Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Those disciples of American isolation, who argue fully that America has nothing to fear in the way of invasion from abroad, and that this nation should let England and Germany fight the war to a finish, no matter who wins, might take a sober second thought on what is happening in Mexico and Central and South America. During the first World War, it is well known, Germany tried on extensive propaganda activities in Mexico. These activities were designed to embarrass and hinder the United States in its defense program and to pave the way for German economic penetration in the event of German victory. Today, propaganda of the same sort being directed on a much larger scale. Germany, Italy, Russia and Japan are argued where only Germany did before. The espionage and propaganda organizations of all four are linked in sinister combine to undermine the Mexican and Latin American confidence in the United States, create suspicion and distrust and compel diversions of American military powers at a critical time.

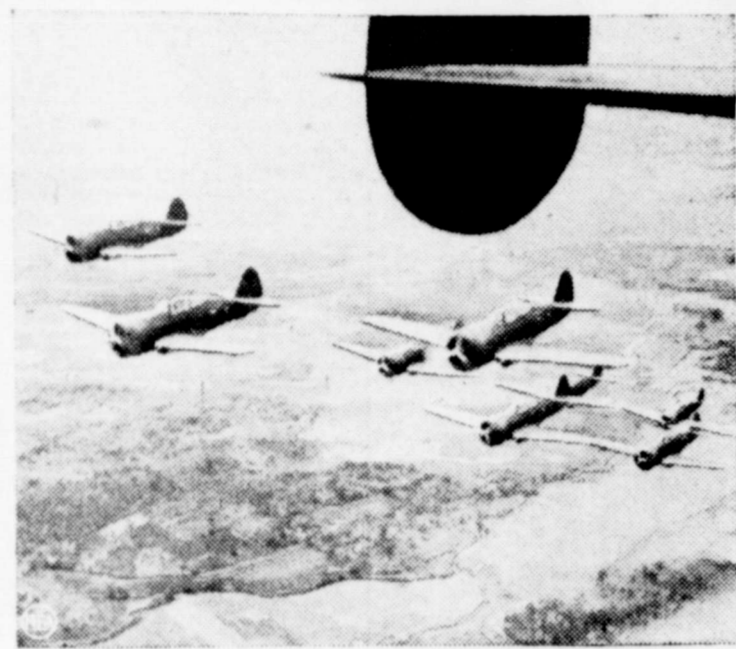

The nazis and their allies are a long-range purpose in this activity, also. They look to the time when their powers shall defeat England and dominate the old world. The propaganda which they are carrying on aimed at preparing South Central America for European economic, if not actual, political control. Through and misrepresentations are endeavoring to poison the minds of the nations of us against the Yanks, picturing this nation as a grabbing, war-monger, people who promoted every excuse for war to seize territories.

If there is any doubt of Hitler's intentions in the world struggle which is actually broadening its scope, these sinister activities are a shouting reproach of such complacency. In the light of these activities, what do you think would occur if Germany should defeat England? It should not be difficult to estimate. A little thought will lead to the first phase of the propaganda war would be over, a new and more violent phase of anti-American activities, supplemented by the military powers and managed economies of dictator nations, would be open with a political economic "blitzkrieg" designed to isolate the United States entirely from the rest of this hemisphere.

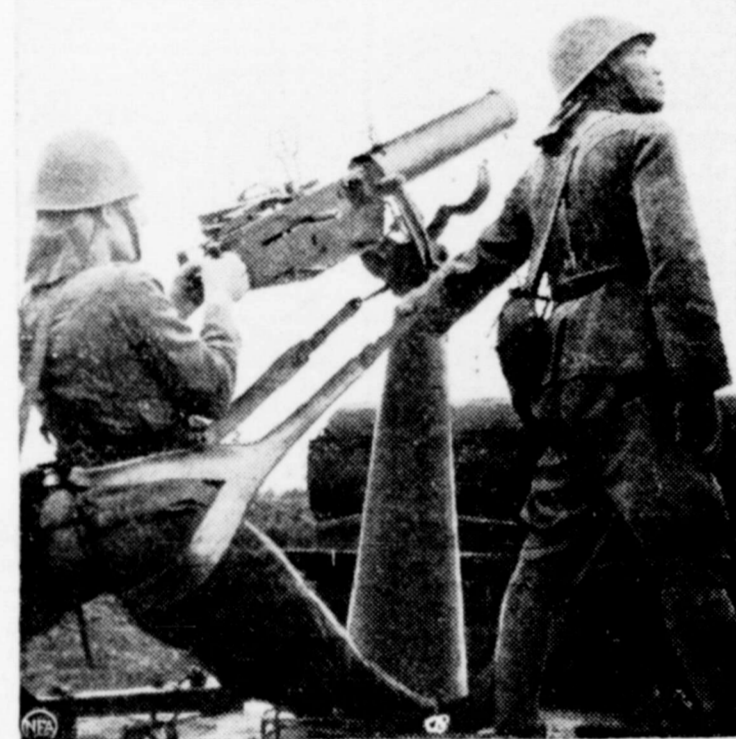

We should be isolated indeed, but not of our own doing. It is difficult to receive of American security under such a condition. As difficult to conceive of American acquiescence to such a program. No doubt we could fight, but at what odds.

GREEKS TAKE COURAGE FROM PACT CLAUSE

Believe Turks Still May Fight if Border Crossed

(By Associated Press) Turkey and Bulgaria signed a non-aggression statement—a "modest document"—in Ankara yesterday which some informants interpreted as tacit proof Turkey would remain aloof from any German thrust against Greece so long as it did not tap Turkish borders. However, the bi-lateral statement clearly said that existing obligations with other countries were not altered. Greek sources said that stipulation was "encouraging" to Greece.

The only commitment in the issued statement was that Turkey and Bulgaria abstain from aggression, but axis sources took the pact to mean that Turkey—despite her non-belligerent status as an ally of Britain—would remain within her own frontiers and not aid Greece. Thus Greece might be forced to sue Italy for peace or suffer a possible German move against her.

British sources said this reaffirmation of friendship was just that, and that Turkey retained her freedom of action should the German army roll into Bulgaria. Turkish foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu himself called the pact a "modest document" which "perhaps can prevent complications in the Balkans."

The Sofia informants who said Greece was in danger of being left out on a limb because of the accord, reasoned thus: Turkey did not aid Greece when she was attacked by Italy, hence there was no reason to suppose the Turks would do so should Germany move against that country—especially in consideration of the fact that few believe either Yugoslavia or Bulgaria will defy German demands.

Germany throughout the war has striven to avoid opening up two war fronts, Turkey still is the big military riddle in the Balkans.

It was believed by a reliable informant in Sofia that soviet Russia has put pressure on Turkey in favor of German aims in southeastern Europe. Some believe she sought a promise of Turkish neutrality in return for a nazi promise to let Turkey alone.

Thus it is possible that only the weather and time for final polishing of axis plans hold German troops from shoving in from occupied Rumania to the strategic vistas of the Eastern Mediterranean where more closely based German planes could smash at the Suez canal, Britain's sea power and her Mediterranean fleet.

George Washington, Young Soldier, An Inspiration for Our New Army

The new soldier of today doesn't look much like George Washington did, but he has the same goal: the independence and defense of his homeland. The painting of Washington, by Charles Wilson Peale, was made sometime before the Revolution.

By NEA Service

JUST as many American boys are leaving home for the army these days, George Washington departed the big estate on the Potomac when he was 21 and turned to the service of his country.

His first commission was that of a major, but a major's rank didn't carry the weight it does now. His first assignment by Governor Dinwiddie was to go from Virginia into the Ohio valley to warn the French against encroaching on British land. The journey took nearly three months. On the way home, an Indian shot at Washington point-blank at 15 paces, but missed. Later the young soldier was dumped into the ice-filled Allegheny, saved himself only by clutching at one of the logs of his raft. Governor Dinwiddie made him a lieutenant-colonel, sent him into Pennsylvania as one of the leaders of a small command. Washington successfully attacked the French at Fort Duquesne, but was forced to surrender when the entire French force stormed his little fortress. That was his only capitulation. He was hailed when he returned to Virginia, and Governor Dinwiddie made him a colonel. But if titles were free in those days, money wasn't and Washington resigned. Later he returned to arms under General Braddock and was by his side when the Virginians were ambushed and bloodily defeated. In that battle two horses were shot from under young Washington, and his clothes were cut by four bullets, but he was not injured. Washington once wrote his brother: "I have heard the bullets whistle; and believe me, there is something charming in the sound."

This was a partition suit for the division of a tract of real estate, and by order of the court the land was ordered sold, the proceeds to be distributed among the heirs-at-law, as the physical property could not be equally partitioned, and there was a lack of unanimity among the heirs as to its disposition.

W. N. Compton, one of the heirs-at-law, was the purchaser, and the net proceeds, less court costs, was $491.40, which was being distributed Monday by the district clerk after an order of the court authorizing that office to prorate the funds among 22 beneficiaries. Those participating were:

Meanwhile, Democracy Functions

SOME people have their eyes so firmly fixed on some doom they see far ahead waiting for democracy, that they overlook the fact it's functioning right here and now.

When the draft act was passed last year, it was thoroughly debated for months. Every argument for it and against it was given full play time and again. Then, after the most complete kind of discussion, public and private, official and unofficial, the duly elected representatives of the people passed it by a broad margin.

If the passage of that act, revolutionary departure as it was from traditional American principles, did not represent the will of the American people, in what possible way could that will have been better expressed?

SIMILARLY, the lend-lease bill. Since the draft act of last year, there has been a congressional election. A good share of the senators and representatives now on the floor have been to their constituencies for acceptance or rejection. New members were elected by people who had one eye on European developments and the ways in which they might affect the United States. Now comes the lend-lease bill.

No one can say both sides of this proposed legislation have not had every conceivable opportunity to present their cases. A continual parade of witnesses, for and against, qualified and unqualified, expert and inexpert, statistical and emotional, has passed through the committee rooms of both house and senate. Debate on the floors of both chambers has been exhaustive. Every conceivable scrap of information, every imaginable point of view, have been spread publicly before the legislators and the country.

The president, apparently feeling the criticism that followed last year's destroyer transfer, for which he did not go to congress for authority, appears to have made an especial point of keeping out of this pending legislation. Amendments have been proposed, argued, and some have been accepted. The people, through letters to congress and the newspapers, have had their direct say, aside from the official debate.

SOON the lease-lease bill will pass, or it will not pass. Whichever is the result, it is hard indeed to see how democratic process could have had more deference, how any possible means has been overlooked to make certain that the decision is the deliberate decision of the majority of the American people.

So, while we moan gently to ourselves about the fate of democracy in the future, let's not overlook this pretty convincing demonstration of its vitality that is going on every day before our too often unseeing eyes.

Bell Faces Task of Replacing 13 SMU Lettermen

DALLAS, Feb. 18 (Spc).—"The Great Search" gets under way this week at the Hilltop when Coach Matty Bell and staff begin the job of rebuilding the Southern Methodist university football squad for the 1941 race. Southwest conference rules allow the mentors exactly 30 days to experiment with the huskies in preparation for the fall fighting.

Coach Bell will be favored with the problem of replacing 13 lettermen from the 1940 co-championship team. A signal-caller will be the first question at hand as every veteran play-picker from last season will be gone. In fact, most of the headaches will probably come from worrying about the backfield because the Pony line prospects are fairly bright.

Contact work will start as early as possible. The squad will be divided into four groups, the four state inheritance, estate, legacy, or succession taxes are not deductible. The federal taxes on automobiles, gasoline, cigarettes, and liquor are imposed upon the manufacturer, or importer, and are not deductible by the purchaser or consumer. Whether or not the gasoline tax, the use tax, or the sales tax levied by a state may be deducted by the individual purchaser depends upon the terms of the state law imposing the tax; consequently, the right to the deduction, as between purchaser and seller, varies in the different states.

teams playing a regular schedule of games under the same system which proved so successful last spring. Considerable shifting of players to new positions is to be tried in the spring work in an effort to plant some of the holes left by graduation of star players.

Lettermen Ends Gus Tunnell, Roland Goss, E. L. Keeton, Kelly Simpson and Bob Maddox will be ably assisted by Joe Bailey Scott, O. G. Gainer, Dick Smith and Glenn Jones, Joe Pasqua, Lynn Bostick, and Clarence Booth are lettermen tackling returning with help being offered by Mack Swafford, Bernie Smith, Rodger Hicks, Grady St. Clair. Guard Jake Fawcett may be shifted to tackle.

Preston "Presto" Johnson, two years all-conference back, and Blocking Back Horace Young are the leading returning backs. Abel Gonzales, Cliff Hagerman, Rusty Baccus, Red Maley, Douglas Cox, Wayne Campbell, Ed Meador, David Gay, Hardy Miller, Dick Miller, Bill Thomas, J. T. Moore, Lendon Davis, Clarence McMinn, Jack Montrief, Maurice Tinsley, Bill Reese, Pete Palmer, and Wylie Pannel are other leading contenders.

250-Target Rifle Range Is Built at Camp Wolters

CAMP WOLTERS, Mineral Wells, Feb. 18 (Spc).—Although the construction tempo at Camp Wolters has reached its peak and is now on the "down-hill" grade, workers began clearing land Wednesday for the construction of a 250-target rifle range which will rival the best in the nation, according to officials.

As the labor population decreases because of the near completion of the camp, small groups of soldiers continue to arrive daily to keep the number of Camp Wolters citizens on an even "keel."

In the areas which are still under construction the heavy machinery continues to harmonize with the sound of hammers and saws while the "olive drab" army transport trucks which are being shipped in by the train-load daily keep up the mechanized activity in the near completed areas.

The largest contingent of soldiers to arrive at one time is expected over the week-end along with the small groups that have been arriving from time to time since the first of the month. The soldier population of the camp will reach a mark of approximately 2,200.

Officials in charge of the construction of the rifle range state that the local layout would be 250 targets larger than the Camp Perry, Ohio plant and would be considered among the largest of its kind in this section.

The removal and grading work will be completed by the end of the month.

NAME-CALLING CLOGS LEASE-LEND BILL DEBATE BUT SLOGANS DON'T WIN ARGUMENTS—OR WARS

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The more complicated any issue becomes, the greater is the tendency to oversimplify it by trick words, catch phrases and catch-as-catch-can arguments on and off the floor.

It will be further evident as the House debate concludes, as the Senate hearings drag on, and as the issue plods its slow and tortuous way to a decision even now fairly obvious.

Ham Fish, opening arguments against the lease-lease bill on the three-day debate on the floor of the House, damns the whole business by calling it the "Dictator-War-Bankruptcy Bill." Sol Bloom, answering for the administration, recognizes the effectiveness of this type of logic by marshaling arguments to refute the charge that the bill "empowers the President to give away the Navy."

The mere names and nicknames given the bill are further evidences of the attempt to oversimplify. The "lease-lease" tag-line by which the bill is most frequently identified is, if anything, too neat a summary. The bill's number in the legislative hopper, H. R. 1776, is seized upon to label the fight as another battle of 1776 to safeguard most sacred liberties.

On top of these, however, is a whole glossary of bromides and clichés which creep into professional legislative or amateur back fence and street corner arguments carried on in an effort to settle this most important problem of foreign policy since the disarmament conference of 20 years ago.

TOO, TOO CLEVER, CLEVER
BITTER enmity, name calling and internal dissension we cannot afford are stirred up by Senator Wheeler's designation of Roosevelt's policy as a "plan to plow under every fourth American boy."

Yet it is no more misleading than to have that policy summed up by its proponents as a plan to make America "the arsenal of democracy."

Behind such riffs as "an unlimited budget for arms" and "Billions for defense—not millions!" the national debt limit raised to 65 billions of dollars.

Complex problems of economy, of capital and labor, of attempts to solve with a struggle a tag-line of "Conscript Wealth, Well as Men!" or "We Must Fight the War in the Factory as Well as in the Field."

We must have an "All-Out" defense program. We must "Do 18 Months What Hitler Did in 12 Months." And we must not let "Business as Usual" crowd into the arena. Anyone who does is an "Ape."

All this is brought up here to point out that in times like this the phrase-maker is a snake in the grass, and the good citizen who is hypnotized by him is a sucker.

Members of the administration who lauded his pre-departure stand on aid to Britain are prepared to give him a big hand. Republicans who have been damning him ever since he loved him more.

Wheeler is reported totally uninterested in who becomes G. O. P. national chairman when Congressman Joe Martin resigns on March 24. He is too much preoccupied with free-swinging Hoosier to be hitched to any set program, party dogma, or program.

Whatever his way, he will go alone, the darling of the newspaper photographers and the ache of the politicians.

Your Federal Income Tax

Deduction for Taxes

In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed.

Taxes on real estate and personal property paid during the year 1940 are deductible. So-called local taxes which are assessed against local benefits, such as streets, sidewalk, drainage, and other like improvement, are not deductible, but are to be capitalized, as they tend to increase the value of the property and thus constitute cost of a permanent investment. The federal income tax may not be deducted. The tax on unmet enrichment—a federal tax on income—is not deductible. Income tax, however, paid to the state by an individual on his income is an allowable deduction in his federal income tax return.

Customs duties paid by a person on articles imported for his own use are deductible. Import or tariff duties paid to customs officers, excise, and stamp taxes paid to internal revenue collectors are deductible as taxes, provided they are not added to and made a part of the expenses of the business or the cost of the articles of merchandise with respect to which they are paid, in which case they cannot be deducted separately as a tax. The federal tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof paid for admission to any place is deductible, provided an account has been kept by the taxpayer of the amount paid. Taxes on club dues are deductible by the member paying them. An individual may deduct the tax on his telephone conversations, radio messages, telegrams, and cables, and on the cost of his safety deposit box.

Unemployment compensation contributions required under a state law, if officially classified as taxes, are deductible as taxes and not as business expenses.

The excise tax imposed upon employers by the social security act, as amended, are deductible, but the tax imposed on employees by that act is not deductible. If an employer pays such tax for the employee, the amount may be deducted by the employer as a business expense, and the employee is required to report as additional income in their federal income tax returns the amounts of the tax paid for them.

License fees exacted by a state or city upon certain businesses are deductible as taxes. Automobile license fees are ordinary taxes and are deductible. Postage is not a tax and is not deductible.

SERIAL STORY DRAFTED FOR LOVE BY RUTH AYERS

YESTERDAY: April is falling in love with her sister's sweet- heart, and he thinks she is Ann. After that one kiss, April decides to explain the hoax, admit her love. She begins, but Kent interrupts. He sees her as a different Ann. She's quiet being second to sister April. And Kent blames April.

THE LIE THAT WAS TRUE CHAPTER VIII THE hills were so close and blue; the sky, unchanged; the smell of the wood fire still lingered. But to all this, April Burnett was oblivious. It's like that when you parachute from rose-colored clouds and land feet first on hard brown earth. At first, she was too stunned to be angry. It seemed, in fact, as if she was sitting beside a stranger who was telling her something about another stranger. Kent, now that he had started, was plunging ahead. He loved Ann, her sister; he had a deep desire to protect her, and yet, as April could tell from the way he talked, he wanted Ann to be sure of herself. "Oh, April may turn out all right someday," he said with a grudging attempt to be fair. April nodded, found herself mumbling something silly that sounded like, "Sure—yes, I think so."

STORIES IN STAMPS

U. S. Constitution Set Prized by Collectors ALTHOUGH it has been three years since philately honored the Sesquicentennial of the U. S. Constitution, the set of 18 stamps issued by nations of the world still attracts attention. Dealers report collectors are still looking for certain issues to complete their groups.

Eire's contribution is pictured above. This simple design combined a portrait of Washington, Ireland's harp and the American eagle in an effective stamp.

United States pictured the signing of the Constitution on a 3-cent commemorative. President Franklin D. Roosevelt was pictured on Turkey's issue.

Poland's stamp, picturing Washington, Paine, Kosciusko and the Statue of Liberty gains importance now that Poland no longer exists as a nation.

Other nations honoring U. S. democracy included Brazil, Salvador, Panama, China, Dominican Republic, Loyalist Spain, Honduras, Haiti, Guatemala, France, Ecuador and Nicaragua.

Beta Upsilon Chapter Has Fifth Birthday

Beta Upsilon chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honor society for women educators, celebrated the fifth birthday of its organization in Cisco with an initiation and formal dinner Saturday evening at the Laguna hotel.

The initiation ceremonies were performed in the parlors of the hotel at 6:30 with Mrs. O. L. Stamey, chapter president, with her officers and Mrs. James Moore, initiation chairman, conducting Mrs. L. C. Cash of Pioneer as made an active member.

From there the 27 members and their guests went to the roof garden of the hotel for dinner. The banquet hall was attractive with long white tables, festive in the red and gold Delta Kappa Gamma colors, large brass bowls filled with red roses and lighted by tall red tapers in brass holders.

The invocation was sung by Misses Ella Andros and Billie Bishop and Mrs. R. N. Cluck. Miss Marion Chambliss acted as toastmistress, and others seated at the head table were Mrs. Stamey, president; Mrs. C. H. Fee, honorary member; and Misses James Moore and Lucretia Irbly, past presidents.

Included on the program committee were Misses Billie Bishop, Marion Chambliss, Elizabeth Daniel and Vernelle Stinson.

The theme of the program had been taken from the following quotation from the year book: "If thou of Fortune be bereft, And in thy state there be but left Two leaves, sell one, and with the dole, Buy Hyacinths to feed thy soul." Patterned After Troy

The program was fittingly divided into two "leaves." The first leaf was the menu, or dinner, and the second leaf was the program, entitled "Hyacinths and Hobby Horses." In keeping with this theme, place cards in shape of small horses with gold trappings, holding in their mouths red cards bearing the Greek insignia of the fraternity in gold, and bearing in their sides tiny copies of the program, were laid at each plate.

Music throughout the program was played on the violins by Misses Gloria Graham and Rose Ann Woods, accompanied at the piano by Miss Betty Slicker, violin selections by Little Miss Mona Lee Cluck, accompanied by Mrs. R. N. Cluck, and vocal numbers by Mrs. Cluck, accompanied by Miss Daniel.

On small tables along the sides of the room were all sort of collections and hobby suggestions, presented and discussed by Mrs. Alex Spears, Mrs. T. W. Briscoe of Baird, Misses Marie Winston and Daniel.

Miss Daniel's collection had been gathered through many years, and included "odds and ends," some of which were heirlooms.

Miss Marie Winston, whose topic was "Spoonin," brought an intriguing array of spoons, silver, copper and gold, some gifts on different occasions and some gathered on her travels.

Mrs. Briscoe had made a clever collection of snapshots of members of the chapter, from babyhood until now. Her subject was "Snappin' and Scappin'." One special thing observed during her discussion was how some of the teachers had retained the looks and air of their yesterdays.

Mrs. Spears had brought several pieces of her rare glass collection, and explained the high points of each and the reason for its value.

And the Bride Wore--Cotton

For her wedding in Memphis Alice Hall chose a bridal gown of sheer cotton. Miniature cotton bolts caught her veil of cotton cloth to her blond hair. Her bouquet was of cotton calla lilies. If this keeps up southern farmers won't worry about war-hit cotton exports. Miss Hall was flying ambassador for the Memphis Cotton Carnival in 1939.
