LONG WAR AND A CRUEL WAR SAYS KNUDSEN

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—A plea for even greater production of the weapons of war was before the automotive industry Saturday as Lieut. Gen. William S. Knudsen warned the nation anew to steel itself to "a long war and a cruel war."

Making his first visit to this industrial center since appointment as War Department production chief, General Knudsen, in civilian attire, declared that "plenty of powder and shot" was available but that more guns were needed.

He mentioned specifically anti-aircraft and antitank guns which, he said, would be produced in mass quantity by the auto industry.

Speaking before the Detroit Engineering Society Friday night, Knudsen said there was no doubt as to the outcome of the war. But, he added, "it is about time America got sore" about it.

"Instead of patting the Russians on the back while we have our ham and eggs," he continued, "we ought to start thinking about what we are going to do to that other fellow."

Knudsen predicted that the United States would be "top dog in the air in two years," pointing out that when he went to Washington last June "I never thought that some day we would have 135,000 planes on order."

REINFORCEMENTS MUST COME SOON

A spreading Jap offensive pushed back United Nations' defense lines Saturday at four vital points on a 5,000-mile Far Eastern fighting front.

On the Malaya front Jap forces estimated at 100,000 men forced the British to evacuate the mainland and take up defense of Singapore Island, where they promised a fight to the end, or until reinforcements arrived.

In Burma the Japs pushed to within less than 100 miles of the Burma Road, forcing British evacuation of the strategic port of Moulmein. The Allied forces fell back to defend the east bank of the Salween river.

In the Dutch East Indies a big-scale Jap invasion struck at the important naval air base of Amboina, where a furious battle raged against enemy air, sea and land forces.

In New Guinea, Australia, the mandated towns of Bulolo and Salamauna were heavily attacked as the Jap air force spread its operations over the island's approaches to the vital Torres Strait.

All of these Jap blows — apparently gathering momentum and gambling everything on an early triumph — were aimed at the most vital communication lines and bases of the United Nations.

Counter measures were being taken by the Allied supreme command on Java Island, but the outcome seemed to depend on how soon reinforcements in large numbers — especially air and naval units — could arrive.

The test of a fair income tax is not the rate or sum you pay, but the amount it leaves you to live on.

ACTIVE DEFENSE.

It can probably be assumed now that our country is through with passive defense. Bitter experience proves that sitting and waiting for the enemy to come to you is no defense at all in this blitzkrieg age.

The only perfect defense is to seek out the enemy and destroy him; that is the only method of defense which protects all places equally and thoroughly.

We seem to be learning the lesson. That kind of defense has been illustrated in our naval defense in the Atlantic. It is illustrated now by our air and sea victories in the western Pacific and by the landing of American troops in Ireland, for use as events determine.

It's really an old American principle, based on pugilism. It is called "beating him to the punch." It is also illustrated in the military formula attributed to one of our southern fighters, "Gittin' thar fustest with the mostest men."

First we filled the roads with autos, and now we fill the sky with planes.

ENOUGH SUGAR.

Seldom does retribution come so soon upon selfishness, and seldom does the punishment fit the crime so neatly as in the case of the rationing of sugar. At the mere mention that there might possibly be a sugar shortage, thoughtless, unpatrician housewives by the thousands rushed out to buy sugar in unusual quantities. They were determined to have enough sweet stuffs in their own households—no matter what happened to other people.

But seldom, too, does the community escape so lightly from the results of an anti-social move like this sugar buying. For there will still be enough sugar to satisfy all reasonable human needs. Three-quarters of a pound per person per week will take care of this.

There will be fewer rich desserts in the ensuing months, which will actually benefit children and grown-ups. Servings of cakes and ice cream at parties will be smaller. That will be no hardship. If young and old alike would learn to eat, once more, their bread and butter without jam, they might learn, as the pioneers did, the really delightful flavor of good bread.

The Nazis, who gloried in making the world hate them, are now beginning to want sympathy.

REMEMBER MacARTHUR.

That big naval battle in Macassar Strait may prove to be morally, if not strategically, the turning point of the Japanese war. It cannot be considered another Salamis or Trafalgar, but in sporting terms it rocks the Japs back on their heels, and it gives us Americans and our Allies more hope and confidence than we have felt since the shock of Pearl Harbor. The sturdy Dutch are reassured and Australia is relieved.

It has been proved that, with anything approaching numerical equality in the air on land, the coalition forces arrayed against the Japanese were superior. It is now still more strikingly shown that, with half a chance, we are their masters at sea.

It is only a question now of giving the enemy a great deal more of the same treatment in every branch of combat and on every vital front. Men, planes and materials must pour across the Pacific in a steady stream until the job is done.

The next big job, if humanly possible, should be the relief of General MacArthur and his valiant army in Luzon.

It's 40 below in Russia, but lower than that in the invaders' souls.

USE OF THE SWORD.

Sharpen the sword Till the edge is brittle. Strengthen the steel With marrow and spittle.

Hold the sword As you hold a trust. Though it run with blood Let it know no dust.

And never forget The scabbard's bare. And the sword's right place is waiting there.

—DOROTHY QUICK.

zens of my county than in the office of county judge.

As your county judge I have always looked after the interest and welfare of the citizens and taxpayers of the county; I have kept the expenses of the county within the taxes at every opportunity; in presiding over the county court I have tried to be fair, just and impartial in the trial of all cases.

The county's finances are in excellent condition, we have the best system of rural roads of any county in West Texas and we are continuing the building of rural roads.

Most county officials have deputies who can look after the business while they are away, but the county judge cannot delegate his authority to someone else and when he is out of the office his office must be closed.

Eastland county has never had a county judge who stayed closer to his office and looked after the county's business more diligently than your present county judge. Believing I have made you a good county judge, I am asking that you reelect me to this important office, and if elected I promise you that same faithful, honest and dependable service that I have given you in the past. Very sincerely,

W. S. ADAMSON.

SHOT SKUNKS AS BOY; IS AT IT AGAIN

FT. WORTH, Jan. 31.—The same unerring aim that Matthew Warren Kuykendall used as a youngster to shoot skunks on his father's ranch is now being utilized to knock down Jap planes over the Burma Road where the 23-year-old San Saba man is serving with the American Volunteer Squadron.

Friday news dispatches related that "Kirk" came out of a dog- fight over the Burma Road Thurs- day drenched with oil from a broken fuel line, with his fore- head creased by a Jap bullet, and said:

"Now I'm really mad."

His twin sister, Jeanne Kuyken- dall, an abstract company em- ployee residing at 615 West Third street, says that it is just like her brother and recalled that at the age of 10 he shot skunks out of his native San Saba county cliffs to obtain funds for his first airplane ride.

Christian Science.
"Love" is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 1, 1942. The golden text is: "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (I John 4:16). Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; He will save, He will rejoice over thee with joy; He will rest in His love. He will joy over thee with singing" (Zephaniah 3:17). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is Love." More than this we cannot ask, higher we cannot look, farther we cannot go." (page 6).

Study 10 to 10:45 a. m., singing 10:50 to 11:00 a. m., sermon, "The Way," Jer. 32-39, contribution and communion. Young people's meeting at 6:45 p. m. Evening services, 7:30 p. m. Sermon, "The Misunderstood Christ." Services during the week: Monday evening at 7:30, a business meeting; all men of the Church of Christ are invited. Wednesday evening at 7:30 prayer meeting. Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock ladies Bible class. We need to first listen to God before He will listen to us. He has spoken to us through His word. And Jesus says: "Therefore, whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And everyone that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand; and the rain descended and the flood came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it." Matt. 7-24-27.—L. H. OUSLEY, Minister.

First Baptist.

The following from an English preacher should be alarming. It should cause most serious thought: "We have been a pleasure-loving people, dishonoring God's Day, picnicking and bathing, and now the seashores are barred. We have preferred motor travel to church-going, and now there is no fuel for our motors. We have ignored the ringing of the church bells calling us to worship, and now they cannot ring except to warn us of invasion. We have left our churches half empty on the Lord's Day, and now the buildings are in ruins. We would not listen to the way of peace, and now we are forced to listen to the way of war. The money we would not give to the Lord is now taken away from us for taxes. The food for which we forgot to give thanks, is now unattainable. Nights we would not spend in prayer are now spent in anxious air-raids. The evils of modernism we would not fight, and now we face the Germans in a death struggle, which produced these teachings." In view of such results, the truth of God's plain words ought to sink into people's hearts all over the world: "If my people, which are called by my name, will humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven and will forgive their sins, and will heal their land" (II Chronicles 7:14).

"Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." (Proverbs 14:34). Go to church some where today.—JUDSON PRINCE, Pastor.
