WAR CHICKENS

The war for whose outbreak Russia flashed the green light by its pact with Germany August 22, 1939, has now come to Russia itself.

This final collapse of the Stalin-Molotov policies of the past 21 months means that the whole world must back off and take a new look at the war.

Hitler's deliberate violation of his 10-year pact with Russia gives new proof—as if any new proof were needed—of his black-hearted perfidy. It now seems clear that he simply sucked the Russians into the pact of 1939 for his own purposes, never intending to keep the pact.

Certainly all the objections he now makes to the Russians—that they are imperialistic, that they are training men to disintegrate the German government, and so forth, were true in 1939, are true now, and have always been and will always be true of Russian policy in Germany, in the United States, and wherever the Communist International operates.

The Communists have been calling this an imperialist war. So it is, now, in the sense that both Germany and Russia are imperialist, each having grabbed off all the territory it could grab ever since the war broke out.

The Factories at Night

Do You Remember?

(From Files of Cisco Daily News, April 1938)

H. N. Pardee of Cisco has been named umpire of the Winkler oil fields, according to a message received by Omar Burnett, deputy oil and gas supervisor. Mr. Pardee was named by the Winkler operating executive committee Wednesday evening, over nearly a score of others who were applicants for the position. It is understood that the position carries a salary of $7,500. Mr. Pardee was a former superintendent of the Humble company, with headquarters at Cisco, and later was with the Landreth Production company, but more recently an independent oil operator. He is recognized as one of the best oil men in the state, and his appointment to this position is hailed as a wise one by the oil fraternity. Mr. Pardee's appointment was confirmed by the Texas railroad commission late Wednesday. After consulting Mr. Pardee's umpire of the Winkler field, the committee, which met at Fort Worth, decided to hold its next meeting in the field when actual producing machinery will be arranged. This meeting will be held next Tuesday morning. The producing which will begin Winkler production to begin effect May 5. The meeting was attended by J. D. Collett of Fort Worth, chairman; John R. Sumas of Houston, secretary; E. A. Landreth of Fort Worth; J. H. Reynolds of Cisco; F. W. Woodruff of Shreveport; and E. G. Allen of Dallas. H. S. Wolfe of Fort Worth, remaining member, was out of the state on business but was represented by proxy.

An enthusiastic bunch of Leonesque were present at the first meeting of the local post in their new home, the camp house of the Cisco tourist park, said H. A. Bible, commander. "The reports of the membership committee were very gratifying, showing that splendid work was being done. Reports from the other posts of the county were also gratifying, as it is now indicated that the majority of the Breckenridge post over the membership of the Eastland county posts has been cut from about 150 to 50."

Fred Moellendick, well-known oil man, is nursing several severe injuries sustained Tuesday night when his car collided with the concrete "dummy traffic cop" situated at the intersection of Fourteenth street and D avenue. Mr. Moellendick stated that something went wrong with his steering gear and he lost control of his machine. The "traffic dummy" was completely demolished, and Moellendick's car was badly wrecked. Reports from his residence this morning stated that his injuries were more severe than it was at first thought, as he suffered a cut over the ear, his nose was cut through, and it is feared that he was internally injured, as he is suffering severe pains in his chest. Even in this seemingly serious condition, accompanied by Mrs. Moellendick, he was driven to Cross Cut this morning as an important business matter demanded his attention. He was made easy in a closed car for the trip and will probably return home this evening.

Mrs. W. F. Watson and Mrs. John Erwin were joint hostesses Wednesday evening when they entertained the Presbyterian choir at the home of Mrs. W. F. Watson on West Sixth street. After spending several hours in practicing, a most enjoyable social hour was had. The hostesses served dainty refreshments to the following: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Donohue, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Siddell, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Boney, Mesdames J. E. T.

Edson, J. M. Carter, D. E. Waters, McDonald, A. E. Jamison, Miss Elizabeth Simmons, G. C. Morris, E. P. Crawford and T. C. Williams.

The members of circle two of the Presbyterian auxiliary were entertained at the home of Mrs. W. R. Simmons Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. F. C. LeVeaux led the devotional lesson which was followed by prayer by Mr. Simmons. After disposing of several business matters the meeting adjourned by repeating the Lord's Prayer. During the social hour the hostess served ice cream and angel food cake to 14 members.

Actual work will be started on widening Eastland county highways next Wednesday, reported Commissioner Birt Britain Saturday, following a conference in Cisco late Friday afternoon between J. B. Early, district engineer of the state highway commission, Commissioner Birt Britain and Tom Poe and A. F. Taylor, highway man representing the commissioners' court. By appointment Engineer Early met the commissioners and Mr. Taylor here, arriving somewhat late, but an inspection was made of highway 23 to Rising Star, where the surveying crews will be started surveying the right-of-way preparatory for the county to move the fences back and be ready for the state's work of grading the roads to the required width. Engineer Early will return to Eastland county Tuesday. Commissioner Britain said, to confer with the commissioners' court on the extension of Hankland highway, and relative

Defense Priorities Rough on Sportsmen
And Others as Arms Production Whips Up

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—This matter of shortages is beginning to trickle down. At first the big orders on priorities seemed to affect nothing more petite than a box car but substitutes are beginning to appear for other things and there will be more of the same as time goes on. Pretty soon you won't recognize yourself.

Take sporting goods. They seem about as far removed from defense materials as anything you might mention, and therefore one of the least likely to be affected. The very remoteness of sporting goods from defense materials, however, makes them among the first things where substitutions must be made. Sporting goods are classified as luxuries in war time and if any savings can be made in consumption of aluminum, steel, leather, rubber and brass, the sporting element will be the first to feel the pinch.

If the rings on your ski poles are made of aluminum, hang onto them for they are definitely pre-war. In the future these rings will be made out of rattan.

If you're horsey and your favorite polo pony won't take anything but an aluminum bit or won't respond to any digs in the ribs from anything but aluminum spurs, you'll probably have to send the critter back to be rebroken, for spurs and bits will hereafter be made of steel, which was, after all, good enough for the old gray mare.

Football coaching will require an entirely new school of Pop Warners, for leather helmets and shoulder pads are out. They'll be made of fiber and that will naturally alter the tactics of the double wing back and razzledazzles. Even the insoles on athletic shoes will be fiber instead of leather. Piskins will still be piskins for awhile but they will be inflated by pumps of steel, instead of brass.

If gasoline becomes so scarce you decide it's better to ride to work on a bicycle, reconcile yourself to getting a model which will have lights and horns made of enameled steel, not nickel.

Even your yacht will have to be a little less fancy. Boat whistles are to be made of plastic instead of brass. The flagpole sockets, low and stern handles will be malleable iron instead of brass. The place won't seem as much like home with these substitutions, and if the chrome trim is taken away too, you might just as well invite your friends to spend a weekend on a barge. But, like the courageous Britains, you must learn to do without, and bear up bravely under such hardships.

Production for defense is even stepping in to disrupt your vacation plans, and if you are getting new equipment, you may find the top on the picnic thermos jug made of plastic instead of aluminum, while the new model camera cases will have plastic instead of aluminum boxes.

Fishing rod handles and reels will be plastic covered steel. Gun cleaning rods will be steel instead of brass.

Your very home is to be violated by the long claws of the defense planners. Remember the good old washing machines with the aluminum agitators? Gad, what machines they were! Plastic agitators now. And that old kerosene stove that mother loved so well—the one with the copper tubing, brass connectors, asbestos kindlers, steel tank and nickel trim! Another year or so and you won't be able to get a model like that at all. The tubing will be steel, the tank and kindlers glass, the trim plastic.

Imperfection of Church Members Now Seen as No Reflection Upon Founders

Text: I Corinthians 3:1-15

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

THERE are some very real lessons to be learned from the early church, and they are not the less real because early in its history the church developed weaknesses and problems that are associated with the church today. We can learn a great deal from our own times by such studies as this lesson suggests.

The idea that the primitive Christian church was a fellowship or institution of unsullied purity and integrity is quickly dissipated when one studies the Book of the Acts and the Epistles of Paul, Peter, James and John.

On the contrary, if the church was divine in its origin, we see it marred by the imperfections of its members. These imperfections were not only a failure to grasp the true meaning of the religion which the converts had embraced, but they were not infrequently imperfections of actual moral character and conduct.

I HAVE formerly suggested that a great deal can be derived from the reading of the Book of the Acts, and particularly the missionary journeys if one reads the book with a map of the ancient Bible lands near at hand, tracing the various places named and the course of the missionary journeys.

To this suggestion I would add especially in connection with a lesson like this further benefit may be derived if one reads with the Book of the Acts the Epistles of Paul.

Take, for instance, this lesson from Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians. When Paul visited Corinth, which was called "the eye of Greece," note for how long he stayed there on his missionary journeys, how his relations with the church were, and the evening service will be a joint service with the First Methodist and First Christian churches on the lawn of the First Methodist church. The Adult Bible class of the First Christian church will be guests of the Adult class of this church at the Sunday school hour.

First Methodist
How much of the Bible is to be accepted today? How much of the teachings of Jesus shall we seriously attempt to follow? Can a Christian be true to his religious principles? Is it possible to put into practice today the Christian ideal of unselfishness? What message has the church to offer that will help people live right? The ministers of the church are ever so anxious to bring to the people that interpretation of the gospel which will help make the world better and bring a wider understanding of the meaning of the Kingdom of Righteousness. Every person needs the church today. Few are greatly concerned about denominational rivalries or even about denominational prestige. The church today must lose itself in humble service and then it will find itself in the hearts of grateful people. Come to Sunday school at 9:30. Stay for the hour of worship in the sanctuary at 10:50. Be present again at 8 p. m. for the worship on the lawn. We are working together for the cause of righteousness. LESLIE SEYMOUR, Minister.

TRUSS EXPERT

COMING TO CISCO
If you are one of the thousands ruptured; suffering the tortures of a gaging, binding, ill-fitting truss; WHY SUFFER LONGER? Mr. Linden L. Moore, expert appliance technician will hold an all day demonstration of his non-surgical method of rupture control at the Moore Drug Co., Cisco, Monday, June 30th.

This mechanical method of hernia relief is the result of years of scientific experiment and is endorsed by every physician who has seen it. The appliance used is entirely different from other trusses. It has no knobs or balls to gouge the tender rupture muscles, gradually enlarging the opening; no belts or obnoxious leg-straps to gall and irritate or retard circulation. A soft, compressive, vacuumic pad holds ruptured muscles together securely like the hand, giving complete protection. Cool and comfortable, washable and sanitary. For Men, Women and Children. No matter how large, long-standing, or severe your rupture; no matter what failures you have had with other trusses; don't pass up this chance. Arrange to see Mr. Moore.

DALLAS NEWS WINS APPEAL IN WAGE SUIT

NEW ORLEANS, June 28—The Fifth United States Circuit Court of Appeals here Friday upheld a lower court decision that firms paying wages or salaries equal to or in excess of Fair Labor Standards act requirements are in compliance with the law regardless of methods of pay.

The decision, of great national importance, was in the appeal taken by the wage-hour division of the Department of Labor against an East Texas district court rule that the Dallas News was not in violation of provisions of the labor act.

Importance of the case was shown February 10 when Wage-Hour Administrator Philip B. Fleming, in announcing the appeal, said "this decision, if allowed to stand, would largely destroy section 7 of the 40-hour week, which has been doing so much to increase employment in this period of increasing production."

The Department of Labor charged the Dallas newspaper publishing company, the A. H. Belo corporation, with violation of wage-hour provisions from October 24, 1938, through October 23, 1939.

This was ordered dismissed in the East Texas court by Judge

William H. Atwell on February 19.

SOCIALISTS FACE CHARGES OF SEDITION

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Acting Attorney General Francis J. Biddle has authorized criminal proceedings in St. Paul against leaders of the Socialist Workers party on charges of seditious conspiracy and advocating "the overthrow of the United States by force and violence."

The justice department said the principal party leaders against whom prosecution would be brought also were leaders of local 544 of General Drivers, Helpers and Inside Workers union of Minneapolis.

General Drivers union 544 was sundered by internal dissension a few weeks ago when one group voted to withdraw from American Federation of Labor affiliation and was promptly granted a Committee for Industrial Organization charter. A. F. of L. leaders subsequently accused the dissenting leaders of attempting to disseminate un-American doctrines, a charge the CIO leaders denied.

Special agents of the FBI, with search warrants and acting simultaneously late Friday in Minneapolis and St. Paul, entered the headquarters of the Socialist party in the two cities and seized records, propaganda and other material, the department announced.

Officials said evidence in the case, a result of an intensive investigation by the FBI during the last year, would be presented to a federal grand jury in St. Paul Tuesday. The department declined to disclose names of the persons involved nor would it specify details of the charges.

It pointed out, however, that the prosecutions would be brought under sections of the federal code which make it a criminal offense to conspire to overthrow by force the government of the United States or to undermine the loyalty, discipline or morale of the armed forces of the United States or to advocate overthrow of the government by force or violence.

Biddle said the prosecution was brought "under the criminal code of the United States against persons who have been engaged in criminal seditious activities, and who are leaders of the Socialist Workers party and have gained control of a legitimate labor union in order to use it for illegitimate purposes."

"The prosecution," Biddle said, "is not in any sense an attack on organized labor nor is it an effort to interfere in a dispute between labor organizations. It presents only the determination of the Department of Justice to prosecute

STORIES IN STAMPS.

Stamp Honors "Founder" Of Italian Language

ITALY'S greatest poet, Alighieri Dante, is honored on this 1938 stamp, issued in observance of the 10th anniversary of the proclamation of the empire. It was this proclamation that was responsible for binding the Italian government and the Fascist party into a single unit.

Dante, who was born in 1265, was responsible more than any other scholar for developing the modern Italian language. Before Dante wrote the "Divine Comedy," the Italian language was a crude form of expression, of no value to the scholar. Classical works were written in Latin. Even Dante began the "Divine Comedy," most celebrated of all his works, in Latin. But he realized the potentialities of the Italian language and decided instead to create the language which is in use today.

The "Divine Comedy" is one of the purest examples of poetry. Probably no other single work gave rise to so much subsequent literature. The long poem is a classical description of heaven, hell and purgatory.

Dante died, virtually in exile from his native Florence, in 1321.

criminal subversive activity wherever it may occur."

The justice department said the Socialist Workers party was composed of the followers of Leon Trotsky, and that, in a declaration of principles adopted at its organization convention in January, 1938, stated:

"If, in spite of the efforts of the revolutionists and the militant workers, the United States government enters a new war, the SWP will not under any circumstances support the war, but will on the contrary fight against it. The SWP will advocate the continuance of the class struggle during the war regardless of the consequences or the outcome of the American military struggle; and will try to prepare the masses to utilize the war crisis for the overthrow of United States capitalism and the victory of socialism."

SOVIETS START BLITZ OF OWN AGAINST NAZIS

NEW YORK, June 28.—The Soviet Union today reported that a lightning counterthrust by the Red army had routed German tank units on the vital Central front protecting the road to Minsk and Moscow.

German drives on the southern and northern flanks also were reported blocked as fierce fighting raged on many sectors, especially in the region of Lvov where the Communists said they were still blocking the Nazi offensive toward Kiev and the rich Ukraine.

Soviet tanks, artillery and airplanes joined in the counterattack on the main German forces driving from Poland toward and beyond the pre-war Russian frontiers in the Minsk area. They reported that they had routed both the enemy tank units and the 39th tank headquarters, taking prisoners and booty. They said an enemy general was killed and important military documents seized.

The outcome of this extremely important battle of tanks and dive-bombers was not yet decided, but the Russian communique indicated that the Red army had at least broken up one phase of the German attack by using blitz methods of their own.
