Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Every once in a while, particularly on gloomy days, one comes into the office and shakes his head over the world process. Each one seems to have a deep-seated conviction that humanity is going backward, that the result of the world war is going to be a morass of interlocking depression in which civilization will be inextricably mired, while standards of living decline and all the things of life that science, social and economic have revealed to us are lost because nobody has the means to pay for them. Debts accumulate, and the vast armament program in this country will simply weigh the country down to such a low level that people will never be able to reach and enjoy the standards of living that they had prior to the war, they declare. They say that there will be a temporary, or false prosperity generated by the defense program, but that after this the country will sink lower than before.

This pessimism has a basis of course. The outlook is very none of us can tell at the end of the struggle. But it might be well to suggest that the condition carefully described is exactly the condition which we are now exerting ourselves to prevent. We are going in to our future in a great struggle to prevent a state of world domination which will impose upon us the very limitation which would reduce us to economic dependency. We are, in other words, fighting to ourselves free in a free world which is not made servant to the interests of one particular race or of people.

We win that struggle, and we must, all that have spent will be well served, even if it amounts to twice or three times the usual debt. If we do not hold logic and the status of the dictators as that which we will have all that we had anyway.

It is difficult to believe that humanity is doomed to depression, that all the progress and invention which has accumulated to enrich and enlighten the world have been so much as to be written a bloody and dark record, but it is at the same time a record of human advance. Humanity has always been greater in its dark ages. It has permitted its own interests, its politics, its curries, its social or economic-religious organizations, to bind it to the past. It has been able to break its barriers, to come out of its slime pits and the rotteness of outmoded institutions. It has paid its debts to the world with the creations of its mind. And it will do so with

RAINY SPELL STRETCHED TO SIXTH DAY

Rain, stretching the current period of overcast skies into the sixth consecutive day, fell constantly this morning adding more moisture to the over-soaked soil and swelling the volumes of lakes and streams in this area. Lake Cisco rose near the 75-foot level during the night and today's fall should lift the big reservoir above that mark by nightfall.

A late February chill, aggravated by mists and skies through which the sun has not broken for almost a week, increased the discomfort of the unusual winter weather. Work to complete the new municipal airport north of Cisco has been held up and prospects for finishing the minor details which are required for approval before March 1 were abandoned. Similarly other projects, including the preparation of the grounds for the annual livestock show, await the return of fair weather. The show is scheduled to open Friday morning.

Ranger Man Buried In Services Today

RANGER, Feb. 25 (SpC)—Funeral services for Mace Austin Oyster, 38, of Ranger, who died Sunday after an illness of two months, were to be conducted from the First Methodist church of Ranger Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, by Rev. R. C. Edwards, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. W. H. Rucker of Strawn. Interment will be in Davidson cemetery, near Thurber.

Oyster was born in Thurber in October, 1902, and had lived in Ranger for the past five years. He was a member of the First Methodist church. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Mae Belle Oyster, on son, Mace Masters Oyster, and one daughter, Martha Jo Oyster, all of Ranger; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Oyster, Strawn; one brother, Jim Oyster, Strawn, and four sisters, Mrs. R. A. Andrews, Wink; Mrs. Delphia Simpson, McCamey; Mrs. R. D. Taylor, Odessa; and Mrs. Cecil Estes, Caddo. Active pall bearers will be Willard Swaney, Lester Crossley, Jack Rawls, V. V. Cooper, Jr., Jack Henlin and J. A. Johnson. Carl Henlin and bearers will be his honor of friends in Ranger and Strawn.

Will of Mrs. Dulin Filed for Probate

The will of the late Mrs. Maggie Dulin, who died in Cisco recently, was filed last week for probate in the county court. She bequeathed an estate valued at approximately $12,000 to her eight children, A son, Albert Dulin, of Crane, is named executor under the will, with authority to distribute the residue of the estate, after payment of debts, including illness and funeral expenses. Those named as the beneficiaries include two Cisco residents. The will specifies that each of her children shall share alike in the estate.

Those named in the will, besides the executor, Albert Dulin, are Mart Dulin, Phoenix, Ariz.; Mrs. H. F. Ferrell, Eastland; Mrs. Buster McGough, Amarillo; Mrs. Will Wood, Abilene; Mrs. John Butler, Phoenix, Ariz.; Mrs. John McKinney, and Mrs. J. P. Parrish, Cisco.

New 88th Term to Open on March 3

The March term of the 88th district court will convene March 3, when a grand jury will be empaneled, and a jury drawn for each of the second, third and fourth weeks of the term. The jury commission selecting the grand and petit juries was composed of Hal H. Hunter, Ranger; S. H. Nance, Cisco, and Harry D. Brogdon, Eastland.

Mrs. Gid Bowers and son, Mark, of Abilene, are visiting Mrs. Bowers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Purvis.

SENATE GROUP OK'S 48,000 LOAD LIMIT

AUSTIN, Feb. 25 (AP)—Bettering a house approved bill by 13,000 pounds, the senate highway and motor transportation committee Monday night voted a favorable report to a measure authorizing gross motor truck and load weight of 48,000 pounds.

The house last week approved a gross weight limit of 35,000 pounds and the senate committee substituted this measure for the proposed scientific senate bill, altering it to fix a top gross of 48,000 pounds. Because the house proposal now becomes a senate bill it must go back to the house for concurrence if the senate passes it. Currently, the load is regulated on a net basis with a 7,000-pound top.

Co-Discoverer of Insulin Is Killed

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (AP)—Sir Frederick Grant Banting, one of the great benefactors of mankind as co-discoverer of insulin, was killed along with two other men in a military plane that crashed in the snowy wastes of Newfoundland last Friday while en route on a secret war mission to Britain it became known last night.

Of the four in the plane only the pilot, Joseph Creighton Mackey of Kansas City, survived.

He traced out in the drifts a terse message telling of the deaths of Sir Frederick and the others, so that searchers who sighted the wreckage from the air knew the extent of the tragedy even before a ski plane could land to rescue Mackey.

The secrecy surrounding the flight was cleared only to the extent by a statement by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King that Sir Frederick "was proceeding to Britain on a mission of high national and scientific importance."

The dead, besides Sir Frederick, were Navigator William Bird of Kildermister, England, and William Snailham of Bedford, Nova Scotia.

The plane was spotted on the shore of Trinity bay at the end of a wide aerial search begun when the military party was lost last Friday.

The Cisco Junior college Wranglers will meet the Clifton Junior college five in a basketball game at the local high school gymnasium tonight at 7:30. It was announced today by Coach Pop Garrett. Admission will be 10 and 15 cents.

ARMS PROGRAM JUMPS NEAR 31 BILLIONS

President Asks Nearly Four Billions for Defense Building

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The United States armaments program has jumped to "close to $31,000,000,000," budget Director Harold D. Smith said after President Roosevelt Monday asked congress to furnish $3,812,311,197 to the war department immediately because of "contingencies which have arisen."

Mr. Roosevelt sent a letter to Speaker Rayburn asking the funds for 17 war department functions, ranging from $142,261,000 for the air corps to $15,000 for the Fort Benning, Ga., infantry school. Of the total, somewhat more than half was for projects which he had outlined earlier, to be carried out in the 1942 fiscal year beginning next July 1, and thus represented no addition to the defense program. Budget Director Smith said, however, that about $1,750,000,000 was an augmentation of the program.

Program Increased Mr. Roosevelt, in his budget message to congress in January, estimated that since June, 1940, defense appropriations, authorizations and requests aggregated $28,480,000,000. Besides today's additions, this $28,480,000,000 program has been increased by some other, smaller amounts in the past few weeks.

Today's recommendations included expansion of military posts and defense installations, among other things, but the president submitted no other details of how the money would be spent, such as location of new posts, or the number of new airplanes the money would provide.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter contained estimates as prepared by Harold D. Smith, budget director, and he said he concurred in Smith's statements, one of which said: "The foregoing 17 supplemental estimates of appropriations and contract authorizations x x x are to provide for contingencies which have arisen since the transmission of the budgets for the fiscal years 1941 and 1942."

The new request brought to a total of $11,585,481,916 the war and navy department requests the president has sent to congress since January 3, but eliminating duplications, the actual total was $9,665,313,149.

At the same time, the president sent another message to congress asking a separate $150,000,000 fund for "facilities to go with new housing units being erected for defense workers."

"The government has already embarked on a defense housing program, but that is not enough," the president said in his message. "We must do more to obtain the most effect from new plants, new houses, and, most important, from new workers."

"There is need, in some areas, for improved streets, and roads to carry the increased traffic, additional water supply and sewage systems to serve the new structures and better health, safety and welfare facilities to benefit the new workers and their families."

Ohio RR Goes On 6-Day Week

BALTIMORE, Ohio, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Baltimore & Ohio railroad announced Monday that, effective March 1, railroad mechanics of the entire system would go on a six-day, forty-eight-hour week.

This change from the present five-day, forty-hour basis will affect between 12,000 and 15,000 men, it was said. They will receive straight time for six days and time and a half for Sundays and holidays.

The workers have been in the five-day week since 1932. They were told that the national defense program had brought about an emergency, calling for resumption of the old schedule.

Mrs. Michael Borislavsky, widow of a 55-year-old former Czarist colonel, looks at the picture of her husband, found mysteriously shot to death in New York. The shooting recalls the death of Walter Krivitsky on February 10, in a Washington hotel. Krivitsky's death was listed as a suicide.

Hitler Promises Nazi Sub Drive

Adolf Hitler told his applauding faithful in Munich's Hofbrau yesterday that a great Nazi submarine offensive against Britain would begin next month and declared Germany and Italy were linked indissolubly even if one encounters "hard luck" along the warpath.

This speech followed Premier Mussolini's acknowledgment Sunday that German planes and armored units now were aiding Italy in Sicily and in Libya where the British wiped out an entire Italian army corps and air squadron.

The Fuehrer in announcing that German planes, ships, and submarines had sunk 215,000 tons of British shipping in the past two days said that was only a taste of what was to come—that new submarines had been built and new crews trained during the winter.

He neither mentioned the long heralded invasion of England nor reiterated a previous forecast that a German victory would be achieved this year.

But in an indication that major land operations also might be imminent he asserted "victory will follow the marching feet of our soldiers."

Earle said he had received one report that the man was dying. He said the best information he had been able to obtain was that the man was a member of the German general staff.

He said one of the officers who had recently filtered from Rumania into Bulgaria in civilian clothes had been shipped by German officials back to Bucharest. Earle added that the German legation had declined to disclose the man's name and was maintaining "strange secrecy."

The official German news agency version of the affair said Earle was responsible for the fight and charged that this was Earle's fourth barroom brawl in the Balkans.

No New War Gas, Professor Says

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 25 (AP)—Dr. Sidney S. Negus, professor of chemistry at the Medical College of Virginia, said Monday night there has been no outstanding new gas developed for warfare since the World war.

"Gas, being silent, invisible and mysterious to the general public, lends itself perfectly to exaggerated claims," he said. "At the close of World War I there were only nine chemicals, other than screening smokes and incendiaries, which

ROTARY CLUB TO CELEBRATE 20TH YEAR

Elaborate Program to Be Presented at Dinner Thursday

The Cisco Rotary club will celebrate its twentieth anniversary Thursday in conjunction with the celebration of the 36th year of the founding of the international service club organization. The usual noon luncheon program will be postponed until Thursday evening, when a dinner will be served at the Laguna hotel, where special guests of the club will be F. W. Campbell, of Abilene, the first president of the Cisco organization, and other charter members now living in or near Cisco.

Wives of club members and guests will be invited to the dinner and an elaborate program is being arranged by a committee consisting of the only two charter members who are still on the club roster. These are E. P. Crawford and Dr. E. L. Graham, both of whom have perfect attendance records which rank among the highest in the entire Rotary organization.

The dinner will be served at 7 o'clock. President Garland Nance announced. Nature of the program has not been disclosed but the general theme will be concerned with Rotary ideals and the history of the great service organization.

Ciscoan Named President of Meridian CofC

M. C. (Chapman) Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williamson of Cisco, has been elected president of the Meridian, Mississippi, chamber of commerce, "Chap" former manager of the Laguna hotel here, is manager of the Lamar hotel at Meridian.

He expressed surprise after the board of directors had elected him. Mr. Williamson is a graduate of the Cisco schools and prior to going to Meridian as manager of the Lamar, held memberships at Cisco and other cities in the National Hotel organization. He entered the National Hotels service at Lubbock, where he was promoted to assistant manager and later moved to Cisco as manager of the Laguna and then to Austin as assistant manager of the Stephen F. Austin hotel. He has distinguished himself as an efficient hotel executive.

Election to the presidency of the Meridian chamber of commerce is viewed as a real tribute to the young Texan.

Grand Jurors Are Drawn for 88th

EASTLAND, Feb. 25 (SpC)—The jury commission appointed by Judge B. W. Patterson of the 88th district court to draw a grand jury for the March term of that court, which will convene on Monday, March 3, selected the following named persons, from which 12 will be selected as grand jurors:

Preparing for Home Defense

THE United States is pretty well committed to the policy that the stronger our defense the better our chance of keeping out of war, and the better the chance of winning it if we should be dragged in.

Thus the various moves to strengthen the home front, the plans for defense of cities and industrial plants are all an element of national strength. Query: Would the British attitude at Munich had had at that time adequate air-raid shelters, or even really adequate plans for their quick construction? It is possible.

It is certainly idle to make vast military, naval, and air preparations, and neglect home defense, which is static and could by no possibility be used offensively.

THIS end of the defense drive is not being entirely neglected. Observe these things:

The war department has long been studying the problem, and has created a technological civil protection committee to create master plans on which local communities can model their defense measures and plans. Several engineering and scientific societies have joined in this and similar work.

Your Federal Income Tax

AUTOMOBILE

With the number of automobile owners registering in the millions, the question of deductions for the cost of operation and maintenance of a motorcar frequently arises. The purchase price of an automobile, whether it is to be used for business or pleasure, cannot be deducted from gross income. If used for business, it is a capital expenditure; if used for pleasure, it is a personal expenditure—both deductions being expressly prohibited by the income-tax law.

Several deductions, however, are allowable in connection with the cost of maintenance and operation of an automobile, used either for business or pleasure. If used exclusively for business, deductions may be taken for the cost of gasoline, oil, repair, garage rent, and other necessary operation and upkeep expenses. Depreciation based on the cost of the car and its estimated useful life, also is deductible.

Other deductible items are as follows: Sums paid during the taxable year for registration fees, personal-property tax, and municipal taxes; interest on money borrowed for the purchase of a motor car, either for business or for pleasure; loss sustained by reason of damage while car is being used for business, provided such loss is not covered by insurance or otherwise; damages paid for injury to another, provided that the car was being used for business at the time, and the damage was not covered by insurance or otherwise; and the amount paid for insurance on motor vehicles used for business purposes.

MAYOR OF BERLIN IN PARIS

of its Civil Defense committee, and Surgeon-General Parran has joined him, along with a whole group of social and health experts, to study these problems on the ground.

The National Academy of Sciences has set up a committee to work to the same end.

The U. S. Conference of Mayors recently urged development of home defense plans, and received reports of Canadian measures.

Milo J. Warner, national commander of the American Legion, and Frank D'Olier, former commander, are both in England studying problems incident to home defense, especially against air attack.

Boston is already training 1000 volunteer firemen, and many alert fire departments are studying plans for this and other measures for fighting bomb-set fires in the London manner.

All these and other activities suggest that every urban community, and especially those with important industrial plants, should begin studying the problem. General master plans will be available soon, and the local community can adopt them to local conditions.

At present, air attack on the United States proper seems far-fetched and fantastic. So it seemed to Norway.

There is nothing alarmist about this kind of preparation. It is simply a means of carrying through all-out defense. Whatever happens, there is no longer any excuse for being caught flat-footed. Especially on such purely defensive measures as are being prepared by means suggested above, we have the right and the duty to serve notice to the world that whatever happens, the United States is ready.

Senate Delays Consideration of Rush Bill

AUSTIN, Feb. 25 (AP)—The senate Monday ordered a delay of five weeks on a matter which Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel classified as an emergency.

Soon after hearing a special message from the governor urging immediate passage, it postponed until April 1 consideration of a bill revising the state auditor and budget preparation system.

The vote of 15 to 12 followed parliamentary maneuvering in which the senate repeatedly refused to adjourn.

Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston, the author, said the action would result in the death of the bill.

Other senators pointed out that the senate could reconsider the postponement at any time, and, moreover, a similar bill had been introduced in the house. It adopted in the house, the bill would move promptly to the senate.

The bill would make the state auditor appointive by the legislature instead of by the governor. It also would empower the governor to appoint an official to prepare the state budget, now a function of the state board of control.

Other legislative developments included: The house, rescinding previous action, killed a resolution creating a general investigating committee for the special purpose of inquiring into complaints of improper conduct in government.

Government Puts Limit On Use of Machine Tools

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The government Monday applied a sweeping system of rationing of aluminum and machine tools, directing that defense needs for those products be filled first.

The order, issued to "speed up" the national defense program, meant that the supply of those important products for civilian use had been drastically reduced for the time being, informed sources said.

The rationing, known as a mandatory priority system, was announced by E. R. Stettinius, Jr., director of priorities in the office for production management. It was the first such industry-wide rationing to be ordered since the start of the national defense program, and OPM officials indicated similar orders would be applied to other industries in the near future.

Nickel, nickel-steel, tungsten and neoprene—a synthetic rubber—were among the commodities mentioned by officials as "probably due for some degree of priority action."

CONGRESS SIGNED A COUPLE BLANK CHECKS . . . HERE'S WHERE FOR SPENT THE $200,000,000

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—As there was considerable hullabaloo raised when President Roosevelt was given emergency funds of 200 million—100 million in direct appropriation and another 100 million in contract authorization—

—it's rather interesting to check up now and see where all that money has gone. At the time, the general idea of blank checks of that size was questioned, but that did not deter the spending thereof, and out of the 200 million there now remain only 37 million unearmarked.

75 MILLIONS FOR NEW BASES
The biggest single dent in the war budget to the new bases in the western hemisphere, Newfoundland, Bermuda and the others which were leased from the British in exchange for the original 50 destroyers. Seventy-five million is the initial expenditure for those projects, 50 million for the naval end and 25 million for the army. And of course, that's only the beginning. Point is, the roll was there to get the ball rolling without any delay, as soon as the swap was announced.

Next biggest hunk, 36 million, goes to the Maritime Commission for 31 shipways on which the new 200 cargo vessels of simplified design will be built. These are the ugly duckling tramps which will haul freight or war supplies without benefit of first cabin passengers and, eventually, if the ships are torpedoed it won't take long to build others.

To build barracks for the new army, the War Department gets 29½ million and in the same category, the navy gets 10 million.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation gets 12 million for storage of critical materials in the War Department a similar amount for aerial navigation facilities, which could mean anything from beacons to bombights.

AND A FEW "SMALL" ITEMS
THOSE are the main big items—10 million or over—and under them is an amazing array of individual appropriations which indicates what a complicated business this preparedness effort is and how many rat holes have to be chinked full of money—2 million here and five million there to take care of some emergency—no one thinking anything further about the allocation except the guys who have to spend it, or fellows who get it in paychecks a mere $25 or $50 a week at a time.

To train army and navy personnel for the American republics, $800,000.

To survey the St. Lawrence $950,000—though how that $9.4 as a defense measure isn't quite clear.

To start the selective service machinery functioning, $750,000.

To strengthen the G-men set up in F. B. I., $400,000, plus another $50,000 for alien naturalization.

To the secret service, to check counterfeiting and provide more treasury guards, a mere $173,000. To reconduct the S. S. America, $400,000.

To build the trans-Isthmian highway in Panama, the State Department gets $3,675,000—though this is probably the first occasion on record where the State Department ever paved a road by anything other than a good intention. Just to license exports of war materials, the State Department had to have $52,000.

And so on. It would take a three-page table to list them all, but if you have to sit up at night figuring up your income tax, you can take consolation from the fact that, just to keep books on the money it takes to run a war the President had to dig down his Uncle Sam's jeans and the these emergency funds give a budget bureau another humungous grand.

YESTERDAY: Kent is bitter, refuses to allow April to explain. She finally declares she tricked him because she felt sorry for him, because Ann was away. She begs him never to tell Ann, and he agrees that the incident is forgotten. As they drive up to the station platform, the car strikes something—someone.

APRIL BEGINS TO PAY CHAPTER XIV

WINKIE APPLEMAN was struggling to his feet in front of April's car.

Winkie was old, had the reputation of being lazy, shiftless and sly.

He had never been in any real trouble but once, when April's father had been district attorney, there'd been some sort of run-in with the court which had resulted in Winkie's being sent to the workhouse for 30 days to "straighten him up."

It was Winkie who had been at the station platform the night when Kent arrived from camp on leave. Winkie, in fact, on whom April had fastened her eyes as someone known and familiar in the first shock of learning Kent was blind.

Now Winkie, shivering in tattered clothes, was pushing off Kent's arm. April started to move, but found her foot had been pinned under Kent's bag when it had toppled from the seat. She felt a knife of pain strike through her ankle and then the numbness settled again, muffling her, deadening her senses.

Winkie clutched the side of the car with a groan.

"April Burnett. I know you! Lawyer Burnett's daughter, ain't you?" His voice burst from groans to shrillness.

"Yes, Winkie. Oh, I'm terribly sorry. Are you hurt?"

"Hurt? We'll see, April Burnett. You and your reckless driving, knocking an old man down. You with your high-stepping ways and no regards for the rights of others."

"Please, Winkie. I'm sorry!"

Winkie doubled and then jerked up again. "Huh, I know you."

JERKING, April's eyes came back to meet the bloodshot ones of Winkie Appleman.

"You'll pay for this," Winkie threatened.

The station was deserted, the waiting room empty. Even the handful of town taxicabs which usually stood at the other end of the platform had rattled off with passengers who'd arrived on the express.

"Yuh," Winkie was hollering. "You'll pay and pay plenty."

Blood spurted on his cheek, his hat was a battered rim of felt in his hand.

April opened the car door. "Hurry, I'll take you to a doctor, to a hospital."

"Think I'd set a foot in that car?"

"But you may be injured, I'm as sorry, Winkie. Please get in."

"If I go to a hospital, it'll be in an ambulance," Winkie's face twisted in a menacing leer. "This is a police case, reckless driving, speeding."

"A police case!" she repeated it hollowly. Nothing more could happen in this nightmare and yet, it could and was.

"Yeah, there'll be an officer along here in a minute, I'll holler for one."

"No, no, please, Winkie!"

Winkie caught his side, flopped to the snowbank dramatically.

Frightened still more, April wailed, "All right, I'll get help. I'll get the officer right away."

THIS time the groan on Winkie Appleman's face was less pronounced. "That will be a fine thing for you," he said. "Your

Harvester Class Has Business And Social Meeting

The Harvester class, a recently-organized group of the First Baptist church, met at the Mabley hotel Monday night with Mrs. H. N. Lyle as hostess.

Mrs. Leon McPherson presided over a business session, during which it was decided to have the combined business and social meeting on each Monday following the last Sunday in a month. Mrs. Myrtle Anderson acted as secretary.

Mrs. C. P. Cole, who was chosen teacher of the class, read a letter of appreciation to the group for selecting her. The remainder of the evening was devoted to amusing readings from different members.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Ina Robinson, G. Pollard, George Boyd, Ora Parker, W. D. Brecheen, Hayes, Leon McPherson, Vida Stephens, Myrtle Anderson, C. P. Cole, T. E. House and the hostess, Mrs. Lyle.

Organization Of PTA Will Be Program

The West Ward Parent-Teacher association will meet at the school Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. It was announced today by the president, Mrs. W. W. Fowell.

The committee in charge of the program, it was pointed out, has arranged an interesting review of the organization, history and principles of the association. Special music will be presented by the West Ward choral club.

Every member was urged to attend.

Officers Are Installed At Ruth Class Meet

Installation ceremonies were held for the recently-elected members of the Ruth class of the First Baptist church Sunday school Monday evening in the Humboldt home of Mrs. J. J. White. Co-hostesses were Meses James Huddleston and Fred Scott.

Red, white and blue had been cleverly used for room decorations and appointments.

Officers installed were: President, Mrs. Paul Culp; first vice, Mrs. James Huddleston; second vice, Mrs. J. J. White; third vice, Mrs. C. C. Webb; fourth vice, Mrs. James Lee; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Clifford Turknett, and reporter, Mrs. Jack Norman.

Mrs. T. E. Lisenbee, past president, was presented with a violet corsage from the group. Mrs. Haywood Cabaness is class teacher.

After a business session, during which it was decided to have a buffet supper in the home of Mrs. R. W. McCauley on March 14, Miss Billye Cole sang a selection. Her piano accompaniment was played by Mrs. Paul Moore.

The co-hostesses served "surprise packages" wrapped in paper carrying out the chosen scheme to Meses, T. E. Lisenbee, Bruce Campbell, Paul Moore, Clifford Turknett, James Lee, Monte Stivers, H. L. Reese, B. B. Hurst, Jack Norman, Fred Scott, Paul Culp, Haywood Cabaness, J. J. White and R. W. McCauley.

Committee Names Nominating Group

The executive committee of the Grammar School Parent-Teacher association met Monday afternoon at the school and appointed the following group to serve as a nominating committee for officers for the coming year: Mrs. J. F. Alsop, Mrs. Roy Morrison and C. J. Turner.

The officers will be nominated at the next regular meeting.

Martha Joe Pass To Become Bride In Sunday Rites

Announcing the approaching marriage of her daughter, Martha Joe, to Dolph Newton Hall of Dallas, Mrs. Bessie Pass entertained with a dinner in her home Monday evening.

The young couple will be married in ceremonies in the study of the first Presbyterian church at noon on Sunday, March 2.

The chosen color scheme was green and white, and was emphasized in floral and other decorations. The dining table was laid with a white cloth. In the center of the table was a ring of fern in the middle of which had been placed a white bag strung with green ribbon. From the bag emerged a tiny white kitten on whose neck had been tied a card bearing the words, "The cat is out of the bag: Dolph and Joe, March 2."

Places for the guests were marked with white cards edged in green, and favors were tiny green shamrock boxes filled with white mints.

The guest list included Meses Martha Joe Pass, Betty Lou Powell, Bettye Logan, Inka Sherman, Nadine Huestis, Mrs. Elton D. Anderson, Jr., and the hostess, Mrs. Pass.

After the wedding the young couple will make their home in Dallas, where Mr. Hall is employed with the North American Airplane company. His family home is in Putnam.

are in organized attack upon the democratic race. What are the prospects before a successful democratic struggle? Looking at it from a practical standpoint, consider what would happen to world economy if the 400,000,000 of Chinese people, subsisting in the great mass upon a few cents worth of rice per day, were to be admitted to the standards of social and economic life that we have in America. What an enormous market for the good things of life there would be created. Consider that of the two billions of people on the earth only a small per cent have anything like the standards that we have, and the possibilities for development become immense, sufficient to challenge all the productive resources and the genius that we have.

That is the outlook, if we are as courageous and able as were our pioneers. It places before us the prospect of an America promoting out of its political and economic genius the raising of standards throughout the world, a process which would make the struggle and expense of the moment a small matter indeed. From that broad viewpoint we can look at this war, not as a means of defense of our narrower interests in the preservation of America and democratic freedom, but as a struggle for the right to bring to China and the millions of other people who do not now enjoy them, the high standards of life and culture which we have found so profitable and good. Succeeding in it, we shall certainly profit.

Kimbrough Is Congratulated as Baylor Choice

ABILENE, Feb. 25 (Sp) — Hardin-Simmons university's campus Monday night extended congratulations to Coach Frank Kimbrough on his election as head football coach at Baylor university, mixed with deep regrets at the end of Handsome Frank's successful six-year regime.

"We congratulate Coach Kimbrough on this distinct honor that has come to him," said Dr. W. R. White, university president.

"At the same time we know our tremendous loss. We consider him the best coach in the South," the Hardin-Simmons head added. "In choosing a successor, Hardin-Simmons will maintain her high athletic traditions."

From G. B. (Gib) Sandefur, graduate manager of athletics, classmate and longtime friend, came the comment "I am most happy for him. Frank is the best in the country. We were boys in Hardin-Simmons together, and I was never more proud of him than now."

J. D. Sandefur, Jr., Breckenridge, chairman of the university's board of trustees, paid tribute to Kimbrough as "the finest coach and Christian gentleman ever."

"I want to be the first to congratulate Baylor and Frank," said Sandefur. "I am proud to see he is connected with one of the strongest athletic conferences in the nation. "I like to see anybody on merit and ability, and especially do I like to see a Hardin-Simmons man make good." Of the future, Sandefur said, "We will seek another coach of the same qualifications, and give it our immediate attention."
