Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

During the past few weeks there has been a definite pickup in the demand for homes in Cisco. Renters and buyers of homes have increased in numbers. Few desirable houses are vacant. It is becoming difficult to find a place to live, and estate agencies report that in many instances they are unable to avoid the impression that they are not interested in making transactions simply because the property is not available for rent.

Such a condition indicates a trend that was predicted some months ago. Location of army camps within a 50-75-mile radius has forced the exodus of many citizens from the communities where camps are located. Living conditions and crowded conditions there are becoming such that numerous families whose livelihood can be gained well from one location another, are seeking more desirable sites and naturally such communities as Cisco, Eastland, Ranger, Rising Star and similar ones stand to reap the benefits of this trend.

While we hope for some direct benefit from the national defense program, it would be well to think seriously of the benefits we stand to gain from the development going on elsewhere. The increase in local population gained as the result of the trend should be sufficiently permanent to set the lack of spectacular boom, growth, booms or difficult conditions to the side, and quite often their aftermaths are serious. We need a much better chance to build more soundly if we are to build more gradually.

Perhaps it would not be a bad idea if some practical program for attracting desirable families and accommodating them should be worked out now. The value of a town as a residence center is determined by the ability and efficiency of the public services, its churches, schools and recreation facilities. Cisco has admirable facilities in this respect. It will afford now to devote itself to improving its facilities to the degree that is possible to do. We will make a mistake if we lose sight of certain fundamentals in town building now.

People make the town. We get the people if we invite them. It is no easy job, but it is sometimes rather sensitive in effort and money.

Roosevelt Can't Stop War, is Claim

BERLIN, Jan. 11 (AP)—The constant of hunger and the security Europe through productive law we defined Saturday as many a war aim by the well-armed weekly, Das Reich. The revolution against hunger has been concluded domestically by the nazi procurement of labor for everyone, the paper said. This revolution is still in store, the English, Das Reich said, powers on earth, not even Mr. Roosevelt personally, will be able to save them.

Wave After Wave...Swamping Italians

What defenders of Italy's Libyan strongholds were up against when the British army slashed at them is graphically shown in this photo of a charge by Australian mechanized cavalry over the rolling desert. Swift, bullet-spitting gun carriers like these led the dash that captured Bardia.

Cisco Invited To Set Day at Fat Stock Show

(Special to The Daily Press) FORT WORTH, Jan. 11.—Cisco today had a special invitation to visit the 45th annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, March 7-16. In a letter to Joe Clark, manager of the Cisco chamber of commerce, Secretary - Manager John B. Davis of the stock show suggested that an official "Cisco Day" be selected and a delegation sent to the exposition.

Such a contingent, he said, would be of mutual benefit to Cisco and to the show. "The Fat Stock show this year will offer one of the biggest premium lists in history," the invitation letter said. "With exhibits and other attractions more numerous than ever before, we are looking forward to a record-breaking attendance. In the past many cities on their days have advertised through badges and hat bands, some special events such as a rodeo or reunion which the town is going to hold at a later date, and so many thousands of visitors from a wide territory learn of the event. We are glad for our friends to publicize any civic event or special advantage that your city offers."

Visiting delegates have been invited to bring hometown talent as they did last year for morning roundup programs in the Silver Spur, smart amusement center of the stock show grounds.

Greeks Press on Toward Berati

ATHENS, Jan. 11 (AP)—Paced by low-flying Greek and British planes reported bombing and machine-gunning retreating Italians, the Greek captors of Klisura pressed onward toward Berati, Albania, Saturday, according to dispatches from the front. Important heights dominated the road to Berati, north of fallen Klisura, were reported occupied and additional prisoners and war materials taken by the Greeks. A large number of fully loaded supply trucks were said to have been abandoned by the Italians. Others were knocked out of commission by Greek airmen. Italian casualties in the Klisura sector, about 30 miles south of Berati, were reported heavy.

The Athens radio said 400 Italian dead were found in the abandoned lines at one point, indicating a desperate resistance while the Greeks were laying siege to the mountain highway town.

TO BE IN EASTLAND

Representatives of the navy recruiting service will be at the post office in Eastland Tuesday, January 14. Young men between the ages of 17 and 31 man submit their applications for enlistment.

Presbyterians Have School of Missions

A school of missions will be held at the Presbyterian church Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening of this week, it has been announced. The services will begin each evening at 7:15. Programs will be presented, it was said, with several persons participating each evening. Anyone who wishes to attend is extended a cordial invitation, according to Dr. Gary L. Smith, pastor of the church.

Radio Program to Open Infantile Paralysis Drive

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—A half hour program to be broadcast simultaneously over the three national networks will herald the opening of the 1941 campaign against infantile paralysis by the committee for the celebration of the President's Birthday. The program will be heard over the networks of the National Broadcasting company, the Columbia Broadcasting system and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 3 to 3:30 p. m., CST, January 12. The Fight Infantile Paralysis Campaign begins on Monday, January 13, and ends with the nationwide celebration of the President's Birthday on January 30.

The program will include a dramatization of "The Hundred Years War" against infantile paralysis which will trace the efforts to combat the crippling disease from 1840 to the opening of this year's campaign, emphasizing the part that President Roosevelt has played in coordinating the fight in the United States. Following the dramatization, Keith Morgan, national chairman of the committee for the celebration of the President's Birthday, will speak from New York, introducing a "Roll Call" to which five governors and one mayor will respond in "pickups" from New England to California. Lieutenant Governor Horace T. Cahill of Massachusetts will speak from Boston, Governor Von Wagner of Michigan from Detroit, Governor Adkins of Arkansas from Little Rock, Governor Cooper of Tennessee from Nashville, and Governor Olsen of California from Sacramento. Mayor Stapleton will be heard from Denver, Colorado.

The three-network broadcast will reach radio listeners in every section of the United States and send city, county and state organizations for the Celebration of the President's Birthday into action in the drive for dimes and dollars to finance the 1941 fight against infantile paralysis. Funds raised in the campaign each year are administered by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and its more than 1,000 branch chapters throughout the nation.

Mrs. A. T. Boland of Houston was a guest of relatives and friends here Saturday, en route to join her husband at Wichita Falls.

Loboes Win From Carbon Here Friday

Coming back after a mid-season slump, the Lobo quintet Friday night defeated the strong Carbon five 29 to 12 in a game at Carbon. Childers was high point man with 16 points, while Taylor and Barnhill scored four each. Bob Morris played the entire four quarters for the first time this season, shining especially on defense. Sanders completed the team and the boys played without substitutes.

Thursday night, the local boys were defeated by Breckridge 33 to 31. High point men on the Bucks' team were Hazel, with 14, Kennedy, with 10, and Cain, with six. Barnhill, with eight, and Sanders and Childers tying with seven each, were Cisco high scorers. Bill Morris and Wright rang up two each, and Bob Morris one. Tuesday night Coach Johnny Edwards and his lads will go to Gorman, where they will meet one of the strongest high school teams in this part of the state. This team beat Cisco three points in the recent Colony tournament. Friday night a return game with Graham will be played there. In the Gorman tournament, to be held February 5, 6 and 7, the Loboes will meet Eastland, Carbon and Gorman, in that order.

German Raiders Bomb Portsmouth

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Raiding German warplanes rained hundreds of high explosive and incendiary bombs Friday night on the south coast of Portsmouth, one of England's most important naval bases. The government said several persons were killed and "considerable damage done to buildings and houses in the attack."

In some areas of Portsmouth, residents were ordered away from their homes because of delayed action bombs. (Informal quarters in Berlin described the assault on Portsmouth as a "large scale raid.") London had a quiet night, free of raiders. The government said "no one was killed" and only slight damage was done by bombs which fell at places in Britain other than on the south coast.

To Return to Cisco on February First

H. H. Bettis, formerly of Cisco and who has been living several years at Pratt, Kan., will return to Cisco about February 1, the Daily Press was told Saturday. Mr. Bettis will take over the management of the Peoples Ice plant here. Mr. and Mrs. Bettis have one child, a son, Corky.

METHODS TO AID BRITAIN WORKED OUT

U. S. Officials to Go to London for Formal Leasing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The state department announced Saturday that a delegation of American officials would leave for London on January 17 to work out formal leases for American naval and air bases acquired from Great Britain.

Specific methods by which the administration would extend aid to Britain under the proposed lease-lend bill began to take shape even as congressional critics called for restriction of the vast power which the measure would confer upon President Roosevelt. Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, who participated in preliminary conference on the legislation introduced in congress Friday, said it was likely that, if approved, the lease-lend program would be put into operation by the president chiefly through the new office of production management.

This, it was said, would make for complete correlation from start to finish between production for American and for British use. The office, headed by William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, with Secretaries Stinson and Knox as members, already has been charged by the president with full responsibility for American production.

RFC May Take Part

In addition, other sources said that agencies such as the Reconstruction Finance corporation might be called upon to handle some phases of the program. The first necessity for making the program effective, Byrnes said, is a survey of production capacity to determine exactly how much and what kinds of equipment can be supplied to Britain. He predicted that the chief items to be furnished would be airplanes, destroyers and cargo vessels. These, he said, are the things which Britain is most anxious to obtain. In other quarters it was learned that the British might be asked to turn over upward of $2,000,000 in investments in this country as collateral for the war materials which the president proposed to lend. British investments here consist of stocks and bonds in American concerns, or real estate and of British-owned companies or subsidiaries operating in the United States.

At the capitol, with both senate and house in recess, administration leaders laid plans for hastening action on the aid legislation, which, in addition to authorizing the loan and lease of war equipment on any terms the president may fix, would permit the communication of "defense information" to warring democracies and allow the repair of British warships and planes in American shipyards and factories.

New Directory Gives Cisco 5,548 Persons

The 1941 directory of the city of Cisco, published by the Moorhead Directory company, was distributed to subscribers here Friday and Saturday. The attractive, board-bound volume, is one of the most complete and convenient directories that has been published here. It was compiled and edited with extreme care and represents a dependable and thorough piece of workmanship.

Directories of Eastland and Ranger are included in the volume. Features include a business directory, telephones, street addresses, number in families, whether householder owns or rents, a numerical telephone directory and much other information of value. Incidentally, the actual count of residents within the city limits, reveals that Cisco has a population of 5,548 persons, a figure more than 600 greater than that with which the city is credited in the 1940 census.

Axis In Air Drive On British Fleet

ROME, Jan. 11 (AP)—Claiming bomb and aerial torpedo hits already on four British warships, the German and Italian high commands issued parallel announcements Saturday that axis air forces had joined in offensive action against British seapower in the Mediterranean.

The Rome newspaper, Il Giornale d'Italia, said "the action is continuing." Between them, the Berlin and Rome communiques from the axis high command reported that two British aircraft carriers, a cruiser and a destroyer had been hit by torpedo planes and dive bombers. They were the first announcements that the German luftwaffe had come to Italy's aid in the Mediterranean. The Italian high command called it "fraternal, close cooperation," saying the nazis "participated brilliantly." The first encounter between joint axis air power and British seapower in the Mediterranean occurred in the Sicilian channel, neck of the Mediterranean between the Italian island of Sicily and French Tunisia, north Africa, 90 miles wide at its narrowest point.

It was an attack on a convoy strongly protected by warships. Presumably the convoy was one reported previously attacked in the western Mediterranean Jan. 9 when the Italians said their bombs hit a British battleship. (That claim had been denied unofficially in London.) The convoy had passed through the channel about noon Friday when the Italians and Germans swept down upon it, said Stefani, official Italian news agency. Apparently the convoy was bound for Egypt.

Two Italian torpedo planes first attacked, according to Stefani. These planes had to swoop close to the water, aiming themselves so as to launch their charges toward the target. The sea carries them from there on. One of the two Italian planes was credited with launching a torpedo into an aircraft carrier. British planes swarmed up from the carriers, it was said, and fought violently with the fascist and nazi assailants. The British ships put up a fierce barrage of shrapnel shells and machine gun fire. The Italian communique said the attackers escaped unscathed. The Italian high command placed more emphasis on the axis collaboration than did the German. The port of Valletta, on the British island of Malta, was reported bombed heavily early Saturday.

ITALIAN LOSSES

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 11 (AP)—British middle eastern headquarters announced Saturday that 2,041 Italian officers and 42,827 men were captured or killed at Bardia, Libyan desert headquarters, which fell six days ago.

POPULATION OF TEXAS UP 10.1 PER CENT

Census Figure Gives State Total of 6,414,824 Persons

(AP Regional Service) (By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Texas' population, growing at a faster pace in urban places than in rural areas, was 6,414,824, final figures released by the census bureau of the department of commerce revealed today.

The 1930-40 percentage of increase was 10.1 as compared with the 1920-30 figure of 24.9. Houston, with a population of 384,514, was the state's largest city and second was Dallas with 294,734; third, San Antonio, 253,854; fourth, Fort Worth, 177,662; fifth, El Paso, 96,810; sixth, Austin, 87,930; seventh, Galveston, 69,862; eighth, Beaumont, 59,061; ninth, Corpus Christi, 57,301; tenth, Waco, 55,982. Next in order came Amarillo, 51,686; Port Arthur, 46,149; Wichita Falls, 45,112; Laredo, 39,274; Lubbock, 31,853. The combined population of Texas and Arkansas was 28,849, with 17,019 in Texas and 11,821 in Arkansas. Altogether there were 44 cities above the 10,000 class.

Both rural and urban population growth in the state was at a slower rate from 1930 to 1940 than in the previous decade, but the state remained preponderantly rural despite the urban increase. The percentage of urban population in 1940 was 45.4 as compared with 41 of 1930. Of the cities listed above the 10,000 class, nine reached that size since the 1940 count. They were Borger, Bryan, Denton, Highland Park, Longview, McAllen, Terrell, University Park, and Victoria. Thirty-eight of the 44 showed increases between 1930 and 1940, and University Park's 244.5 per cent growth was the largest. University Park and Highland Park are both separate municipalities contiguous to Dallas. One hundred and thirty-four of the 254 counties gained and one, San Augustine, the final figure showed, remained constant. Yoakum.

Missouri Assembly Calls Voting Probe

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 11 (AP)—The democratic - controlled general assembly, in an uproarious all-night session, refused to certify Forrest Donnell, a republican, as governor-elect and adopted a resolution calling for a joint house-senate investigation of the November gubernatorial election. The investigation would involve opening the ballot boxes in every county and the city of St. Louis. The action will prevent Donnell's scheduled inauguration Monday and will keep Governor Stark, democrat, in office until investigation of the election and hearing of a contest is completed.

Ciscoan Nominee for SMU Student Head

Cecil Edwards of Cisco has been nominated for the office of president of the Independent Students' association at Southern Methodist university in Dallas. Nominations were made by the nomination committee and presented at a meeting this week. The election will be held Monday. Edwards is a senior student at the university and is majoring in journalism. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Edwards, 903 West Seventh street.

Text-Books—Shield and Target
The United States believes in public education of its children as a cardinal point of political and social faith. It spends two billions of dollars a year to run schools for 25,000,000 children. It employs 800,000 teachers and usually exerts directly its local school boards.
Most teaching must necessarily be from books. Therefore the issue of text-books is important to everybody.
Every once in a while some special group takes upon itself the task of influencing this choice of text-books.
The American Legion has had its say about text-book material which it considered un-American; so have the American Federation of Advertisers, the D. A. R., and other groups. Latest organization to take up this issue is the National Association of Manufacturers, which is now launching a "new national campaign to wear school texts critically.

All these groups have the unquestioned right because they are made up of American citizens, not because they are groups to protest against any text-book material which is being presented to their children. The schools being among the most democratic of our institutions, local school boards ought to consider most thoughtfully any such complaints. But their final decision as to any particular text ought to be made with a clear eye on the school board's responsibility to all the people, and not on pressure from a particular group.
The principal job of the schools is to turn out men and women who can think. It is not to teach them a single body of doctrine as being the only and final truth—that is Hitler's way.
We Americans have a strong and abiding faith that our ways are, in general, good ways. We have found them so, in good times and in hours of trial no less severe than those we face today. We believe they will stand like a rock in the midst of descriptions of all other ways of life.
Our children are not, nor do we want them to be, so tenderminded that they may not even hear of other ways. Surely a way of life that must be thus hedged about is not worth preserving. Ours is not such a way.
So to call attention of local school boards to unfairness or inaccuracies is a privilege of any citizen, and a duty. But it is equally a duty of school boards to weigh the objections themselves in the scale of the interest of all the people, and not in the scale of any group or organization.
An auto spreader always discovered his mistake by accident.
Misery doesn't love company when it is the company that causes the misery.
It would help a lot if some people talked as well as they do loud.
It takes more good sound judgment, and much longer, to build a happy home than it does a beautiful house.

SERIAL STORY
CONSCRIPT'S WIFE
BY BETTY WALLACE
YESTERDAY Martha cannot forget the neighbors gossip finally decides to see Paul first night at home alone, she finds him dragging Suzanne into the room. When Martha questions her about the cause of the quarrel with Paul Suzanne explains: "We quarreled over you."
"PAUL LOVES YOU"
CHAPTER VI
"ABOUT ME?" Martha asked in bewilderment. "But Suzanne, what is the world doing to you and Paul quarrel about me?" I didn't understand.
"Don't you?" Suzanne's eyes were narrowed, her face was pale under the rouge. "That's just what I'd like to know. Don't you really understand?"
Martha stared stupidly. "No, really."
The other girl touched her forehead. Her fingers were dry. "Listen, Martha. Every time Paul comes up here, wait, I'm not talking about now, since Billy's gone. That is not entirely. I'm talking about before, when we four used to always go out. Sometimes you know, I didn't feel like a housewife. Sometimes I wanted to be alone with Paul, have him come to the house for dinner, or just to talk.
Her voice trailed off. She tightened her hold on Martha's fingers and suddenly she was saying passionately, "There's no use denying it. I'm in love with Paul. I always have been. Even before he and Suzanne were. I was in love with you when you married Bill. I wanted to get down on my knees

Martha was laughing. "Martha," Suzanne was saying humbly, "when you were engaged to him, I played a square. I tried to keep out of his way. I didn't do a lot of things I could have done. Oh, it wasn't my fault. Sometimes I couldn't help wanting to see him, just for a little while. But I didn't run after him. I didn't play any tricks. I told myself it was over and I tried to get along without him."
"Yes," said Martha faintly. "Yes."
"It was all right to begin with when you married Bill. I was wildly happy when Paul began to call me again, not to see me. But Martha, it didn't take long before I realized that he—well, we were always in love."
"Yes, you do. You must have loved him then, didn't you?"
"You weren't that kind. We'd all right here in the apartment, and Paul's eyes never left you. He'd look at you as though you were the whole he never heard a word I said."
"You're crazy, Sue," Martha whispered. "Crazy." Her brain was spinning dizzily. "You imagined it."
"Did I imagine it when they took you to the hospital, that time when you almost had pneumonia, and Paul almost lost his mind—stayed there all night—"
"I was with him. They sat up together, talking, until I came out of it."
"Bill. He best friend. Do you think that was easy to take? Don't you see he had to pretend to be my friend with him? And then, instead of dropping you both, letting it wear out, Paul kept on loving you. As if he couldn't live without seeing you."
"No, Suzanne, you're wrong. It hasn't been that way." Martha said so, began to pace up and down in a living room. Thoughts flashed at all the times she and Bill and Paul had been together. "But what else did he do anything—anything—"
"He wouldn't have told you he—"
"Suzanne, choked. "He prides himself on being honorable. Honorable. And what about me?"
She looked to her feet. She came and pointed Martha's shoulders and bowed straight into her eyes. "Listen, that's why I stopped coming here so much before Bill left. That's exactly why. Oh, I couldn't stay away altogether. I tried, in the same way, but Paul, he is a good guy. I just had to see him."
"Suzanne, you must stop! You mustn't say things like that!"
"Why must I stop? It's the truth. You know it. The truth and now, now that your husband's in the army and you're alone again, Paul's making hay while the sun shines, isn't he? That's why we quarreled. That's why he didn't tell you what it was all about, you fool. Because I told you straight out. I was sick and tired of being camouflage—being used as a blind so he could see you without people talking."
"Suzanne."
SUZANNE'S hands dropped wearily and a shudder ran through her slender frame. "Oh, what's the use? I thought if I told you—if you understood—"
She whirled suddenly. "I've been a fool. You probably know all about it. A woman always knows when a man loves her. You did know. You must have known, and you encouraged him!"
"Suzanne," Martha's knuckles were white as she gripped the

Valentine Party Compliments Mrs. Charles J. Kleiner

Mrs. Yancey McCrea and Mrs. ex-Spears were co-hostesses in the McCrea home Friday afternoon at a lovely Valentine shower honoring Mrs. Charles J. Kleiner, former Miss Vera Elder, who is a member of the First Presbyterian auxiliary.

The Valentine motif was employed in all appointments, and a color scheme was red, white and blue. The dining table was with lined cloth in multi-colored cross-stitch, centered by a lovely arrangement of red, white and blue candy tuft and carnations. The table was flanked on either side by red candles in double crystal holders.

Mrs. W. W. Wallace and Mrs. Charles H. Fee presided at the coffee service at either end of the table. Dainty refreshments of heart-shaped sandwiches, heart-shaped sugar cookies and tiny cups of red heart coffee were served.

The guests were then entertained with the following program: A solo, Clair de Lune, by Miss Slicker; a reading, "The Way," by Miss Josephine Miller; piano solo, "Pomp and Circumstance," by Miss Patsy Lois McCreary; two songs, "The Woodcutter's Song" and "God Bless America," sung by Elizabeth Ann, Louise and Jimmy Kleiner, accompanied at the piano by Miss Jamison, and "Rustling Leaves," played by Miss Jamison. Little Misses Bernie Anne Mc-

Coise Baird Is Party Honoree On Wednesday

Little Miss Coise Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Baird, was complimented with a birthday party given by her mother Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock. The party was in celebration of Coise's fifth birthday.

Assisted by Mrs. R. L. Sugg, Mrs. Baird directed the little guests in playing numerous interesting games. After the games, refreshments of chocolate and birthday cake, with balloons as favors were served. Balloons formed the decoration of the house. The honoree was presented lovingly gifts.

The guest list included: Coise Baird, Sylvia Henson, Doris Marie Walters, Jocile Kelley, Betty S. Nix, Ramond Penn, Doyce Hugh, Vida and Dannie Carl Dugan and Kathleen Sugg.

Crea and Mary Louise Kleiner presented the honoree with a "life insurance policy" of peace, health and prosperity, paid in full. It was signed by Mrs. Joe Clements, president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Guy Brogdon, secretary, and Mrs. McCrea and Spears.

Mrs. Kleiner then opened an array of lovely gifts, presented to her by Misses Bernie Anne and Patsy Lois McCreary and Mary Louise and Elizabeth Ann Kleiner. A "happiness" card, signed by all the guests was given with the gifts.

Approximately 40 guests attended.

Second Biggest Sales Year for Chevrolet in 1940

DETROIT, Jan. 11 (Sp)—The second greatest sales year in the history of Chevrolet was announced here today by W. E. Holler, general sales manager, with the report that a total of 1,046,969 new Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars were retailed by dealers during the calendar year 1940. This figure represents a gain of 32 per cent over 1939, he said, when dealers sold at retail a total of 791,886 new cars and trucks.

Chevrolet sales topped the preceding year in all departments and were second only to 1936 in company history, Mr. Holler said. Used car sales totalled 1,909,972, an increase of 21.7 per cent over 1939, when dealers sold 1,569,201 units. New and used car sales combined were 2,956,941.

Truck sales, likewise, showed a substantial gain during the year, the report shows, totalling 197,202, an advance of 11.9 per cent over the 176,090 sold during 1939.

During the final month of the year, dealers retailed 95,119 new cars and trucks, a gain of 6,395 units over December, 1939. They sold 138,581 used cars, an increase of 12,356 over December, 1939, and 18,896 trucks, a gain of 33.7 per cent.

May Be Governor of Puerto Rico

Mentioned as President Roosevelt's probable choice to succeed Admiral William D. Leahy as governor general of Puerto Rico is former Representative Guy Swepe, 49, above, of Meckville, Pa., now auditor of Puerto Rico.

During the final month of the year, dealers retailed 95,119 new cars and trucks, a gain of 6,395 units over December, 1939. They sold 138,581 used cars, an increase of 12,356 over December, 1939, and 18,896 trucks, a gain of 33.7 per cent.

Hollywood Actors Escape Nazi Ship

LONDON, Jan. 11. — Vivien Leigh and her husband, Laurence Olivier, famed British screen stars, were safe in England Saturday after a German plane failed in an attempt to shoot down the passenger plane in which they were flying from Lisbon to London. According to air officials, the Nazi raider intercepted the plane a few miles off the English coast and gave chase. A squadron of British fighters dived to the rescue and the German warplane streaked away.

Is Your Child Profiting from Modern Preventive and Corrective MEDICAL KNOWLEDGE?

Modern preventive and curative medicine makes it absolutely unnecessary for the child of today to suffer some of the hazards and ills that he could not escape a few years ago. It is unnecessary for a child to have diphtheria, smallpox, typhoid fever—and you probably know that had tonsils and infected throats and generally undernourished bodies are more susceptible to colds, scarlet fever and tuberculosis.

That racking disease, whooping cough, can be cut down or prevented by serum. Many grown-ups of today are afflicted with bow-legs, bad posture, deafness, or some chronic disease, from lack of correct diet in childhood—or from some of those diseases "every child had to have."

For the sake of the child's future life and health, keep in touch periodically with your physician. The discouraged mother of the backward child may find that lazy glands, defective eyesight or some other physical disability is the cause of his dullness.

Your child will repay early care and physical supervision with better health, enhanced personality, self-confidence and assurance.
