O'DANIEL URGES STATE GOV'T REFORMS

Through the Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

This section of the state of Texas, meaning the area between Weatherford and the embracing what was known as the old Oil Belt, presents a problem in economic salvation which demands that its population be united and vocal. For the past twenty years the district has been in a position somewhat similar to the time political status of the district was taken for granted. Neither wood nor red. Since the mushroom industry of the oil boom, the political complexion of the territory have combined to oppress whatever opportunity the district had to develop its peculiar resources. From the gratuity of relief spenders, the district has received little political assistance, while industrial retrenchment during the hard years prevented any economic development consistent with the resources of the district.

Chief standing, while of immediate benefit, has been of ultimate detriment. It enabled thousands of people who need support and want work to keep body and soul together. But it has provided the permanent economic depression which develops upon sections where normal economic activity has taken place. These people do not want to be dependent. They want to use their own resources of their own land and which can be developed in a practical manner by the industries which need their resources and which can provide for the employment and the economic independence which they require if they are to be self-supporting and prosperous. And they do not want their own resources exhausted in the service of industry elsewhere, while their own area's primary advantages of climate, water, geographical location and transportation for industrial building and such a large reserve of native labor, much of which is in the crafts which industry requires, exists.

It is thought to be clear that this section of the state is primarily industrial opportunity. Oil and production, while an industry, has been developed to a degree beyond which opportunity for increased contribution to the state exists. State and Federal drilling definitely retarded the future of these enterprises. Agriculture has been developed to its maximum. These sources of sectional income cannot and will not support the population of the district. During the last years relief expenditures in enormous amounts filled the gap. But relief expenditures cannot and

398 Girls Are Enrolled in 4-H Clubs of County

Eastland county has 17 girls' 4-H clubs, with an enrollment in 1940 of 398 club members. These club members are chiefly rural girls who are interested in improving their own personalities and their home. This is accomplished by having meetings twice a month, and exchanging ideas among the members, and by the help of a club sponsor and the assistant county home demonstration agent. A girl can be a club member any number of years she desires. In 1940 there were 139 first year girls; 105 second year girls; 76 third year girls; 21 fourth year girls; three fifth year girls; and four sixth year girls. The majority of the girls were between the ages of 10 and 14, however, and in 1940 there were 42 who were 15 and over. All clubs are well organized and conducted by parliamentary procedure. Each club has a sponsor who gives assistance in conducting the meeting and in helping the girls with their demonstration. The following are the 4-H clubs of Eastland county in 1940, and the sponsors for these clubs. The sponsors and clubs are the same for 1941: Alameda, Mrs. S. R. Rogers; Bullock, Mrs. Henry Wilson; Carbon, Mrs. J. S. Davis; Colney, Mrs. Annie Kirk and Mrs. E. L. Danley; Desdemona, Mrs. Durant Putty; Flatwood, Mrs. T. E. Robertson; Gorman Ward, Mrs. E. E. Todd; Gorman High, Mrs. E. Barron; Hodges Oak (Ranger), Mrs. Leslie Hagaman; Kokomo, Mrs. A. L. Wood; Lone Cedar, Mrs. Opal Brinson

Morton Valley, Miss Loma Faye Hearn; Olden, Miss Verda Jean Spurlen; Okra, Mrs. Gracie Ogle; Pioneer, Mrs. Dewiee Drake and Mrs. Hutchinson; Young (Ranger), Mrs. C. M. Orr; Rising Star, Mrs. Lee Burkhead. Outstanding Sponsors Eastland county 4-H clubs are very fortunate in having an outstanding group of sponsors. In 1940 Mrs. S. R. Rogers was selected as the most outstanding 4-H club sponsor and Mrs. Henry Wilson was selected second. The county home demonstration council presented Mrs. Rogers with a gift in recognition of her outstanding record with the Alameda 4-H club. 4-H club girls conduct two demonstrations each year—one productive and one non-productive. ASKS POWER TO DISCHARGE APPOINTEES

Centralization of State Funds Also Is Recommended

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (Spc).—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel today proposed that the new Texas legislature institute a variety of reforms which would correct what he termed defects in the state's democratic system and in instances amount to gross violation of the state constitution.

Among the reforms which he urged in his messages to the lawmakers were:

Consolidation of state tax collections in the office of comptroller of public accounts;

Deposit of all state funds in one account in the state treasury rather than in a variety of accounts under the control of various departments as now is done;

Payment of no state funds except upon direct appropriation by the state legislature;

Appointment of a state auditor by the legislature instead of the governor;

Preparation of state budget by a state budget director instead of by the state board of control;

Wants the Ax

Giving power to the governor to discharge appointees to boards and commissions who are negligent or inefficient with the requirement that all appointees be approved by a two-thirds vote of the state senate.

The governor pointed out that the state now spends approximately 300 million dollars each biennium and that only about 20 per cent of this sum is represented in appropriation bills by the legislature.

The governor asserted that the present practice of appointing board and commission members for terms of six years without possibility of discharge except through impeachment proceedings, which he termed impractical, expensive and unfeeling in promoting efficiency and loyalty, removes such appointees from the control of the governor and legislature which appoints them. He asked that the legislature amend the appointive procedure to give the governor power to remove for cause appointees who prove inefficient or negligent, asserting that this power would result in increased efficiency and economy.

Approval of all such appointees by a two-thirds vote of the senate was recommended.

One State Fund

Deposit of all state funds in one account in the state treasury, the governor said, is another step which would result in savings to the state. At present state funds are deposited in a variety of accounts under the control of various departments of the government.

The governor also called for an end to the practice of creating state debts which he declared is a direct violation of the state's constitution occasioned by the present system of decentralized collections and multiple state funds.

He recommended extension of the merit system to all employees of the state government.

Burkett Pledges Himself to Work For State Economy

In an open letter to the people of the 107th legislative district, comprising Eastland and Callahan counties, Rep. Omar Burkett Monday pledged himself to continue his efforts toward economy in state affairs in the 47th legislature, which convened Tuesday.

Burkett pointed to the difficulties which the national defense program has erected in the path of any program reducing state levies, however, and asserted that if ample levies to finance the various state programs are realized, some character of sales tax is inevitable.

Below is his letter to the citizens of his district:

To the citizens of Callahan and Eastland counties: The 47th legislature convenes Tuesday, January 14. I wish to take this opportunity to thank the people of my district for the courtesies they have shown me and to reassure them that I will again give them the best service of which I am capable.

Definite Program

I have a definite program which I would like to see enacted. Among the things I stand for are state aid for junior colleges, settlement once and for all of the social security measures which have been constitutionally enacted, and the administration of old-age maintenance matters as far as possible by the county judge and commissioners' court.

I deplore the ever-increasing tax rates, but this is no time to adjust these. Our national defense demands more taxes and we are going to have to do our part.

I still want to say to you that I stand for the most rigid economy possible and to that end I will do my best to serve you as I know you would have me do.

Inauguration

I want to take this opportunity to invite all of you to the inauguration, which will be on Tuesday, January 21. There are no printed invitations, so I am inviting you through the columns of the press to be at the inauguration and also to call on me at any time the legislature is in session.

approximately 185,000 miles of good roads in Texas and that of this amount, 164,000 are classed as country roads, good and better according to their construction. The thought in each was well expressed, and I especially noticed the excellent way in which each was written. I invite each of these students to come to see me while the legislature is in session and be my guests in the capital.

school board this week. Mr. Cluck has not notified the board of his acceptance of the contract. He is now serving his tenth year as head of the Cisco system, having come here from Spur in 1930.

During that time the territory served by the system has been enlarged from the area covered by the Cisco independent district and the Sandy common school district to include more than a quarter of the entire county area.

Organization of the Cisco Junior college last fall was a high point in the development of the system. The college, with enrollment in excess of 100 students, gained first class rating in the first year, an uncommon achievement in school organization. The college is housed in the old Randolph college plant, which was purchased by the school last summer. Remodeling of the main building and modernization of its equipment will be undertaken as quickly as plans for the work can be finally approved.

(Continued from Page One) should not continue. They will not have to continue if the people of the section recognize their rights and the opportunities that exist here and demand development that won't be denied.

The future of this region lies in industry. Its future lies there because it offers opportunities for that development as great as opportunities elsewhere. Like it or not, according to your convictions on the subject of governmental control, the fact exists that government today through various means, has almost absolute control over the expansion of industry. Through financing and the demands of the national defense, all resources of industry have been placed under the will of the government. Undoubtedly, government today has and will continue for a long while to have the determining voice in locating new major industrial units and developing natural resources. If this section of Texas gets that which it needs for its economic salvation, it is going to have to look to the government to

O'Daniel Urges--

(Continued from Page One) O'Daniel termed the "third house of the legislature" and the "fourth department" of the government, by which he meant the various departments, elective and appointive, who are not directly responsible to the governor and legislature, can be curbed, the governor said, by the process of ignoring the lobbyists and enacting the reforms of appointive procedure and expenditure of state funds which he recommended.

More specifically, Gov. O'Daniel recommended: More appropriations for farm to market roads; Raising the truck load limit from 7,000 to 14,000 pounds; Abolition of capital punishment, and Tightening the state liquor control laws to forbid advertisement of alcoholic beverages in dry territories and transportation of liquor in any form across dry areas.

He opposed re-legalization of race horse gambling.

get it. That is putting it mildly, but it is the heaven's truth.

For generations this section of Texas has been consistently and to an overwhelming degree supporting the dominant political leaders of the state and those who represent it in the federal government. Perhaps that support has always been too regular and certain. It is nothing but right that this loyalty be repaid now that the opportunity for appropriately rewarding it has arrived. Certainly, we should become clear and loud in our demands.

Sanatorium for Negroes Has Enviably Record

KERRVILLE, Jan. 16 (Sp)—The Kerrville State sanatorium for Negroes, located 64 miles northwest of San Antonio at Kerrville, faces 1941 with an enviable record since its opening in 1937.

Offered free of charge to indigent tuberculous Negroes of this state, the quarter of a million institution has made much progress toward education of the colored race concerning tuberculosis, its prevention and cure, under the direction of Dr. H. Y. Swazey, superintendent and medical director who has been connected with the treatment of tuberculosis in Texas for more than a quarter of a century.

More than 1,500 patients have been treated at the 172-bed sanatorium. The latest and most successful types of treatment are administered, including artificial pneumothorax or "gas," parenics, etc., by the superintendent, two Negro physicians and a staff of nurses.

Controlling the disease among Negroes faces many obstacles. One difficult problem with which tuberculous workers must contend is the fact that the disease is widespread in the colored race and the Negro is practically the sole source of domestic labor in Texas. The servants are usually closely associated with the family for whom they work, especially children.

When the Texas legislature convenes this month, Dr. Swazey will ask appropriation for the erection of a children's hospital at the institution, a step vitally important to the reduction of the high Negro tuberculosis death rate, which more than three times that of white mortality rate.
