CISCO, TEXAS, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1941

NUMBER 1

LENINGRAD ALMOST ENCIRCLED, SAY NAZIS

SAM RUSSELL HONORED GUEST FOR LABOR DAY

Congressman Sam Russell of the 17th congressional district was the honor guest of Cisco and the Eastland county Veterans of Foreign Wars Monday on the occasion of Labor Day activities of the V. F. W. in Cisco and at Lake Cisco in the afternoon.

Mr. Russell spoke on the street in front of the headquarters of the Veterans in the Judia building. This talk followed the parade on D avenue and preceded the talk of President Roosevelt which was received and given out to listeners over the sound equipment provided by the V. F. W.

Congressman Russell made the stop-over in Cisco to meet with friends and former buddies of the first world war. He was on a tour of visitation to important towns in his district, to familiarize himself, as he stated, with needs of his district.

Mr. Russell spoke 15 minutes, being introduced by W. H. LaRouque. Following his talk he was a guest of friends at the Laguna hotel for lunch.

Members of the V. F. W. from several surrounding towns were here for the event. Following the parade and speaking in town, they went to Lake Cisco for lunch and a few informal talks.

At the lake they heard Thomas J. Davis, dean of John Tarleton Junior college and president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Capt. E. C. Watson of the tank battalion at Camp Bowie, and Lieut. H. T. Taylor, also of Camp Bowie.

CISCOANS ARE PRAISED FOR USO SUPPORT

Charles J. Kleiner, chairman of the county United Service organization drive to provide recreational funds for army draftees, made a brief talk at the Veterans of Foreign Wars celebration Monday in which he praised the citizens of Cisco for their support of the worthy project.

He stated, however, that Eastland county was far below its quota of $2,400. Cisco's contributions have been good, but other parts of the county are behind.

CALLAHAN DRY, PUTNAM HIWAY DUE FOR REST

Unless an injunction suit is filed before that time, which is not expected now, Cisco traffic over the highway to Putnam will likely be cut considerably after Wednesday night.

For midnight Wednesday will mark the close of legal beer sales in Baird and Putnam, only remaining wet spots in Callahan county, which went dry by a narrow margin in a special election July 31.

Since 3.2 per cent beer was voted out of Eastland county two years ago, the beer drinkers of this county have been driving to Putnam, Moran and Breckenridge for their beer. Most of the trade, though, went to Putnam because of its nearness to Cisco.

With Moran still selling it just nineteen miles north of Cisco, the paved highway between Cisco and Moran is expected to see much more Cisco traffic after Wednesday night. The Breckenridge road will probably be a little busier, too.

SPECIAL SESSION SEPT. 9

AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—Gov. Coke Stevenson this morning formally announced he would proclaim a special session of the legislature to convene September 9.

The governor said a proclamation calling the state's 181 lawmakers to Austin next Tuesday would be issued later today or Wednesday.

He asserted the subject matter he would submit to the legislators would be limited to the road bond issue in which a deadlock in the regular session resulted in failure to re-enact the State Bond Assumption act in any form.

The announcement came as no surprise, the governor having agreed shortly after he was inaugurated, succeeding United States Senator O'Daniel, that September 9 would be an excellent date for an extraordinary convocation.

No members of the legislature, so far as was known, have opposed calling a session to consider the road bond matter. Many have expressed a willingness to compromise.

The last special session, limited to 30 days by law, although there is no provision requiring the assembly to meet the full 30 days, occurred September 27 to October 16, 1937, under former Governor Allred.

The road bond assumption law became inoperative Monday.

As it has operated for the past two years the statute allocated 1 cent of the 4-cent state gasoline tax to payment of principle and interest on county and road district bonds issued prior to September 2, 1939, for the construction of arteries which were taken in as part of the state highway system.

The allocation was more than enough to meet the debt service and the surplus was distributed among the counties on a formula basis for several uses including the payment of debt on locally built roads which did not become part of the state network.

The general session stalemate resulted from House-Senate disagreement on continued disposition of the surplus. The House wanted to continue donating it to counties, while the Senate held out for a policy of assigning it to the State Highway Department for construction of state roads only.

The surplus amounted to approximately $2,500,000 last year and eventually will become larger unless more bonds are made eligible for state debt payment.

County Judge Merritt Gibson of Longview, president of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association, headed a group favoring distribution of the state fund balance among the counties and recently rejected a compromise suggested by the governor, who would like to see the money allocated to the Highway Department, which claims it needs funds to complete roads designated by the War Department as of strategic military importance.

Senator Shivers of Port Arthur, leader of legislators who prefer to see the funds allotted the Highway Department, termed a counter proposal by Gibson "no compromise at all."

RAILROAD STRIKE VOTE RESULT DUE FRIDAY

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Tabulators Tuesday began counting ballots cast by 350,000 operating railroad employees in a strike vote ordered last month after railroad management refused to accede to union demands for a general 30 per cent wage increase. The ballot count was supervised by A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who said the result would be announced Friday.

UMPHREY LEE WILL BE HERE SEPTEMBER 14

Dr. Humphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist university and former pastor of the First Methodist church of Cisco, will preach at the local church Sunday morning, September 14, according to plans announced by the present pastor, Rev. Leslie Seymour, to the board of stewards in their regular monthly meeting Monday night.

This will be a special service celebrating the retirement of the long-standing church debt and pointing the way to the future bright with promises.

Dr. Lee was pastor here at the time the congregation began the construction of the present church edifice. The old original note will be publicly burned, with something of a ceremony and the congregation, with the stewards leading, will sing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

All former pastors and presiding elders have been extended an invitation to attend.

Plans were made Monday night for bringing all current finances up to date by the fourteenth of this month, so that when the celebration is observed the church will not have any unpaid obligations of any kind.

Other announcements of coming events presented to the stewards were the observance of Church School Rally Day, September 21; Promotion Day, September 28, and a special sermon October 12, to be preached by Rev. J. D. Hendrickson, local retired Methodist minister, whose birthday is October 13.

DAVID HUBER SUCCUMBS TO HEART ATTACK

The burial of David Huber, 68, who died of heart attack Saturday, in the Lutheran community six miles south of Cisco, was held Monday afternoon in Albany.

Huber, who was swimming when stricken with heart attack, had previously been reported as drowning, but a coroner's report showed that death occurred from his heart.

He had lived in the Lutheran community for less than a year, having moved there from Albany, it was stated.

The body was brought to Neil Lane's Funeral Home in Cisco following death, where it stayed until 8:30 Monday morning. It was then taken to his home for a short service and an Albany undertaker then carried the body to Albany, where a service for Huber's Albany friends was held at 2:30 p. m.

ARMY OFFICER OF NIMROD WAS BURIED MONDAY

Cecil McCorkle, 26, who died Friday at the Louisiana army maneuvers, was buried Monday at Nimrod.

McCorkle's body arrived on the Sunshine Special in Cisco Monday afternoon and was met by a Neil Lane ambulance which carried the body to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCorkle.

Services were held at 6:30 p. m. at the Nimrod Baptist church, with the Rev. Mart Agnew and the Rev. Nugent Baldree officiating. Burial was at the Nimrod cemetery.

McCorkle, who was an officer in the First Cavalry, Fifth Division, Fort Bliss, had been participating in the Louisiana army maneuvers when he developed an acute complication of bronchitis and died.

CISCO IS SERVING MORE RURAL SCHOOLS THAN ANY SYSTEM IN THE STATE

The Cisco Independent School system is serving more rural schools than any other system in the state, it was disclosed Tuesday in a report to Suppt. R. N. Cluck from the State Department of Education.

The report showed that twenty-three rural schools are sending students to the Cisco schools.

All rural districts served by Cisco have renewed their contracts for the coming year. Mr. Cluck said. He also said that no rural school has ever withdrawn.

Transfer of rural students to the Cisco school system began four years ago and the number sent here for instruction has steadily increased.

The Cisco superintendent estimated that approximately one-fourth of the Cisco system's scholastics would come in from the rural areas this year.

"We will receive per capita apportionment on approximately 2,000 students this year, of whom between 500 and 550 will be from the rural districts," he said.

Miss Bilye Bishop of the Cisco high school home economics department and Miss Vernelle Stimson, teacher of public school music, have secured new positions for the coming year with a considerable increase in pay, Mr. Cluck stated.

Miss Bishop will go to Austin to join the Teachers' Training Division of the University of Texas and Miss Stimson has accepted a position with the Mission public schools.

In Miss Bishop's letter of resignation, addressed to Mr. Cluck, she paid tribute to Cisco school officials, saying: "You have a grand school, and I appreciate the guidance and consideration that I received while working with you and Mr. Stamey, and the school board."

TEXAS LEADS IN CCC CAMP ENROLLMENT

In June there were 16,437 Texas boys in Civilian Corps Camps—8,592 in Texas and the remainder in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming. In that month these boys returned to their families over $230,000 and the government estimated they earned wages in the amount of $986,197.

Pennsylvania ranks next to Texas, having 13,006 boys in camps; Arkansas third with 10,403 and Oklahoma fourth with 9,941.

With recent changes made in rules and regulations, boys are sent to camps every month, and in many instances, when camps are near, every week. Training in national defense work has been increased and all enrollees have greater opportunities to prepare themselves for employment in private industry than ever before.

CCC men are given first consideration by employers for they are already trained in good work habits, are healthy and make willing employees.

Interested young men of good character, between the ages of 17 and 23 1-2 years, should apply at the office of Miss Elsie Glenn, Cisco City Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis White and children returned to their home in Pampa today after a few days' visit with Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. E. McCracken and family.

CONGRESSMAN STUDIES CISCO FLYING FIELD

Following his speech at the Veterans of Foreign Wars celebration Monday, Congressman Sam Russell, with a group of Cisco friends, visited the Cisco airport three miles north of Cisco.

There he was given details regarding arrangements and possibilities of the airport's expansion by H. H. Monk, chairman of the airport committee.

The visiting congressman was surprised at the size of the new airport location, expressing himself as glad to have seen it and to become familiar with its possibilities, "because," he said, "there might come a time when this port could be of special use to the government and I might be of service to both Cisco and the U. S. government if I am familiar with its possibilities."

Russell also expressed disappointment at not being able to meet Mayor G. P. Miteham, his friend, who was absent from the city.

REGISTRAR'S OFFICE OPENS AT JR. COLLEGE

The registrar's office at Cisco Junior College will be open each day of this week from 9:30 to 4 o'clock for students wishing to register or to secure information concerning courses, H. R. Garrett, vice-president and registrar, said Tuesday.

R. N. Cluck, president of the college, has reported that enrollment should reach nearly 200 this year. All teachers in the college will have master of arts degrees.

Much of the problem of financing the college has been cared for with state aid for junior colleges, which has been fixed at $50 per student enrolled for the next two years.

65 H. S. SENIORS ARE ENROLLED THIS MORNING

Sixty-five seniors registered at Cisco high school this morning, it was reported this afternoon by Principal O. L. Stamey.

Juniors will register tomorrow from 8:30 to noon, sophomores Thursday, and freshmen Friday.

The principal said that probably 450 would be registered this week, with the possibility that late registrants would push that figure somewhat.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis White and children returned to their home in Pampa today after a few days' visit with Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. E. McCracken and family.

DUBLIN COACH IS APPOINTED CISCO MENTOR

Mike Murphy, coach at Dublin high school for the past six years, today was appointed athletic director of Cisco high school.

Murphy will coach football and basketball.

The former Dublin coach made an enviable record in Class A competition with his Dublin grid teams, winning 46 games, losing 10, and tying one. He won the district championship three times in six years and was near the top in standings every year. His basketball teams did well, too, winning the championship three times in his six years there.

Murphy has a rough road ahead for the next few days. His first game is only ten days away. The Lobes open the season September 12 with Burk Burnett, a team which is reported to have 18 lettermen for this year.

He will have a few lettermen around whom to build this season's team, and the squad is not expected to be very large. There probably will be between 25 and 30 boys in the squad.

Workouts started Monday morning.

The new Cisco coach expects to receive his master of arts degree from Louisiana State university next summer, having all his requirements, except his thesis.

BLOOD TESTS ARE GIVEN TO SEVENTY-FIVE

Seventy-five Ciscoans were typed in the drive to form a blood pool for Eastland and Callahan counties, attendants at Graham Sanitarium reported Tuesday.

The blood typing, sponsored by the Eastland-Callahan Medical association, ended Sunday afternoon and the number responding to the typing was considerably lower than hoped for.

Efforts will probably be made to get more Cisco citizens typed within the next several days, it was said.

MARINE CORPS WILL RECRUIT CISCO YOUTHS

The U. S. Marine Corps announced today that a temporary recruiting office would be opened at the postoffice in Cisco September 8th and 9th, and in Ranger, September 10th and 11th to accept applicants for enlistment.

The Marines are seeking young men between the ages of 17 and 30 years, with no dependents, who are in good health and have a moderate education.

Men who have registered for the draft may voluntarily enlist in the Marines for the duration of the national emergency. Those men who desire to further their education may do so at no expense to themselves. Vocational schools are maintained where seventeen different trades are taught. The Marine Corps Institute, a correspondence school, offers 173 different courses free to any marine who desires to take advantage of this educational opportunity.

The Marines are offering young men a good opportunity for a lifetime career. Free medical and dental care, free moving pictures, all kinds of sports, adequate pay and steady promotions. Upon completion of 20 years in the Marines one can retire with a liberal pension for life.

Parents of young men are invited to call on the recruiting officer so the advantages offered by the Marines may be explained to them also.

RED COUNTER-ATTACKS SEEM BE SPREADING

(By United Press)

A Nazi spokesman claimed today that a German spearhead had been driven to within sixteen miles of Leningrad and that the No. 2 Soviet city now is almost encircled by close-in Nazi lines which extend in a rough semi-circle from the Baltic to as far east as the Neva river.

The German source claimed that Nazi troops now are battling for the summer suburbs of the big Soviet industrial and naval center and gradually are tightening a noose which is intended to cut off Leningrad from communication with the rest of Russia.

The Nazi claim came in the midst of a spreading series of Russian counter-attacks, particularly on the central front, in the Gomel-Smolensk-Bobruisk sector.

The counter-attacks seemed to be designed to relieve pressure on the northern front, as well as stem the Nazi thrust east of positions which might threaten Moscow and open up opportunities for flanking Soviet positions on the east banks of the Dnieper river.

MRS. BEDFORD MASHBURN IN SERIOUS SHAPE

The condition of Mrs. Bedford Mashburn, who has been in a serious condition in a Ft. Worth hospital, was reported today to be growing steadily worse.

Mr. and Mrs. Mashburn are well known and popular in Cisco, having lived here for many years.

Mr. Mashburn is now a rancher near Cisco.

PITTARD HAS HIS DOUBTS ABOUT STORY

Rev. James R. Wright, popular minister of the First Christian church, tells an interesting horned frog story.

Within a few days, or perhaps it was the next morning, he visited his bucket and found a little frog sitting jauntily on top of the pile of dirt.

And then he goes on to relate another frog incident that happened this summer. Some relatives from Arkansas were visiting him and remarked they would like to have a horned frog to take back home with them.

Evidently Rev. Wright expected to find doubting Thomases in his drug store audience where he offered the story, because he offered as corroborating witnesses Neil Lane, Mart Agnew and Harvey Woodbridge.

Some people live to a ripe old age—others get off of street cars backwards.

FBI MOBILIZATION PLAN FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE WILL APPEAL TO PUBLIC

Quietly the greatest mobilization of law enforcement in the history of the United States is taking place today under the leadership of John Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States department of justice.

In these days of international conflict, suspense, intrigue and Trojan-horse warfare, when our country is engaged in a gigantic rearmament and national defense program, the important role which law enforcement must play in this program has not been forgotten.

This concerted effort on the part of law enforcement can best be illustrated by the fact that in 1940 the FBI held a series of police conferences on national defense in all sections of the United States, a total of 452 conferences in as many cities being attended by 7,096 police executives.

As material evidence of the mobilization of the law enforcement officers of the nation, there has been initiated by the federal bureau of investigation the "FBI law enforcement officers' mobilization plan for national defense."

I, the undersigned, official head or representative of a regularly constituted law enforcement agency, do hereby pledge that I shall always be loyal to my duty, my organization, and my country; that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same and I will constantly strive to cooperate in the safeguarding of our internal security and in the defense of the nation.

The above pledge automatically recruits the thousands of police officers, who have always constituted the peacetime army of the land and is now an active, vigilant, alert army, safeguarding the internal security of the nation.

It is an acknowledged fact that the proper handling of the investigative and enforcement problems incident to national defense and internal security, constitutes one of the important phases of the nation's national defense work and the culmination of the mobilization which the FBI has already initiated.

"The attorney general has been requested by me to instruct the federal bureau of investigation of the department of justice to take charge of investigative work in matters relating to espionage, sabotage and violations of the neutrality regulations.

The president was also motivated in issuing this directive by the realization that during the past World War period various federal and other law enforcement agencies, together with patriotic organizations, independently of one another, operated in handling these matters.

The president's directive was distributed to all law enforcement agencies throughout the country, and the response to the chief executive's request was wholehearted and enthusiastic.

Thousands of complaints relating to national defense matters are being received daily by the various FBI field offices.

For example, on one day as far back as May, 1940, there were as many as 2,871 complaints received in connection with national defense and internal security matters alone.

At these conferences the investigative procedure in intelligence matters has been thoroughly discussed by representatives of the FBI, and the confidential nature of these investigations has been stressed in order to prevent any mass hysteria.

This may be further illustrated by the fact that numerous state, county, and city agencies have organized similar investigative squads, varying in size depending on the organization, and such police officers have been assigned exclusively by their superiors to this type of investigative work.

The quarterly police conferences throughout the nation have been addressed by governors, mayors, prosecuting officials and other prominent citizens in the respective communities.

Comments of one distinguished prosecuting attorney in a large mid-western city are indicative of the tenor of their remarks.

He stated further that "law enforcement must continue to merit the confidence, support and esteem of the public as it has in the past, and with the aid of the American people we will be able to combat successfully all the courses of un-Americanism."

to cooperate in the FBI plan for national defense. Where the police department is relatively small or comprised of one or two men, it has been physically impossible for some of these officers to attend the scheduled conferences and at the same time maintain their vigilance in their towns and villages.

It is indeed a fact that through the long years of friendly relationship with the police of the nation, and as a result of valuable services graciously given to these police, there has grown up a spirit of friendly cooperation between the FBI representing the federal law enforcement and the law enforcement officers of the cities, counties and states which has contributed to the successful mobilization of the FBI law enforcement officers' mobilization plan for national defense.

Many a bridge has been built through the friendly relationship with them, and now at a time of national emergency as proclaimed by our president, we find that the various cooperative functions of the FBI are paying vast dividends in the combined cooperative efforts of all law enforcement officers in maintaining the international security of the nation.

EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

Navy Has Orders to Shoot to Sink If U. S. Munitions Ships Are Attacked

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Service Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The possibility of the United States doing a back-alley entrance into war now looms up with all the likelihood of a night collision at the cross roads when the traffic lights aren't working. It can be mapped out something like this:

Although President Roosevelt, debarking from the good yacht Potomac after the historic conference with Churchill, declared the United States was no nearer war than it had been before, the answer may be that the country was already a darn sight closer to war than a good many people realize. "No closer," in that respect, can also mean that we are "no farther away" from war. Shortly after that it was officially announced that "already many shiploads have left our shores, and more will leave in the immediate future." It is in that last phrase, "and more will leave in the immediate future," that all the danger of a back-door entrance into the shooting match really lies.

Mention of specific ship movements is of course frowned upon by naval censorship. From past announcements, however, it is definitely known that U. S. ships have been carrying supplies to Iceland, around Africa and up through the Red Sea to supply the British war effort, and most recently, across the Pacific to Vladivostok to supply Soviet Russia. From those known ship movements, it can be seen that U. S. vessels are actually sailing the seven seas. Danger can come from any direction, and it isn't telling too much to say that preparations have been made for danger to come from any direction.

For a hypothetical case to show how the United States might easily become involved through the movement of these supply ships, take the most recent sailings to Vladivostok. Any way you chart a course to that Siberian port, you would cross Japanese waters. If those waters are not an active naval combat zone, they are what the Japanese choose to call a neutrality zone, and they are just about as vague and legalistic in this as the United States government is in defining its neutrality zone.

These first shiploads of supplies for the Soviet may be crossing Japanese waters any day now. If the Japanese choose to consider those shipments a violation of their sacred neutrality, there are three things they can do—seize the shipments, sink them, or conveniently look the other way.

If the last mentioned policy is followed, nothing happens. It is the opinion of a good many Washington gold braiders that Japan will let that pass. It was a course of action that has been planned to meet the situation if the Japanese should either sink or seize an American ship en route to Vladivostok.

It is recalled in Washington that at a press conference this summer, the President took considerable pains to give the correspondents a carefully prepared review history lesson on how the infant U. S. Navy drove Algerian pirates from the sea. That declaration was not just accidental. It was a definite statement of present day policy.

Applying that to the affair in Vladivostok, it would follow that if Japan sinks or seizes any U. S. ships en route to Siberia, they would be branded as pirates and the United States Navy would be ordered to go blow them right out of the seas.

When and if ever that happens, the United States would be in a war right through the back alley, without any formal declaration of war, without any delay, without any asking for congressional sanction, without, at first, even an expeditionary force. It would be merely a naval action to clean out pirates.
