CISCO HOST TO 684 CAMP BARKELEY MEN

CAPT. BROWN PRAISES LAKE CISCO RESORT

Dinner Served to Men and Invited Guests, May Come Again

Cisco had a miniature army camp for a few hours today, when a military unit of Berkeley Field, Abilene, invaded the city by first capturing the outpost of Lake Cisco, and for five hours that resort was under military control of the First battalion of the 189th Field Artillery, under command of Capt. Thomas W. Brown.

The battalion arrived at 11 o'clock this morning, and were to evacuate the Lake Cisco sector this afternoon at 4 o'clock, Captain Brown said.

"This trip was made possible by a lull in training at this time at Camp Berkeley," Captain Brown said, "and more as an outing for the men than the road training to be received."

There are 680 men and 24 officers in the unit here today. We have 12 six-inch guns, 155 mm. guns, firing 96-in. shells, having a firing range of about eight miles, and a firing capacity of one shot every 30 seconds, and the entire battery can be fired simultaneously.

The men deeply appreciate the hospitality given us on this visit, and every man in the command thinks Cisco has a wonderful resort. I would think that Lake Cisco resort should be crowded all summer with the attractions you have for visitors. I am sure many of the Berkeley boys will avail themselves of every opportunity to make a return visit in their leaves of absence. The natural setting appears to have been designed for this ideal resort, and the swimming pool, I am told, is one of the largest artificial swimming pools in the United States. Its waters are ideal, and the depth is just right for bathing, with other conveniences that make the recreation surroundings ideal.

The unit carries its own kitchen equipment, and while here mess was served to the officers and members of the battalion, and to several invited local guests, to whom Captain Brown proved a most hospitable and inspiring host, and most gracious master of ceremonies at the luncheon, where wit and repartee served to whet the already keen appetite of his men and guests.

Cisco extends a cordial greeting to Captain Brown and his men, and assures them that future visits, which we trust will be soon and frequent, will be appreciated.

F. M. Hooks Family in Annual Reunion at Bird's Store

The F. M. Hooks family are in reunion this week at Bird's Store, near Brownwood, being an annual event with the family, as they gather together at this season of the year at this location, where they enjoy mingling together and reminiscing of the days that are gone when the children were small. Fishing will be the principal diversion during the outing.

The family began to meet here Sunday, when some of the children of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hooks arrived and spent the night at the parental home, departing Monday morning for their camp-site, where they were joined by other members. The family attending the reunion this week are parents and heads of the family:

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hooks, Cisco, and the following children: William Hooks and children, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hooks and children, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Price Hooks and son, Doyle Hooks, and J. M. Flournoy, Jr., grandson, Cisco.

EXECUTIVES IN CHARGE OF SCOUT TROOPS

With F. W. Pauling of Stamford, director of activities; Jack Vogel, also of Stamford, field executive of the North division of the Chisholm trail, and W. Postma, of Coleman, business manager of the camp, the advance troops of the Chisholm trail of Boy Scouts, arrived at Lake Cisco Sunday evening for the first of the three weeks camp the Scouts will spend at Lake Cisco.

The Chisholm Trail embraces seven counties, Haskell, Jones, Taylor, Reynolds, Coleman, Callahan and Shackelford. The troops of all of these counties are expected to strike camp here during this and the two succeeding weeks. However only Scouts from Rule, Haskell and Abilene have already arrived and are participating in the activities at Lake Cisco.

The small attendance is probably due to two causes, Executive Pauling stated. The change of campment not being generally known, and many not being aware of the present plans, and the other reason is harvest time, when many of the Scouts are being detained to work in the harvest fields.

"But we are expecting a great influx next week, for by then most of the scouts will have learned."

Lions Club to Cooperate In Flag Program

Joe Lee Moore, chairman of the program committee for the Lions club of Cisco, announces that Dr. I. Q. will be present for the luncheon meeting Wednesday at 12:15 noon, and will have charge of the program. Awards for correct answers will be duly made and members may know in advance that all questions will be of a patriotic nature, dealing largely with matters pertaining to the flag, the constitution and other related topics. This promises to be one of the most unique and interesting programs presented recently. E. L. Jackson will be in charge and will introduce Dr. I. Q.

This program is a forerunner of the national observance of Flag Week, June 8-14. The special committee from the Lions club cooperating in this observance is H. R. (Pop) Garrett, C. M. Nevill and Paul Culp.

CJC PRESENTS FIRST CLASS OF GRADUATES

Congressman Martin Dies held his audience spellbound at Chesley Field last night as he spoke to the Cisco Junior college graduates, and a large audience assembled to hear him, despite the flashes of forked lightning and storm-threat that seemed to be brewing low in the west. A delightful program preceded and followed his address.

Mr. Dies, internationally known for his crusade against fifth columnism and communism in the United States, spoke on Americanism, the dangers that threatened the graduates of Cisco Junior college and others of this generation, and cited figures to show how great was the hold in the United States of these subversive forces. The Dragoon Harmony girls, composed of Cisco and Eastland students, were specially complimented by the speaker.

The congressman had previously spoken at a 6 o'clock dinner given him at the Laguna roof by a group of admiring friends.

LaVerne Dill, with an average of 95 plus, was awarded a scholarship good in any college or university in the southwest.

Other highest honor students were Miss Nelda Berry and Mrs. Davis Fields.

The full program of the graduating exercises follows:

Invocation—Rev. J. R. Wright.
Special Music—Harmony Girls, directed by Miss Wilda Drago.

Presentation of Honor Students—Vice-President H. R. Garrett.

Churches Unite For Out-Doors Summer Service

Representatives and ministers of the First Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian churches met Saturday afternoon to arrange for Union services through the summer months. The meeting was harmonious and enthusiastic.

"For three years these meetings have proved that we get to know one another better and the association has welded the Christian spirit of brotherhood that is so essential to well-developed Christian character, and the spirit of all for one and one for all," was the echo of sentiment expressed.

"We are proud of the ministers of our city and want them to cordially invite ministers of other churches and their congregations to take part in these services," these representatives said.

Texas Company Employees Honor Supt. Jos. Merkt, Who Is Retiring

Sunday, the Texas Company employees of the Parks Camp area gave a picnic honoring their veteran superintendent, Jos. Merkt, who came to this area in 1911, and who lived in Cisco a number of years. Many employees wearing twenty-year service pins have served the time under Mr. Merkt, many young men and women of twenty years of age and over, have heard Mr. Merkt referred to as "boss" by their parents all their lives.

Approximately two hundred persons attended this picnic held in the Community Hall in Parks Camp, near which lies the location of the Texaco No. 1 J. W. Parks, the discovery well of this pool. Fried chicken and all the trimings, pop nad ice cream were served. Following the serving of dinner, T. F. O'Brien, of Cisco, toastmaster, presented on behalf of the district employees, a beautiful and completely outfitted boat to the honoree.

A dance was enjoyed by those feeling the "urge" as a last item of entertainment.

Visitors came from far and near to take part. Mr. Merkt retires at the end of this year with over 30 years of continuous service in the Texaco organization.

These visitors included: Messrs. L. E. Barrows, manager of production, E. R. Filley, assistant, and

W. P. Caldwell Saturday was showing some mammoth beans raised at his home here. The pods were 10 inches long and weighed a few of them would make a hearty meal. The beans were grown from seed brought to Texas several years ago by M. N. Newman, who obtained them in Mississippi. The beans grow in bushes, with five or six of the gigantic pods to the cluster. Mr. Caldwell is saving the seeds to distribute among his friends for planting next year.

When Gov. Dan Moody took the platform to speak at Lake Cisco, he was presented a large basket of beautiful flowers by little Miss Margaret LaVerne Key, diminutive bathing beauty who took part in the revue of Friday night. The governor lifted the little golden-haired Cisco girl to the speaker's table where all might see, and said that he regretted he could not take the flowers with him, since he was traveling by train, and ordered that the flowers be given to the sick. The flowers were given by the Cisco Floral Co., of which J. B. Ely is manager.

EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

Timing's the Thing That Counts When FDR Squares Off in the Ring to Tell the World

BY PETER EDSON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It isn't just in the country at large, outside the District of Columbia, that people are confused, wondering what's coming next, wondering who's leading whom where and what for. The whispering gallery that is Washington is as full of uncertainties as a Molotov breadbasket.

There are unofficial, self-appointed experts at every luncheon and dinner table who know exactly why Hess went to Scotland, five minutes after he landed, who profess to know the exact status of the convoy issue, who say they have the real, inside straight dope on what Stimson meant in his last speech, and who can tell you exactly what kind of little green apples the President ate that gave him his current belly ache. Move over to another cutting symposium, however, and you get an entirely different set of answers. The only conclusion is that lots of people in Washington also don't know what they're talking about, either.

Out of the welter of conversation over the postponement of the President's Pan-American speech, however, has come one interesting idea. The whole problem, didn't want to declare for or against convoys. Two weeks later the situation might be changed so that he could speak out.

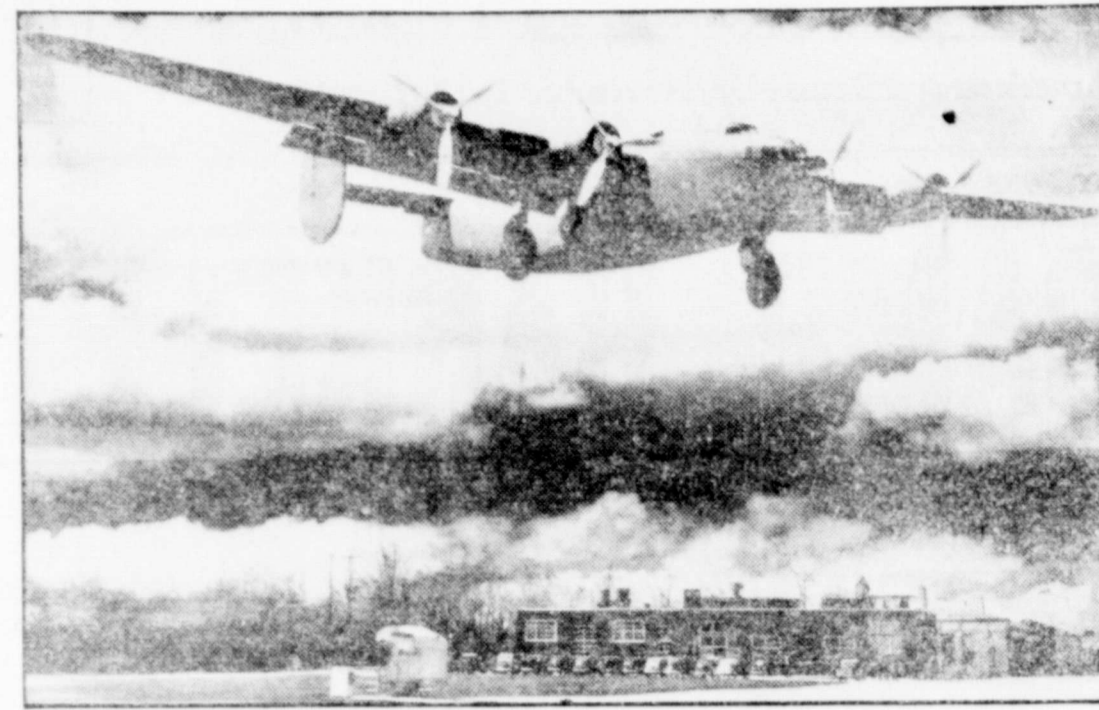

THE question is therefore raised as to what extent the stall has become a matter of policy, or at least to what extent it has become an American diplomatic device, and how effectively it has been wielded by the President. He has built up a reputation as a forthright leader with the chin, but the record tends to show that on those occasions when he has come out of his corner, jaw first on some issue, way ahead of his seconds and public, he has taken a terrific pasting. The Supreme Court reform, NRA, the purge and Yugoslavia come to mind, to name four.

The whole problem resolves itself into this all-important matter of timing. Try to start a fight before the bell rings and you're a punk. Stall a little, particularly if your opponent is stronger than you are, and perhaps he'll show his weakness.

How effective has the stall been as a matter of policy? Plenty of people have been arguing that the President should come right out and tell the country whether or not we are to have convoys. Supporting the President and no, we won't convoy. That would be as good as a major victory for Hitler. Supporting he said yes, we'll convoy, with a majority of the country not yet convinced conveying is the thing to do, with the President himself on record that convoys mean shooting and shooting means war, with even Secretary of War Stimson admitting that we won't be ready for war for a year. In that predicament, is a stall justified or is it not?

The question is posed here not in any defense of dilly-dallying, but merely to present the arguments.

Twenty-Eight Tons of Aerial Might

Here one of the big B-24D four-engine bombers of the type the Ford Motor Company will build for the Army is shown coming in for a landing at the Ford Airport in Dearborn. The B-24D weighs 36,000 pounds gross, can carry four tons of bombs and has a 110-foot wing spread. Its four 1,200-horsepower engines propel the plane at more than 300 miles per hour and has cruising range of 3,000 miles.

employed for a number of years, and will continue to make Cisco their home.

Cisco is to see the start of two non-stop performances at 11 o'clock today. At Lake Cisco, Joe Bradford, roller skater, is to begin an attempt to skate for 50 hours continuously on the skating rink floor. He hopes to far surpass the present record of only 12 hours continuous skating.

At the same time, Bud Reynolds, claimant to the title of world's champion non-stop piano player, will begin a 50-hour concert at the Ozel confectionery. Russell played for 105 hours continuously over radio at Fort Worth recently, exciting attention from the whole country.

County Agent J. C. Patterson and Cisco Agricultural Agent E. H. Varnell spent Tuesday morning measuring farms in this section which have been entered in the Dallas News "More Cotton on Fewer Acres" contest. There are 16 entrants in the contest in Eastland county, and five of them come from a few miles of Cisco. The farms measured Tuesday were those of A. Birt and D. L. Donaway at Dutton and O. P. Weiser, John Thurman and Gus Wendt at Pleasant Hill.

Miss Letha Robertson of Clyde won the Lake Cisco Bathing Girl revue first place Friday night as a climax to the celebration dedicating the Lake Cisco project. An winner of first place, she will be "Miss West Texas" at a revue to be held in Fort Worth August 21, to select a Texas representative to the Atlantic City bathing revue where "Miss America" will be selected. Miss Eulalia Gavitt, representing Brody, won second place, and Miss Genevieve Lyon of Eastland, representing Kleinman's department store, won third place. All won silver loving cups and will participate in the Fort Worth revue. Judges for the event were Col. R. L. Penick of Stamford; William J. Tucker, state game, fish and oyster commissioner; and J. W. Evans, representative of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad.

Cisco has a new physician and surgeon, who has located here. He is Dr. M. C. Carlisle, who comes from the Scott & White sanitarium at Temple, Texas, to become associated with Dr. W. P. Lee in the practice of medicine here. Dr. Lee has been practicing alone since the recent departure of his former partner, Dr. K. J. Scott, for the Rio Grande valley.

Invitations are now out to members of the Country club, inviting them to attend the open house in the afternoon and reception in the evening of Tuesday, July 19. The club house has just been completed and enlarged under the direction of President W. W. Wallace, and is now one of the most handsome clubhouse structures in this part of the state. Members will have the first opportunity of seeing the clubhouse in its finished state on Tuesday, and admittance will be by card.

Mr. and Mrs. Gomer Williams have received an interesting card from Rev. B. C. Boney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who is now on tour of the Holy Land. The card, written from Baalbek, Syria, says: "This is one trip I shall never forget. Outstanding in it are London, Paris, Lyons, Marseilles, Naples, Athens, Constantinople, Smyrna, the Isle of Cyprus, Beirut and Baalbek, or ancient Heliopolis, where we now are. And still there is Damascus, the Holy Land and Egypt before I return home. Kind regards to all."

Abilene Airport Has First Crash In 12-Year Era

ABILENE June 3.—Three WPA workers were injured fatally at the Abilene Municipal Airport Monday when a BT-14 training plane from Randolph Field struck their old automobile, parked on a runway.

The dead were George E. Kniffen, Charles E. Belvin and Albert H. Walker, all employed on a WPA airport improvements project.

Lieut. A. J. Richards of Randolph Field, pilot, was slightly hurt when the plane nosed over. His passenger, Lieut. W. M. Hendrix, was uninjured.

The accident occurred during a light rain when the plane landed on a routine cross-country flight. Witnesses said the pilot apparently overshot the field because of poor visibility. The car was parked near the end of the runway.

It was the first fatal accident to occur in the twelve-year history of the municipal airport.

the dictates of their own conscience, a comparatively small band of Lutherans chartered five ships to come to America approximately one hundred years ago. Since that time there has been a remarkable growth of Lutherans. During the last decade, contrary to the usual trend, and standing as a challenge to the defeatist group which is lamenting that the church is losing ground, the Lutherans have steadily forged ahead. Even during the last ten distressing years no ground was lost by a single district of the Synod. On the contrary, a steady increase in new church buildings, property values, baptized and communicant membership has been reported from every section.

Meeting on the historic ground where the venerable pastor, the Rev. Friedrich K. D. Wind No Serious Damage to Wheat

PUTNAM, June 2.—R. L. Mc-Kinney, living about three miles northeast of Putnam and one of the largest grain farmers in the town territory, was in town Saturday afternoon and stated he had planted 200 acres in wheat this year. He said the wind recently had blown it down a little in places; but not enough to damage it any, as it had already straightened enough that it could be cut with a binder. Before we had any farm control law he was one of the largest cotton planters in the territory, but after the farmers voted the quota he began reducing his acreage until this year he did not plant any.

STORIES
IN STAMPS

Chile's First Dictator
Was Irishman, O'Higgins

ONE of the leaders in Chile's fight for independence was the Irish-Chilean Bernardo O'Higgins
pictured on Chile's stamp above.
He was the son of Ambrosio O'Higgins, governor of Chile and viceroys of Peru.
After completing his education in Spain and England, Bernardo returned to Chile in 1802, joined the revolutionist party in 1810.
Three years later, he was named commander of the patriot forces.
After the defeat of nationalist armies in 1814, O'Higgins fled with most of the patriots across the Andes, joined San Martin in Peru. After the victory of Chacabuco, where O'Higgins' cavalry charge decided the battle, he was made administrator of Chile, aided San Martin's campaign in Peru.
Defeat of Spanish forces assured Chilean independence, brought demands for a constitutional government. O'Higgins called a congress which adopted a constitution, gave him dictatorial powers. Discontent continued, however, and in 1823 O'Higgins resigned, retired to his estate in Peru. Chile restored his honors and military rank before his death in 1842.

and the pasture is abundantly supplied with water . . . and that is a big feature in this county, where men sometimes have to drive their cattle to other parts of the country to find both grass and water . . .

With buildings recently remodeled and improved by Ruppert bakery and Shobal Houston on Broadway; the ice cream plant built at Ninth and E; the new service station just being completed by Paul Yardley in south Cisco, the old town is beginning to take on appearances of prosperity . . .

We wonder who is going to be the next to start improvements.

the fact that Mr. Merkt would live present for many years to come.

Also, that because of Texas's lib-

he lived.
