PEACE CHANCE SLIM

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. — The basic differences between the national policies of the United States and Japan were emphasized today by Secretary of State Cordell Hull at a press conference, when he charged Japan with setting up military despotism in conquered countries.

Mr. Hull pictured Japan as depending on force and conquest and oppression of conquered countries.

Hull stated that the months-long exploratory conversations with Tokyo representatives had never yet reached a stage where actual negotiations toward peaceful settlement of U. S. and Japanese issues could be undertaken.

Mr. Hull's remarks were interpreted as representing a pessimistic official view of the outcome of the present tense situation involving the two countries.

Assistant Secretary of Navy Ralph A. Bard, in an address Tuesday night at Norfolk, Va., asserted "the Pacific is like a tinderbox."

The navy, he said, was not underestimating Japan's power, and "in the regrettable event of trouble in the Pacific that trouble will not be a minor one."

Semiofficial comment in Tokyo continued disquieting. The government-dominated press harped on the charge that the ABCD powers — American, British, Chinese and Dutch — were mustering their strength in the South Pacific to thwart Japanese aspirations.

MALE "BRIDE" IN TOILS—Justain Butman, above, of Mount Etna, Ia., was just a "pure, hard working, kind hearted girl," to potential "husbands" he contacted through matrimonial bureau, according to police. Witnesses said he'd promise to arrive C.O.D. and had obtained "carfare" from several victims.

DESERT BATTLE SHIFTS

The trend of the battle for Libya appeared today to be shifting to the advantage of the Axis—at least momentarily—but on the Eastern front the Red army was reported to be fighting off three strong German drives toward Moscow.

The Red army also is reported advancing westward in its Ukraine counter-offensive, according to Kuibyshev dispatches, having driven the Germans back from Rostov toward Tanagerog, which is believed to have been recaptured, inflicting heavy casualties on the fleeing enemy.

Fighting in the African desert is less intense as the British fell back for "strategic repositioning" of their forces following an Axis breakthrough in the Sidi Rezegh area south of Tobruk.

British reinforcements were reported pouring into the vast, shifting battle area, but positions remained confused.

GIDEONS WIN OUT.
DALLAS, Dec. 3.—Permission to place 1,550 Bibles in the city's public schools—one on each teacher's desk—was given the Gideons Tuesday night by the Dallas board of education. The board will notify teachers that the Bible can be read at any time by them, but "without comment." Dan D. Rogers, a board member, said it might be a good idea for the students to hear at least five minutes of Bible reading each day.

R. N. CLUCK OF JUNIOR COLLEGE LIONS SPEAKER

Cooperating with the Cisco trade expansion campaign, the Putnam public schools were to have brought the program to Cisco Lions today but, for some reason, did not report, so an impromptu lesson on Lion Education was brought following an announcement by President R. N. Cluck of Cisco Junior college, who was a guest of the club.

Mr. Cluck spoke of the importance of legislation supplementing funds for junior colleges which was passed into law last spring. Cisco and Ranger are arranging an appreciative dinner for Eastland county legislators and senator of this district as soon as a date can be agreed upon. It was urged that members of the two service clubs and members of the chamber of commerce, as well as all friends of the junior college, attend this dinner when held.

The remainder of the hour was consumed with questions and answers on Lion Education.

During the business session it was agreed that the Lions club dispense with the usual Christmas tree and donate the usual funds to a tree for the Cisco nursery school.

Lion Latson announced the illness of Lion Stanley Webb.

HONOLULU BUSY AS KEY CITY IN ISLAND DEFENSE; PEACEFUL HAWAII GONE AS GUNS ROAR

HONOLULU, Dec. 3.—Peaceful Hawaii—with big guns booming, warplanes droning overhead and defense works springing up like magic—is taking on the combined attributes of a war capital and a boom defense town, but the situation is neither as acute nor as romantically dangerous as some reports recently circulated on the mainland would indicate.

Honolulu, crossroads of the Pacific and site of the base of the United States Pacific Fleet, is ideally located as a rendezvous point for transpacific convoys.

The big guns of Hawaii's coast artillery and the batteries of the fleet often are heard in practice firing, which rattles the windows and dishes of Honolulu homes. War planes are so common in the Hawaiian skies that only the visitor of a few days bothers to look up as they roar past.

Practice Blackouts.
Several nights a week searchlight beams stab the sky as anti-aircraft defenses are put through practice paces. Pearl Harbor, the giant fleet base; Schofield Barracks, the huge army post, and other army and navy centers of often stage practice blackouts while the whole Territory blacked-out under simulated air raid conditions one night last summer.

It is not unusual to see steel-helmeted and armed soldiers standing guard at bridges and vital installations at various points in the islands, as the army had been on a more or less continual "alert" for more than a year.

Residents of Hawaii take all this and the discomforts caused by overcrowding as a result of the influx of huge numbers of defense workers as part of the situation necessary to the present critical world situation.

Local residents are not much worried about what Japanese-Americans in the islands will do and, on the basis of oft-repeated statements by high army and navy officials here, the military services are convinced of the loyalty to the United States of a majority of the Hawaiian Japanese-Americans.

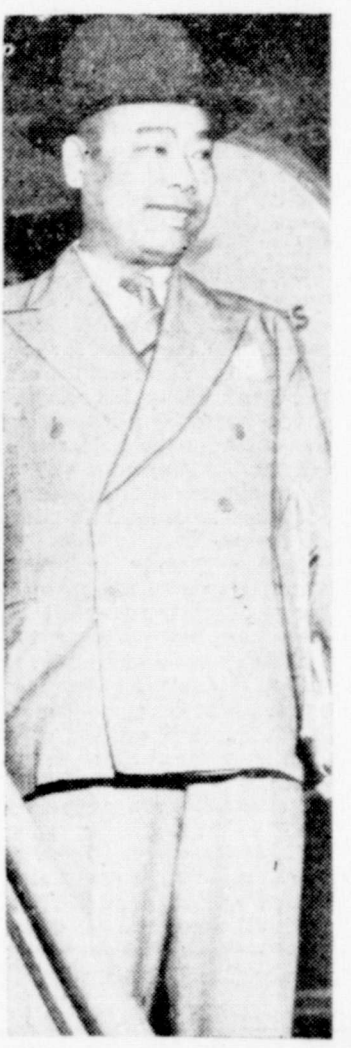

Censorships.
Censorship of a type is a recognized fact in Hawaii. It recently was announced that steamer mail schedules no longer will be published, while the navy recently requested press associations, newspapers and radio stations in the Territory to refrain from making public the movements of commercial surface vessels to and from Hawaiian waters, with the exception of tourist ships traveling between Hawaii and the West Coast of the mainland.

Some Hawaiians have voiced displeasure at a bill recently sponsored in Congress by the War Department, which would give the president power to declare martial law in Hawaii and Puerto Rico whenever a state of emergency exists or invasion threatens. These people point out that the Territory recently passed an M-day bill giving the governor power to set up an organization to cope with an emergency situation and giving the governor almost dictatorial powers. They also pointed out that the governor, as an agent of the president and appointed by him, already has power to declare martial law.

Others assert that it is the War Department's business to know what is best for defense of the nation and these islands and say the Territory should support any request along those lines made by the army and navy.

A huge growth in population due to an influx of defense workers as well as families of the enlarged army and navy forces in the islands, has resulted in overcrowding of Honolulu, where rentable houses are difficult to find and the traffic problem has become so serious that a system of one-way streets in the downtown area has been introduced.

The services are attempting to meet this problem, however, with housing projects, including ones at Pearl Harbor and nearby Hickam Field, an army air base, which

OFF FOR HOME—Dapper U. Saw, Prime Minister of Burma, pauses for camera as he disembarked from air liner in San Francisco, en route home after circling the world. He visited both President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill. Burma wishes to be an English dominion.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. — The house appropriations committee today approved the $8,243,839,031 supplemental defense bill which will provide money for expanding the army immediately to 2,000,000 men and raise this country's expenditures during the war to $67,990,254,906—more than twice the amount spent during World War No. 1.

The bill, which carries funds for army, navy, lend-lease administration, defense housing, highway, power and flood control projects, will be approved this week by the house.

RAILWAY PACT BE ACCEPTED IT IS THOUGHT

FT. WORTH, Dec. 3.—Members and officials of railway brotherhoods here were certain Wednesday that their representatives will vote to accept the compromise wage agreement which will put an estimated $1,000,000 a year additional into the pockets of Ft. Worth railroad workers.

General chairman of the operating brotherhoods were on their way to Chicago where representatives of the organizations from all over the nation will vote on the proposed settlement. Chairmen of the non-operating brotherhoods held themselves ready to answer a call to a meeting they expect to be set for early next week.

Only uncertainty in the minds of rail workers here was due to lack of information as to whether the settlement calls for the railroad management to drop its demand for a revision of the protective rules built up by the brotherhood over a period of 40 years. This demand was one of the things which led the brotherhoods to balk at the settlement previously proposed.

Workers here also looked forward to receiving $250,000 in back pay for the three months preceding Dec. 1 under retroactive terms of the agreement. Under the compromise plan, the back pay will be computed at the lower rate proposed in the previous recommendation of the fact-finding board appointed by President Roosevelt.

AMERICANS WARNED.

HONG KONG, Dec. 3. — The United States consul general Wednesday advised all Americans whose presence here is not essential—particularly women and children—to leave this British crown colony as soon as possible. A similar warning was issued by the Hong Kong government Monday to all civilians.

It is no excuse to say that a blundering official means well. He declared himself able to do the job when he accepted it.

PRIEST RETURNS FROM 8,000-MILE TRIP INTO ARCTIC AREA; ESKIMOS INTELLIGENT, HAPPY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—Returning from an 8,000-mile exploratory trip into the Canadian Arctic, Father Artheme Dutilly of the Catholic University of America described the Eskimos of that country as "very intelligent and happy" and said that the most civilized person from this country would find himself living, eating and traveling exactly as the Eskimos do it placed in a similar environment.

"It is not a matter of civilization that determines living conditions, but rather it is the climate, soil and general habitat that necessitates the so-called primitive way of life," the priest-naturalist said in an interview with the United Press.

"The Eskimos are a very intelligent people, and any intelligent person would adapt himself to his environment in the same way. There are no trees. Hence, one must use the only other available building material for a home—snow."

"Dogs are as important and necessary to them as a tractor or a team of horses to a farmer; kyaks are ideal for maneuvering among the ice blocks in searching for and harpooning seals; food is not cooked because they cannot afford to lose an ounce of the vitamin content and still survive the rigorous winters."

Travels 8,000 Miles

Father Dutilly left the United States last July, traveled 8,000 miles in four months by schooner, motor boat and steamship, and touched at 18 stations on the Hudson Bay shores and Greenland to gather specimens for his study of the habitat of the Eskimo. He explained the lack of communal life during the winter as "another condition imposed by nature." The Eskimos must spread out in winter in order to seek out animals and do their hunting. In summer, they gather at trading posts and form a happy, congenial community.

"If they have food to eat, they are 'millionaires,' the happiest people on earth."

Father Dutilly explained that the Eskimos have a very specialized economy that is of importance to the United States. "Fur is their primary industry, and its import is of considerable economic value." Silver, white and blue foxes, bears and seals are the more profitable animals hunted.

Vague on War.

The Eskimos are vaguely aware of the conflict raging among the white men, the explorer related, but do not comprehend the extent of the war nor the magnitude of the implements being used. They have radios and listen to newscasts at the trading posts but these must be interpreted for them.

Father Dutilly returned to Washington with a variety of rare botanical and geological specimens. He brought back to the university upwards of 2,000 sheets of arctic plants, an assortment of arctic birds' eggs, portions of Eskimo food, and samples of parasites from dogs, salmon, trout and other fish native to the region. He began his series of yearly expeditions in the arctic regions in 1933, and has now conducted explorations in 165 separate stations, traversing a total of 75,000 miles by land, water and air transport.

ST. ODILIA, BLIND DAUGHTER OF FRANKISH LORD, PREDICTS RISE AND FALL OF ADOLF HITLER

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 3—If you believe the eighth-century prophecies of St. Odilia, the present war will end only when Germany is invaded and Hitler's armies lose confidence in him.

The Rev. J. O. Stack, O.M.I., has become an authority on the forecasts of St. Odilia, the blind daughter of a Frankish lord who became a nun and founded a convent. About 700 A. D. she wrote a letter to her brother, predicting aerial warfare and a period of terror. She wrote:

"It will be the time when Germania will be called the most belligerent nation on earth. There will spring up from its womb the terrible warrior, who will undertake war on the world. . . . The conqueror will come from the banks of the Danube. . . . He will win victories on land and sea, and even in the air.

"His winged warriors will be seen in unbelievable attacks to rise up to the firmament and seize the stars and throw them down on towns and light gigantic fires. "The conqueror will have attained the apex of his triumphs in the middle of the sixth month of the second year of hostilities. In the flush of victory he will say, "Accept the yoke of my domination." But his enemies will not submit and the war will continue.

"The second part of the war will equal in length the first half. . . . the third period will be the shortest duration and the victor will have lost the confidence of his warriors. This will be called the period of invasion because the country of the conqueror will be invaded in all parts and laid waste in retribution for his and his ungodliness." St. Odilia closes her on an optimistic note. "Because men will have terrible abominations in their generations will be more of it."

Christmas Gift Suggestions

SOMETHING TO BLOW ABOUT
This young lady has a happy solution to her Christmas gift problem. The tiny hat, made to be used for an ash tray, is one of a series of miniatures created to be packaged with hat gift certificates. The lucky man is bound to be pleased, for he'll choose his own hat in the size and style he wants. The give-away for Christmas notion has grown rapidly with the advent of these miniatures, for a hat is a lasting gift, not likely to be duplicated, and one that gives pleasure for days to come.

WATCH THEM GROW — Each of these tiny hats means that there will be a new derby, snap brim or mountain hat, adorning some masculine head come Christmas time. Made to accompany gift certificates, they have in two seasons become favorites for holiday giving. They are as satisfying to give as they are to get, for hats make different gifts, unlikely to be duplicated.

STERLING SILVER R.A.F. HAT EMBLEMS MAKE CUTE XMAS GIFTS—These imported sterling silver R.A.F. hat emblems make most attractive Christmas gifts for the men in your family. They come in a variety of forms—wishbones, horse shoes, and the R.A.F. circle emblem to lend ZIP to his Winter hat.

DEFENSE BRINGS PROSPERITY BUT WORKERS LIVE IN SLUMS

DUQUESNE, Pa., Dec. 3.—The defense boom has brought "prosperity" to this hilly steel town of 21,000, but it has only aggravated slum conditions which find fifty per cent of the population living in "substandard" dwellings while excess cash jingles in their pockets.

Overlooking the murky Monongahela river, whose banks in the Pittsburgh area are lined with giant steel mills, the city of Duquesne is dependent almost entirely on a plant of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., which is engaged in turning out huge defense orders.

Practically every employable male now is at work in the mill, but the improved job situation has not worked any change on the poor housing conditions. A survey conducted by the Works Progress Administration, revealed that of 4,392 homes in the community, 2,211 were sub-standard.

Twenty-two WPA field workers made a house-to-house canvass to obtain the figures, interviewing in the process 4,740 householders, and their results were analyzed by 20 statisticians and clerks.

FORMER CISCO PASTOR STARTS 4TH YEAR AS PRESIDENT GROWING M'MURRY COLLEGE

CISCO, Dec. 3.—Dr. Frank Turner began this week his year as president of McMurry college.

During the coming year, an intensive campaign to realize the $300,000 permanent endowment fund will be vigorously pursued.

Dr. Turner said today. Pledges of $100,000 have already been made by five Abileneans, members of the McMurry board of trustees, contingent on the $200,000 being raised within the allotted time, March 1, 1943. Dr. Turner is convinced that this amount can be raised.

At a recent session of the Northwest Texas conference, Dr. Turner inaugurated the living endowment program which is to serve as a source of maintenance until such time as permanent funds can be secured. Preparations are being made to put it into effect throughout both the Northwest Texas and the New Mexico conferences.

Among the additions made to the school during Dr. Turner's tenure as its chief executive, are the erection and payment of the president's home at a cost of more than $11,000; the addition to the Radford Memorial auditorium; the gift of the concert grand three manual electric organ and a soundproof studio to house it; the paving of streets on and about the campus; the purchase of the Radford art building adjoining the campus; and the lights on Donaldson Field.

Latest gift to the college is the R. W. Miller collection antiques which is one of the most extensive in this part of the country and comprises some relics that are almost invaluable. Plans are now being made to provide adequate housing for the collection.

Largest individual gift to McMurry college since its founding, that of $72,250 in oil payments made this fall by Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Jay of Abilene, came during Dr. Turner's administration.

Since coming to the college, Dr. Turner has inaugurated a maintenance program which is conference-wide and which has greatly improved the financial condition of the college. This program during the past conference year yielded over $12,000 for maintenance and improvement.

Dr. Turner gives it as his conviction that "the position of McMurry college was never more secure or its challenge never greater."

YATES POOL IN PECOS COUNTY IN 16TH YEAR

FORT STOCKTON, Dec. 3.—One of the world's greatest crude oil reservoirs—the Yates pool of Pecos county—has entered its 16th year of production.

The Yates pool is significant for its constant production but even more significant as the birthplace of modern proration, a scheme used to conserve the nation's resources of "black gold."

Opened in 1926, it took three years by the trial and error method to formulate the plan of conservation. Fifteen companies agreed on the plan which preceded the program now administered on a state-wide scale by the Texas Railroad commission.

Under the plan, the Yates pool potential became scale for the entire area rather than basing the scale on individual well potential. This feature removed the premium on dense drilling of wells, and encouraged the drilling of only one well to each 40 acres.

Another provision prohibited drilling of any well more than 285 feet into the lime reservoir and thereby saved the pool from infiltration of water seepage. In addition engineers' approval was required before wells could be shot with nitro. Today only 36 wells in the field have been shot and only 89 given the acid treatments.

That the plan paid producers can be proven by statistics.

In some of the pools opened in the hey-day of oil activity, more than half of the wells no longer produce, but in the Yates only 38 of the 357 wells are dead. After 15 years of productivity, the Yates still pumps a daily allowable of 21,984 barrels. Other fields have become "stripper" areas, but not the Yates. It is estimated that more than 700 million barrels are yet to be recovered.

The field has averaged 461,496 barrels per well or 12,853 barrels per acre for the 22,000 acres.

In addition to being the birthplace of proration and one of the TRENTON, Ga., Dec. 3.—The "sweat box" death of a negro prisoner is going to cost former Warden C. A. Jacobson of the Rising Fawn prison camp three years in the penitentiary unless a Dade County court verdict is set aside or modified.

A superior court jury convicted Jacobson Tuesday of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Prisoner Lewis Gordon. The former warden was released on $5,000 bond pending argument on a motion for new trial.

Jacobson told the jury he ordered 22 prisoners confined in a 7x7-foot "sweat box" or "hot house" as punishment for a sit-down strike while they were on road work.

He contended the prisoner died from shock from being placed under a cold shower by other convicts after he was carried unconscious from the confinement cell.

Cisco Country a Haven For Those Who Wish To Retain Health and Vigor as Their Years Multiply

(From Cisco American, June 8, 1922.)

The city of Cisco, which was laid out and organized just forty years ago, is without doubt one of the healthiest places in the world.

The Cisco American is convinced, and from time to time will produce good evidence to back up its claim, that there are more healthy, hearty men and women in this city—men who have passed the 70-year mile post and are still leading active lives—than can be found in most cities of double the population.

Whether it is our altitude of nearly 1,800 feet above sea level, the good water we drink or the ever-glorious, revivifying West Texas air, the American is at a loss to determine. But true it is, nevertheless, and doubting Thomases from afar may come and see and know it for a fact.

Although unpardonable and a slap at our boasted charity and unselfishness, it happens in some communities that those termed "the old folks" are neglected in the pace of the younger generation; or at least those referred to often form the impression that the feverish haste of 1922 has no time for their recollection in writing its history of man's works. It is to call the names of these old-young people of Cisco to the remembrance of one another, and to the younger element of the city, that the Cisco American will feature each week, for a time, the names of some of those who have passed the sixty-fifth milestone of their trip through life, giving data as to when and where they were born and their present avocations.

The first list of those who for years have done their bit in making Cisco an admirable place in which to live, is as follows:

N. A. Preston—Born in Illinois; 90 years of age; came to Cisco in 1882; hale and hearty; has a fine appetite; eyesight a little impaired. Mr. Preston says he wants to live many more years. He is a survivor of the Civil war, his father was in the War of 1812, and his great-grandfather was a veteran of the Revolutionary war, in 1776; he had a son in the Spanish-American war.

O'DANIEL AND THOMPSON ON RECORD AS FAVORING BETTER OIL PRICES AND MORE OIL

AUSTIN, Dec. 3.—There is a strong feeling about the Texas state capitol that something soon will "pop" in the oil situation.

Railroad Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson has conducted a campaign for more oil and for higher oil prices ever since he returned from military duty to his civil office.

At proration hearings, Thompson has advocated all the production possible in the oil fields without causing physical waste. He flew to Washington to appear with Texas operators asking the federal price administration to up its sights on oil prices.

The chairman of the Texas commission has no greater power than any other member of the three-man board. Commissioners Olin Culberson and Jerry Sadler, united in this situation, form a majority opposition bloc to Thompson.

Culberson and Sadler say that personally they are for higher oil prices, but that the commission has nothing to do with price. They say, also, that they do not believe in "publicity patriotism" and that the allowable oil production in Texas will be raised with their votes only when there is a national defense need for more oil, and that need is communicated to them by the proper authorities.

In the oil controversy, two former political rivals are taking the same side. U. S. Senator W. Lee O'Daniel wrote to the Texas railroad commissioners that he was receiving many complaints about inadequate prices for oil and restrictions on oil production. He mentioned a feeling that the commission was permitting its functions to be usurped by the federal bureau of mines.

Thompson replied: "You are absolutely right in your statement that there is a general demand and a real need for an increase in the price of crude oil at this time."

Sadler and Culberson said that past records of the commission refute any idea that it has been governed by the federal bureau of mines in limiting oil production. A consistent production greater than the federal bureau estimate was noted.

Thompson twice was runner-up to O'Daniel in races for governor, and the alignment of the two former political rivals naturally cause capitol comment.

Noticeable, too, about the capitol has been a growing revolt against federal bureau of mines estimates. Their accuracy as a guide to future production has been challenged openly at oil proration hearings.

The estimates are based on past performance, seasonal changes and various correctional factors. One complaint has been that some states get credit for the amount of oil drawn out of storage in totaling the demand while Texas has not received this credit.

Despite denials of bureau control, there are heard at proration sessions frequent warnings by prominent oil men that "if Texas does keep its production in line with the federal estimate there will be federal control."

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson has been given a new incentive to continue his pipe smoking. Three pipes were added in the past week to his already large collection. Two have his name cut into the bowl.

The third is a corncob pipe with an elongated bowl and a curved stem. It was presented by State Liquor Board Chairman W. J. Townsend of Lufkin.

After attending a liquor board meeting, Townsend called on the governor at his office. Townsend assured the governor that if he would smoke the pipe just twice he would have no opponent in the Democratic primary election next summer. The pipe holds almost a tin full of tobacco as promised by Governor Stevenson himself to smoke it if the promised results could be obtained.

Just how the pipe is to bring about the result, Townsend did not explain, but since burning red candles overcame the hex for the University of Texas football team at College Station nobody here questions anything about the occult.

House Speaker Homer Leonard has decided to ride a poor hand at thumping a pipe.

Leonard wanted to go to Comanche this week with Gov. Coke R. Stevenson for the dedication of the Comanche county court house. Just as the governor was starting

HEREFORD QUINTS.

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 3. — The Hereford was just a range cow and never had a name. But Rancher Stanley Reeves thinks he'll call her "Mama Dionne" from now on. The seven-year-old cow gave birth to quintuplet calves, but all five were dead. The multiple birth was the greatest ever recorded in this area.

Sometimes it seems that a nation is like a small boy who is a good friend to a boy who can whip him. A nation just naturally respects big guns more than it does hearty handshakes.

HALF MILLION BARRELS FROM 204 OIL WELLS

HAWKINS, Tex., Dec. 3. — On the 29th day of December last year the Jackson and Rotondi No. 1 Cobb heirs came in as a rich oil producer and the Bobby Manzoni No. 1 Lee Bell blew out as a wild gasser.

Thus was the Hawkins oil field, the Woodbine pool, assured and now, nearly a year later, the area has produced more than half a million barrels of crude from 204 wells.

The production will be nearly three-quarters of a million barrels by the time the first anniversary day rolls around.

Geologists estimate that the Hawkins field runs 25,000 feet north and south and 20,000 feet east and west.

LITTLE FACTORIES.

The weakest spot in our national defense operations has been the failure to spread work uniformly through the productive system. Big business... big contracts and is doing well with them, but little business hasn't a fair chance. So the big factories are humming and the little factories, in large numbers, are idle or working at less than capacity.

This situation keeps a lot of people out of work when they should be working and slows down the whole system. As a defense problem and as a human problem, it is essential to get all our productive capacity busy and keep it busy, in the little factories and the little towns just as much as in the big factories and the big towns.

The president knows this, and William Knudsen knows it, and Floyd Odlum in the contracts division of OPM knows it, but still the matter is snarled up with red tape in Washington. The whole production system of the country must work as one team. If it can't be done by finesse, it may have to be done with a club.

SCIENCE AND FREEDOM.

The cause of science and the cause of freedom are one. That vital point was made recently by James Conant, president of Harvard university.

"Since the fifteenth century," said Dr. Conant, "three major developments in human society have gone hand in hand—the rise of modern capitalism, the development of science, and the evolution of free institutions. Without science neither a business civilization nor the social philosophy of liberalism could have come to pass. And, conversely, without liberalism, science could not have blossomed and endured. Three paths of development—political freedom, free enterprise, science—run parallel. If we value a continuation of scientific advance, I do not see how we can fail to be concerned for the preservation of both free initiative and free democratic institutions.

"Dreams of new adventures and new conquest of the material universe can find their realization only in the labor of free men."

It is not by chance that science has reached its greatest flower in the democratic world. That is true in all fields of scientific endeavor—chemistry, medicine, physics, astronomy, and the rest. It is not by chance that the greatest scientists of the Old World have fled the dictator countries, whenever possible, and have come to the New World. True science cannot flourish under regimentation. True science cannot long endure in the total state.

Here in our own country some of the greatest scientific advances in the history of the ages are made. And science, in all its fields, will continue to advance here so long as we remain a nation of free men and free enterprise.

FARM BOOKKEEPING.

Farm accounting is one of the things rural young people may study in their 4-H club work. Some of them do so well with it that their home farms produce more cash profits for the family.

Thaddeus Obal of Belleville, Ill., is an example of this. He is 19 years old now and attends the state college of agriculture, but he has worked with his farmer-father for years. He has done more than keep track of expenses and income. He made a detailed analysis of the farm on which they lived and found that, in order to make it pay well, they needed to increase the size of their farm business, adjust crop and livestock production and adopt better livestock feeding and management methods.

The success of his analysis and its follow-up in action has won Thaddeus various public honors, including a position in the agricultural economics department at the college.

Now, what curious outsiders would like to know is whether the young man will continue practical farming or become a teacher in the farm school. Maybe he can do both.

BEAUTIFUL MUSIC.

Mount Vernon Optic-Herald: Center of attention for followers of a different sport was the little community of Lone Star this week, as the South Franklin woods echoed to the baying of 120 of the finest hounds in this part of the state, tearing out after a few unhappy foxes. It takes an initiated hunter to enjoy the baying of a foxhound. They tell of the hunter who took a friend out with him one night as a special treat. The two sat by the campfire and listened to the bell-clear notes floating over the hills as the hounds found a trail and set out in pursuit. "Isn't that the most beautiful music you ever heard?" asked the hunter. "I don't know," said his friend. "I can't hear a thing for those darn dogs barking."

PRICE CONTROL.

Star-Telegram: The hopes for effective price control by law seem now to lie with the Senate, where a Democratic-Republican coalition is being formed toward that end.

Republican Senators McNary and Taft and Democratic Senators Glass and Barkley are holding conferences with a view of agreement upon a proposed law that would curb the rising cost of living and avert inflation. It would be better for price control to have this bipartisan sponsorship than for either party to present an equally sound proposal, because a nonpartisan measure would have more chance of passage and would have the backing of popular support.

In the circumstance that Senators from both parties are meeting to solve the problem of rising prices, there is strong evidence of the pressing necessity for legislation. In the face of the demand for such a law, the House wasted four months in considering a bad proposal from the Administration and then passed an even worse bill which fails altogether to deal with the problems of inflation.

Canada's effort to control prices might well be considered by the Senate group which is working on an effective bill for this country. In Canada, the government has placed a ceiling over all prices and services, and wages have been stabilized at existing levels.

CITY CLEANERS

Detroit will be the hub of the U. S. Army's new "Keep 'Em Flying" Program, which is to be launched late this month. Designed to spur defense production and boost air force recruiting, the drive got under way unofficially in the motor city last week with the premier of the film "Keep 'Em Flying." One of the bright lights of the picture is

Marie McDonald, who is shown here in a scene symbolic of the automobile industry's "Keep 'Em Flying." The Hamilton Standard propellers of the bomber are soon to be manufactured by Nash in Michigan and the company is also preparing to build Pratt & Whitney motor parts. TEXAS BAPTISTS LAUNCH FIGHT TO PREVENT U. S. GOVERNMENT INFRINGEMENT CHURCH RIGHTS

DALLAS, Dec. 3.—Texas Baptists slapped at government infringement upon church rights Tuesday when the executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas appointed a committee to use all Baptist influence upon members of Congress to prevent passage of a bill which would force churches to pay social security taxes on lay employees.

Thomas J. Watts, secretary of the Southern Baptist convention's relief and annuity board, asked the executive board to appoint a committee to deal with the whole question of social security as it would apply to Baptist lay workers. "Once we admit that the government has the right to tax churches for some of its purposes, such as social security, we set a dangerous precedent," he said. "Baptists believe in the absolute separation of church and state, and we contend and are contending continuously against any infringement on this belief."

The board authorized appointment of the committee he requested. It will be the committee's duty to prepare a statement of the Baptist position, and to use all Baptist influence to persuade members of Congress not to support such legislation.

The statement, when prepared, will be transmitted to Washington through A. D. Foreman Sr., Houston, president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

In the course of the debate over Dr. Watt's proposal it was pointed out that the last general convention made provision for caring for educational directors, generally laymen, under the ministers' retirement plan, and that similar benefits are available to other lay employees through the age-security plan of the denomination.

During the morning and afternoon sessions of the board meeting at the Baptist Building the group elected Dr. Porter Bailes, pastor of the First Baptist church of Tyler, president of the board to succeed Dr. Harlan J. Matthews, Marshall, who had served three terms. Dr. T. C. Jester, Houston, was elected vice-president, and the board re-elected Dr. W. W. Melton executive secretary, R. A. Springer, secretary of the State Brotherhood and treasurer of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, was named recording secretary.

College Work.

A long debate over the disposition of Baptist work on state college campuses arose during the meeting. The board last July had voted to discontinue Bible chairs on the campuses of state owned colleges, and in the Tuesday meeting adopted legislation which called for the appointment of a committee to meet with local pastors in the towns affected and restudy the problem. For the interim they appropriated money to continue salaries of Bible chair professors.

A proposal to employ an evangelist to work in prison camps of the state and the penitentiary at Huntsville was referred to the board's executive committee for action. However, the appropriations committee already had set up a $1,200 budget item to cover the salary of such an evangelist.

The budget committee reported a $1,200,000 budget for 1942, $412,000 of which will be used for Southwide causes and the remainder in Texas.

The "Prayingist" Town In America Renders Thanks to God at 10 A. M. Daily

According to American Weekly, "the 5,000 citizens of the little city of Stuttgart, Arkansas, and the farmer folk for miles around are so glad they live in America that they have recently adopted the custom of offering daily prayers of Thanksgiving for their happy lot."

"Every morning at the stroke of ten the little city's church bells ring. This is the signal for a few moments of silent prayer and the men and women of this patriotic community drop whatever they are doing to have prayer together. The theme of their prayer is: 'Thank God, I live in America.'

Prayer Pause Proclaimed
"Mayor Stump, a World War veteran and local grocer, made this habit of daily prayer official by issuing the following proclamation:

"Upon the request of many citizens of our city that we lay aside our worldly duties for a moment each day to be devoted to prayer, I, H. C. Stump, Mayor of Stuttgart, Arkansas, do hereby request each and every individual, regardless of his occupation, to pause for a moment, bow his head and thank God for the fact that he lives in America. . . . 'The churches, both white and colored, immediately cooperated and urged their congregations to join the movement. Now it has spread to the entire town and rice-farming countryside.'

This example might well be followed in every village, town and city throughout the United States. Every person in this country should sincerely say, 'Thank God, I live in America.'

Prayer for Rulers.

And prayers should ascend for those in authority, that religious liberty might continue to prevail in this land.

"Thank God, I live in America where it is still permissible to print, circulate, read, preach, teach, believe and practice the Holy scriptures!"

The Bible is not only the world's most costly book; for it reaches us through a stream of blood which has flowed from the veins of thousands upon thousands of martyrs.

The Bible is the only Book which authoritatively speaks to us of: God, Creation, Satan, Man, Sin, Judgment, Eternal Life, the Holy Spirit, the Church, the Rapture, the Millennium, and Eternity!

In the light of these verities it is no wonder the poet wrote the following lines on the Bible:

"Within this wondrous volume lies
The mystery of mysteries;
Happy the man and blest his case
To whom his God hath given grace
To read, to meditate, to pray,
To lift the latch and find the way;
But better he had ne'er been by automobile from the state capital, Leonard rushed out and tried to wave down the governor. Governor Stevenson, thinking Leonard wanted to talk to him about something, waved back with a cross swing of his arms to let Leonard know that he didn't have time to stop for a conference.

Arriving at Comanche, the governor was warmly welcomed. Then a member of the reception committee asked: "Where is Speaker Leonard?"

They explained that Leonard had promised to be there and expected to make the trip with the governor.

"I had to tell them I didn't know he was trying to thumb a ride when he waved his arm," Stevenson said.

BONNER WANTS TO FINISH JOB STARTED IN 1917

AMARILLO, Dec. 3. — The strong hands of Schley A. Bonner are now helping England in her fight against oppression.

Bonner is a 43-year-old blacksmith who has been twice a member of the United States armed forces and is now going back to help finish a job he started in 1917.

"I was reared in blacksmith shops in Luling," he said, "and I can make chisels, bolts, rods, anything that can be toolled on an anvil."

He also has several related trades.

"I want them to put me to work where I can be most useful" he said before he left for Montreal and Britain.

WE'RE PROUD OF OUR SHERWIN-WILLIAMS SWP HOUSE PAINT

"Some of the nicest looking houses in this town are Sherwin-Williams SWP House Paint jobs—and we're proud of them. We sold the paint and recommended the painter. You can't beat the combination of SWP and a rattling good painter if you're out to buy yourself a handsome, lasting paint job. Drop in at our store for a color card. Ask us, too, about the new SWP Undercoater that seals, 'blanks', smooths out roughest surfaces!"
