HIRAM H. MONK, GOOD CITIZEN AND CAPABLE BUSINESS MAN, IS DEAD AT 37 FROM INFLUENZA

H. H. Monk, 37, district superintendent of the West Texas Utilities company and a resident of Cisco since August, 1937, died suddenly before 10 o'clock last night at Graham Sanitarium. Mr. Monk had entered the sanitarium some 11 days ago suffering from influenza of the most dangerous type. Mr. Monk was born at Clyde, Tex., May 27, 1904, and had been an employe of the West Texas Utilities company for fifteen years. He came here from Childress, where he had also served as a district manager. He was a member of the Masonic lodge, Presbyterian church and the Cisco Rotary club. Well educated, a good business man, friendly and thoroughly sociable, Hiram H. Monk had formed many close ties in Cisco and his sudden illness and death came as a distinct shock to all who knew him.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Frances Monk; his mother, Mrs. L. A. Monk; four sons, Robert, 15; Don, 11 (by a former marriage), of Abilene; and John Michael, 7, and Jerry Allen, 10 months old, of Cisco; a brother, Parks B. Monk, Los Angeles, Calif.; two half brothers, James W. Perry, Tye, Tex., and Frank Perry, Clyde. The body, now at Green's Funeral Parlor, will be removed to the late home of deceased this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and will rest there until Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when it will be carried to the Presbyterian church for the funeral services at 3 o'clock. The funeral rites will be conducted by Dr. Gary L. Smith, pastor of the Presbyterian church, with burial in Oakwood cemetery. Active pallbearers: P. R. Warwick, Nick Miller, R. L. Ponsler, E. L. Jackson, N. C. Huston and Carl Lamb. Honorary pallbearers: A 11 friends of the bereaved family.

WOMEN POLICE ARREST MEN!

Men were conspicuous by their absence on the streets last night during the occasion of Women Shoppers' Night, when Special Chief D. G. Streater, Assistant Chief Bobby Dean and their women helpers took charge of all men who showed themselves, placing them in the special Lions jail for a term of minutes, ending in a fine of 10 cents, which was given to charity. The jail was placed at the corner of Eighth street and D avenue but, finding the light not so good, the first jail full of men were drafted to move their prison further south on D avenue, where persons could better see the faces of those males who had disobeyed the injunction to "keep off the street."

Women patrolled the business streets and gathered their victims to the jail. All seemed to enjoy the fun and gladly paid fines after serving a few minutes in the lockup. Women police swept into their jobs with alacrity and seemingly regretted it when their terms of office expired at 9 p. m. A number of business men offered themselves as easy victims for the occasion, while others found pleasure in outwitting their pursuers. Men's Shopping Night is scheduled for 7 o'clock tonight, when no woman will be allowed on the streets to see what men are buying. Disobedient women will be arrested, jailed and fined.

SHORT NOTICE MIGHT HAVE BLOCKED RAID

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 19.—Secretary Knox, asserting that 30 minutes' warning of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor would have made "all the difference in the world," disclosed Friday that the third and final wave of enemy bombers met such a devastating barrage that it turned away without hitting a single objective. The navy secretary, speaker at graduation exercises for the Naval academy's class of 1942, said Japan's assault on the great Pacific naval base was a "damning account of infamous treachery" such as "was never recorded in the history of the world."

"There is no question at all, in the light of what transpired," he said, "that half an hour's warning of the approach of the Japanese planes would have made all the difference in the world. I say this with considerable confidence because that assault was divided into three attacks. The third assault came two hours after the first one. With all of the resources that were left... we were ready, and that attack never got home. We must take care to indulge only in such generosity as will help our friends and hurt no one... for nothing is generous, if it is not at the same time just." Cicero.

FLYERS MUST HURRY

Sgt. H. V. Parham from the U. S. recruiting station at Abilene, called at the Daily Press office this morning during one of his frequent visits to Cisco. "Lots of young men, here and elsewhere, want to get into the air service," said Sergeant Parham, "but have postponed the step from time to time. "These young men should have the fact impressed that they cannot delay much longer if they desire to choose some particular branch of service. "Within a very short time, possibly ten days, no volunteers will be accepted—all must enter through the draft boards, with no choice whatsoever as to the branch of service in which they will serve. Applications may be made in person at the Abilene recruiting station, or applicants can write to Sgt. H. V. Parham, room 301, postoffice building, Abilene.

PRODUCTION TO START QUICKLY --THOMPSON

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 18.—Col. Ernest Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, estimates the United States has available crude oil above ground for only 50 days, which he described as "dangerously low." Thompson told the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, however, that United States oil production would "get going directly in a way that would surprise even the most optimistic observers." He based his statement of the crude oil situation on figures available as of Nov. 22, revealing a storage of 241,956,000 barrels of oil in the United States. "From this total should be deducted 50,000,000 barrels to fill pipelines and tankers enroute and for charging stocks for refineries. "Then, from this figure, should also be subtracted tank bottoms which are not dispatchable crude. So, it is clear we have on hand less than 200,000,000 barrels of crude oil in the United States at this time. "During the week ending Nov. 29, 1941, the refinery runs were 4,115,000 barrels daily. If you divide daily demand and stocks available, you will see that we have less than 50 days' supply of crude above ground."

HARMONY GIRLS, DIRECTED BY MISS WILDA DRAGOO, PRESENT 'CHRISTMAS-TIDE' SUNDAY EVE

The Harmony Girls, directed by Miss Wilda Dragoo, will present Sunday night at First Methodist church, "Christmas-Tide," an arrangement of familiar Christmas carols for three-part treble voices. Also they will sing "Ave Marie" by Bach-Gounod, accompanied by four violins. The Dragoo violin octet will play several selections, including melodies from Handel's "Messiah" as a prelude and "To A Wild Rose" as an offertory. Miss Betty Slicker is accompanist for the club, which is composed of thirty girls. The hour for this special program is 7 o'clock. At the morning hour of worship the church choir of 25 voices, under the direction of Miss Ella Andrews, will sing the anthem, "O Holy Night," by Adam. Miss Marian Jacobs will sing the solos in this number. Mrs. W. B. Statham is accompanist.

MISS KIMMELL MADE QUEEN OF JUNIOR COLLEGE

Miss Mildred Kimmell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kimmell, was crowned queen at elaborate services at Cisco Junior College last evening. The stage, which was transformed into a beautiful night scene, furnished a decorative background for the court. From behind the scenes, the C. J. C. chorus, directed by Miss Wilda Dragoo, began the program by singing "The First Noel," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Silent Night." The trumpeter, Julie Macias, and the herald, Melba Wood, announced the members of the procession. The processional was played by the Dragoo violin quartet. The beauties and their escorts were Totsy Threault and Howard Linton; Billie Zellars and James Paack; Emma Cone and Glen Burnam; Henry Etta Moss and Edward King; Charlotte McKinney and Frank Judia; Wilma Claborn and Troy Caraway. After the princesses and princes, the prime minister, H. R. Garrett, entered. He was followed by the royal couple who were preceded by the crown-bearer, Joe Stamey. Kneeling on the royal pillow, her majesty was crowned by the prime minister. She, in turn, knighted her escort, Glen Tableman, and presented him a scepter, naming him prince-regnant. The ceremonies were well attended and thoroughly enjoyed and the affair reflected much credit on those who arranged and assisted in carrying out the program.

FUTURE FARMERS.

At a meeting of vocational agriculture teachers of Eastland county and county agents, at Cisco, Wednesday night, plans were worked out for exhibiting the county herd of Jerseys at the Ft. Worth Fat Stock show. The Future Farmers from Eastland county plan to exhibit a group of registered Jersey heifers at the Ft. Worth Livestock show which will be selected at the Eastland County Livestock show to be held in Cisco, February 27 and 28. Three Cisco F. F. A. boys—George White, Jerry Myrick and Jack Myrick—recently purchased a registered Jersey heifer from near Cleburne.

THOSE WHO CANNOT JOIN ARMY AND FIGHT, CAN DO NEXT BEST THING -- ENROLL IN RED CROSS

"The American Red Cross pledged to a major role in the nation's battles—has issued an appeal to citizens of every American community for an emergency war fund of $50,000,000," Edward Lee, city chairman, reminds. "Not since the American revolution," Lee declared, "has our nation faced so great a crisis. Not since it was founded, sixty years ago, has the American Red Cross assumed such vast responsibilities toward the defense of its country."

Every service of the Red Cross, Mr. Lee explained, must be greatly enlarged to cope with the national emergency. More volunteers must be certificated into Red Cross canteen corps, nurse's aide groups, motor corps, and half a dozen other auxiliary squads being trained for rescue work. Already some 3,000,000 men and women in this country have been given courses in first aid. Today, Red Cross first-aid instructors are cooperating with municipal defense officials throughout the nation in teaching first aid to a minimum five per cent of all workers in large factories, stores or business firms. Industries are organizing "disaster corps" to be trained by the Red Cross to handle possible emergencies within their own plants, whether sabotage, fire or other disaster due to enemy action.

NATIVE PECANS SHORT, BUDDED NUTS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—A 1941 pecan crop of 86,201,000 pounds was reported Thursday by the agriculture department. It was 88,426,000 pounds last year.

The crop of unproved (budded, grafted and topworked) pecans was placed at 26,024,000 pounds, 27 per cent larger than last year's production. Production of improved varieties was above average in all states except Louisiana.

Production of seedling pecans was estimated at 60,177,000 pounds, 11 per cent smaller than last year's crop. Below average production of seedling nuts in Alabama, Texas and Louisiana was more than offset by larger than usual crops in other states.

WIRE FLASHES

Allied blows smashed the Axis back in Libya and Russia today, while in the Far East the British gave up the air-naval outpost of Penang and fought desperately with their backs to the wall in the battle for Hongkong.

Evacuation from the little island of Penang, off the west coast of Malaya, was disclosed as the British formed new lines 300 miles north of Singapore and about 150 miles south of Thailand.

In the Philippines the Japanese renewed heavy bombing. They bombed Cavite and Corregidor, in the Manila area, but met intense anti-aircraft fire. Dispatches indicated that Jap landing forces are being contained in the areas of Legaspi, Aparri and Vigan.

Japs bombed Wake Island again, but the marine garrison there is still countering the attacks.

M. D. 4-YEAR COURSE TO BE CUT TO THREE

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Answering a call for men in white, the Nation's medical schools have evolved a plan to lop a year off the usual four-year course, to provide more physicians for America's war-time needs.

Announcing adoption of the plan by 76 recognized medical schools, Dr. Willard C. Rappleye, city commissioner of hospitals and national chairman of the preparatory committee of the Association of American Medical Colleges, estimated 5,000 more physicians would be graduated in the next three years than heretofore.

BEFORE THE DAWN.

Dusk is falling on the great American game of baiting the other fellow. It was a game played by politicians, labor leaders and business men. But it is not a game that can be played in the darkness of war. We are now fighting for our life in this darkness. Tolerance toward any group which hampers our effort, is a thing of the past. We must win the war if we are to see the sunlight of freedom again.

As the bombs began to fall on Honolulu, labor held the whip. Witness the final victory of the C. I. O. in the soft coal controversy—the granting of a closed shop in the captive mines. Labor should now be warned that the time for fun is over. Union leaders must remember that the great body of American workers are just that—American workers. And all Americans have two jobs to do. No one is exempt. The job of war production that we have been doing is but child's play compared to what must come. That is the first job. The second job is intangible. But it will take the labor of all of us if it is to be successful.

THE RED CROSS?

"Will you please tell me who operates the Red Cross?" asks a reader in a letter to the editor. "Is it a government institution? Where does it get its money?"

It seems odd that anyone in America needs to ask these questions. Newspapers tell a good deal about the Red Cross every year, and especially in November when it conducts its membership roll call and raises its funds. Most people know what it is, although some may have forgotten that it was chartered by an act of Congress in 1905.

Its official purpose is "to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war in accordance with the convention of Geneva; to act in matters of voluntary relief and in accord with the military and naval authorities as a medium of communication between the American people and their army and navy; to continue and carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace, and to apply the same in mitigating the suffering caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other great national calamities, and devise and carry on measures for preventing the same."

Holding to those purposes, the work of the American Red Cross has grown and has come to include extensive public education in home nursing, life-saving, accident prevention, and so on. It "gets its money" from the American people, millions of whom joint it and pay $1.00 a year as dues. Others give larger sums to support the work. The war department audits Red Cross accounts and submits an annual report to congress. And thus, year in, year out, in war and in peace, its great humanitarian work goes on.

COD-LIVER OIL.

Lest any children fear they are going to be deprived of their cod-liver oil because of war curtailment of the Norwegian fishing industry, here is reassurance for them. Fishermen of the Pacific northwest have turned their attention to soup fin sharks. The livers of these fish contain highly concentrated deposits of Vitamin A. They are said to be 50 to 100 times as rich in it as cod-liver oil.

In 1938 soup fin livers brought only $7 a ton. Today they are worth $100. So good is the trade that some people are discussing the possibility of raising soup fins commercially. That might work, but we can't believe the kids will like it.

HANDS AND HEADS.

When you stand off a little, mentally, and take a good look at American labor, and then a good look at American capital, it seems absurd that they should be hostile to each other. It even seems absurd that we should differentiate so definitely as we do between the two classes.

For broadly speaking, they are not really different and opposed classes, according to the old concept of one definite set of people working with their hands for wages, employed by a quite different set of people working with their heads and using capital and making profits. We still keep the terms, capital and labor, as useful distinctions; but our American society is flexible and our capitalism is flexible. Our workers and employers are so flexible that it is often hard to tell them apart. A laborer often makes more money than a white-collar worker. A union workman may save his money and buy shares in the company he works for. Or he may go into business, and soon he has changed his social class and himself is hiring labor. The head of the whole body of American industrial production today, William Knudsen, started as a day laborer.

The fluid nature of our economic life is shown further in the fact that thousands of men and women regarded as "head workers" belong to unions affiliated with labor organizations. Machinery itself tends to break down the distinction between hand and head, as more and more factory workers become merely skillful custodians of the machines that do the work.

No more rivets for military tanks—every tank will be a one-piece suit.

Go Get 'Em! San Angelo Standard-Times: World War No. 2 is the first in which the Japanese and Americans have opposed each other. There has been many disagreements between the two nations but in the past they have, at least it so appeared, been settled without the use of "shooting irons." Some of our past disagreements have resulted from iron.

Steel and scrap metal, including "shooting irons" are all to play a major role in this war. In the past the Japanese were very anxious to get as much of our scrap metal as possible. They would always send their boats, many times without a cargo, to America to get this metal and other products needed by the Yellow People.

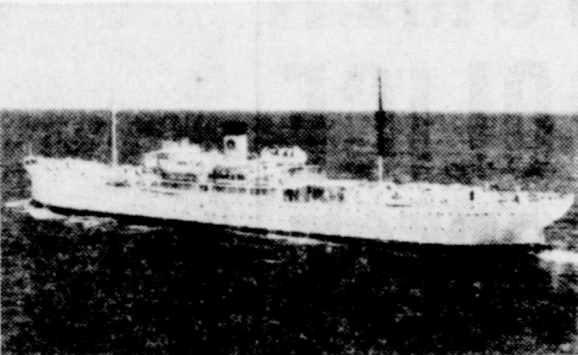

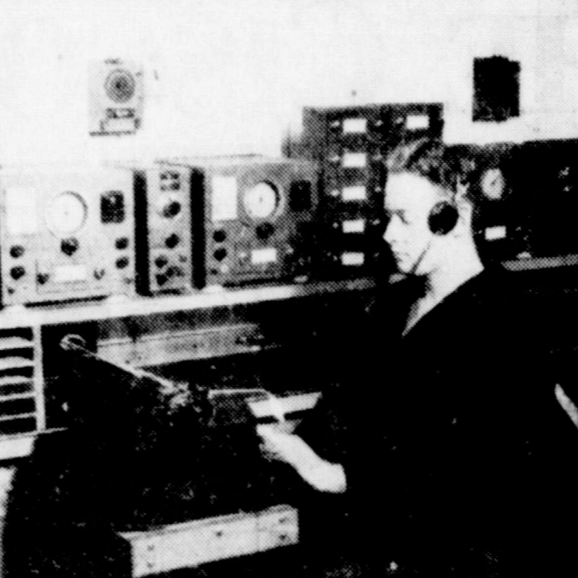

Now that we are in war with Japan let's give the Setting Sun devils more steel, scrap metal and "shooting irons" than they can handle. But we don't want them to come and get it. Let's just load up our major fighting vessels with this scrap, all wrapped in nice little packages of from 150 to 1,500 pounds, take it across the Pacific and dump it on their ports and cities.

LETTERS TO SANTA

Dear Santa: I am a little boy, six years old, and I would like for you to bring me a stream-line train, golf set and a Red Rider gun. Don't forget other little boys and girls. Your Little Believer, CARROL ALLEN, 208 W. Fifth street.

Dear Santa: Merry Christmas to you! I am a little boy, five years old. Please bring me some tinier toys and that big army truck at Collins' and a scooter if you possibly can. My tree will be lighted for you. Thank you, Santa. FRED-DIE HAYES, 201 I avenue.

Dear Santa: Please bring me a pair of boxing gloves and a punching bag. Please do not think I am being selfish, but I want a stocking full of candy. Please do not forget other boys and girls. Your Friend, JOE STAMEY.

The basis of Christmas is the rock, Christ Jesus; its fruits are inspiration and spiritual understanding of joy and rejoicing—not because of tradition, usage, or corporeal pleasures, but because of fundamental and demonstrable truth, because of the heaven within us.—Mary Baker Eddy.

THREE-FLOOR FALL.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 19.—Police officers walking along an Albuquerque street were amazed when Sam Lee, 21-year-old Indian, fell to the sidewalk in front of them from a third story window. They helped him to his feet, found him unharmed and accompanied him to his hotel room. Lee entered the room and promptly started a fight with two friends there. Police said the trio had been drinking.

TOO BIG FOR UNIFORM.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Dec. 19.—The army had no uniform big enough to fit Les McNabb, 294-pound boxer, when he went into camp as a universal trainee. Before he entered camp, authorities told him that until a special uni-

GOVERNOR OF TEXAS STAYS CALM; HE BELIEVES EVERY WARTIME PRECAUTION BEEN TAKEN

AUSTIN, Dec. 19.—Gov. Coke B. Stevenson quietly puffs away at his pipe and seems the most calm person in wartime Austin, because he believes every contingency has been foreseen and every desirable precaution has been taken.

He hasn't come to that conclusion hastily but after going over in detail with military authorities the whole situation, their investigations, preparations and plans to meet any emergency.

The governor's only fear now is that volunteer efforts may cause confusion.

A suggestion that he join in a slogan drive for the war brought to light the extensive investigation he has made. The governor liked one slogan; it expressed his individual feelings exactly, and he would have been greatly publicized by sponsoring the drive. But he told those who suggested the movement that it wasn't in the book.

How well-meaning efforts can be misdirected had already been experienced in Texas. In four cases, Home Defense Guards were called out for duty by non-authorized agencies. If a call for those units had come from the governor through the state adjutant general, they would have been found already on other duty.

There is another reason for the governor's lack of excitement. He thinks it may interrupt the people in carrying on normal work that is vital. "We do not want this nation to have food or clothing rationing," Stevenson said. "It is important that our farmers stick to their plowing; that stockmen continue their cattle raising and sheepmen continue the production of wool and sheepskins."

Officials in various places are receiving too much war mail. A shining example of this was the letter received by Governor Stevenson last week asking him if he would accept appointment as head of the Texas civilian defense. "I thought I had been its head for the last three months," Stevenson said, and asked his secretaries to look up his status.

While the governor technically is commander of the state military forces, he said frankly that he intends to let Adj. Gen. J. Watt Page do all the military directing. "There's no use for me to pretend I know anything about military affairs," he said. "General Page will issue the military orders and I will sign them."

The Texas National Guard, having been called into federal service, is entirely divorced from any control by the governor. Until it is returned to state status, the state militia is the Home Defense Guard.

Above all else, Governor Stevenson has unshaken confidence that the U. S. army will do the job. He believes that if a serious situation should arise in Texas, the state forces sent to combat it would find the army already there and like the marines they would have the situation "well in hand."

But there is no attitude of "let George do it." Whatever the army and other federal authorities want Texas to do will be done. Texas' chief executive doesn't intend to try to quarterback the army team.
