest wind which swept rain clouds from the skies Monday after a prolonged rain which wrought destruction on the panhandle plains, isolating Amarillo and doing much damage in other cities and towns of that area. Steamers Reported Attacked by Subs

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—MacKay radio picked up a message yesterday reporting a submarine attack on the British steamer Temple Inn off the northern coast of Ireland.

Another message, from the Swedish steamer Anten, which reported Saturday that she was being torpedoed, advised that she was still afloat, but was breaking up amidstships.

ARMY CAMP AT ABILENE WILL TRAIN 20,000

ABILENE, Nov. 26 (Sp)—Abilene's proposed site, six miles southwest of the city at View, has been selected by the war department for an army training camp for approximately 20,000 troops, it was announced from Washington yesterday afternoon.

Announcement of success in obtaining designation of the Abilene site brought the city face to face with conditions which it must meet in order to fill its end of the bargain. W. P. Wright, chamber of commerce president, emphasized.

Among the conditions that Abilene must meet is transfer to the government of leases of various types on approximately 67,000 acres of land. Of this land, 2,229 acres—the camp site—must be purchased and leased to the government. Manuever grounds must be leased for various types of use by the army.

First estimates of local leaders of the payroll that would develop during construction of the camp and after it is in operation ran as high as $1,000,000 monthly. In addition, rapid increase in population is expected from families of army officers and kinmen of enlisted men who would follow them here.

Minimum Cost
C. of C. executives were advised that construction of the tent city would be begun on an initial minimum estimated cost of $1,800,000.

Construction will begin as soon as transfer of the land for the camp site can be made, it was understood. It is expected that first soldiers will be moved to the camp by March 1, and that it will be in full operation by June 1.

Involved in the projects is a 2,229-acre tract for the camp; a small maneuver area of 5,000 acres, and a large maneuver ground of 60,000 acres.

The camp site, which is already under option for purchase, is east

Rural Edition of Cisco Press Appears Today

Since Thursday, November 28, the regular day for the appearance of the Rural Edition of the Cisco Daily Press, will be observed as the Thanksgiving holiday by Cisco merchants and the Daily Press, today's edition of the Press serves as the Rural Edition for this week. Unfortunately, the edition is published too early for the regular rural correspondence, a feature of the Rural Edition, and these letters will be published in later editions of the week. Today's Press carries holiday greetings from many Cisco stores which are offering complete displays of holiday gift goods for the Christmas season.

There will be no issue of the Press Thursday.

Crusaders of Church of God To Convene Here

The district convention of the Young Peoples' Crusaders of the Church of God will be held here Thursday and Friday, November 28 and 29. It has been announced. Registration will begin at 8:30 Thursday morning at the Cisco church, and approximately 150 delegates are expected to register for the two days.

A program has been arranged for the meeting, and the general public is cordially invited to attend the services. A Thanksgiving dinner will be served to the delegates at the First Christian church at noon Thursday.

CHRISTMAS PRESENT

BURBANK, Cal., Nov. 26 (AP)—Representatives of the 20,000 employees at Lockheed and Vega Aircraft plants started a movement Monday to give the Royal Air Force a $100,000 Hudson bomber as a Christmas present.

OVER SEVEN INCHES RAIN FALLS HERE

One of the biggest rains in recent years flooded the Cisco country with almost constant downpours from last Thursday to Monday noon. More than seven inches fell during that period. The run-off into Lake Cisco lifted the level of the lake more than three feet, adding several thousands of acre feet of water to the big reservoir.

The heaviest part of the rain fell Sunday, when approximately 2.5 inches were registered at the city hall. Portions of the city were flooded, and traffic on highways leading into the city was impeded by high water at many points.

MUCH DAMAGE OVER STATE

DALLAS, Nov. 26—Great damage was wrought in the southwest last night by floods, ice, rain, sleet and snow.

Five mighty Texas rivers—the Sabine, Trinity, Brazos, Colorado and Guadalupe—were on rampages.

Ice paralyzed the Texas panhandle and parts of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Colorado.

Amarillo, a city of 50,000, was without water and faced the constant threat of fire. A short wave radio broadcast reported electrical power was restored to some sections of the city late in the day.

Streets were littered by debris. Twelve hundred telephone poles were strewn over 16 northwest Texas counties. Livestock suffered heavy losses.

Late in the day telephone communication was restored between Pampa and Dallas. Other panhandle towns locked fast in the icy grasp are Borger, Tulia and Dalhart.

Many southern Texas towns and communities lay in the path of overflowing rivers, bayous and creeks.

Cristobal and Colon are the two cities at the Atlantic end of the Panama canal.

SERIAL STORY DUDE COLLEGE BY OREN ARNOLD

YESTERDAY: Ronnie determined to bar Dr. York out of his shell. She takes him flying, orders him to leave off his glasses, decides to call him "Wes" and climaxes all by asking him to take her to the dance Saturday night. The professor readily agrees.

WES NEEDS A RIVAL CHAPTER VIII

"I'll sing a song-g-g-g—" Dr. Woodrow Wesley York, Ph. D. stopped short. He caught a glimpse of himself in his long bathroom mirror. His muscular body was pink from bathing, but his face was pink from embarrassment. Astonishingly, he had actually been singing a snatch of a current campus song.

It was something he hadn't done in—well, never in his memory. Back in his own college days he had been extremely busy working to pay expenses, studying to make his grades, and practicing to make the varsity swimming team.

He had been deeply interested in his chosen science of archaeology—the mystery of people who lived centuries ago, long forgotten races and clans. He had loved even then to explore their ancient cliff dwellings and pueblos in the southwest. Never had he found time to do any social frittering. Certainly he had rarely been one to sing a love song, notwithstanding his unimpaired ability in the church choir.

The Rocking R ranch answered, but someone with a Mexican dialect informed him that Miss Ronica was not at home. Andre couldn't understand well, somewhat out of patience he asked for somebody who spoke English. That brought Thomas U. Bailey himself to the telephone. Andre was, in truth, pleased to have this chance at speaking with Ronica's dad.

"So good to talk with you again, Mr. Bailey," he spoke heartily. "This is Andre Girardeau."

"Oh! Oh yes, Andre. Sure, how are you, son? Well, well, now you've followed her out here! How are you?"

"Fine Mr. Bailey. I hope you don't mind if I drop in to see Ronica."

"Oh no. Nope. Wouldn't do any good if I did. Ronnie sees anyone she wants to see. Saw a lot of you in New York, didn't we? I'd love to see you, but you're a little busy. When you coming out to the ranch?"

"Well, sir, I wanted to come Saturday—that's tomorrow. There is a dance tomorrow night. College days. I hoped maybe Ronica would—"

"Sure, sure, Andre! Come on! Know Ronica'll be glad to see anyone from back home. She's not too much at home yet in this wild country. I imagine, she'll be tickled to go to the dance with you, of course."

Andre was definitely pleased. He had wanted a date and he had wanted to resume what he hoped were cordial relations with Ronica's dad; all this had come to him at once. In fact, practically everything had come his way since he left the east. He felt very confident. All he had to do was move slowly, cautiously, build thoroughly and pretty soon his business as well as his personal plans would all materialize.

ON Saturday he was downtown again, hoping to see either Ronica or the Mexican girl named Montoya. He wanted somehow to arrange a logical meeting with the girl using the crutch.

He had received instructions to contact this person at once, and he had already been in town almost a week. Still, he had been told to move with discretion, too. He knew it would never do to rush in carelessly. The whole fate of a nation—if one looked at it that way—hung on his or her under-cover activity here; but more important, his personal pleasure and fortune were at stake.

He didn't see either Ronica or Miss Montoya downtown. He telephoned the Rocking R ranch again Saturday afternoon, but neither Ronica nor her father was in. He went, somewhat in boredom, to a theater, then after dinner to a cafe drove back to his own dude ranch to dress for the night's dance.

As he dressed he whistled in mounting anticipation. He would see Ronica again—even had he

"Oh! Quite so. I—I beg your pardon! I shall gladly pay for any—"

But Andre Girardeau was not listening. Already the ebullient swine had stepped up onto the porch and was walking toward Ronica in the big lighted living room. Standing in the darkness beside his ratty second-hand sedan, Wesley York heard happy greetings.

YACHTS AND TUGS BOLSTER U. S. NAVAL MIGHT; CONVERSION TO PATROL USES ISN'T DIFFICULT

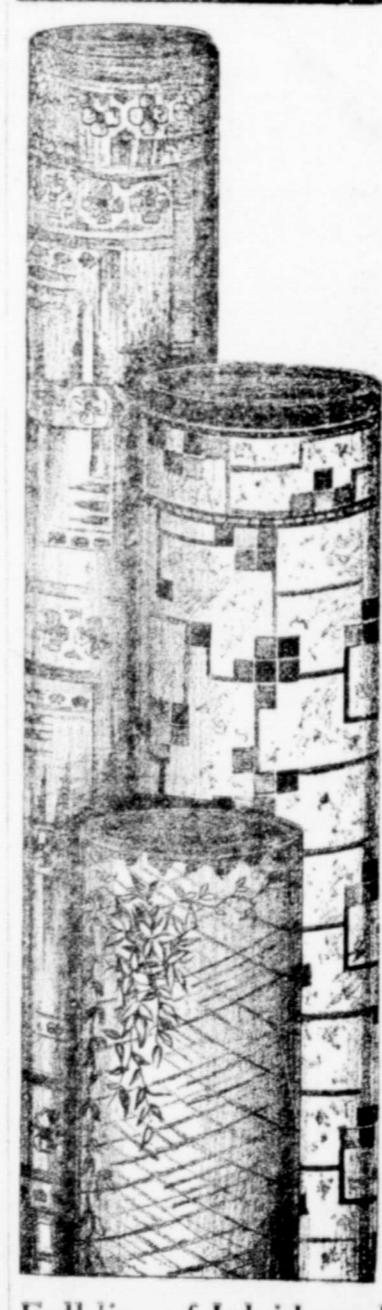

WASHINGTON—While the general public thinks in terms of battleships and cruisers when it talks about building up the navy, one of the most important parts of the navy's defense program involves much less spectacular units.

Along with the current construction program, the navy is energetically pushing the purchase of privately-owned vessels for its auxiliary fleet. Since July 1 it has bought 130 ships, ranging all the way from big merchant vessels to diminutive yachts and harbor tugs. All of these craft are considered as essential to the navy's proper operation as are the big fighting ships themselves.

For the merchant ships there is a variety of uses. Some of the bigger vessels—like the "president" liners, for instance—are put into service as transports. Others are converted into seaplane tenders, submarine tenders or destroyer tenders. The former Maritime Commission cargo-carrier Shooting Star, as a sample, is about to go into navy service as an ammunition carrier.

A large number of officers will serve the fleet as officers. Former yachts, meanwhile, are being converted into patrol vessels. Harold Vanderbilt's "Vasa" is becoming a submarine chaser. Col. Edward A. Deeds' "Lotusland" is being turned into a coastal mine layer. The sleek "Orion," bought from the J. Forstmann estate, is being commissioned as a gunboat.

CCC Is No Longer Agency for Relief

Long ago the CCC ceased being an agency for relief, made up only of boys whose families were receiving some type of assistance, and now the main eligibility qualifications are good character, desire for employment, willingness to learn, 17 to 23 1-2 years of age.

Those boys with natural aptitudes and interests in mechanics will find plenty of opportunities in CCC camps to learn both the theory and practical sides of gasoline motors under trained instructors. There are over 43,000 units of automotive equipment in the CCC, the largest fleet of motorized equipment in the United States. Over 100,000 expert truck and tractor drivers are turned out each year, and other thousands are trained to do the most complete over-hauling and repair jobs.

Telephone line construction, building of roads and bridges, radio and signal communications, photography, first aid and many other skills of important value are given attention. Over 5,000 cooks are in training all the time, and, henceforth, many more and better ones will be turned out.

Members of the CCC who have no dependents are now allowed to have $22 of their monthly pay remain on deposit with the finance officer, and receive the accumulated amount upon discharge, thereby providing themselves with resources to tide them over until employment is found or to allow them to enter some business, or continue their education.

Applications for enrollment in January should be made at once with your county welfare worker to say, instead, that in any measure of assistance to Britain we should adopt the realistic policy of insuring our own interests and welfare in the successful conclusion of the struggle which we seek.

One thing is virtually certain. If Great Britain wins this war she will be in a position to exercise a dominant influence upon the political characteristics and trade relationships of the greater part of the world. Experience has taught us that gratitude is no collateral between nations. Consequently, if we extend credit to Britain, shouldn't we extend it upon conditions that will guarantee us the right to share in the benefits of the peace that we hope will ensue?

A number of possibilities have been suggested. One is that Britain trade us possessions that we may use for military and naval bases. Obviously, if the loans made during the first World war were virtually repaid, there is little prospect that loans made in World War No. II would be repaid.

Would it not be better and more conducive of respect for us to say to Great Britain: Very well, we will furnish you with credit, or war supplies, or what-need you, on the condition that these loans or these supplies be credited against future trade concessions or tariffs so that we shall be able to share in the benefits of the world peace and order which we thereby will help to bring about and in which we certainly are entitled to share. If we are to help purchase British victory, a part of that victory is ours. We should insure ourselves that its fruits are not dedicated to mere philanthropists.

On Teaching the Dignity of Labor

PROF. HARRY DAVID GIDEONSE, head of the big Brooklyn college in New York, says a semester of planned labor camp activity somewhere in the country far from the students' normal environment would improve the curriculum of almost any school.

In the matter touched upon by Professor Gideonse, the Germans were wise. Even in pre-Nazi times, the republic instituted labor camps. They were not the harsh ones the Nazis have made of them. The republic saw in labor camps a chance to further the cause of democracy. Just as children of all classes and creeds are mixed up in the public schools, so young men from all kinds of homes were mixed up in the labor camps.

The sons of the wealthy, the boys who were some of the control industry in Germany, were taught by the tired back and the calloused hand to get some idea of the role millions of their fellow countrymen perform day by day and week by week in the necessary economy of the nation.

A man who has labored does not look down upon labor.

The labor camps performed another function in Germany. They hardened the youths physically. The toughening process so necessary in a soldier was largely attended to before the young men were called up.

This matter happens to be very much in the thought of the officers now charged with training America's peacetime conscript army. A considerable number of college professors have asked army men whether it is not possible to give the draftees some form of vocational or specialized training. The answer has been a decided negative.

COL W. H. DRAPER, JR., of the general staff emphasizes the fact that the primary purpose of the draft is to teach America's young men how to be soldiers, to train an army capable, if necessary, of meeting at least on equal terms the best troops any nation might throw against them.

Colonel Draper wisely said that after the draftees had spent a day partly in drill and marching, partly in a classroom getting military instruction, and partly in necessary chores such as kitchen police, the embryo soldier would be in no mood to take up further class work.

So the matter comes back to the Gideonse suggestion. Some form of wise labor camp training would help to give American youths healthy bodies. The colleges could then seek to give them the healthy trained minds. The graduates would be an asset of the United States.

Sea Dog Loses Nose For News

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 26 (AP)—The British freighter Swinburne, a 23-year-old veteran of the seas that escaped being scrapped because of the war, arrived here Monday from Cardiff, Wales, via South American ports.

"No news, boys. Uneventful voyage," its skipper told inquiring waterfront newsmen.

The ship's log recorded only this: "It escaped a rain of Nazi bombs while leaving Cardiff in a convoy."

It passed a flaming passenger liner, apparently the target of a Stuka dive bomber.

Its well-worn engines broke down three times en route, to Rio de Janeiro, forcing her to drop out of convoy.

Its dynamo gave out, leaving the ship in darkness most of the voyage except for light from cheap wax candles made by the crew.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Knights of Middle Ages Were Not So Chivalrous

ROMANTIC writers have created a glamorous picture of the Middle Ages when chivalry was at the height of its glory. Danzig, now part of greater Germany, has used three knights, in full armor, in the design of the stamp above, one of a series celebrating the reunion of Danzig and Prussia.

History is not so kind to the age of chivalry as novelists. War was a bloody business then, as now and the knights were little more than a glorified standing army generally looking for trouble and finding it.

While the knightly code attempted to make religion a greater force in daily life, the later Puritans succeeded better. Women were supposed to be held in high regard; actually, modern men have more consideration of women than the heroes of the Round Table. The educated classes of 1940 far surpass the average medieval knight in discipline, self-control and personal refinement.

Egyptian Money Aids Air Raid Victims

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 26 (AP)—Egypt Monday began aiding victims of Italian air raids on Alexandria with Italian money.

A commission set up under a new decree drew on sequestered Italian funds in Egypt to add to Egyptian relief funds.

Seventy-six persons were killed and 204 wounded in last Tuesday's raid, the most serious thus far on Alexandria. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Though Italy's airmen presumably are aiming at the British naval base at Alexandria, the heaviest damage has been done to poorer residential sections.

URGES REGISTRATION

AUSTIN, Nov. 25 (AP)—Governor O'Daniel Monday asked cooperation of all citizens in urging aliens within the state to register at postoffices before Dec. 26, expiration date for the registration process.

French Ship Explodes, Many Refugees Die

HAIFA, Palestine, Nov. 26 (AP)—The refugee steamer Patria, packed to the gunwales with 1,771 wandering, homeless Jews, exploded and capsized in Haifa harbor Monday with an undetermined, but possibly heavy loss of life.

The refugees, who had sought illegally to settle in Palestine, had been placed aboard for transportation to some other British colony for the duration of the war.

Many of those aboard managed to swim ashore, but an official announcement said some casualties were feared.

The refugees had been aboard the ship since Thursday, waiting to start their voyage as soon as authorities deemed conditions in the Mediterranean to be reasonably safe.

The Patria was an 11,885-ton French freight and passenger vessel recently taken over by Britain.

The refugees, mostly from Austria, Slovakia, Bohemia, Hungary and Rumania, reached Haifa early in November. They had sailed from an unidentified Black sea port. British authorities were reported to have held their ships unseaworthy and arranged to transport the refugees elsewhere on the Patria.

Bulgaria Not To Join Axis At This Time

BERLIN, Nov. 26 (AP)—Bulgaria, long viewed as a likely convert to the axis lineup, is staying out for the present at least, informed Nazi sources indicated.

"When will the next act be staged?" one official was asked and he retorted: "Just be patient."

They added that the fact Bulgaria is not expected to join up at this time has nothing to do with developments in Turkey.

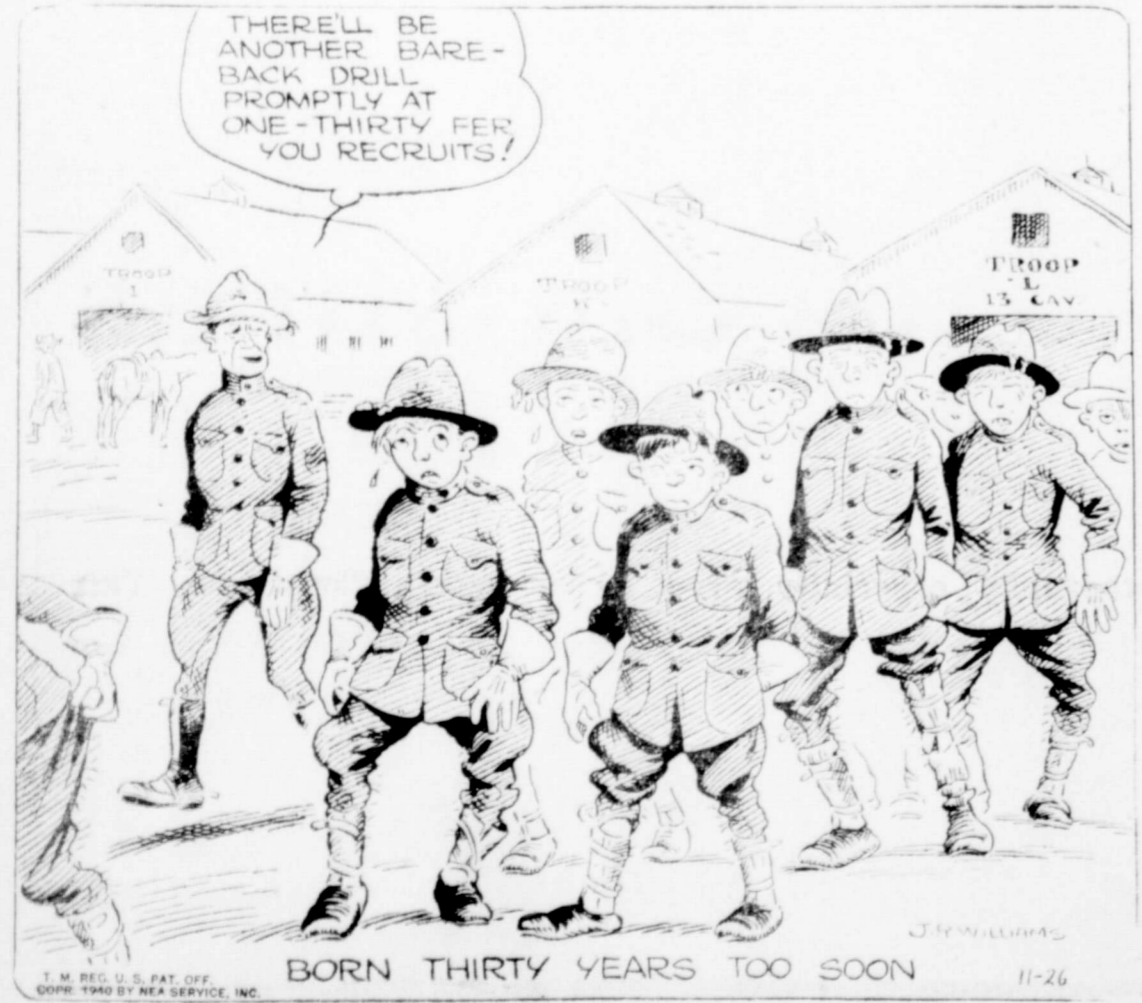

(Officials circles in Sofia, Bulgarian capital, expressed belief the Berlin statement meant the Balkan kingdom had won a "breathing spell" in its struggle against being rushed into aligning with the axis.)

(There was unopposed relief in Sofia, where a high government official's reaction was that "it now appears certain to us Bulgaria will not be involved in war this winter.")

(Diplomatic circles in Sofia saw in the developments an indication Hitler and Joseph Stalin do not see eye to eye on division of German and Russian spheres of influence. The Balkan argument against joining the axis was believed generally to have been inspired by the Russians, who were

New Treatments For Hay Fever, Asthma

AUSTIN, Nov. 26 (Spe).—New methods for treating hay fever and asthma, similar to those used in the treatment of diphtheria and poliomyelitis, have resulted from experiments being conducted by the University of Texas department of botany and bacteriology.

Mold spores—microscopic living particles floating about in the air from house dust, soil, infected plants, decaying food, rotting paper and the like—have been found to be the cause of various respiratory allergies, Dr. Marie Betzner Morrow, University mycologist, stated.

Mold extracts have been prepared for skin tests to determine susceptibility and for the rapacious treatments to develop an individual's resistance to the allergens, the university scientist explained. Since such workers as bakers, florists, farmers and mill workers have been found sensitive to their

Former Cisco Man Dies At Dallas Home on Sunday

DALLAS, Nov. 26 (Spc)—Louis Edward Brannin, 92, a pioneer west Texas rancher and land agent and a former representative of the Peters Colony Lands company at Cisco, died late Sunday at his home 5011 Junius, following a short illness.

his life, Mr. Brannin constantly amazed his children in his late years by his rugged health. None of his family could recall a day he had been sick, and attributed his fortitude to his simple tastes and habits, and a generous nature that was free from worry.

As a rancher in the Cisco community Mr. Brannin at first was viewed with contempt by veteran ranchers when they learned he was inoculating his cattle. He was an early advocate of inoculation and helped prove its worth to his neighboring ranchers.

In 1885 he married Miss Katy Bacon of Paducah, Ky., and brought her back with him to Cisco.

Mr. Brannin came to Dallas in 1908, partially retired, and spent his time looking after his interests and clients in the west Texas area. He became a student of the Peters Colony movement and collected maps, deeds and other data on the subject which recently were turned over to the Dallas Historical society.

Gallarneau and O'Rourke Listed in Backfield

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

One of the tremendous struggles that was the 1940 football season emerges another All-America team for all the land to hail.

Picked with the aid and advice of coaches, scouts, officials and football writers of the nation, the team is composed of men who fought to the last ditch in the end of backs who didn't stop when their blockers were through.

Seniors all, the finesse that comes with the final year of college football failed to check their enthusiasm.

Because of their brilliance, they were marked men—prisoners of prestige. Coaches sat up nights scheming how to stop or get away from them. They were double and triple-teamed, yet they continued to storm and scale heights until they reached the pinnacle.

Grand competitors, rugged individualists who unhesitatingly wrapped themselves in the blanket of smooth team play are the young men composing NEA's All-America team of 1940.

The ends: Paul Severin of North Carolina and Jay McDowell of Washington.

The tackle: Forrest Behm of Nebraska and Nick Drahos of Cornell.

The guards: Bob Suffridge of Tennessee and Helge Pukema of Minnesota.

The center: Lon Gajecki of Penn State.

The backs: Charley O'Rourke of Boston College, Tom Harmon of lustrious varsity career at Boston College in its titanic match with Georgetown, when he had a hand in 18 of the 19 points scored by the Eagles.

O'Rourke, who weighs no more than 158, strikingly illustrates that a boy does not necessarily have to be of generous physical dimensions to play football well among giants.

Paul Severin—six feet, 187 pounds—did in superlative fashion for North Carolina everything a splendid end is supposed to do.

Rugged, red-headed Jay McDowell stands six feet two, comes in at 197, and used his weight and height to full advantage at end for Washington.

Towering six feet four and scaling 200 pounds, and with aggressiveness to match his bulk, Forrest Behm at tackle was a bulwark in a powerful Nebraska line.

Nick Drahos, the second repeater on the NEA team—the other is Kimbrough—once more was consistently the outstanding man in the well-drilled Cornell line.

Most of the long runs made by Big Red backs were made through holes opened by this six-foot three-inch, 212-pound tackle.

It's tough to leave his running mate, Ed Molinski, off the first team, but the ballots make six-foot, 190-pound Bob Suffridge of Tennessee one of the All-America guards.

The other guard is Helge Pukema, of whom enough has not been said. The five-foot 11, 201-pound Finn was all over the place in Minnesota's savage battles with Ohio State, Northwestern and Michigan.

Leon Gajecki—six feet one, 200 pounds—is the center. At the close of Penn State's season a year ago, an error in the program for the Pittsburgh game which had Gajecki listed as a senior—caused the Pittsburgh professional Steelers to select him in the annual draft of college stars.

The All-America team that satisfies everyone was never named.

It's hard to tell where an All-America leaves off and a second choice begins, but just try to find a coach who wouldn't like to start the 1941 season with NEA's 1940 All-America team.

Ruins of Ancient Rome Greet Nazis in Rumania

MONUMENTS to the power of the Roman Empire, which European dictators would imitate are pictured on the Rumanian stamp above, one of a recent semi-postal issue for Boy Scouts.

The Rumania of today was known as Dacia during the Roman era. Its people had achieved a high degree of civilization ever before the advent of the Romans.

Wars were fought with Rome as early as the 2nd century B. C.

Trajan conquered the kingdom of the Dacians in 102 A. D., made it a Roman province. Colonists were imported from Rome for work on farms and in mines; forts were built, four great highways constructed.

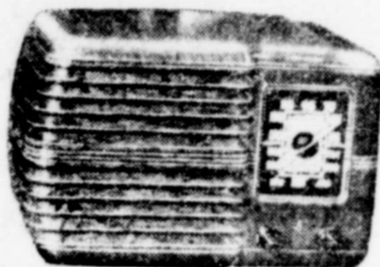

Roman ruins are plentiful in Rumania. Roman towns have been excavated; evidences of highways and bridges remain visible. Roman mines are still in existence.

Rome's control over the province ended with the invasion of barbarians in 256, except in a few fortified cities. In 270, Aureliar, withdrew all troops, settled colonists south of the Danube.

Michigan, Hugh Gallarneau of Stanford and John Kimbrough of Texas A. & M.

The six-foot, 194-pound Harmon, the most publicized player of the year, has been compared favorably with Red Harold Grange.

Jarvin John Kimbrough, the force of the Texas Aggies, hits so hard he injures teammates.

Although he stands six feet two and weighs 222 pounds, Kimbrough is not a crack sprinter when both wore full football equipment.

Callarneau—six feet, 190 pounds—was the fastest and cleverest back in Stanford's Cinderella combination.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Tea Plays Important Role in World History

THEY'RE serving tea in London air raid shelters now. Nazi bombers can't interrupt this centuries old custom, as firmly established as the British empire.

Tea had much to do with the spread of the empire, paving the way for British domination in India, providing a trade lure that helped build British maritime greatness.

Today the English drink 97 billion cups of tea annually, an average of nine pounds per person. Most of England's tea comes from India, some from Ceylon, which has honored the industry with the stamp above.

Army Camp--

of View. It adjoins the Santa Fe railroad, lying east of it. Highway 158 forms its west boundary for a mile or more.

The 5,000-acre maneuver area is adjacent to the camp site on the south.

The large maneuver ground begins about two miles west of the small area, and covers dozens of sections. It extends 12 miles east and west, and nine miles north to south. Big Elm creek runs through its approximate center, from west to east. Forty-five thousand acres of the tract lie northwest of highway 158, and 15,000 acres southwest.

Estimated cost to Abilene of closing purchases and leases of the 67,000 acres is $125,000.

The chamber of commerce has options for lease on almost all of the 5,000-acre tract, and half of those for the larger area. C. W. G. J. chairman of the option committee, said.

In acquiring leases, the committee is taking options for six-month leases, with options to renew annually for 25 years.

In addition to transferring the 67,000 acres of the city of Abilene a month ago guaranteed to construct an 18-inch water line from its Lake Abilene water purification to the camp, a distance of about two and a half miles. City officials expect to accomplish this for about $50,000, which it would get back in comparatively short time through sale of water to the army.

Farm families will move from the base camp site as soon as possible. Whether any will have to evacuate the other grounds will depend on the uses made of the various parts of them, but few families are expected to be inconvenienced.

Date for giving possession of the small maneuver area is January 1, and for the large maneuver area, March 1.

It was not disclosed what type of defense forces would be trained here.

A marathon instituted in 1939 to ascertain what mileage a stock passenger car would get on a gallon of gasoline, determined that the average mileage of the entries was 23.8 miles per gallon. In the 1940 contest the average was 37 miles per gallon.
