NUMBER 284

About Our Friends

By STEPHEN A. LONG
 Mrs. E. L. Wisdom have returned from a visit to California on a short vacation, where they visited Long Beach, San Diego, Los Angeles, and cities along the coast. He says she seems busy at national projects.

Visitors accompanied their hostess, Mrs. O. H. Hill, to her home in Long Beach when she returned here with them. She is a saddlemaking employe of a hardware concern at Long Beach.

They went fishing while in California, but being a Baptist she thinks it best not to discuss about the number of fish he caught.

General Marshall, in his biennial report, said: "Whatever we do for the national defense should be done in the most efficient manner."

Perhaps it would be best to persuade large numbers to remain in service voluntarily, offering inducements in pay and conditions.

Perhaps it would be best to send home only those above 29 years of age.

Perhaps it would be best to send all home at the end of the year, though it recalls to this writer's mind the federal troops marching up to the battle of First Bull Run, who actually passed on the road companies marching away from the impending battle because their three-month enlistments had expired.

The people of the United States — a large majority of them — are ready to face the situation squarely, prepared to go their full length in the direction facts and common sense indicate they should go.

They have a right to expect decisive, intelligent action on the part of their representatives in Washington.

They will not tolerate indecision much longer. There must be no passing of the buck, nor failure to explore all aspects of the national problem.

From this point on the United States map it does not look like now is the time to send soldiers home. However, it is the duty of congress, and congress alone, to decide that question.

QUIT TALKING ... ACT!

(An Editorial)

Nothing is harder or more unpleasant than to look a grave situation in the face, decide what needs to be done and do it.

Congress is much like the rest of us in that respect. If it passes an occasional buck, why that is no more than the rest of us do. But now President Roosevelt and Chief of Staff Marshall come to Congress and tell it that in their judgment the national safety requires that many men now in service for what was to have been a year must remain longer.

Either this is necessary or it is not necessary. Congress must decide, and must bear the responsibility for its decision. It is not a question to be decided on sentiment. It is not a question to be evaded.

If it be true that the U. S. Army has not a single division ready for combat on the European scale, then Congress must decide how many such divisions it will have when from some of the regular army divisions as many as 600 reserve officers are sent home at the end of their year. It must decide how well defended will be the outposts when units which have been sent thither are decimated by men sent home.

General Marshall, in his biennial report, said: "Whatever we do for the national defense should be done in the most efficient manner."

Perhaps it would be best to persuade large numbers to remain in service voluntarily, offering inducements in pay and conditions.

BERLIN, July 19.—The Nazis claimed tonight that the luftwaffe had struck terrific blows at railroad lines, severing Leningrad-Moscow communications and thus blasting a path for an advance beyond Smolensk. They also claim to have destroyed trains northwest of Kiev.

The associational training union meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:45 in the auditorium of the First Baptist church. This is not a district meeting, stated herebefore, but an associational meeting composed of five counties. This meeting will terminate with the associational Sunday school meeting. Next month the Sunday school meeting will be held in the afternoon at the same hour and date and place, instead of the training union meeting. These meetings are held each month at the First Baptist church.

MILLIONS IN RESERVE AT VITAL POINTS

(By United Press)

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 19.—Diplomatic sources claimed today that Russia has massed an army of more than a million men west of the Caucasus to protect the vital Soviet oil fields, with another great force of possibly four million men still held in reserve on the central fighting fronts.

GROWERS GET GOOD RAIN IN CISCO SECTOR

The splendid rain that drenched the Cisco Country Friday afternoon and Saturday morning seems to have been general, and just what was needed.

The rain gauge at the city hall showed seven-tenths of an inch Friday afternoon and one-half inch Saturday morning.

During the precipitation Friday afternoon the streets of the city were running like a mill stream and threatened to overflow the curbing in many places. However, no business houses reported any damage from water.

Walter Yeager, living in the Friendship community, stated his section had an estimated fall of one and one-half inches, and said it was just what was needed.

Reports from south of Cisco stated the rain was about as heavy as that which fell here.

B. J. Camp of the Dothan section reports one inch rainfall and no damage.

Mr. Camp said his grain was all saved and now in the shock, though a much lighter yield than anticipated, and his oats were not only a short yield, but badly blasted. He stated he intended to grind the straw and heads into feed for his cattle, as it was hardly worth threshing.

REDS INSIST SMOLENSK IS STILL THEIRS

MOSCOW, July 19.—The Reds are reported to be fighting furiously against an offensive in the Smolensk direction. They claim that key city on the road to Moscow is still in Russian hands.

ALUMINUMWARE RUFUS MERKET DRIVE STARTS GIVES CHURCH MORN JULY 24 STAND, PLATES

Wilson Davis, manager of the Laguna hotel and active chairman of the drive to collect aluminum for national defense purposes, announces the local drive will start next Thursday.

The general plan is for approximately 30 Boy Scouts, under the personal direction of John Smith and Ernest Hittson, to make the canvass. Two city trucks will be used in the work.

During the drive the Scouts will call at every home in Cisco and the request is made that those who have aluminum contributions they wish to make to the government will please have it set aside and ready for the boys when they call.

Don't give anything that will have to be replaced—the government wants only aluminum that can be spared.

There will be a meeting at the chamber of commerce office Tuesday night to organize the Boy Scouts for the collection drive.

GOOD BASEBALL GAME AT BAIRD AT 3 TODAY

The Baird Coyotes, one of the best baseball teams in Callahan and surrounding counties, will play the Crowell Pioneers of Abilene at Baird Sunday afternoon. The game will be played on the grammar school grounds and the admission will be 10 and 20 cents.

The Coyotes defeated the 180th Infantry at Baird last Sunday by a narrow margin. Score, 5 to 4. Today's game will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

A set of six collection plates and a stand to match will be presented to the First Methodist church at the preaching service this morning at 10:50 o'clock.

Rufus Merket, the donor, made them from specially selected wood, doing all of the sawing, lathe work, sanding, staining and polishing in his workshop at his home on West Eighth street. They are finished to harmonize with the altar furniture.

The pastor, Rev. Leslie Seymour, states that because of the painstaking and skilled workmanship Mr. Merket has given to this set over a period of several weeks, it is superior to nearly any that can be bought from church-furnishing houses.

MORAN PIONEER WOMAN DIES AT THE AGE OF 78

MORAN, July 19.—Funeral for Mrs. S. A. Dossor, 78, was held in the First Baptist church Thursday afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. Finis Williams, assisted by Rev. Scoggins.

Mrs. Dossor, resident of Shackelford county for 35 years, was born Laura Reta Brown, July 21, 1862, in Salem, Ind. She married S. A. Dossor in 1881 in Indiana. They came to Texas to make their home shortly afterwards and settled in Williamson county. They moved to Shackelford county in 1906. Mr. and Mrs. Dossor reared eight children, all still living. Do You Remember?

(From Files of Cisco Daily News, August, 1925)

The Man's Store is under new management. As announced several days ago by the Daily News, this mercantile house has been purchased by Hagan & Patton by Miller & Landwehr and Saturday morning, following the inventory of the stock of merchandise, Nick Miller and Dick Landwehr took over the business, which will be under the management of Mr. Miller, who has large experience in this line of business.

Mrs. A. Angus, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. L. C. Hall, entertained a number of children Monday morning in honor of the 11th birthday of Mrs. Angus' daughter, Miss Harriet Lane Angus. The little honoree, assisted by her cousins, Masters Jack Hall and Buddie Riddle, received the guests and escorted them to the dining room to view the dining table, which had been decorated to represent a bathing beach.

Commenting Saturday, J. B. Cate became manager of the Cisco home of the J. P. Webster & Son's wholesale grocery business. The resignation of Chas. H. Fleming as manager became effective on that date, and Mr. Cate assumed the duties of manager. The resignation of Mr. Fleming, who severed his connection with the Webster service after 15 years of steady service with the firm, was somewhat of a surprise to many of his friends.

Win. Reagan, who was designated by the chamber of commerce as chairman of a committee appointed to secure a landing field for airplanes passing through Cisco, and those which stop here, reported this morning that the duty had been performed. Mr. Reagan stated that his committee had leased a plot on the Luse lands just west of D avenue, in the southern part of town. The lease contract has been signed and the lease money paid. The landing field is large enough and just in the city limits. The tract of land will be cleared and properly marked that it may be easily distinguished by fliers. At this day it is essential that all important towns have suitable landing places.

Six Cisco boys have taken advantage of the training offered by the government, and are now at Fort Sam Houston, taking the course of training prescribed by army regulations. The boys are Con Collins, Glenn Roberts, Sherman Mancill, Ed Bates, Allen Farley and Roy Estes. Con Collins writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Collins, that he is enjoying the military training; that they have to get out at 5:15 every morning and are only allowed to go into San Antonio every Saturday afternoon.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Price of the Spear addition this morning, a boy. The mother and babe are at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Notgrass.

Turner E. Hubby, state game fish and oyster commissioner, spent Thursday afternoon in Cisco, where he inspected Lake Cisco at a special committee of the chamber of commerce at a luncheon at Laciaco Inn, composed of President Guy Dabney, Chas. Gray, F. E. Harrell, P. W. Campbell and E. H. Whitehead.

Directors of the Twentieth Century club library have named Mrs. A. E. Willig as successor to Miss Lula Alexander, who recently tendered her resignation as librarian. Miss Alexander's resignation was accepted with regret and only because library officials recognized the fact that her health demanded release from the position. Mrs. Willig will assume her new duties August 3.

Dr. and Mrs. D. Ball and son Norman returned last night from a motor trip to Colorado Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hayden left Saturday for Galveston, where they will spend their vacation. Mrs. Pet Brown has returned to her home in Dallas after a visit in Cisco with Miss Loma Bedford.

Frank Kittrell and his sisters, Misses Laura and Lucy Kittrell, and their cousin, Mrs. Myrtle Robinson, left this morning for an overland trip to Yellowstone park. They will be away for about 18 days. Mrs. Dell King left yesterday for her home in Weatherford after a visit with Mrs. Ben McClinton. She was accompanied home by Misses Zelia Blanche McClinton and Linouise Campbell.

Cisco now has an Isaac Walton league, which was recently organized while H. F. Smith, deputy game fish and oyster commissioner, was spending some time here. Mr. Smith assisted in organizing the league, which has for its object the protection of fish and game from ruthless slaughter. This league will be affiliated with the general organization. Officers elected were Chas. Gray, president; A. D. Anderson, vice president; and B. A. Schatz, secretary and treasurer.

Specimen Elberta peaches from Cisco yards were sent to the Daily News office Saturday by Mrs. F. Weddington and Mrs. J. W. Shepard. This fruit was as fine as one ever tasted. Mr. Weddington has a number of trees growing on the Weddington lot which matured uniformly. Those from Mrs. Shepard's yard at 602 E. avenue, weighed one-third of a pound each, or three to a pound. The fruit was enjoyed by the office force, who pronounced the size, uniformity and flavor unsurpassed.

According to a rumor on the streets this morning, the Cisco post office will be moved from its present location in the Huey building on Main street to the Spencer building on Broadway. The Spencer building is owned by W. J. Simpson, Jr., who resides at Tama, Texas. If a contract has been signed with Mr. Simpson for the Broadway site it is probably for a period of 10 years.

A bold attempt was made to rob Bob Smart of his automobile Saturday night, according to his report of the matter to the police. Smart stated that he heard a noise at his garage, and seeing a man near the building fired upon him. The man was seen to fall, and two others came to the scene and conveyed him away. The three left in a Chevrolet car, according to Smart's statement of the incident.

After a visit of several weeks to his childhood home in the east, Judge D. K. Scott returned to Cisco last night, making the trip in his automobile, completing a tour of over 4,000 miles. While away he visited scenes of his childhood in West Virginia, Iowa and other parts of the country.

One of Clarksburg's most colorful citizens, J. E. "Uncle Jake" Coleman, and his wife, of 210 McDowell street, left today for Cisco, Texas, where they expect to spend the remainder of their lives.

They are making the trip by auto with their son, Clarence Coleman, and his bride, the former Mrs. Ezell Datal Lyons, of Crowley, La. The son and Mrs. Lyons were married at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 14, at Crowley, and came here to spend their honeymoon with Mr. Coleman's parents.

The bridegroom attended the public schools here and left 19 years ago for the Texas oil fields, where he has been employed since as a rig builder. At present he is employed by the Humble Oil and Refining company at Crowley, where he and his bride will make their home after taking "Uncle Jake" and Mrs. Coleman to their new home at Cisco.

"Uncle Jake," who will be 79 years old next November 28, has lived in Clarksburg for the last 26 years. During that time he not only was the contractor-driller for hundreds of oil and gas wells in the entire producing area of this state, but found the time to become one of the area's best known hunters and fishermen.

Every year, despite his age, he has gone hunting and fishing several times. He takes a great interest in conservation movements and several times the Clarksburg Telegram has printed his views when they differed from those of the State Conservation commission and other authorities.

His forte is turtle fishing. He probably knows more about the turtle, his haunts and his weaknesses than any other man in Harrison county.

"Uncle Jake" has had a long and interesting life. Born November 28, 1863, in Pine county, Pennsylvania, he moved, while a young man, to Tionesta, Pa., in Forrest county on the upper reaches of the Allegheny river. There he became a lumber raftsman, floating huge rafts of unfinished lumber down the river from Tionesta to Oil City, Pa., a distance of about 26 miles.

Those were the most exciting days of his career, "Uncle Jake" says. He tells how, many and many a time, he was thrown from one of the big rafts into water which was filled with cakes of ice, and forced to swim for some distance through the ice cakes to the banks of the big stream.

"Drink!" he said. "I never was what you would call a drinking man, but could you blame any of us for taking a drink once in a while when our occupation was so risky and had on the nerves?"

After several years as a raftsman Mr. Coleman and his brother started working in the western Pennsylvania oil fields as drillers. Eventually they started their own drilling business with the money they had saved and continued drilling wells there and in West Virginia until Mr. Coleman's brother died a little more than a year ago, at the age of 86.

Now, retired but still in the prime of health for a man of his age, Mr. Coleman, with his wife, the former Miss Lillian Morrow, of near Oakdale, Pa., plan to spend the rest of their lives in ease.

"But there's a little lake about five miles long right near our new home in Cisco," Mr. Cole-

WEST VIRGINIA PAPER PAYS NICE TRIBUTE TO MR. AND MRS. J. E. COLEMAN, NEW CISCO RESIDENTS

(From the June 27 issue of the Clarksburg, W. Va., Daily Telegram.)

His forte is turtle fishing. He probably knows more about the turtle, his haunts and his weaknesses than any other man in Harrison county.

"Uncle Jake" has had a long and interesting life. Born November 28, 1863, in Pine county, Pennsylvania, he moved, while a young man, to Tionesta, Pa., in Forrest county on the upper reaches of the Allegheny river. There he became a lumber raftsman, floating huge rafts of unfinished lumber down the river from Tionesta to Oil City, Pa., a distance of about 26 miles.

Eventually they started their own drilling business with the money they had saved and continued drilling wells there and in West Virginia until Mr. Coleman's brother died a little more than a year ago, at the age of 86.

Now, retired but still in the prime of health for a man of his age, Mr. Coleman, with his wife, the former Miss Lillian Morrow, of near Oakdale, Pa., plan to spend the rest of their lives in ease.

"But there's a little lake about five miles long right near our new home in Cisco," Mr. Coleman said, "and they tell me it's chock-full of fish. You might come down and go fishing with us some time. Or if the fishing isn't so good there is supposed to be plenty of quail. And then if the quail play out there are always those Exas grasshoppers, which grow as big as quail, but maybe aren't such good eating. If worst comes to worst I can shoot those big grasshoppers."

"Uncle Jake" is the last of his family. He had six brothers, all of whom preceded him in death. "Uncle Jake" reaches well past six feet in height and he says all of his brothers were giants; the tallest of them seven feet and eight inches, "believe it or not," he declares.

There are three sons, Clarence Coleman, of Bridgeville, Pa., and Forrest Coleman, of Liberty street, Hartland addition. There are two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Coleman, a nurse in Graham Sanitarium at Cisco, and Mrs. Martha Shell, of Gorman, Tex. Both of the girls graduated from the nurses' training school at St. Mary's hospital.

Despite the fact that many of his sons and daughters will live so near him in Texas, "Uncle Jake" is determined to remain independent of them. He won't live with any of them, but has purchased a "dream house" for himself and Mrs. Coleman, where Clarksburgers unite in wishing them good health and many years of continued happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Coleman are now located at 810 W. Ninth street, Cisco, and the Daily Press and all Ciscoans extend them a hearty welcome.

Mrs. Coleman, by the way, is a sister of Mrs. W. W. Wallace.

No man is as bad as he thinks on the morning after.

Christianity and All Good Causes Are Served Best With Tolerant Attitudes

Text: I Corinthians 5:9-13; Titus 2:1-8.

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

THIS lesson is in two parts, one of which might be called negative and disciplinary, and the other idealistic and constructive.

The first part from Paul's first letter to the Corinthians deals with the matter of discipline within the Church. Paul makes a wise distinction between relationships within the Church and relationships of members toward others in the world outside. Paul had written the Corinthians that they should have nothing to do with those whose practices were contrary to Christian morality and teaching. Some evidently had interpreted this to mean that Christians should virtually retire from the world or assume a harsh and censorious attitude toward all with whom they came in contact.

Paul points out that this was not what he meant, that to require such a course it would be necessary for Christians to go out into the world. What he did mean was that within the Church there must be no compromise with immoral and evil practice. It seems a sound position to take, but one should point out that such disciplinary measures are capable of abuse even within the Church and that the law of love and Christian forbearance does not justify Christians in harsh judgments and attitudes.

If one reads the earlier history of many churches, the impression spreads that there were individuals whose religion consisted chiefly in the thought that they took in disciplinary matters. In general it may be said that the Church has been far relative to adopt Paul's suggestions about discipline than it has been to put into practice Paul's much more important teaching concerning love as the greatest thing in the world.

A good cause is never well served by intolerant attitudes. There is such a thing as being intolerant, even in our advocacy of temperance. I remember attending some years ago a temperance convention in a large city. I had left the main auditorium to speak for a few moments with a friend in the lobby. While we were speaking, we heard from time to time the loud and censorious voice of a rather intolerant man who was haranguing the crowd outside. My friend who like myself was a total abstainer and strongly opposed to the liquor traffic, said to me: "I never hear that man advocate temperance without feeling like going out and having a drink."

If a man so thoroughly devoted to the cause could be rejected upon in that way, what must have been the effect upon others? The temperance cause has been served most ably by those who have had of all projected temperance, and who in their total life and conduct have manifested the beauty and graces of Christian living.

From this standpoint, it is a pleasure to turn to Paul's constructive words in his letter to Titus. Here he sets forth the things which, as he puts it, "befit the sound doctrine." It is a plea for temperance, sober-mindedness, love, and patience, for well-disciplined, noble living, the sort of thing that will never bring shame upon ourselves or disgrace upon the Church. It is as we make all these constructive virtues evident in our lives that we exert the truest influence on others, while attaining what is best for ourselves.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

Scientific receipts for the final session of the week at Fort Worth were posted at 206 cattle, 100 calves, 190 hogs, and 500 sheep. Trade in cattle and calves was only slightly uneven here this week with slowest and weakest on Monday being replaced with good activity and strength later. Compared with last week's close, beef steers and most yearlings were quoted steady to strong, some low grade yearlings at low side, cows steady to 1/2c higher, bulls 25 to 5/8c higher, slaughter calves strong, and stockers 1/2c higher.

Mature beef steers topped during the week at $11.35, yearling steers $12, mixed yearlings $11.75, heifers $11.50, cows $8, bulls $5, killing calves $11, stocker steers $12.50, stocker yearling heifers $11.50, yearling stocker steers $11, and stocker cows $7.75.

The hog market advanced slightly on each of the first four days of the week until about 20 had been added by Thursday when the top hit a new high for the season and since October 1927, at $11.10. However, a quarter was taken off Friday, placing values about even with last week's close. Pigs and sows sold downward from $10. The Saturday top was $10.75 on barrows and gilts. Steady to strong prices were paid in the sheep yards with the spring lambs as much as 2/3c higher. Bulls of the slaughter spring lambs sold from $8.25 to $11, both carloads and truck lots at the latter figure, stocker offerings $8.25 down, slaughter yearlings $7.25 to $7.75, best $8 stocker yearlings $7 down, slaughter aged yearlings $5.25, bucks $4.75, and ewes $4.

Our best defense against the rising menace of the cold, cruel, godless Nazismean philosophy of the superman who is to exterminate the weak and to rid the world of warm-hearted Christian generosity, lies in making our personal lives genuinely Christian. If we take our Christian ideals lightly, if our religion is a casual matter with us, if the Christian virtues of mercy, kindness, sacrifice, the strong bearing the infirmities of the weak, if worship for us is a lost art, then are we doomed to be over-run by some more vigorous philosophy of life. But if we can make and keep our religio vibrant, vigorous, aggressive and passionate, its inherent superiority to all other philosophies will assure triumph. May we be found faithful.
