DEFENSE SHOP TRAINING UNIT IS SECURED

NAZIS HELP ITALIANS IN LIBYAN WAR

German Airmen and Technicians Bolster Defenses

By the Associated Press
An Italian prisoner at Tobruk, Libya, said last night that approximately 1,000 German technicians and airmen were now in Libya to aid the Italians defense against the British.

He said the majority were technicians, but that the airmen were already engaged in raids on the British ground forces and Mediterranean fleet. Previous reports have indicated that Nazi airmen were doing their raiding from island bases in Italian Sicily.

Thousands of captured Italians were being loaded on British transports at Tobruk for shipment to internment camps in Egypt.

Dispatches reaching the international zone of Tangier from French Algeria reported that at least six persons were killed in riots involving soldiers in Algiers, the capital. The cause of the reported outbreak was not learned.

German raiders attacking London after dark for the first time in ten nights loosed high explosive and incendiary bombs on the British capital during a four-hour raid last night while big berthas on the French coast shelled the Dover area.

The London assault apparently was the heaviest of a series of wide-spread attacks, but an official check indicated casualties were not numerous and damage was slight.

The Germans also spread over western and northern England, east Anglia, central Scotland and the northeast coast. People running to air-raid shelters at a northeast coastal town were reported machine-gunned.

The Royal Air force used its machine guns too—ground-strafing retreating Italian troops in Libya between the port of Derna, next on Britain's attack list, and the town of Barca, 100 miles west of Derna.

Strike Begins At Harvester Works
CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—A strike of CIO farm equipment workers began Wednesday at the International Harvester company's Chicago tractor works which the management said was engaged in producing "several million dollars worth" of tractors for the government.

Headquarters of the Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee said the unionists "poured out" of the plant following a breakdown in negotiations over wage increase demands. The company said the walkout was orderly.

The tractor works employs 6,500 men. The FEWOC has a recognized majority and a collective bargaining contract which runs until August.

Thousands View Metaxas' Funeral
ATHENS, Jan. 30 (AP)—Thousands stood in a cold, drizzling rain Wednesday to see Premier Metaxas' cortege move slowly through the streets to the Athens cathedral, where his body will lie in state until Friday's funeral.

The plain oak coffin was borne on a caisson drawn by an armored gun carrier. Heading the procession were picked police units and members of the national youth administration. They were followed by church dignitaries and then came more police and a naval detachment.

REFUSE BAN ON US SHIPS AS CONVOYS

Would Limit President's Power to June, 1945

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—A proposal to place an outright ban on the use of United States naval vessels to convoy supplies to Britain was rejected by the house foreign affairs committee Wednesday as it neared the end of its consideration of the lease-lend program for aiding countries battling the axis.

The committee did, however, approve an amendment stating that the measure neither authorizes nor permits the use of American vessels as convoys.

This action was taken with the approval of administration members, and Chairman Bloom (D-NY) later explained that if the constitution or any existing statute authorizes the president to order the navy to escort duty, this order would not be affected by the language agreed on.

Should Not Limit Powers
Representative Mundt (R-SD) unsuccessfully offered the amendment specifically prohibiting convoy duty. Secretary of War Stinson, testifying before a senate committee earlier, had opposed such a ban, saying that "no one can tell what will happen in the course of this war which is going on in Europe and getting nearer and nearer, in its effects, to this country every day."

Under the constitution, he said, the president had power to direct naval movements, and the power ought not to be limited by congress, even by implication.

The house committee also adopted an amendment stating that presidential powers conferred in the lease-lend bill shall expire June 30, 1945, except that the president shall have power to carry out a contract or agreement with a foreign government made before July 1, 1943.

Another amendment approved requires the president to make periodic reports to congress on the progress of the lease-lend program, except that he is not required to transmit information "he deems incompatible with the public interest to disclose."

Still another amendment approved, as explained by committee members, would require the president to consult the army chief of staff and the chief of naval operations before sending abroad any material which had not been manufactured or procured specifically for a foreign government.

British Liquidate Assets In U. S.

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Britain disclosed Wednesday night she is about to tap her last big nest egg of dollar resources in the United States—British owned and controlled business enterprises—to buy warplanes, ships, tanks and munitions.

A treasury statement said the government had spent "a very great proportion" of its gold and was selling United States securities "steadily."

Now, it was asserted, the treasury plans to get dollars to meet purchases in America from the sale of British-owned businesses in the United States and United States companies which are controlled by Britons' shares.

A leading expert on these matters, Sir Edward Peacock, will arrive in the United States shortly, and he is expected to knock down such British businesses and companies to the highest bidder.

A treasury spokesman said he was unable to give the value of these resources because their shares are not listed on the stock exchange and "probably the owners themselves do not know what they are worth at the market."

First Band Clinic In Region Two At High School Tonight

B CLASS PLANS TO ORGANIZE 6-MAN TEAMS

Representatives of Woodson and Scranston high schools, joined by others which ordinarily do not participate in football competition, at a meeting Wednesday night at the Laguna hotel, completed initial steps preparatory to organization of a six-man league in this section.

A meeting of the executive committee of district 12-B had convened when the group divided following disclosure by Woodson and Scranston school representatives that a six-man league was favored.

Representatives of the schools favoring the organization of the six-man league explained that a lack of reserves handicapped waging of gridiron warfare and that such action would offer an opportunity for more schools to participate in the sport, since it had been impractical previously because of the lack of a sufficient number of youths.

The meeting of the regular district 12-B committee was featured by the election of new committeemen to serve the coming year. C. O. Bragg of Olden was chosen chairman. Others elected were Supt. Varney of Williams, Supt. Watson of Moran, Supt. Webb of Putnam and Supt. Cash of Pioneer.

Another meeting of the district committee, for the drafting of a schedule for next season's play, was set April 2, at the Laguna.

Teams to continue in the district 12-B are Strawn, Olden, Pioneer, May, Moran, Putnam, Clyde, Williams and Deademonia. W. T. Hughes of Scranston is former chairman.

J. V. Baird of Carbon was chosen chairman of the temporary six-man organization. Application for formation of the new league will be made to R. J. Kidd, director of athletics for the Interscholastic league.

Carbon, Morton Valley and Colony are other schools expecting to have teams in the proposed new circuit.

Lobo Band to Form Nucleus of Clinic Group

The clinic band to be assembled tonight at 7 o'clock at the Cisco high school promises to be one of the best bands in this part of the state, according to R. I. Collier, Lobo band director and host to the band clinic.

It will be composed of 90 members selected in such a way as to be a complete symphonic band. Breckenridge, Brownwood, Eastland and DeLeon high school bands will furnish 15 members each, with the Lobo band furnishing 30 members. Remaining members will observe.

Though the cooperative band clinic idea is not entirely new, Dir. Collier pointed out, this will be the first such school for Region II. Breckenridge has asked for the next, probably in two or three weeks. The clinic will be an open affair and the public is urged to attend. The first hour will be spent in sectional rehearsal, at which time problems such as seating, distribution of music, assignment of parts, and tuning the sections will be disposed of.

The band will be conducted by Directors Ed Thompson of Brownwood; J. C. Burckett of Breckenridge; M. G. Smoot of DeLeon; Moreland Baldwin of Eastland; and Collier, each director working the band on one number. The members will be in uniform.

Invitations have been issued to the following bands and directors: Sweetwater, Ballinger, Winters, Coleman, Abilene, Stephenville, Hico, Goldthwaite, Baird, Albany, Anson, Ranger, Mineral Wells, Merkel, Breckenridge, Eastland, DeLeon, Brownwood and Dublin.

The school will begin at 7 o'clock in the gymnasium. Between sectional rehearsal and the clinic proper, the Band Parents club will serve refreshments to the visiting directors.

SCHOOLS HERE ACQUIRE NEW GOV'T COURSE

Basic Skills in Mechanical Trades Will Be Taught in Cisco

A national defense shop training unit has been secured by the Cisco public schools for training out-of-school youth in mechanical trades, it was announced today by local school officials.

The unit, the only one allotted to Eastland county, will begin operation on or shortly after February 1. Enrollment of students is now underway.

Four general courses are offered under the program and each course must have a minimum of 10 students. Subjects taught are:

1. Operation, care and repair of tractors, trucks and automobiles, including both gasoline and Diesel engines;
2. Metal work, including simple welds, tempering, drilling, shaping and repair;
3. Woodworking;
4. Elementary electricity, including operation, care and repair of electrical equipment.

Each class will be taught a minimum of 15 hours per week for a period of eight weeks. The object of the courses is to give basic training to young men for work in national defense industries and projects, it was explained, and thus to assist in overcoming handicaps due to the shortage of skilled mechanical labor in these industries.

The project comes under the vocational agricultural division of the state department of education, of which T. G. Caudie is director here. Mr. Caudie will therefore be the local supervisor.

The equipment for the training unit will be furnished by the government. A considerable amount of this equipment is required.

School officials said that further announcements relating to the unit will be made within the next day or two.

It was pointed out that this unit offers a good opportunity for rural youth served by the Cisco schools to acquire skills which may be extremely valuable to them later on.

Residents Warned to Beware of Old Clothing Seekers

Beware of strangers soliciting old clothing, Chief of Police Perdue advised housewives today.

Yesterday the police investigated one such solicitor and discovered that he and another man, both residents of Abilene, had collected an automobile load of garments, most of which they were selling.

Chief Perdue advised Cisco residents to dispose of their old garments only through local agencies or charity organizations which are known to be authentic.

"You can never tell," the chief said, "when strange solicitors for charity are using their appeals to become acquainted with houses in a neighborhood. Cisco has been free of prowlers for some time and this is due largely to the cooperation of the citizens."

Lobos to DeLeon For Game Tonight

The Lobo basketball squad will go to DeLeon tonight to try again to gain a victory by a new style of passing that has, in the past three out of four games, proved successful.

Not One, a Million Leaders Needed

IN times of stress and crisis, leadership is everything. The United States needs leadership—not the leadership of one man, to which several European countries have turned, tried and beaten by struggle and complexity—but leadership in every field. It is no longer enough for any man to be a leader simply in his own field—the leader of today must see the relationship of his special field to the whole, and act accordingly. Nobody ever accused James Truslow Adams of being a wild radical. He is a conservative business man turned historian. Yet he believes that the American scheme of things as living men have known it is now being given its last chance.

In a recent article in "Barron's," Adams appeals to business men to show themselves again capable of the leadership which once made them the heroes of America. He sees a turn to the business man from the politician, especially since the defense drive has put so great a premium on efficiency. These factors, he feels, have "given the business leaders a new chance, and perhaps their last, to prove their value to the great society and to provide for it that leadership and service without which no class can permanently survive. . . ."

Business leaders must realize, Adams warns, that today "a high business position, as has been said of public office, is a public trust and not merely a well-paid job." Business men like Knudsen and Stettinius who have given up well-paying jobs to help their country are merely one example, Adams says; every business man must now devote part of his time, energy, and thought to the general welfare, for it is at last realized that even a well-paying business is of no value if the whole country goes to smash.

WHAT Adams has so trenchantly pointed out to business men is true, of course, of all men occupying positions of authority and influence. It is true of labor leaders, of lawyers, of financiers, of artists, of all who wield power in any form.

All are on trial today. All will be judged in the future by the degree to which they have served society in general.

Broadcast Will Rank Small and Big Celebrations

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (Sp.)—A two-way conversation between the nation's largest and most glamorous celebration and a typical small town birthday ball will be featured in the full hour broadcast of the Celebration of the President's Birthday starting at 8:15 p. m. today, over the combined networks of the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia and Mutual Broadcasting systems.

Ed Fitzgerald, staff commentator of WOR and MBS will describe the spectacle of the birthday celebration at the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York city and compare it with Earl May, owner of station KMA, who will have his microphone set up at the birthday ball in the town hall, Shenandoah, Iowa. The musical background for the conversation will contrast a number by Leo Dryer's orchestra at the Waldorf, with the music played for an old fashioned square dance at the Shenandoah celebration.

Earlier in the hour program, President Roosevelt will speak from the White House in Washington, responding to birthday greetings by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and Keith Morgan, national chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday.

Music for the hour broadcast will be supplied by Benny Goodman's orchestra, playing from the Mayflower hotel in Washington, D. C.; Gene Krupa from the Sherman hotel in Chicago; Jan Garber from the Municipal auditorium in New Orleans; Tommy Thomas from Seattle, Washington, and Leo Dryer from the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Don't Let Rabbits Ruin Fruit Trees Agent Advises

"Don't let the jackrabbits ruin your young fruit trees when it is so easy to protect them" is the advice of County Agent Cook to fruit growers and home orchardists in Eastland county. He reminds that every winter many acres of young trees are made worthless by rabbits before the owners realize that there is danger. Damage often comes when there is a light snow or winter grass is iced over, thus depriving the rabbits of their natural food for a short while.

Trees can either be painted with a mixture that will keep the rabbits away or wrapped with strips of cloth or burlap sacking from the ground up as high as a rabbit can reach. The simplest mixture to paint on the trees is made by beating raw linseed oil and stirring in sulphur until the mixture becomes about as thick as paint. The oil should not be boiled as this will cause the sulphur to harden into a rubbery consistency. When the mixture has cooled it can be painted or mopped onto the trunk of the trees and the bottoms of the branches as high as a rabbit can reach. The entire tree should not be covered as that would cut off the air and damage the trees.

1916. Christian-Henry, son of C. H. Dutsch, Cisco, born Sept. 16, 1914.

Leave several buds exposed on the tip of the limbs.

The mixture should be applied if the weather causes it to be partially washed off.

15 Felony Bills Returned by 91st Grand Jurors

EASTLAND, Jan. 30 (Sp.)—The 91st district court grand jury Friday evening adjourned a nine day session which, according to the report submitted Judge Geo. L. Davenport, they examined 118 indictments, returning true bills for 15 felony offenses and two for misdemeanor offenses.

Amos and Pat Ross for their efforts in making careful investigations of highway accidents brought to their attention. In this connection we respectfully request all citizens, and particularly those who permit their children to drive their automobiles, to cooperate with the highway patrolmen by a

Details for Farm Market Building Are Being Studied

Details relative to the erecting of a Cisco farm market building were presented to the commissioners in regular session last night. The project application which will be submitted to NYA officials for final approval calls for the construction of a "rammed earth" structure 120 feet long with two wings of 80 feet length to be used in housing farm products intended for sale in this area.

It was pointed out to the commissioners that all labor would be supplied from NYA sources and that the cost to the city would be in terms of materials and building supplies. It was further explained that a large percentage of these materials are already on hand, and can be used in the proposed project.

At the close of the meeting of the city council the commissioners authorized the signing of the project applications which will be subject to the approval of area and state officials for the National Youth administration.

Several different locations have been considered during the past for a suitable building site. Due to difficulties in securing the required titles for public property which is necessary for all construction work done by federal agencies it has not been definitely determined as to the exact location of the building in Cisco's city limits.

A committee consisting of Commissioners Edward Lee, W. J. Leach and A. V. Clark were to confer with interested parties today relative to the final arrangements for property rights. For this reason the approval of the project application by the city commission was granted subject to the securing of a desirable location. The application, however, is being submitted for immediate action on the part of NYA authorities, and it is believed that during the time intervening its approval at Austin satisfactory arrangements will have been made.

Mitcham and Son to Exhibit at Ft. Worth

Special to The Daily Press FORT WORTH, Jan. 20. — Mitcham and Son, well-known Hereford breeders of Cisco, were among the first to enter livestock for the 45th annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show here, March 7-16.

According to an announcement made today by John B. Davis, secretary-manager of the exposition, the Cisco cattlemen have entered 15 head and a carload of bulls for the show. Entries, which close on February 15, have already been received from eight states, he said.

The Fat Stock show's $100,000 improvement program is well under way now with the new entrance-ticket office and the double balcony in the north end of the Coliseum, home of the world-famed rodeo and horse show, virtually complete.

Steelwork on the new $45,000 swine building is up, and work on other projects is progressing.

8 Directors Are Named to CofC Board

The city commission in a lengthy session which was occupied largely with tax matters and other details of city administration, Tuesday elected eight directors to the board of the Cisco chamber of commerce to serve terms of two years each.

Four new directors were named among the eight. They are H. S. Drumwright, A. D. Anderson, Jack Elkins and Satton Crofts.

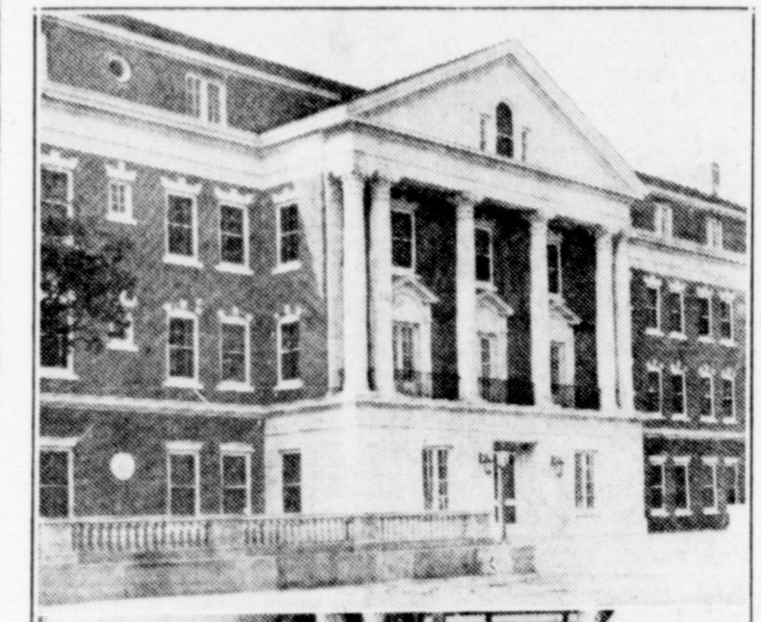

Retiring directors returned to the board are B. A. Butler, R. N. Cluck, J. D. Lauderdale and H. M. Monk.

The commission also advanced the chamber of commerce $100 for financing the annual livestock show. T. G. Caudle, agricultural secretary of the chamber, was present to present the request. The fund will be absorbed in the CofC budget during the year.

Retainer fee was ordered paid to F. D. Wright as attorney for the city in its bond suit and a request for statement total cost of the litigation to the city was made.

Matters with which the commission occupied itself during the session included sewer repairs, repairs to city fire trucks and various other minor details.

College Is Allotted 20 For Aviation

Cisco Junior college has been approved for a spring CAA student pilot training school and allotted 20 students. Supt. R. N. Cluck of the Cisco public school system has been notified.

The school will start somewhere between February 1 and February 15, Mr. Cluck said.

Approval of the school was received with satisfaction by school authorities who pointed out that the college, although organized only last fall, secured and trained a quota of 20 young fliers during the first term, a precedent in school operation.

The first school was trained at the old municipal field, with tests for licenses being made on the Ranger field. The second school, however, will be trained on the new airport being constructed on the Carl Wilson land north of the city. The new field, which will be given final CAA inspection this week, is an excellent one with three runways longer than required, and a two-plane hangar recently constructed.

Reg Robbins will conduct the spring school. He was the operator of the first school, using two training planes for the courses.

There are 27 applicants for training in the second school.
