Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

The congressional battle going on over the leased bill concerns a fundamental change in the status of the United States. Down fundamentals the issue is nation. There is a great deal more to the question of nation than the mere act of drawing our national flags about us and letting the rest of the world go by. We must deal with the fact from where we draw our national strength. We are not a country of a few years ago, as national age is counted, whose principal source of power was the production of the raw materials that other countries wanted and whose principal industry was the development of the abundant resources with which nature blessed us. We have long since passed the colonial phase of our national existence. We have grown pretty big. We have become a maker of goods and a supplier of world needs. Instead of being a world market and source of supply for manufacturing countries, we have acquired markets. We have acquired a considerable interest in the civilizations of the globe for the reason that our national welfare has come to depend in a large measure upon the consumption abroad of the products of our farms and factories.

We are not isolated as to business. We are less of a market now and more of a producer for markets. If we could draw a wall about us and let the rest of the world accumb to the control of the dictators, our trade sources would dry up and our national strength would decline. Our future in a world where speed and efficiency have shrunk geographical boundaries and swept feudalistic concepts of economy to the discard, depends vitally upon the far and free flow of commerce and the maintenance abroad of synthetic governmental and economic systems for the exchange of goods and services.

If we are not isolated in economy, and if we cannot successfully be isolated as to that, we cannot be political-isolated. For political doctrine is in essence economic doctrine. You may consider that fact in its primary application to community life. No local business can succeed and keep itself without interest in the affairs of the community. It cannot ignore its stake in the government and welfare of its community. It draws its support from the people who live there and its success is measured by their success and the manner of their living.

In like manner, if America trades abroad America as a very definite stake in the kind of life that is lived abroad, the political and economic government of its markets. There is always a question of going too far, of becoming a meddler instead of a helper, but a responsibility to ourselves as well as the rest of the world exists, and its proper discharge lies

DISTRICT 17 MEET TO BE IN RANGER

Plans are being completed by committees from the Carl Barnes Post No. 69 for the 17th District convention, to be held in Ranger February 15 and 16.

A number of high-ranking Legion officials have indicated they will be present, including Brigadier William George Gilks of Dallas, national chaplain; Ed Reidel, state commander; Rev. J. H. G. Markley of Wink, department chaplain and A. C. Jackson, department chairman of the Sons of the Legion. The Auxiliary of the Carl Barnes post has also sent out invitations to outstanding members of that organization.

An elaborate program has been arranged by the committees and the citizens of Ranger have assured full cooperation in order to make this the best convention ever held in the 17th district.

Registration headquarters will be at the Gholson hotel and reservations will be made at either the Gholson or Paramount hotels. The Carl Barnes post was one of the first in the district to exceed its quota of members for the year, and it also boasts a very active Legion auxiliary, which will aid in making the convention a success.

Permanent Oil Proration Law

AUSTIN, Feb. 6 (P)—Establishment of current Texas oil proration laws as permanent and continuation for two years the state's membership in the Interstate Oil compact were approved by a house of representatives committee Wednesday night.

The group recommended passage of bills to that effect after a public hearing marked by a minimum of discussion.

The proposal making the proration statutes permanent by eliminating the expiration date and thus avoiding necessity of re-adoption each biennium was approved with but one dissenting vote, while the interstate compact membership bill received unanimous recommendation.

County Fair Meeting Called at Eastland

EASTLAND, Feb. 6 (Sp)—Plans for an Eastland county fair for 1941 will be discussed by everyone interested when farmers, farm women, business men and representatives of organizations throughout the county meet in Eastland at 2 p. m. Friday, February 21, according to Elmo V. Cook, county agent, who said the meeting has been called in order to give everyone in the county an opportunity to help make plans for the fair and help make it county-wide in scope. It was decided to call the meeting when a group of business men and agricultural workers met in the Eastland chamber of commerce last week. The meeting will be held in the Texas Electric Service clubrooms, across the street from the Eastland chamber of commerce, on Main street.

Although all interested persons are urged to attend the meeting, special invitations are being sent to chambers of commerce, service clubs, all women's clubs, farm workers and other organizations. It is hoped that each organization will send at least two delegates to the meeting.

In stating the purpose of the meeting, Herbert Tanner, secretary of the Eastland chamber of commerce said, "We want this to be a meeting of Eastland county people to plan their county fair for 1941 and we hope people from all parts of the county will attend and take part."

Gun Emphasizes Employment Search

ATLANTA, Feb. 6 (P)—Job-seeking fervor hit a new peak at Georgia's capital Wednesday when a determined-looking man walked in, laid a pistol on a desk, and demanded a job.

Only a bookkeeper was on duty, and he told the pistol toter he could have any job in the capital as far as the bookkeeper was concerned—if he'd only go away.

A girl stenographer returning from lunch walked in on the tense tableau, walked right out again and gave an alarm that brought policemen hurrying.

The job seeker was jailed without any violence.

Miss Anne Buckley expects to spend the week-end in Fort Worth.

RAF Rains Bombs On Coastal Ports

British bombers rained explosive and machine-gun bullets on German invasion bases and counter-blockade ports yesterday in a thundering climax to the heaviest aerial assault in recent weeks on the Reich's war machine, the British reported last night.

The Germans promptly reported that the British had failed in their objective; that, in fact, the British daylight attempt was smashed over the English channel, far from the intended targets.

The Germans said 17 British planes were downed near Calais but the RAF reported the entire day and night action over the coast of France and Belgium, the interior of Northern France and the Duesseldorf section of Rhenish Germany cost only nine planes.

Briefly, the British claimed: A "successful attack" by daylight on St. Omer Airbase, 20 miles beyond Calais in Northern France;

Heavy raids on the old French naval base of Brest, now used by U-boats to prey on Atlantic shipping;

Dock targets at Cherbourg, a principal ship basin at Bordeaux; An hour's attack on Merignac airbase near Bordeaux, from which the Luftwaffe sends four-motored bombers to attack British convoys;

Hits on docks at Dunkerque and Dieppe, France and Ostend, Belgium;

Attacks on airbases at Vannes and other French places;

A new assault on Calais; And the bombing and machine-gunning of Duesseldorf early Wednesday morning.

Far to the south of the European battle area, the British also reported a "marked speeding-up" on their advances in Libya and Italian East Africa.

Pursued by British armored units, the main body of Italian soldiers in Libya was said to be fleeing toward Bengasi, Cirenaican capital and the next objective of the British, at a 30-mile per day clip. The Italians were said to be only 60 to 70 miles from Bengasi, 325 miles from the Egyptian frontier.

British bombers helped the advance in East Africa, where the British land forces were reported pressing the Italians to the east from the region of Cheren, 40 miles from the Eritrean capital, Asmara.

Other British forces were said to be advancing on two fronts in Ethiopia and fighting was active in Italian Somaliland, captured by the fascists last year.

Representative's Son in RAF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (P)—Representative Johns (R-Wis) told the house Wednesday night it was with "a heavy heart" that he opposed the leave-lend bill.

"The only child I possess in the world telephoned me that he had enlisted in the RAF and would go into training soon," he continued. He said his son, Newman, 26, who has been flying several years, would leave for Canada in a month for advanced training, then go to England.

WILLKIE ASKS GERMANS TO BAN NAZISM

German-Americans Hate Lust for Power He Declares

LONDON, Feb. 6 (P)—Wendell Willkie's parting denunciation of the Nazi regime—made in a direct radio message read to the land of his ancestors—already is on the way to the German people by the "underground route" and will be scattered far and wide over Germany in a special "leaflet raid."

"Tell the German people that we German-Americans reject and hate the aggression and lust of power of the present German government," Willkie said in the message he left in London. It was his parting gift to the bomb-battered land in which he has spent the last ten days and was intended for a country where listening to foreign broadcasts is a crime.

The Daily Herald told of the plans to "bomb" Germany with leaflets bearing the message and added:

"Already printed copies of it are on their way to the German people through a multitude of underground channels."

Willkie was on his way back to America when the British ministry of information released his message. It was broadcast tonight in the British Broadcasting corporation's regular German news transmission. Later it was repeated to Germany on the air.

Willkie arrived in Lisbon by plane from England at 3:30 p. m. (9:50 a. m. west Texas time) and left on a Pan-American clipper at midnight—8 p. m. west Texas time—for the United States. He is due to reach New York either Saturday or Sunday.

Climaxed Tour

His message to the German people climaxed a 10-day tour of England in which he talked to Britons of all classes—from dwellers in battered slums to Prime Minister Churchill and the king and queen—and left with them the promise to do all he could "to help Britain in her fight for freedom."

"I am purely of German descent," the 1940 republican presidential contender said in his message. "My family name is not Willkie, but Willkie. My grandparents left Germany 90 years ago because they were protestants against autocracy and demanded the right to live as free men. I, too, claim that right."

"I am proud of my German blood. But I hate aggression and tyranny."

"Tell the German people that my convictions are shared to the full by the overwhelming majority of my fellow countrymen of German descent. They, too, believe in freedom and human right."

(At Lisbon, Willkie said he was satisfied with the information he had obtained on his tour of England, but would not state his conclusions until he arrived back in America.)

Methodist Minister Speaks at Meeting

The Rev. Leslie Seymour, pastor of the First Methodist church, was a morning speaker at the conference of the Cisco and Brownwood districts held in Rising Star Tuesday. He took as his subject "Missions and Christian Youth."

This was the first meeting of such nature between two districts, it was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Barlow of Spur have been visiting Mrs. Barlow's sister, Mrs. N. A. Brown.

Sulphur Being Used to Control Poultry Disease

Two Eastland county poultrymen, Wynan Blair of Cisco and Junior Files of Gorman, are cooperating with the county agent in controlling coccidiosis of poultry by feeding sulphur in their mash. Blair, who has sustained considerable losses in past years from the disease, has been keeping it under control the last two years by feeding sulphur. Coccidiosis is common on farms in the county, attacking the young birds when they are about three or four weeks old and either killing a large percentage or leaving them in such condition that they are kept at a loss to the farmer. Before it was discovered that sulphur would control the disease the only effective means of control known was rather expensive. Sulphur is inexpensive and is used by feeding in the growing mash at the rate of five pounds of sulphur to one hundred pounds of mash. The treatment is started when the birds are three or four weeks old and continued until they are three or four months old. Since sulphur breaks down the vitamin A content of the body which in turn may cause rickets, poultrymen who feed sulphur are advised to keep it out of the ration during long spells of cloudy weather. It is safe to feed sulphur when the weather is clear, as sunshine replenishes the vitamin A content as rapidly as it is destroyed by sulphur.

Texas Farmers 1940 Income Up 25 Millions

AUSTIN, Feb. 6 (Sp)—Texas agriculture netted farmers $25,000,000 more in 1940 than in 1939, Dr. F. A. Buechel, University of Texas economist, estimated today. For the entire year, farm cash income as computed by the university bureau of business research, totaled $423,642,000 as compared with $398,187,000 in 1939. Complete data on truck shipments and local marketings will bring these figures to an estimated actual income of $465,000,000 for 1940 as compared with $438,000,000 in 1939. Government subsidies push the totals to approximately $575,000,000 for 1940 and $550,000,000 for 1939, Dr. Buechel said. Despite the meager outlook for cotton marketings, Dr. Buechel predicted agricultural income would continue to increase. "Contributing to the moderately optimistic outlook are the favorable moisture conditions which now prevail throughout most of the state and the rising tendency of prices for a number of important Texas farm products," he said.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Medicine Offers Wide Field for Specialist

NUMEROUS postal designs illustrating phases of medical science lure many philatelists into specialized collections of these items. Portraits of physicians and medical scientists, stamps relating to social and health services, care of sick and injured, drugs and medical discoveries are but a few of the subdivisions included in medical philately. Red Cross stamps, such as the last issue of the French Republic, above, are annual issues in many countries. United States has rejected suggestions for a Red Cross semi-postal, but honored that organization with a 50th anniversary commemorative in 1931. Anti-tuberculosis stamps, identified by the double-barred cross, are plentiful. The U. S. Christmas Seals, while not valid for postage, are accepted philatelic items. United States honored Dr. Walter Reed, U. S. Army surgeon, and Dr. Crawford Long, discoverer of ether, in the scientists set of the Famous Americans series.

Cisco Man Is Fatally Hurt In Accident

J. Harold Ray Avent, piano player with an orchestra, who recently moved from Brownwood to Cisco, died in a Brownwood hospital Sunday from injuries received when his car struck a hog on the highway seven miles south of Cisco about 7:30 Saturday night. Avent, 42, was a member of the Dixie Playboys orchestra. He was driving alone to join the band for an engagement at Brownwood Saturday night when the accident occurred. His back was crushed. The car was turned over, several times and practically demolished. Vernon Barkley, driving a Brownwood wrecking car, drove up shortly after the accident, picked Avent up and carried him to a Brownwood hospital, where he died at 2:10 Sunday morning. Funeral services were held at Brownwood Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock with members of the Dixie Playboys as pall bearers. Avent is survived by two daughters, one 14 and the other 16; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Avent, of Houston; two brothers and one sister. He had been playing with the Cisco orchestra for about a year and a half, living at Brownwood until a month ago, when he moved to Cisco, taking a room at the Bates hotel.

Truck Driver Hurt in Train-Truck Crash

Edgar Witt, truck driver of Brownwood, was under treatment at Graham sanitarium for injuries sustained in a truck-train collision at the Pueblo Katy crossing Tuesday afternoon about 4:20. Mr. Witt's injuries were not considered serious by physicians, who said they consisted principally of bruises and superficial cuts. His truck was in collision with the eastbound Katy motor train at the crossing. The light in the Statue of Liberty's torch is maintained by the United States lighthouse service.

The many friends of Miss Capola Browning were sorry to learn Saturday that she had fallen at Ranger late Friday afternoon and broken her leg between the knee and ankle. She started to step over a water hose and the pavement was slippery and she fell. She was taken to the hospital, where the bone was set and the leg put in a cast. Her brother, Gene, went up Sunday afternoon and brought her home. She had been working at Ranger the past few months.

On Wednesday Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Clark drove down to Fort Worth, where he conducted the funeral of an elderly lady who had been an active member of a church of which he is a former pastor.

The last number on the program was "Radio Programs Harmful to Children," which was discussed by Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass. Hostesses for the day were Misses Gid Tarpley and W. C. Bedford, who served refreshments of chicken salad on lettuce, cheese sandwiches, cake, pickle, home made mints and hot spiced tea. Those present were Mrs. Charles Lee, C. A. Skipping, H. B. The sympathy of the community is being extended to Mrs. Hugh Roe on account of the death of her father, J. M. Kirby, who passed away on Monday afternoon of last week after an attack of pneumonia. Funeral services were conducted and interment was at Clarita, Oklahoma. Mrs. Roe was taken to Ranger soon after she received the message, by Mr. Roe and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Heeter. She was met at Ranger by her daughter, Miss Bernice Roe, of Abilene, who went with her, and at Dallas they were joined by her other daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Goswick. The driver of the Gorman Bakery truck had a narrow escape Monday morning when the little bridge, over what used to be called "the dip" just a few yards beyond the main bridge over the Leon, washed away just as he was barely across it bringing the first load of bread to our town since Friday morning. Other inconveniences that our citizens had to stand on account of constant rains from Friday morning until Sunday afternoon, were not having any papers or other mail at all Saturday and also no mail leaving here Saturday. The pickup in which Clarence Hastings brings the mail slipped off the water covered highway between here and Gorman and could not be gotten out until Saturday night.

Malby is secretary. Beside the original group of Hill Billies there will be a group of girl radio entertainers, making a total of 11 radio artists appearing here Tuesday night.

The Industrial Statesman

...and the times may be creating a new type of leader in the United States—the industrial statesman.

There are signs of his appearance in men like William S. Knudsen and Owen Young who are willing to give their time and abilities to public causes, and in men like Sidney Hillman and Walter Reuther from labor's ranks, who are willing to think about national problems on a broad scale.

The United States has a predominantly industrial civilization. What could be more natural than to expect that out of the ranks of workers and managers of our vast industries should come leadership for the nation itself?

The president of General Electric, Charles E. Wilson, has apparently been thinking along these lines, for an address he made in Philadelphia recently is filled with the spirit of a new industrial statesmanship. He sees, and we think rightly, a link between all the western countries in the fact that all of them are experiencing "the second stage of a revolutionary movement of the masses" which began with the World War and will probably last for several decades. The common people of Britain fight, he believes, "from a deep-held desire to insure for their masses and for their fellow men in other lands a much larger measure of economic freedom and security than the conventional capitalistic and imperialistic system has previously provided."

It was this mass urge toward security, this rebellion against frustration, that brought Nazism to Germany. The same urge is felt here and in Britain, but these countries have been thus far deeply determined to achieve the goals without sacrificing freedom.

The answer Wilson feels, is that "the financial and managerial components of our free enterprise system must prove by deeds as well as by words their full comprehension of their social responsibilities"—they must "demonstrate, beyond the chance of successful challenge, that the public-spirited people administering private enterprise inherently and actually excel the people comprising political organizations... as instrumentalities for insuring an ever-increasing measure of economic freedom and security for all the people—save the indolent—all of the time."

REX TUGWELL'S NEW JOB IN PUERTO RICO FORESHADOW EXTENSIVE LAND-USE EXPERIMENT

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Nobody paid much attention to Rex Tugwell's return to a New Deal job, but the job itself could turn into one of the administration's most far-reaching experiments.

Tugwell, who is chairman of the New York City Planning Commission, is serving without pay as special adviser to Secretary Ickes. He is heading up a group that will have to decide how to put into effect a law which will change the whole economic foundations of the island of Puerto Rico.

Back in 1930, Puerto Rico passed a law forbidding any corporation to own or control more than 500 acres of land. The law had no teeth and never was enforced. Under Ickes' guidance, however, an enforcement act was adopted in 1935, and this law has finally been upheld by the Supreme Court. The island government, with Ickes' aid, is now moving to enforce it.

This could turn Puerto Rico upside down. Upward of 600,000 acres of land in huge sugar plantations could be broken up. One suggestion is to parcel such land out in small tracts for family-sized farming. This, of course, would shift the island away from its present one-crop dependence on sugar and would constitute about the biggest experiment in land-use planning the government has ever undertaken.

Tugwell's committee, which includes Ben Cohen, is made up chiefly of experts from the Agriculture and Interior Departments. It is now beginning to make preliminary surveys, and will go to the island late in February, probably for a two-month stay, to figure out the speed of enforcement of the law. Proceed, what industry would be paid the displacement of the size of the farm to that should be established so on.

MORE WORRIES
CONGRESS is already beginning to worry about what contractors when the program is completed and the enormous building in government spending means of an in There is now pending conference House and Senate legislative produced by Congressmen in the building and Senator Wagner a prospective up a "post-emergency" advisory commission to study the problem.

This commission would be made up of three senators, two United States congressmen, and six representatives of the general public. It would be to "study the problems likely to confront the war department upon the termination of the present defense program and to draft a complete plan for the full utilization of the nation's productive capacity after."

That's a huge mouthful, you stop to think about it, you're likely to hear a rumormore about this bill before Congress adjourns.

TIN SMELTER WAITS ON RFC
DEFLECTION OF tin smelter to handle 45,000 tons of Bolivia awaits only a report from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. A report on project went to the RFC Defense Commission several months ago, recommending building out 18,000 tons of tin annually and designed so it could be expanded substantially in case of need. A private plant built with government money is recommended—four possible sites have been recommended—but until the RFC reports nobody will know the sites are.

Large Estate Divided Among Many Heirs

A proceedings of unusual interest was had in the probate court of Eastland county last week when the independent executors under the will, J. A. and A. S. Brown, sons of the testator and both legatees under the provisions of the will of their mother, offered the document for probate as the last will and testament of Mrs. N. A. Brown, deceased.

Mrs. Brown, a former resident of the Desdemona community, died at her home there January 4, and in her will disposed of an estate appraised by the executors at $149,060, the major portion of which consists of cash, real estate, government bonds and other negotiable securities.

The real estate consists of farm lands, town and city properties in several Texas cities.

The beneficiaries are her children and the children of a deceased son. To each of the children the will provides that the estate shall be equally divided, share and share alike, with one heir's portion to be divided equally between the two children of the deceased son, whose care and custody shall be under the administration of the executors, who are not required to make a bond.

The following recites that the estate shall be divided equally among the following: Alva Rebecca Brown, Archibald Summers Brown, Audie Atlas Brown, Little Alvin Brown, Graden Artie Brown, Anna Terrell, James Ambus Brown, Robert Angelo Brown, Artie Cogburn and the two children of David Arbasas Brown, deceased. The grandchildren inheriting the portion of the deceased father.

Inheritance Tax While this estate is rather large, compared to the value of the general run of values of other estates passing through the probate court, the inheritance tax will be rather small, owing to the many heirs to whom it will be divided, as $10,000 of inheritances are exempt, leaving only a small sum subject to taxation, as the grandchildren's interest will pay no inheritance tax, it was explained.

However, an inheritance tax will be levied on the estate of J. F. Eberhart, deceased, whose only beneficiary is his brother, J. B. Eberhart, who must pay an inheritance tax of $891.02 to the state. W. S. Adamson, county judge, has fixed, which is approved by George H. Sheppard, state comptroller.

Education Class Is Open to Adults

A school in general education, free to adults, is being held at the county road commissioner's office, 1800 D avenue, each evening at
