About Our Friends

By STEP A. LONG

Our friend, Joe Clark, came into office Thursday, accompanied by a very bright-looking young man, who proved to be Homer or new field scout executive named to Eastland, Erath and Ghens counties, with headquarters at Eastland.

Mr. Tudor has just returned from the National Training School Scout Executives at Mendham, N. J. He is making his first visit to Cisco and the three cities composing his territory. He is assistant to G. N. Quirk, executive of the Comanche district, with headquarters at Woodward. Scout interest will increase here.

Our hats are off to the Rising Star chamber of commerce. They are everlastingly on the job getting something else for their people. It's true they do not get something big in the place, they couldn't handle things very large. They are small and have too few facilities, but they are getting something that will help keep the wolf from the door, figuratively speaking, until something else comes along.

Being on a paved highway that is to the Brownwood army up, they are listening carefully to some hint from headquarters that they may turn to account for themselves, while in the role of givers of service to the camp. First, they have special religious services in their churches, and in the army boys who are religiously inclined and who play instruments or sing, to be with them. Those home-sick, socially-hungry, chaps comply while other neighboring towns of army camps, discussing the boisterousness of soldier boys, Rising Star is tampering and making his talents an asset to their own social calendar.

Next, they use the camp for a market for their truck and fruits, and that may turn out to be a big thing. . . and now they provide a maneuver ground for army. . . Rising Star, we congratulate you.

Pioneer School Holds Banquet Here Tonight

Rev. J. R. Wright, pastor of the St. Christian church of Cisco, will make the principal address to the Pioneer school students who are holding their banquet at the guna roof garden tonight. Plates being laid for about 35 people. Assistant Manager Harris of Laguna said today.

Berry Crop Late in Eastland County

The berry vrop in Eastland county will be somewhat late owing to so much rain and lack of shine. Bushes are literally drenched with young berries, farm-report, but the crop will be at least ten days later than usual.

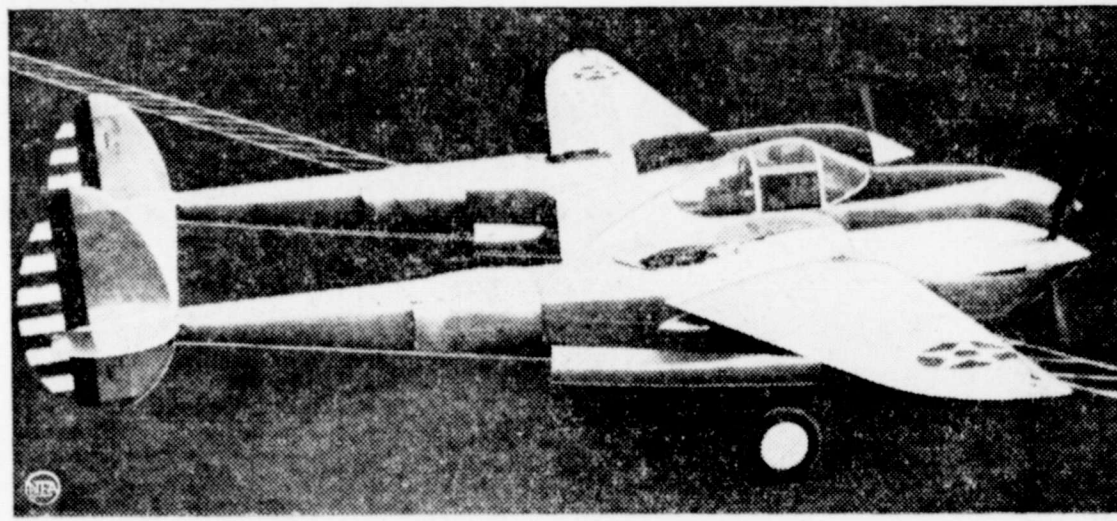

This county is famous for dewberries and blackberries. They don't fail to make a crop and usually bloom too late to be injured by delayed frosts or freezes.

Weather

East Texas—Partly cloudy Friday and Saturday. Gentle to moderate occasionally fresh southeasterly winds on the coast.

West Texas—Continued fair with increasing cloudiness and little change in temperature Friday and Saturday.

Take a Good Look While You Can

The new interceptor plane, the Lockheed P-38, zooms by almost too fast to be seen, appears and gets out of sight before sound of its motors is heard. It climbs straight up at about 300 miles an hour and, with top speed of more than 400 m. p. h., is claimed to be world's fastest plane. So, photographer caught it sitting at Burbank, Calif., so you could see what it looks like.

Final Chapter To Tragedy at Cross Plains

The final chapter in one of the saddest tragedies ever to befall this community was written Tuesday afternoon as friends gathered by the hundreds for the funeral of Miss Kayola Cavanaugh, 32.

Miss Cavanaugh died with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cavanaugh, aged 78 and 75, when they were caught in a flash rise at the Cisco crossing on Pecan bayou the afternoon of April 18. The bodies of the elderly couple were recovered two days later when the automobile was found some 300 yards downstream. Searchers worked valiantly for weeks in a futile attempt to locate the body of Kayola, who was driving the Cavanaugh car at the time of the tragedy. CCC boys, Cross Plains, Brownwood and Coleman fire departments, highway patrolmen and neighbors and friends by the hundreds participated in the search. All efforts were futile, however, until Monday morning of this week about 9 o'clock, when two Burkett youths, Grady Harris and Jack Martin, chanced to discover the body of the young lady some eight miles downstream from where the drownings occurred.

Identification was made possible by the shoes, which still clung to the body.

In tribute to the Cavanaugh family, which has resided in the Cross Plains trade territory for more than 40 years, all local business houses closed for the funeral services Tuesday afternoon, which were conducted from the local Church of Christ. Interment was made in the family plot beside the graves of the parents, who were laid to final slumber two weeks earlier.

Miss Kayola Cavanaugh was born here August 28, 1908, and had resided with her parents at their home, eight miles southwest of town, since. She was, at the time of her death, 32 years, 7 months, and 21 days of age.

Survivors include three brothers, George, Elmer and Alvie Cavanaugh; three sisters, Mrs. Wallace Jones, Mrs. Clint McGee, Mrs. Mabrey, as well as a number of near relatives and a great host of sorrowing friends.

Pall bearers at the funeral and interment services Tuesday afternoon were: Lewis C. Norman, Melvin Placke, Hubert Kelley, Norman Farr, I. B. Loving, Jr., and Roland Howell.—Cross Plains Review.

Miss Mary Sassen Originates Idea of Mother's Day

Mrs. J. V. Heyser hands us a clipping from a Kentucky paper giving a very interesting account of the origin of Mother's day. We print the clipping below:

"The originator of the idea of Mother's day was a Henderson, Ky., woman, Miss Mary Towles Sassen, born and reared in that city on the south bank of the Ohio river. She was born in the '60s. For many years she was a teacher in the public schools of Henderson. Many persons who received their early education under her. All of them recall the observance of a certain day which Miss Sassen designated as being a memorial in honor of all mothers. Special programs of singing and recitations were held by the pupils to celebrate Mother's day as long ago as the early '90s, at that time April 20, the natal day of Miss Sassen's mother, was observed as Mother's day.

Outlined Her Ideas.

"In 1903, Miss Sassen published a pamphlet outlining her ideas as to the desirability of commemorating Mother's day, and this booklet was copyrighted. She travelled extensively and addressed educational societies and other organizations in various parts of the country in her effort to have the observance of Mother's day nationally recognized and adopted.

"In 1909, Miss Sassen became a candidate for superintendent of public instruction of Kentucky, and it was generally discussed over the state that she had first conceived the plan of celebrating Mother's day.

"Many years afterward, in 1907, Miss Annie Jarvis, of Philadelphia, invited a friend to spend the second Sunday in May with her to commemorate the anniversary of her mother's death. She then announced her plan for the national observance of Mother's day, and the following year Philadelphia observed the second Sunday in May as Mother's day.

SAY NOT FAIR TO FAITH OF STOCKHOLDERS

Committee Named to Study Solution of Other Clubs

At a meeting last night of the officers, directors and those vitally interested in the matter of selling the country club—a thought which had received much consideration locally, based on the fact that the club was involved financially. It was unanimously voted to not sell the club or any of its holdings, but rather to make investigations regarding other clubs who had been similarly situated and endeavor to work out some solution to the local problem.

One of the big factors in the discussion was that those present did not deem it fair to the faith of the old stockholders to surrender control of the local organization.

A committee consisting of R. L. Ponder and W. W. Wallace, was appointed and instructed to visit Bryan this week-end to study the plan by which this town, similarly confronted, worked out its financial difficulties.

Those present at the meeting were:

R. L. Ponder, Dr. Charles Hale, W. J. Leach, N. C. Huston, W. J. Foxworth, F. D. Wright, H. H. Monk, Alex Spears, A. D. Anderson, Charles J. Kleiner, W. W. Wallace, C. M. Neville, Connie Davis, J. L. Thornton, E. P. Crawford, and Quincy Lee.

"Ranch Days" at Cisco Junior College Ends

The Press club of Cisco Junior college sponsored "Ranch Days" Thursday and Friday of this week. These "Ranch Days" are to portray the western spirit that is so much a background of Cisco. The students chose to call themselves "The Wranglers" and they took these two days to bring to life the old days of the wranglers.

To carry this idea out, the students dressed in every type, color and condition of western clothes. Bright-colored shirts, sombreros and Stetsons, divided skirts and blue jeans, old and new boots, plus the necessary accessories of studded belts and wrist bands, sacks of Duke's and Bull Durham and the loudest scarfs and pistols—all put together with a big smile, form the proper atmosphere.

Friday afternoon, the Ranch Days came to an end. The last two periods in the afternoon will be given over to contests, such as horse-shoe pitching, cigarette-rolling, yodeling, square dancing and the Virginia reel. The most outstanding contest will be the stick-horse race, with a plaster-of-paris horse as prize. Prizes will be given to the winners of each contest. Members of the Press club will judge the contests.

The typical Wrangler boy and girl will also be elected Friday afternoon. All the students will gather in the auditorium, where each student will have a chance to show off his costume. The girl and boy chosen by the student body will be awarded a replica of a cowboy.

After the contests, the students will have a picnic on the campus. The Press club is planning to make Ranch Days an annual affair.

MOTHER'S DAY

MAY 11th 1941

LET'S TURN BACK THE CLOCK --

Let the surge of memory carry you back ... back to the time when you were small. Oh how many things you can remember ... things your Mother did for you. The happiest of all memories are those of Mother and childhood ... when no trouble was so serious that she couldn't soothe you, when nothing was as much fun as the things she planned and did for you.

These Memories make Mothers Day, May 11, 1941, much more meaningful and significant ... and what fun it can be to remember her on this day ... Surprise her with something nice ... a Gift, a Visit, a Letter, a Phone Call. Whatever you choose to do, remember Mother on Mothers Day ... Show her you haven't forgotten ... show her what she really means to you.

Entrance to the old mine shaft, deep in which the X-999 was so safely stored, was guarded in shifts by three men. These three stayed in an old refurbished shack that had once been the control station for the narrow-gauge railway into the mine.

Because the track lay there on a narrow ledge, no one could approach the actual mine tunnel entrance without being seen from this house.

Leana Somri had free access, hence was not interrupted when she came quietly along there one morning carrying a wrapped parcel. As she had done before, she stopped at the guard shack only to pick up an electric hand lantern. Complete electric lighting had been strung in, but lanterns were carried for emergency use.

She remained in the shaft for more than an hour. Then she returned the lantern. If the guards noticed that she came out without her package, they had no occasion to think that fact important.

Actually, Leana had concealed her improvised radio receiver and generator under small stones a few feet from the box and the leaden insulators where the X-999 rested.

Then she buried insulated wires that ran from the generator directly to the main box, up to the heavy leaden cases. With extreme care, then, she lifted the lid of one leaden case, inserted an ordinary percussion cap such as workmen use constantly to explode dynamite, and left it there connected to her two wires.

It was ticklish business, really, but she experienced no fear; a recent loss of "yes-yes" and certainly Leana Somri worked with calculating precision.

She knew that the whole installation here would not likely be seen for months, even if she did nothing more about it. But her plans called for spectacular action within the next few hours.

"Now," she told herself with calm satisfaction, "I have but to get the stupid girl in here. And that won't be hard!"

SERIAL STORY LOVE POWER

BY OREN ARNOLD

YESTERDAY: Bob Hale's work goes on. A city is built in the shadow of the mountain. Scientists come to aid his research. X-999 is put to work as a power source. Leana is busy, cold to Carolyn, but secretly planning. At last she hits upon an idea that will give her all she wants, an idea that can be put into effect at once.

PREPARATIONS FOR MURDER CHAPTER XXI

The practical, direct mind which had made Leana Somri distinguished as a scientist, was brought into use now in her personal affairs.

She had tried one or two roundabout ways of accomplishing her end. She had tried to make Robert Hale aware of her as a woman, with all implications of companionship and "love" as she knew it.

Next, more desperately, she had tried to corner their priceless supply of X-999 for herself, and with the power it entailed force Robert, and the world in general, to her feet. But in each case a contemptible, little violet-eyed stenographer had wrecked her plans!

Wherefore, Leana calmly plotted to attain her goal in the way that would bring most satisfaction. She didn't formally recognize it as a revenge motive; her plan to do away with Carolyn Tyler was colder, more practical than that. "Revenge" would have sounded melodramatic to Leana. But the Tyler person was in the way, and just as she would have taken pains to eliminate any obstacle in a pursuit of science, Leana would stop at nothing to eliminate Carolyn as an obstacle in her personal pursuit. Neither morals nor sentiment entered into her calculations. She was a woman gone brilliantly mad.

Most potent weapon at hand was the X-999 itself. Leana put down as point No. 1. Only three people had actual access to the X-999, there deep in Tonto mountain. They were Robert Hale, Carolyn and Leana.

Now, out-and-out murder is both messy and dangerous. But if the objectionable Tyler girl were the victim of an accident—

From the store of materials already brought here, and from her unlimited privilege of ordering things, Leana constructed a relatively simple device while working six nights in the privacy of her home. In effect, it was merely a compact radio receiving set, but turned into high sensitivity and strength. Moreover, it was so arranged that small built-in electric generator could get set in motion by it, from considerable distance away. Initial impulse could be radiated from a small transmitter which she built to serve this one particular need. The transmitter was easily portable.

Entrance to the old mine shaft, deep in which the X-999 was so safely stored, was guarded in shifts by three men. These three stayed in an old refurbished shack that had once been the control station for the narrow-gauge railway into the mine. It was near the track, 300 yards or so around the solid granite side of Tonto mountain. Because the track lay there on a narrow ledge, no one could approach the actual mine tunnel entrance without being seen from this house.

Leana Somri had free access, hence was not interrupted when she came quietly along there one morning carrying a wrapped parcel. As she had done before, she stopped at the guard shack only to pick up an electric hand lantern. Complete electric lighting had been strung in, but lanterns were carried for emergency use.

Squirrel Battles Snake and Wins

C. C. Barton of Temple recently came to the rescue of a mother squirrel, but apparently the little nut eater would have triumphed over its enemy even without assistance from man.

Mr. Barton was driving near a creek on a farm he owns eight miles north of Temple when he noticed a large snake twisting and rolling. He got out of his car, picked up a club and started for the snake. Then he noticed that an adult squirrel was battling the reptile, twisting and turning with every move of the snake, which the squirrel had by the head. The nut eater had bitten the snake clear through the head.

Then Mr. Barton noticed a half grown squirrel under the snake. It was injured, but managed to follow its mother to a tree when Mr. Barton approached to kill the reptile. It was unnecessary for him to do so.
