Do You Remember?

(From Files of Cisco Daily News, June, 1928.)

Shadows of the past, likenesses of friends who have gone to meet the Grand Master of the Universe, and pictures of friends and associates of today look down on the members of Cisco Lodge No. 556, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, whenever they assemble in the Masonic Temple on the walls are large photographs of nearly every man who has directed the destinies of the lodge in the last 33 years—32 in all—along with pictures of officials of other Masonic lodges here and the contemporary new building.

The Cisco lodge was organized under a charter granted by the Texas grand lodge December 14, 1882, although it had been operating for a year previously under dispensation. John F. Patterson, now secretary of all Masonic lodges in Cisco, was the first worshipful master. The handful of members has increased steadily until now the membership stands at 230.

Patterson remembers most of the officers and members of the lodge during the early years of its existence, but official records of the lodge are missing. They were destroyed in the disastrous cyclone of 1891. The first records compiled after the storm show the membership was 23. During his connection Patterson has served five terms as master, a record that is expected to stand for some time.

In one group in the northeast corner of the temple are the pictures of eight past masters, now dead. All except one served after the 1893 cyclone. Pictures of the masters for the first 11 years of the lodge were destroyed in the storm. "Uncle John" Patterson's picture was taken after that catastrophe.

The eight who have passed from this life and the years in which they presided are as follows: W. L. Eagleton, 1890; J. T. Pezgan, 1896; C. T. Maxwell, 1898, 1899; Jake Alexander, 1905; G. D. Ward, 1905, 1907; W. D. Weston, 1917; Robert L. Betts, 1918, 1919.

Of the eight, Eagleton presided the highest point in the Masonic organizations. He moved from Cisco to Oklahoma where he became grand master of the Oklahoma grand lodge and later grand commander of the Oklahoma grand council.

Elsewhere on the walls are the pictures of 14 other past masters, eight of whom are still residents of Cisco. The ones who still live here and the years during which they served are: J. M. Williamson, now mayor, 1891, 1894, R. A. St. John, 1902, A. L. Mayhew, 1904, S. E. Keen, 1905, Dr. W. P. Lee, 1906; William Keegan, 1909, 1920; Coy Dalton, 1915; W. L. Fry, 1925.

The six who live elsewhere are: George E. Peachtree, 1903, now of Dallas; George W. Lindsey, 1917; Vernon J. A. Fisher, 1912, 1914; George Goodner Bedford, 1921; Rowland, Everett Little, 1922; Aldene W. R. Cabaniss, 1923, Okmulgee.

The pictures of three past masters do not adorn the walls. They are: R. W. Dobson, 1910; Subey Martin, 1924; John W. Ridgeway, 1925.

Fred Galt, now master, will join the ranks of past masters before the close of this month.

Commerce Secretary Peters claims to be the swiftest salesman in Cisco. Tuesday night he was authorized to sell the bill owned by the Cisco chamber of commerce and Wednesday he reported to President Dabney that the bill had been disposed of. It seems that the insurance company which carried the risk on the life of the house was the compulsory purchaser. The bill was sold Tuesday night by coming in contact

EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

Texas Tom Connolly Takes Care of All Corners As One of Senate's Most Colorful Figures

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—They call Tom Connolly of Marlin, Tex., the last of the long-haired senators. All the others let the barbers cut around their ears and run the clippers up their necks, or are so baldish they don't even make it interesting for a tonsorial artist who really loves his work.

Tom doesn't reveal his age in the Congressional Directory, but he was a soldier in the Spanish-American War and from other sources comes the word that he will soon be 65. And if you, gentle male reader of 50 or over, could grow hair like the senior senator from Texas, you'd make the barbers be discreet too. Get even a distant look at big Tom on the Capitol grounds under his broad-brimmed, black three-gallon hat and you know that there, by golly, goes a statesman, even if he doesn't wear a frock coat.

Maybe, like Samson, his strength is in that hair. At any rate, he has the strength of a longhorn steer and his courage too, and when he starts pawin' the ground, a stampede can start anytime and it's just as well to get for the top rails of the corral fence.

THE Senate of the United States can be the duller of deliberate assemblies when some of the demagogues start droning, but when the senator from Texas takes the floor it can be livelier than a barn dance. Likewise, a Senate committee can bore you to insensibility, but when the gentleman from Texas starts asking questions of a witness who doesn't want to be too specific or doesn't know exactly what he's talking about, you wake up quick.

Talkin' Texas, droppin' 'em all over the carpet and flattenin' 'em all over the table, he is again the prosecutor's attorney from Falls county with a barbed-wire fail at the tip of his tongue. He can make a burrhead squirm through his testimony like a coyote in the sawbush, its tail between its legs, bendin' for the hills.

Old Tom—you call him "old" affectionately, for he is a lovable cuss with a magnificent sense of sarcasm humor—has been in unusually fine form this week or so backing his amendment to the selective service law to permit the President to take over strike-bound plants, and ripping into the Aluminum Company of America as its officials name before the Truman committee investigating national defense, talking at everything which savored of bunk or didn't make sense to his Texas mind.

The senator from Ohio is a statesman," Connolly cracked at Taft in debate. "He does not think this bill is any good but he is for it."

A moment later, Taft tried to make the point that Connolly's amendment would not prevent men from striking against the United States government, that a strike simply meant the men ceased to work.

"Oh, they can quit if they want to," agreed Connolly, "and they can go strike in Ohio."

When Senator Maloney offered an amendment, Connolly accepted it but when Maloney came back with another, Connolly struck it with a gangle: "I have accepted one amendment from the senator from Connecticut," he said, "and the quota today is only one amendment per senator."

Connolly is, as mentioned, fearless. And in threatening to take over the Aluminum Company of America, "if it did not behave," he was merely breathing more of the fire that has marked his 34 years in Washington. That long service, however, has never made him less a Texan than he ever was. He is king of the big Texas delegation in Congress, of course. Sam Rayburn may be speaker of the House, but Tom is the senator. Even if Governor "Biscuit" O'Daniel should be elected to the Senate, he will have a tough time getting ahead of Tom.

with a live wire after breaking from his corral on the A. S. Nabors farm, Peters said. The bull was insured for $200.

Twelve members of the junior boys' class have completed with honors the first swimming course in connection with J. S. Law's school of swimming at Lake Cisco. The course consisted of 10 lessons in the fundamentals of swimming. Several have received honorable mention for special achievements. These are Bill Berry, Wesley Harrell and Forbes Lee Wallace. Certificates of merit will be awarded to the following boys completing the course: Forbes Lee Wallace, Wesley Harrell, Bill Berry, Jim Berry, Coleman Williams, Billy Murray, L. A. Harrison, John St. John, Billy Wallace, Judson Russell and Wendell Russell.

J. E. Spencer, chairman of the chamber of commerce dairy committee and J. E. T. Peters, secretary of that body, attended the business men's luncheon at Cross Plains today, during which Mr. Spencer discussed the plans of furthering the dairying interest now being conducted under the direction of the committee of which he is chairman.

Southern Methodist university's thirteenth annual commencement closed the school's most important year from the standpoint of enrollment, which reached 3,350. Its graduating class numbered 193, among whom were Miss Linovise Campbell, who enrolled from Cisco. Other Cisco students were

BLACK SEA BANNED TO TURKISH SHIPS

ANKARA, July 3.—Turkey ordered her ships to stay out of the Black sea today in the wake of rising press resentment over the torpedoing of the Turkish steamer Refah with a loss of more than 150 Turkish seamen.

Science has solved many problems, but we still lack a formula for teaching flies when it's time to take a nap.

News has just reached his parents here that quite a distinguished compliment has been handed to Otto M. Stubbelfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Stubbelfield, of Cisco. Young Stubbelfield has been appointed business manager of the Texas Law Review, which position he will hold until he graduates from the Texas university law school, where he is now a student. Young Stubbelfield is a graduate of Cisco high school, and his friends here congratulate him on the record he has made at the university.

Some 18 members of the Cisco Lions club will assist in the taking of the cow census in this and surrounding communities. At the weekly luncheon of the club Wednesday volunteers were asked after the proposition had been explained by R. Reese, representative of the Katy railroad, and J. E. T. Peters, secretary of the chamber of commerce. More than half of the Lions present agreed to give as much of their time as needed during the remainder of the week in taking the census. Those who will assist in the census are Bob Herron, K. H. Pittard, W. E. Slatham, L. P. Kuykendall, Ed Wilkinson, P. B. Glenn, R. F. Joyner, C. C. Jones, C. H. Hale, Charles Yates, W. K. Johnson, W. H. LaRoque, Hugh White and representatives of the Bleasie Motor Co. and West Texas Utilities Co.

Cecil Lotief of Cross Plains, formerly of Cisco, departed from Cisco this morning for a tour of Europe to be gone several months. He will visit his old home at Lebanon, Syria, where his father still resides.

Laurence Keough of Cisco, who received the bachelor of arts degree from St. Edward's university this year, was awarded a medal for meritorious work done as a reporter on the St. Edward's Echo. The medal is designed to be worn as a watch chain. It carries an "E" superimposed on a scroll and quill.

Rev. Marvin Boyd, a graduate of Cisco high school and now a member of the senior class of McMurry college for 1929, will preach at the First Methodist church Sunday at 11 o'clock. Rev. P. T. Stanford, pastor, said that Rev. Boyd had made an unusual record at McMurry and would be heard with great interest by his friends.

BOTH AUSTIN HOUSES QUIT AT 6 TODAY

AUSTIN, July 3.—With the unofficial count of Saturday's ballots showing Governor O'Daniel elected to the United States senate by more than 1,000 votes, the Texas legislature yesterday speedily got over its tense feeling and laughed as it listened to an O'Daniel campaign song. The senate adopted a resolution directing a standing committee to investigate any violations of the election laws, regarded as more or less of a gesture, and both houses, amid sighs of relief, agreed to adjourn sine die at 6 p. m. today.

The governor was busy conferring with members and deciding whether to veto or approve bills. As he published reports that O'Daniel when he goes to Washington, the official count permitting, will be accompanied by his hill billy band, the governor Wednesday declared such stories were mere speculation.

"I have been in Washington before," he said, "so will know my way around. I visited Washington before I got mixed up in politics. I have not met President Roosevelt. As to just when I will resign, I do not know, because circumstances will determine that."

It is expected, however, that O'Daniel will resign soon after the official count is made, and armed with his certificate of election proceed to Washington where he will take the seat of the late Senator Morris Sheppard. Next summer he will have to run again for the full six-year term.

Since the vote is unusually close between the governor and Congressman Lyndon Johnson, no plans will be made here until the official verdict July 14, O'Daniel being dismelled to developments and Governor Stevenson inauguration preparations.

The House laughed Wednesday when the O'Daniel song, "You When I'm Gone," was dedicated to representative lunatics, Monday, assuming the governor was elected, read a governor.

The same page was the senate, reading the song, and this time called to Senator Hill, who took many flings during the summer also sang a song in honor of Stevenson, which was with us with you'll never hear again, Horn and Monday.

CHIEF PERDUE ASKS HELP OF ALL CITIZENS

Chief of Police Perdue asks the cooperation of all Cisco folk in the enforcement of automobile traffic violations—tomorrow and every day.

"When you witness a traffic violation," said Mr. Perdue, "take the number of the car and inform my office. Your name will not be disclosed."

"We only have in mind the matter of making life and property safer—not money. We must do everything within reason to make Cisco a safe place to drive and live."

"When you receive a traffic ticket and then fail to report to the mayor, we will be forced to file a complaint. The minimum fine will then be $14. By reporting promptly the cost would likely be only $1."

"We now have a traffic officer on duty. Hold your speed to 20 miles per hour and do not run the red lights."

Convert Car Into Fighter Plane

To assist in Britain's war effort, citizens of Nassau, the Bahama Islands, recently held a drawing to raise money for the purchase of a Fighter Plane. Tickets were sold, and first prize was this Plymouth Sedan, furnished through the Bahama Islands distributor. Full support was given by Colonial and civic authorities, and winning tickets were drawn at Clifford Park by The Governor, His Royal Highness The Duke of Windsor, and The Duchess of Windsor, shown above in their latest photo. So successful was the event that 4100 tickets were sold, instead of the 2000 originally planned.

HUGE CANADIAN TANK BRIGADE CROSSES SEAS

A BRITISH PORT, July 3.—Headed by the First Canadian Army Tank Brigade, the largest contingent of Canadian troops yet to arrive in Britain in this war came ashore by the thousands late yesterday from a huge convoy which brought them across the Atlantic without incident. The Canadians whistled, laughed and sang as they poured off the gray ships.

Only once during the crossing did an escort ship drop depth charges, the men said. Whether there was a Nazi submarine in the vicinity they did not know.

The contingent included one complete 1,200-bed hospital outfit from Montreal with more than 80 nursing sisters, lumbermen and soldiers to complete the Canadian Forestry Corps operating in Scotland, reinforcements for in-

Baird Boy Dies; Result of Burns

BAIRD, July 3.—Elbert Dunlap, 19, Belle Pluin, died at noon yesterday in the Callahan county hospital from electrical shock and injuries received while working at the Baird Refinery company plant east of here.

Dunlap, employed as an extra, was electrocuted when he raised a piece of tin above his head while covering a building at the plant. A 13,000-volt electrical transmission line ran about 10 feet above the building on which he was working, and the tin came in contact with it.

When the metal contacted the post oak and hackberry trees are very dead.

The poison that Thurman and Carlisle used was mixed by the county agent, using a standard formula supplied by the A. & M. Extension Service and is made by mixing three gallons water, four pounds sal soda, two pounds lye and four pounds white arsenic. It should be applied in August or September by pouring into a cut made by hacking through the bark around the entire tree. This method of killing trees is recommended to those having field fence rows growing up with trees, those wishing to rid pasture land of timber and owners of native pecan groves who wish to space their trees.
