HELP NEEDED FOR JUNIOR COLLEGE BILL

King Lobo and Splendor Crowned

The coronation of King Lobo, Robert Lee Latson, and Queen, Pauline Kent, by Prime Minister O. L. Stamey at the coronation ceremonies at Chesley field at night, marks one of the really outstanding events featuring commencement activities.

The handling of 1,500 actors and students, ranging from tiny tots on the ward schools through the summer, high school and college, a red-letter day in school discipline and stage management.

Cisco schools, children, parents, united to give support to Miss Bernelle Stinson and her able assistants in staging the great pageant, "A Century of Texas in Song."

The behavior of the actors and student body was perfect, and too much emphasis cannot be put upon this cooperation on the part of the student body.

The Cavalcade of Texas, which really was in another name, featuring picturesque frontier and early Texas scenes, depicting customs, dress and vivid activities, was glamorous with beauty of costumes and clearness of action.

The little Blue Bonnets were outstanding actors, contributing to much of the charm of the pageantization of our native prairies.

Scenes from the Confederacy, the minuet, the colored group, the cowboys, the Indians, the ranch, Spanish, pioneers, and just, but by no means least, the world war and patriotic scenes at close, were beautiful and impressive beyond words.

The attendance has been placed at from 2,500 to 3,500 persons, here were about 1,500 actors in the great drama. The schools and directors should be more than satisfied. Outside support was fitting, there being visiting members of royalty from principals of Ranger, Breckenridge, Putnam, Rising Star and other adjoining provinces.

Space forbids mention of all names playing prominent parts in the pageant, but every actor and scene was good. Cisco is to be congratulated for having the vision of really big things and for the talent and willingness on their part to respond. A precedent for outstanding depiction has been set. We will go forward.

Funeral Rites For Mrs. Miller Are Held Monday

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Mrs. Miller, 82, who died after a lingering illness, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Weiser, in the Lutheran community, Sunday afternoon. Rev. Synack conducted the service. Interment was made in the church cemetery at Romney.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Withee, of Kermit, are the parents of a daughter who arrived Tuesday morning at the Graham sanitarium. The young lady, who weighs seven and one-half pounds, is the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. A. Brown, and has been named Emma Gay.

Both the young mother and infant daughter are reported resting well.

Lions Hear Lobo Band In Solo Numbers

Lions Ralph Glenn and N. C. Huston introduced numbers from the Lobo band today at the Lions luncheon, saying that they were numbers that would enter the competition at the national music contests at Waco Friday, May 9, when buses will take the 72 members of the band which rated first in all events at the district contests at Abilene recently.

Lion Jack Anderson took members to task for their non-attendance and lack of cooperation with the president of the club and his programs, and President Jackson thanked all Lions who had rendered service in cooperation with the schools on the coronation event.

Contest numbers played were cornet solo by Paul Ely, accompanied by Allene Ely.

Saxophone solo, Mary Wood, accompanied by Doris Jamison. Brass sextette, Paul Ely, Bettie Mae Davis, J. E. Proctor, Jr., F. E. Sage, Burkett Huestis and James Flourney.

Glenn Dugan, of Abilene was the guest of C. S. Sandler.

A. V. Clark Displays Giant Stalks Of Oats Grown on Nearby Farm

A. V. Clark, local service station owner and member of the city commission, is displaying some very fine oats taken from his farm, located a few miles northeast of Cisco. The oat stalks stand almost four feet tall and show heavy seeding.

Mr. Clark has about 90 acres in oats and barley, which shows splendid prospects for a heavy yield all over the field. "Of course," he said, "the whole crop is not quite as good as the samples shown."

Grass is unusually good in his pasture, Mr. Clark stated, and cattle should remain fat during the summer. Mr. Clark has a number of cows of white face purebred foundation stock. "It costs little more to keep good cattle

Mrs. McQueen, 92, Passes On

Funeral was held here Tuesday, 2 p. m., for Mrs. E. L. McQueen, 92, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. L. Lloyd, 708 East Sixth street, death occurring early Monday morning.

In addition to Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. McQueen is survived by another daughter, Mrs. J. E. Hallmark, of Eastland, and a son, J. C. McQueen, of Trinidad, Colo.

Shallow Driller Finds Sand at 185 Feet

BRECKENRIDGE, May 7.—Reports received today from Morgan Russell that the Russell No. 1 Tipton shallow test in northwest Stephens county, was drilling at 185 feet and had a foot and a half of sand. He said geologists claim shallow pay should be reached from 360 to 370. The well was scheduled as a 700-foot test.

Mrs. Bob Key and daughter, Miss Margaret Key, visited Mrs. Key's mother, Mrs. E. L. Springer, in Brownwood Sunday.

Proration Meeting Called for May 19

AUSTIN, May 7.—The Texas railroad commission has called a statewide oil and gas proration hearing to be held at Austin on Monday, May 19. Nominations of purchasers and other information upon which to base oil and gas production orders for June will be considered at the hearing.

IN RANGER HOSPITAL
Mrs. Della Davison is in the Ranger hospital where her condition is considered serious.

Simpson Kelly, who has spent the past three months in Cisco left today for his home in Napa, California. Mr. Kelly was called to Cisco by the death of his brother, G. B. Kelly.

Strawberries of Eastland County Superior Quality

Strawberries grown in Eastland county are superior in size and formation, and judging by the delicacy for this home-grown delicacy, they must be of superior flavor.

"These berries go like hot cakes," one grocer told your reporter. In fact, he was so enthusiastic that the reporter bought a box for home consumption and found them superior in every respect to those shipped in from Louisiana. The berries were produced by Gus Wende, on his farm just beyond the southern limits of Cisco. They were large, of uniform size, sweeter and better flavored, without the acid taste found in some strawberries.

Several of the Cisco grocers have taken all the berries that Mr. Wende could supply. Owing to our inability to contact him, we failed to learn the size of his berry plot, or the amount of production. However, he has demonstrated that strawberries can be successfully and profitably grown in the Cisco country, and for this produce there is a ready local market.

If you failed to secure a box of the Wende strawberries, you really missed a treat.

Pension Checks For May Likely Stand a $3 Cut
AUSTIN, May 7.—Check-writing machinery at the Old Age Pensions administration Tuesday was grinding out payments for May with a $3 flat cut.

The checks will average $11.45 each, as compared to April payments averaging $14.35, and will go to 133,569 recipients as compared to April's 128,835.

An effort on the part of the legislature and Governor O'Daniel to provide more than $1,000,000 in an emergency appropriation to forestall the cut apparently came too late. The house approved a bill upon which there was little action in the senate.

Revenues from the new $22,000,000 omnibus tax bill are expected to start flowing into the pension fund by next month, with payments expected to go up.

By Sept. 1, the new revenues may permit increasing payments by almost 100 per cent, provided the federal government matches state funds on a basis of the applicant's need.

Pensions officials have stated some 20,000 applications have been reduced to 17,000 and estimates of the total number of those eligible in the state range up to 170,000.

CONG. DIES TO SPEAK HERE ON JUNE 2

R. N. Cluck, Pres. Junior College. Glad to accept your invitation of June 2 commencement speech.

MARTIN DIES.

Congressman Martin Dies of Orange, Texas, will be the speaker for the Cisco Junior college commencement program, to be held here June 2. There are about 20 seniors in the college class.

Congressman Dies has become especially famous through his fifth column publicity activities, and many will want to see and hear this dynamic, husky speaker who has unearched so much German activity, both in Texas and in other states of the union.

Baccalaureate program will be held June 1, but a speaker for that event has not been secured as yet.

High School

The baccalaureate sermon for the high school will be preached by Rev. Judson Prince, May 25. Commencement exercises for the high school will be held May 30, but no speaker has been selected at this time. There are about 85 in the senior class, and about 95 juniors. Other high school activities are the Senior play at the high school auditorium, May 16, with the junior-senior banquet at the Laguna roof garden May 17.

Breck Pastor Given Call for Five Years

BRECKENRIDGE, May 7.—The congregation of the First Christian church here has extended a five-year call to the Rev. Amos Myers, present pastor, which was accepted. Myers was pastor of the Chestnut Avenue Christian church, Fort Worth, prior to coming here, and his three-year call contract would expire in September.

Ideal Cafe Moved To Denslow Hotel

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kimmell have removed their Ideal cafe, in the Hartman building, west side of D avenue in the 400 block, to the Denslow hotel building, opposite their old stand.

The location is in the building formerly occupied as the office of Gordon Davis, he having vacated the same owing to his transfer to Abilene.

The Cisco chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 8 o'clock. Last night was the usual meeting night, but it was postponed until this evening because of the coronation exercises at the ball park.

G. G. Goss Heads Truck Growers But Grows Pecans Which Pay Big Returns

G. G. Goss, president of the Rising Star Truck Growers' association, reports a hail last Sunday that did some damage to pecans, peaches and plums, and completely destroyed about 17 acres of watermelons that he had planted for the market, centering around the Brownwood camp.

The melons have been replanted, he explained, and further stated he was planting about five acres of cantaloupes. Hundreds of acres of truck patches, such as tomatoes, beans, peas, okra, squash, beets and other items too numerous to mention, are being planted by members of the association. Corn and okra will be among the best paying crops, out-

Get Busy and Annex a Fifty Dollar Bill

There is a hundred dollar reward out for "Old Bill."

It's the old electric bill that is "wanted," according to N. C. Huston, local manager of the West Texas Utilities, who announced the reward.

Fifty dollars, he said, will be paid for the oldest bill sent in by any customer of the company on or before June 15, and five dollars each for the next 10 oldest. To be eligible for the reward, he explained, all entries must be dated at least 15 years ago, must be for service in the home, and must be accompanied by a 100-word-or-less letter telling something about the lights and appliances used and the cost at the time the bill was paid.

"All present customers are eligible, except employees," N. C. Huston said. "The old bill may be for service received from the West Texas Utilities or a predecessor in this community."

Purpose of the "reward," he added, is to compare present-day improved service and lower cost with the "good old days" when oil lamps were first being displaced by better light.

NOT THE ENGLISH GUY

DENVER, Colo., May 7.—Winston Churchill, who says he is not at war with anybody, was in jail here on a drunkenness charge.

"Don't get me mixed up with that English guy," he told police. "I come from Kansas."

BILL PASSED BY SENATE; UP TO HOUSE NOW

Citizens Urged to Wire House Members to Support Senate Bill

The bill for support of the state junior colleges of Texas passed the senate Tuesday afternoon and is now ready for house action.

The bill calls for allocating of $56 per student for all approved junior colleges of the state, numbering about 29, of which Cisco junior college is one.

It would mean some $10,000 per year for Cisco junior college, figuring on a basis of 280 students. John Lee Smith of this senatorial district, deserves great credit for sponsoring and fighting for the bill, leading to its passage as a separate bill instead of being tied on as a rider to the general appropriations bill, a fact that would probably have resulted in the death of the bill. He is credited with being responsible for its passage. Ranger junior college is also in Senator Smith's district.

Supt. R. N. Cluck of the Cisco public schools, and president of the Cisco junior college, urges instant action from every citizen of Cisco who has acquaintance with any member of the house of representatives at Abilene at Eastland county.

Wire, if possible, but at least write them, urging their support of the JUNIOR COLLEGE PUBLIC SUPPORT BILL.

Any pressure brought to bear must be done at once.

Of course, Eastland county representatives are strongly supporting the bill, but other representative support is needed at once to secure its final passage.

Mr. Cluck called attention to the fact that the junior colleges are the only public state institutions that are NOT now receiving state support.

Country Club Must Make a Decision

To the Stockholders and Directors of the Cisco Country Club, Cisco, Texas, Gentlemen:

A tentative proposition has been made to the Cisco Country club by a prospective purchaser for the purchase of the clubhouse, and such part of the grounds as may be necessary for the operation of the clubhouse only, for the sum of $4,000.

The amount that is now due on the outstanding bonds is $5,150, with approximately $1,000 interest, and there are other outstanding obligations aggregating approximately $6,000.

The president and the executive committee believe that this should be submitted to the board of directors and stockholders as a whole before the proposition is either accepted or rejected and it is deemed advisable to have a meeting of the entire directorate and stockholders at the earliest possible date.

Therefore, a meeting has been called for Thursday, May 8, at the chamber of commerce, at 7:30 o'clock, p. m., and every director and stockholder is urgently requested to be present.

This is probably the most important matter that has been before the directors and stockholders for several years and it is hoped that a full attendance can be had.

Sincerely,
R. L. PONSLENER, President.

WILL VISIT SONS

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ponsler and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McGowan plan to spend next week-end with their sons, Luther Ponsler and "Mackie" McGowan, who are seniors at A. & M. college, Bryan.

The city government is in full accord with the recommendations of President Harding that plans be worked out for giving employment to the jobless during the winter months. Mayor J. M. Wilkinson said this morning, "However, we are doing about all we can do here to provide all the jobs consistent with the public interest," the mayor said. "We expect to have work resumed at the plant during this month, and this will provide a large number of jobs. Street work and other improvements within the city will also proceed as far as possible. The president's recommendations are good, and so far as we are concerned we will do all we can to relieve whatever unemployment may exist here."

SERIAL STORY

LOVE POWER

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT 1941
NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Carolyn lands safely, after plunging through the storm. Somehow, she shakes off the parachute harness. She sees a road, stumbles toward it. A motorist stops. When she asks if he has heard an explosion, he thinks she is delicious.

BOB LANDS SAFELY

In the village of Blair, Ariz., Carolyn and her rescuer found one light burning. It was in a large house that seemed to be a combined residence and store. An efficient-looking woman in night robe answered immediately when Carolyn ran to the door and knocked.

"Hello! I—Have you a telephone? May I please call for help? If I can just telephone Boulder Dam, I might—"

"Come in, honey!" The woman interrupted Carolyn's frantic talk, appraised her quickly. "Look here, honey, is your name Tyler, and did you drop outen an airplane?"

"Yes! Oh!"

"Well, I'm that glad it's you! They've been already phoning about you. They's men out already on a search. Now ain't this just dandy!"

"Come in, child. You look bedraggled. Ain't you cold? They've already phoned about you from Boulder Dam. I expect it's been on the radio, too."

"Law, I expect they're tearing around every whichaway, for one as young and sweet as you! Now you just phone 'em back right now as quick as you can, and I'll get you something warm and dry!"

The good woman, not one to be overly excited, was plainly excited. Carolyn grabbed her.

"What about Bob? Dr. Hale? Tell me! He must be safe or nobody would know where I—is he? Who called?"

"Honey, set down a minute! He's safe. Him and the man flying with him is safe. It was a was like a boy released from some hideous dream and it took him days to calm down again. For her part, Carolyn was back to normal after a long sleep, a bath, fresh clothing and a hearty meal. "Nothing boring about being your secretary, at any rate," she told Bob, laconically. He was still serious.

"I have raised your pay, Carolyn! As I told you, the Schoenfeld laboratory is abundantly endowed, and, of course, with the X-999 we have absolutely unlimited means at our command, so—"

"So I'm still just a stenographer, and that's that!" she declared flatly. "Please get right down to your work, Bob. The serious work, I mean."

There was much to be done. That first day, while she slept, he had bought a station wagon, and would have carried the boxed X-999 to his mountain retreat alone, but she insisted on joining him.

Together they drove the priceless stuff through the canyons to Blair, thence branched onto the rougher trail that led to the abandoned Copper King mine in Tonto mountain. There they were met by Bob's workmen, who already had erected temporary tents and shacks, reconditioned the narrow gauge ore track into the mine shaft, and brought in provisions.

When the X-999 had at last been deposited nearly three-quarters of a mile inside the mountain itself, Bob showed visible relief.

"Now, for the first time, I can breathe easily," said he. "Now it is safe, and no one's life need be in constant danger. Thank heaven for that!"

She liked that streak in him. That reverence, that feeling of humility and selflessness, despite the fact of his brilliance as a scientist and his fame. It was another reason for loving him.

Loving him? She contemplated that again. Of course she loved him, more profoundly than ever. And with the rush of physical excitement subsiding, she would give full thought to that problem of making him love her.

Meantime, Carolyn knew, Leana Sormi was a lurking, insidious

WAR BRIEFS

By a vote of 110 to 15, the Texas house yesterday asked the federal government to take "all steps necessary" to insure continued production and delivery to the democratic nations menaced by totalitarianism. Rep. James Taylor, author of the resolution, said the word "insure" means convoys to the port of Liverpool, if necessary.

World's Toughest Tank Put Through Paces

Shown here in action is the world's toughest tank being dramatically tested before delivery to the U. S. Army. Called by military experts the "world's deadliest weapon of its kind", with firing power heavier and usefulness greater than the German tanks in Flanders and Greece, this very tank pictured above is the first 28-tonner completed in the U. S., with regulation armor-plate and guns, and ready for front line action. With K. T. Keller (right) President, Chrysler Corporation, which made this first tank in its new $20,000,000 arsenal near Detroit, and Major General Charles M. Wesson, Chief of Ordnance, U. S. Army, looking on, this tank, the first of hundreds to come (1) splashed through a deep stream, (2) fired its six guns, including 75mm. and 37mm. cannons, intermittently, (3) smashed through a house, and (4) at 25 miles per hour, snapped off telephone poles as if they were match sticks.

Hitler-Mussolini Programs Barred

NEW YORK, May 7.—Two of the nation's largest radio networks, NBC and CBS, Tuesday announced that they will no longer broadcast the speeches of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini unless they are of primary historical importance.

Network officials emphasized that there was no question among them to keep off the air, but that it is a matter of using good judgment in judging what people hear.

One-hour Hitler broadcasts, explained, are not enough to occupy Americans, particularly in the current time, particularly in the current time, particularly in the current time.
