MEN WITH FAMILIES MAY SERVE

TEXAS' VAST DISTANCES, PLUS TIRE AND CAR SHORTAGE, MAY AFFECT PLANS OF CANDIDATES

AUSTIN, Feb. 3.—Texas candidates are looking ahead and if it is necessary they are going to "saddle of Paint" to ride the political trails this summer. This is election year and the mobile and tire shortage is causing a lot of anxiety among prospective candidates. The automobile is the favorite campaign vehicle in the biggest state in the union where population centers are far apart. Train and bus schedules are just another worry which candidates would rather dodge. From Texarkana to El Paso, for instance, the distance is 821 miles and a candidate for state office has to visit both of those cities. From Texline in the northwest Panhandle to Brownsville on the state's southern tip, the highway route stretches 929 miles. A candidate could, as a matter of fact, ride 26,000 miles on state-designated roads alone without traveling the 190,000 miles of side roads to the "forks of the creek" from which Texas voters appear each election day.

ANOTHER YORK — Here's another Sergeant York, who looks as if he'll be every bit as tough as his namesake of first World War. He's Sgt. William York, of 9th Division at Fort Bragg, N. C. He was born near, but not related to, Alvin.

DEPT. OF JUSTICE WARNS

The Department of Justice today warned all aliens of enemy nationalities to take note of the following facts: (1) Aliens of German, Italian, or Japanese nationalities who are 14 years and older and who have not fully acquired United States citizenship must apply at post offices for Certificates of Identification. (2) Applications must be filed at the nearest first or second class or county seat postoffice in the period February 9 through February 28, 1942. (3) Printed instructions for filing applications are now available at all postoffices. (4) When applying for Certificates of Identification, aliens must have their Alien Registration Receipt Card and three unmounted photographs of themselves, size 2" x 2," printed on thin paper, showing applicant's front view without a hat. (5) Postmasters will be glad to lend assistance to aliens of enemy nationalities who need advice or information.

WASTE PAPER BOTTLENECK—Patriotic residents of San Francisco swamped local authorities with bundles of old newspapers and such in response to national appeal. Resultant jam clogged industry and freight shipments and caused dispute over rates and distribution facilities.

B. F. ALLEN PLANS BEING DRAWN UP BY FORMERLY OF CISCO, KILLED DRAFT BOARD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.— Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, told a congressional committee today that an "allowance and allotment plan" is being prepared to make available for armed service "many" men now deferred because of dependency. The proposal, which will require congressional approval, has been worked on by the army and the social security board and will be submitted to congress soon, the draft head said. Hershey testified before the house committee investigating labor migration resulting from war production.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.— Ready to serve the nation are 202 institutions of the Methodist church, pledged by the general board of hospitals and homes to support the war effort. Representing a capital investment of $130,000,000, the church resources were offered at a board meeting Monday to help in any way possible, especially in case of attack. Elected executive secretary of the board was Dr. John G. Benson, superintendent of the Methodist hospital at Indianapolis. He accepted the position temporarily but declined the $6,000 a year salary, explaining that he was paid as hospital superintendent and would serve as secretary temporarily without fee until a permanent secretary could be selected.

CISCO BOY HAS IMPORTANT JOB ON HUGE TASK

Wesley Harrell, native Ciscoan and son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harrell, is one of many Cisco-born boys now making good in the outer world. Harrell, about 28 years old, a graduate of Cisco high school and the University of Texas, is chief contracting engineer for Brown & Root, Houston. The firm finished a large government job at Houston last month and has just started on a much larger one—the erection of a complete ship-building plant. Approximately 5,000 men are on the payroll. The position of chief engineer is a very trying one, on this or any other task of like magnitude, and the Ciscoan is putting everything he has into his war-time job. He works long hours and seven days a week, which is necessary when one remembers the federal government's ship-building goal for 1942. Harrell, many will recall, working under R. L. Ponsler and Frank Bond, largely superintended the installation of the Cisco Gas Corporation's plant in 1934, while yet under age. Mr. Ponsler and Mr. Bond both speak highly of him, emphasizing that even then the young man displayed excellent generalship and the rather rare virtue of being able to wholly concentrate on a task to the utmost minute detail and stay with it until completion. Mr. and Mrs. Harrell (formerly Miss Agnes Bearman of Cisco) and their 18-months-old son, live at 5108 Clay street, Houston.

METHODISTS PLEDGE AID WAR EFFORT

J. W. TATUM DIED MONDAY NEAR NIMROD

J. W. Tatum, 72, died at his home near Nimrod Monday after an illness of several days. Deceased is survived by his wife and two sons. He was born in Arkansas, August 8, 1870, and came to Texas at an early age. The family have lived in the Nimrod community for several years. The funeral was held in the First Methodist church at Seranton this afternoon, with interment in the local cemetery. Rev. Mr. Saunders, pastor of the Methodist church, preached the funeral sermon and the remains were in charge of the Neil Lane Funeral Parlors.

LAST RITES FOR C. W. TRAMMELL HERE, MONDAY

Charles W. Trammell, who died Saturday night, was laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery Monday morning, following funeral services at the Lane Funeral Parlors. Dr. Gary L. Smith of the First Presbyterian church preached the sermon. As stated in the Daily Press of Sunday morning, Mr. Trammell, a long-time resident of Cisco and this area, had been in ill health for several years and his death did not come as a surprise. He was at one time in the oil business and enjoyed a large circle of friends. His wife, formerly Miss Leslie Lawhon, died here in April, 1939. Immediate relatives who survive are his daughter, Miss Louise Trammell of Corpus Christi; a half brother, Bernice Trammell, Breckenridge; two cousins, Misses Addie and Fannie Stephens and Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Cisco. Out-of-town friends and relatives here for the last rites included Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lawhon and Misses Lucile and Sarah Lawhon, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lawhon, Eldorado; Mrs. T. H. Dabney, Grandbury; Mrs. O. J. Estes, Tankersley; Walter Lawhon, San Angelo.

MRS. JOHN T. SCOTT LAID TO REST HERE

Mrs. Maude Scott, wife of John T. Scott, died Saturday night at the family home, 1200 F avenue, after a week's illness. She was born in March, 1874, at Sulphur Springs, Texas. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the home and was conducted by Rev. J. R. Wright, pastor of the First Christian church. Interment was in Oakwood cemetery. Monday morning, delay in burial being occasioned by the fact that the grave diggers encountered solid rock, which necessitated the use of dynamite. The A. C. Green funeral home was in charge of the remains. Deceased was a most excellent Christian woman and a member of the First Christian church for many years. With her husband and family she came to Cisco about 30 years ago. Later, they lived in Ft. Worth for several years, but returned to Cisco. Survivors are the husband, John T. Scott; three stepsons, Dr. K. J. Scott, Pharr; Edward Scott, Dallas; Alfred Scott; Austin; Mrs. Harold Farquhar, a daughter, Big Spring; a nephew, J. Ray Clements, Cisco; a niece, Miss Thelma Latson, Los Angeles. Active pallbearers were J. D. Lauderdale, L. D. Wilson, H. R. Garrett, George Atkins, Troy Powell and Guy Ward.

ENEMY ATTACK INTENSE

American and British bombers struck today at Jap thrusts toward the Burma Road, Singapore and vital Allied bases in the Dutch East Indies. United States army battle planes sank two and probably three more enemy transports off the east coast of Borneo, and a half dozen more Jap planes were destroyed during pre-invasion raids on the island of Java, site of United Nations' supreme headquarters. These operations brought the toll of Jap ships to 35 and of planes to about 30, but the big Dutch naval base of Soerabaya was damaged by the air attack. In the Philippines, MacArthur's men broke up two new Jap attempts to land shock troops on Bataan peninsula in a drive toward Corregidor. American planes aided land and beach fighters in wiping out enemy landing parties and pushing back flanking attacks. MacArthur reported the Japs had lost large numbers of men and boats in their vain landing attempts and that his men had "overrun three lines of enemy trenches" and captured much equipment while breaking up an attack on his right flank. The defense forces however have been pushed back to a line about 15 miles from the tip of Bataan peninsula and enemy attacks obviously are becoming more intense.

KENTUCKIAN IS DEAD AT AGE OF 107

WEATHERFORD, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Amanda Jane Phillips died Tuesday at her home at Advance, just two hours after she had passed her one hundred seventh birthday. The usual celebration was omitted because of her critical condition. Mrs. Phillips was born near Bowling Green, Ky. She moved to Missouri and there married Joseph Benjamin Ray. They came to Texas in 1879. After Ray's death in 1889 she was married to Carroll Phillips. Ray was a soldier in the Confederate Army, while Phillips wore the blue. She once was a neighbor in Missouri of the mother of Jesse and Frank James.

Most Instant Relief Received From Using Hoyt's

Hoyt's Compound Ended Nervousness, Dizzy Spells And Bad Stomach, Says Ft. Worth Man.

Mr. Howard Marshall, 2500 Wilbur Blvd., a long time resident of Ft. Worth, Texas, says: "I have always been actively engaged in business but for years my health has been going down. I suffered from indigestion and was afraid to eat as everything caused gas and a burning sensation in my stomach. I was in a weak and run-down condition. I suffered from dizzy spells, nervousness and headaches. Immediately after taking Hoyt's Compound I could tell that I was getting results. I had tried many remedies without relief. The burning sensation in my stomach disappeared and I eat and have regained my strength and feel like a different person. My nerves are fine and there are no more headaches. Hoyt's restored me to my former state of health and gave me a new lease on life!"

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Red Front Drug Store and leading druggists throughout this section.

HARK! THE MUSIC THAT BUSINESS SINGS

RESULT: JUST HEAR THAT CASH REGISTER RING!

THERE GOES THE BELL! They're off! You bet they're off—to your store when you run an ad in the Cisco Daily Press. That beautiful bell-like music you hear is the cash register ringing up sale after sale. Merchants are all beginning to realize that "It pays to advertise" isn't just a meaningless phrase. There's truth behind that slogan, and we can prove it. Take any piece of merchandise—keep it in your store for a week without advertising it. The second week, announce it in the Cisco Daily Press. Can you notice the difference? Of course you can!

Just think for a moment. When a woman opens a newspaper, what is the first thing she's interested in? The ads! And don't think that men become engrossed only in the current happenings of the nation. No, they take just as much of an interest in the news of your store. So, start advertising in the Cisco Daily Press today, and listen to that bell ringing up all those sales.

Ask our representative to call and give complete ad-details.

CLEANSING A CONTINENT.

Rio de Janeiro lately has told of the Nazi diplomats there burning their papers and packing their trunks. It is good news for Uncle Sam and for the whole hemisphere. There have been similar bonfires in other southern capitals and there will be more of them. Their smoke is cleansing.

Still more cleansing will be the departure, bag and baggage, of the ambassadors, ministers, consuls and other Axis representatives who have so long polluted the free soil of South America.

There still seems to be some doubt about one of our Latin-American neighbors, Argentina, as regards practicing these cleansing rites. We have faith, however, that they will soon see the light clearly and make common cause with their neighbors in making and keeping this brave New World free from contamination.

Russian stubbornness is no new feature. Witness the brave words with which Czar Alexander I defied Napoleon: "I know that I am no general, and I have no captains who are your equal; but peace will not be made on my soil."

NATIONALISM.

Many people will tell you nowadays that economic forces cause all wars. They forget the wars of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, fought for religious reasons and no others. They also forget the rulers who have provoked struggles to make petty states for their families to rule. And chiefly they forget nationalism.

The power of nationalism has just been reaffirmed by Gustav Stolper, a refugee German writer of economics. His newly published "Age of Fables" asserts that all wars in the century from Waterloo to the Treaty of Versailles had but one cause: nationalism. It was this, says he, which disrupted the Austrian and Turkish empires and unified Germany and Italy. It is nationalism, also, in a peculiarly ugly form which underlies the terrorism of the Nazis.

Nationalism may be evoked for good as well as evil. One of the strong forces fighting against Hitler is that common bond of language and traditions that lie behind the English-speaking nations.

A few more dozen Jap warships smashed and a few more hundred troop ships sunk, and we can turn back to finish Hitler.

ADMIRAL BYNG.

If the report on Pearl Harbor is unjust to Admiral Kimmel and General Short, courts-martial will give them a chance to present their defense. Whatever their treatment, it is not likely to be that of Admiral Byng.

In 1756 this British admiral, fighting the French fleet off Minorca in the Mediterranean, withdrew after a day's indecisive action. Adjudged not to have shown the dash and energy which should be the qualities of a British naval officer, he was shot, as Voltaire, the French wit, said, "to encourage the other admirals."

Times have changed. A lax British admiral would no longer be shot, nor do we advocate such treatment for Admiral Kimmel and General Short. If they are found guilty of the dereliction of duty with which the Roberts committee has charged them, the courts-martial will mete out adequate punishment without going to the British extreme.

Byng, however, was followed in command by Admirals Hawke, Rodney and the great Nelson, bright stars all in British naval history. Their brilliancy may owe some of its qualities to recollections of the dire fate that overtook the unenterprising Byng.

DOUGLAS MacARTHUR.

Of all the greetings received by the president of the United States on his birthday, January 30, 1942, none could have been more welcome, more treasured than the one that came from solely pressed Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his brave men defending Batan peninsula against a vastly larger Japanese force in far-away Luzon. It's fit for your scrapbook, that great-grandson and great-granddaughter may read. Here it is:

"Smoke-begrimed men, covered with the marks of battle, rise from the fox-holes of Batan and the batteries of Corregidor to pray reverently that God may bless immeasurably the President of the United States."

It is not easily understandable how MacArthur found both the time and the words for that remarkable birthday salutation, hemmed in on all sides and amid the din of the endless battle he is fighting against seemingly impossible Japanese odds. That having both the will and the words, he also had the means to communicate it to Mr. Roosevelt and all Americans, is also a striking fact.

A Fighting Family.

Douglas MacArthur was born at Little Rock Barracks, Ark., January 26, 1880. His father was Lieut. Gen. Arthur MacArthur and his grandfather, also named Arthur, a native of Scotland who became lieutenant governor of Wisconsin and a justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. An elder brother, the third Arthur in the line, was a captain in the navy.

Douglas MacArthur was appointed to West Point from Wisconsin in 1899 and was graduated No. 1 man in a class of 93 in June, 1903. He was commissioned in the engineer corps and served in it most of the time until the World war. One interlude was a 1906-08 stretch as aide to President Theodore Roosevelt. Another was the Vera Cruz expedition of 1914.

He was a major of engineers when the United States went into the World war in April, 1917. He was commissioned colonel and made chief of staff of the 42nd, or Rainbow division, made up of crack national guard outfits, no two from any one state. It crossed to France in October and under MacArthur's driving power of organization, was ready four months later to take over the Bacaret sector. It developed into one of the best "shock troops" units of the allied armies.

MacArthur was commissioned a brigadier general in June, 1918, leading the 84th infantry brigade in the strictly first American battle of the war, the reduction of the St. Mihiel salient in September. The brigade broke the Krimhilde line October 14-16 and shortly afterwards MacArthur was made division commander. Under him the Rainbow outfit was in the thick of the Meuse-Argonne offensive and when the armistice came it was within sight of Sedan. MacArthur then headed the division's march to the Rhine as part of the army of occupation.

General MacArthur personally led his men in some of the most severe fighting. He was gassed in the Salient de Feye on March 9, 1918. This was a curtain raiser for the division's first independent action, a raid in force. He was wounded at Exermont in October, 1918.

Industrialist Completes 50 Years as President of Cleveland Concern

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Feb. 2.—A record believed unique in the annals of industry is achieved today by Franklin G. Smith, President of The Osborn Manufacturing Company, when he completes 50 years as active head of the concern.

When Mr. Smith acquired control of the company on February 2, 1892, the staff of employees consisted of a foreman, two men, two girls, and three boys. The product manufactured consisted largely of flat wire brushes for foundry use, brushes for cleaning butcher blocks, street cleaning brushes, round wire push brooms for sweeping cement floors, and fine wire horse brushes.

Today, the company employs over 700 people, operates three divisions, and is the world's largest manufacturer of industrial brushes and foundry moulding machines, and is an important producer of specialized conveying equipment. Its products are used in virtually all countries of the world, and latest catalogs list more than 4,000 different brushes and over 100 types and sizes of moulding machines.

Mr. Smith's first job in Cleveland was in 1887 with a wholesale hardware house. He was engaged in laying out orders on the packing room floor, and here found early opportunity to use and develop the fine sense of customer service which has been a fundamental principle of his industrial leadership throughout 50 years.

With economy and thrift, his purchase of the Osborn company was made possible a few years later. The initial capital of $6,000 was invested at a time just in advance of country-wide economical difficulty throughout industry, and Mr. Smith nursed the young business through a number of lean depression years. Constantly on the alert for new products and added means of service, the company under the uninterrupted guidance of its president has been expanded from its modest beginning to a world-wide market.

Brushes made by the company are extremely important in the war effort. They are used to prepare all plated and polished articles, to remove the pickle from sheet steel basic to industry, to roughen leather for the manufacture of shoes and other leather goods, to prepare metals for welding or riveting, and to finish off castings and remove burrs. Osborn brushes are used extensively in armament production, in the manufacture of tanks, aircraft, ships, submarines, guns, as well as many miscellaneous items of wearing apparel for the nation's fighting forces.

In the foundry field, no less important a part is being filled by Osborn moulding machines in the present vital war effort. In the making of all kinds of castings, whether they be of steel, grey iron, or aluminum, magnesium and other non-ferrous metals, the modern moulding machine is an essential part of the production foundry's equipment. Early in the growth of the automotive industry, Osborn assumed a leadership in the development and manufacture of machines for the mass production of moulds. Thousands of such machines have been furnished foundries throughout the industry, and it is largely due to the ingenuity and vision of Osborn engineers that it is now possible to produce moulds for such major castings as automobile cylinder blocks at the rate of a mould a minute, as compared with a daily output of two or three block moulds per day by the earlier hand-moulding methods.

The present all-out war effort is requiring castings in ever increasing quantities, and the saga of the automobile industry is being reenacted in even greater proportions in the manufacture of airplanes, tanks, shells, and other innumerable parts and items which must be produced to meet our country's need. It is significant that hundreds of Osborn moulding machines are being used to produce aircraft engine parts in the country's large plane plants.

Other Osborn machines are producing moulds for bombs, shells, tanks and truck parts. The conveyor division is also doing its part in the war effort and one of the larger explosive manufacturing plants is served by Johns conveyors as manufactured by the company.

Serving the vital needs of industry in peace and in war, the broad viewpoint of The Osborn Manufacturing Company under the guidance of Mr. Franklin G. Smith will continue to be one of optimism and progress.

Hoyt's Compound Ended Nervousness, Dizzy Spells and Bad Stomach, Says Ft. Worth Man.
Mr. Howard Marshall, 2500 Wilcox Blvd., a long time resident of Ft. Worth, Texas, says: "I have always been actively engaged in business but for years my health has been going down. I suffered from indigestion and was afraid to eat anything because of a burning sensation in my stomach. I was in a weak and run-down condition. I suffered the average of the largest-selling headache pills, nervousness and dizziness spells. Immediately after taking Hoyt's Compound I could tell that was getting results. I had tried many remedies without relief. The burning sensation in my stomach disappeared and I eat and have regained my strength and feel like a different man. My nerves are fine and there are no more headaches. Hoyt's restored me to my former life of health and gave me a new lease on life."

RESULT: JUST HEAR THAT CASH REGISTER RING!

THERE GOES THE BELL! They're off! You bet they're off—to your store when you run an ad in the Cisco Daily Press. That beautiful bell-like music you hear is the cash register ringing up sale after sale. Merchants are all beginning to realize that "It pays to advertise" isn't just a meaningless phrase. There's truth behind that slogan, and we can prove it. Take any piece of merchandise—keep it in your store for a week without advertising it. The second week, announce it in the Cisco Daily Press. Can you notice the difference? Of course you can!

Just think for a moment. When a woman opens a newspaper, what is the first thing she's interested in? The ads! And don't think that men become engrossed only in the current happenings of the nation. No, they take just as much of an interest in the news of your store. So, start advertising in the Cisco Daily Press today, and listen to that bell ringing up all those sales.
