Charles D. Roberts, notary public, Saturday filed with City Secretary George W. Downie three petitions addressed to the mayor and city commission of the city of Cisco, asking that the names of A. V. Clark, Henry Drumwright and Charles J. Kleiner be placed on the ballots as candidates for city commissioner in the election scheduled for Tuesday, April 7.

Each of the petitions bore the names of approximately 80 citizens and the city commission at its next regular meeting — Tuesday, March 10 — will canvass them as provided by law and act thereon.

Saturday was the last day on which names could be filed for places on the ballot.

Three commissioners are to be elected at the election of next month, to fill the positions now held by Edward Lee, Charles J. Kleiner and A. V. Clark.

Mr. Lee—who has made an excellent commissioner—declined to run for another term and friends of Henry Drumwright prevailed upon him to enter for the place now held by Mr. Lee.

Messrs. Kleiner and Clark recently indicated they would be willing to serve another term if their names were placed on the ballot.

FINE INROADS BEING MADE ON RODENT FAMILY

M. K. Retlike, government representative in charge of the local drive to eliminate rats, reports the campaign as highly successful to date.

Poison baits to the number of 1,750 had been placed in the business district late Friday and the total now is probably more than 2,000, with several merchants and property owners requesting the placing of additional baits.

In one place 48 baits were put out and investigation three days later disclosed that all but eight of the baits had been carried away by rodents.

Unusually fine results were secured at a half dozen or more business places, judging from the number of dead rats found on the premises and nearby. And at Cisco Junior college the rodent population has already been practically wiped out.

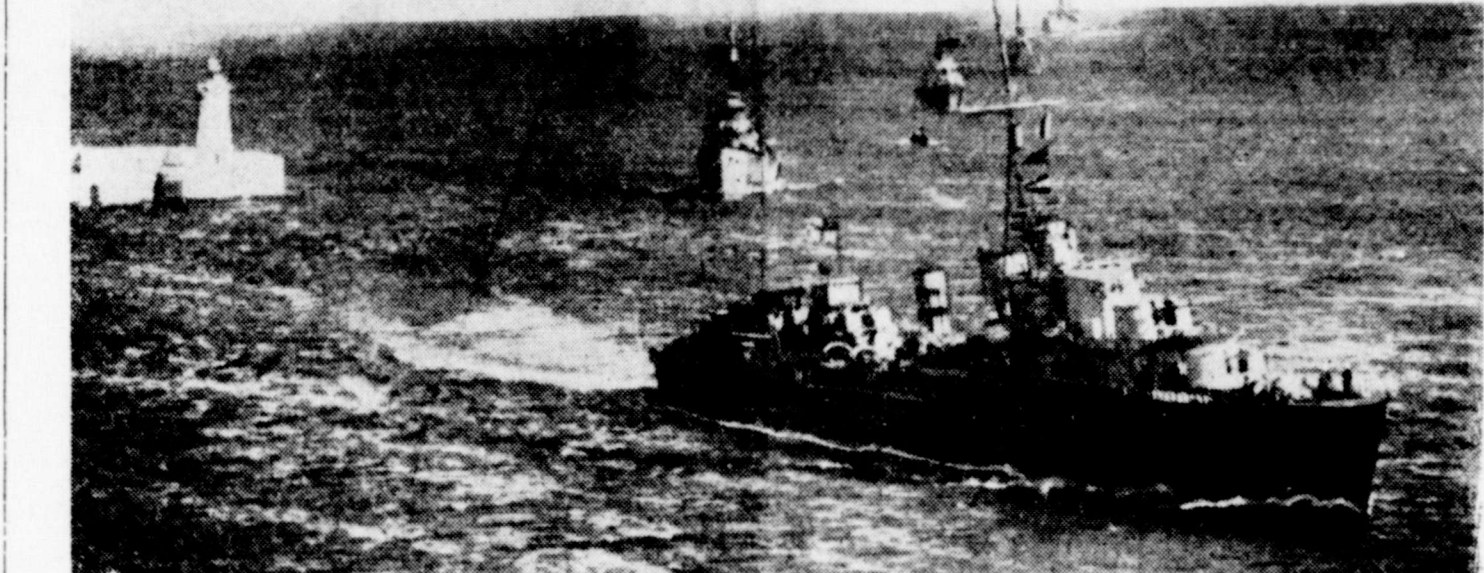

Several business houses, including some cafes, have shown reluctance in having the poison put out, but members of the city health board will try to show those concerned that this is the only way to get rid of the deadly rat.

Approximately 100 baits have been obtained by people in the residential sections for placement at homes. More of the preparation will be ready by Monday afternoon and may be obtained at the Cisco fire department.

Mr. Retlike stated that a number of farmers in the Cisco area have applied for and have been furnished the poison preparation.

PASTORS MEET MONDAY

Members of the Cisco Pastors' association will meet in called session Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the First Baptist church. The immediate purpose of the meeting says Rev. Leslie W. Seymour is to inaugurate the campaign for funds for the Bible course now being taught in Cisco high school.

ESCORT CONVOY TO MALTA—British warships which escorted a convoy to the Island of Malta in the Mediterranean, are shown steaming into the harbor. Reinforcements and supplies were "good news from home" for garrison of the base that has been plastered with bombs from Axis planes almost without letup.

BOREN SPEECH FRIDAY NIGHT WILL BE TREAT

Mrs. E. P. Crawford, representing the Twentieth Century club, said Saturday morning that arrangements are complete for the appearance here of Capt. John D. Boren, army chaplain at Camp Wolters, next Friday night at 8 o'clock, First Presbyterian church.

Captain Boren is a speaker of more than state-wide fame and the Cisco club is to be commended for having been able to arrange this treat for local folks—free of any charge.

His subject will be "International Good Will," but it is certain he will touch on many phases of the present deadly serious and deeply tragic world struggle that is bound to leave its ugly impress on the people of America.

Men from Camp Wolters will furnish special music for the occasion.

The speaker's popularity, plus the fact there will be no admission fee, means all seats will be taken early in the evening.

RANGER MAN WAS BURIED AT DELEON

Funeral services for Walter J. Phelps, 80, who died at his home in Ranger Thursday, were conducted from the First Baptist church in Eastland Saturday afternoon, with burial in the cemetery at DeLeon.

Deceased was born in Lloyd county, Ga., November 16, 1861. Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Josephine Phelps, Ranger; a son, Louis J. Phelps, Ranger; Mrs. John Bryant and Mrs. Rube Wilson, both of Ranger.

STATE OFFICES AT EASTLAND HAVE MOVED

The offices of the state department of public welfare, which handle applications for old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the needy blind and general assistance, have been moved from Eastland bank building to the Sinclair Prairie building, corner Seaman and Plummer streets, in Eastland.

The offices of food stamp distribution and the WPA offices have also been moved to the Sinclair Prairie building.

FOSTERS LIKE HIGH PRICES FOR PRODUCTS

"We don't much like this cold spell because we have just received about 300 baby chicks," said Mrs. Jesse J. Foster, who sold 2 Cisco firm 16 dozen eggs and six pounds of butter, Saturday. "We may have to sit up with those chicks if the weather should turn tricky," she continued.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster say they are planning on quite a large garden this year in order to make ends meet. They say they have no grumble at the mounting prices of groceries and other items, because higher prices in the stores, always mean higher prices for the farmer's products.

"If everything else goes up, our eggs, butter, chickens and turkeys will bring a better price and thus we have no complaint," they said.

"I kill my own meat and sell a few hams and backbones to those who do not have them," Mr. Foster said. He added that he will have about 30 little pigs for sale this spring, but they are all spoken for. Pigs and chickens pay for their feed and trouble. Fryers find a ready sale at all times and turkeys bring good prices in season.

Asked if they were growing turkeys, they said they hoped to raise a big flock this year. They find them easy to raise if one takes proper care of them the first few days of their lives. They must not be chilled nor get wet, even from heavy dew. Lots of grasshoppers and bugs are the delight of turkeys of all ages. They like to range widely and the pasture lands to the northwest of Cisco are ideal range for turkeys.

RUBBER CRISIS CLAIM BRINGS FORTH DENIAL

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Challenging Price Administrator Leon Henderson's statements concerning the rubber shortage, Elliott F. Simpson, New York independent rubber dealer, Saturday asserted there is enough scrap rubber available in the United States to take care of the nation's civilian needs for the duration of the war.

Simpson, a director of the Dressage Rubber Company of New York, one of the largest independent rubber firms in the country, has turned over an 18-page document on available rubber supplies to the senate committee investigating national defense.

"I was astounded at Leon Henderson's statement concerning the rubber shortage situation," Simpson said. "There is absolutely no need for the government to consider the requisitioning of tires from private civilian cars in order to meet defense needs."

WRECK VICTIM TAKEN HOME FOR BURIAL

George E. McKinney, 19, of Dallas, died Thursday afternoon in Graham Sanitarium from injuries received Tuesday in an auto collision near Cisco.

McKinney's father, C. M. McKinney, also of Dallas, suffered a broken arm and A. O. Gist, of Abilene, truck driver, was slightly injured in the accident that resulted in the death of young McKinney.

Body of deceased was removed to Dallas for burial after it had been prepared here by the Lane funeral parlor.

Immediately following the tragic accident, the mother of the young man came here from Dallas and was with her son when death came.

The elder McKinney is still confined to Graham Sanitarium, but is recovering.

BROTHERHOOD RALLY THIS AFTERNOON

Dr. Lawson Cooke, secretary of the brotherhood movement of the Southern Baptist convention, will highlight an afternoon association brotherhood rally at the First Baptist church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, along with Dr. W. R. White, president of Hardin-Simmons, and Judge E. S. Cummings, attorney and president of the Baptist State Brotherhood of Texas.

Dr. Cooke is scheduled to speak at the morning hour of worship at the First Baptist church. All are cordially invited to hear him, says the pastor, Rev. Judson Prince. This leader of the large religious lay organization will particularly appeal to the men, Mr. Prince added.

TEXAS' CASH BALANCE NOW AT $76,712,321

AUSTIN, March 7.—Despite a deficit of more than $29,000,000 in the general revenue fund, the state at the end of February had an over-all cash balance in all its funds of $76,712,321.

A report by Treasurer Jesse James so declared. Unpaid warrants outstanding amounted to $36,601,117. Largest cash balance was $13,339,004 in the state highway fund.

SIX CONVICTED SPIES TO GET 20 YEARS EACH

NEW YORK, March 7.—Cocky Kurt Frederick Ludwig and five of his hand-picked operatives, described by the government as the core of a far-reaching Nazi spy ring, were convicted of espionage conspiracy Friday night, but escaped the death penalty because their crimes preceded Pearl Harbor.

The six, including a Long Island housewife who opened her home to the plotters, will be called for sentence next Friday, the thirtieth, with 20 years each as the maximum term.

An all-male jury deliberated only two hours and 40 minutes in returning a blanket verdict in the nation's first espionage trial since war's spread to the United States. It was the government's second heavy blow at German spies, however, for 33 persons, convicted in a previous trial, were sentenced here Jan. 2.

MINISTER IS STILL ACTIVE WORKER AT 92

FORT WORTH, March 7.—Friends of Rev. L. C. Collier, pastor emeritus of Forrest Hill Presbyterian church, will honor the veteran minister with an informal party at the church on his ninety-second birthday Thursday. Rev. Collier, who preached in his former pulpit last Sunday, will speak again Sunday morning on "Prayer and the New World." Active despite his years, Rev. Collier still tends his garden and cares for his chickens. It was in August, 1867, that he joined the church—the same year Trinity University was founded. He joined the presbytery in 1878 and was graduated from Trinity in 1878.

MORE EXECUTIONS

LONDON, March 7.—The Oslo radio Saturday announced the execution in German-occupied Norway of five more Norwegians, described "as a Communist and four Jews," who were sentenced to death for "propaganda on behalf of Britain."

FREE FRENCH VICTORY

CAIRO, March 7.—A column of Free French troops fighting with British imperials in Libya captured the garrison of an Axis desert post, the Middle East command announced Saturday. Other Free French forces captured an enemy position at Fezzan after a violent fight, the communique said.

SOERABAJA ALLIED NAVAL BASE SURROUNDED, COMMUNICATION TO MOUNTAIN STRONGHOLD CUT

United Nations are reported to be massing offensive strength in the Southwest Pacific today in an effort to offset Japan's apparent triumph in Java.

Australia, India and China emerged as the main bases for the expected Allied counter-offensive as a result of the virtual loss of Java, from which the yellow enemy may strike southward against New Guinea as a stepping stone for invasion thrusts at Australia.

The Dutch are still fighting in Java, but they are tired, out-numbered and without hope of immediate reinforcement.

Even wireless communication with the mountain stronghold of Bandoeng has been severed, possibly as a result of Japanese entry into or Dutch withdrawal from that temporary capital.

The last dispatch transmitted by the Aneta news agency from Bandoeng by wireless said the enemy had broken through the first line of defense on a volcanic mountainside north of the city and was attacking in greatly superior numbers behind steady aerial bombing.

It ended with the word "goodby."

Shortly thereafter, the Tokyo radio reported the Japs were within a few miles of Bandoeng and that the Dutch were retreating southward through the mountains, possibly in hope of evacuating some troops from the south coast.

The Tokyo broadcast said the Allied naval base at Soerabaja was surrounded and Vichy reported that Jap parachutists had seized Madoera island off Soerabaja. The Japs asserted that collapse of Java's defense was a matter of a "few days."

Australian as well as Dutch dispatches were generally in line with Jap claims.

Although fighting continued in the mountains, the Dutch said that conditions, including enemy air control, had so exhausted the defenders that they apparently could not continue sufficient resistance.

ANKARA -- Turkish police, charging that the Russians were implicated in the unsuccessful bombing attack on Nazi Ambassador Franz von Papen, surrounded the Russian consulate at Istanbul, raided Soviet offices in Ankara and arrested probably fifty foreigners, including one "important" Russian.

Turkish police issued an ultimatum to the Soviet consulate at Istanbul demanding surrender of suspects in the bombing.

It was later reported reliably that at least one of several persons who had taken refuge there had been surrendered.

STRIKES

It is sad to learn of the big increase of strikes in war industries last month. The number of strikes rose from 43 in January to 76 in February, and the number of strikers from 15,512 to nearly 71,000. The lost man-hours soared from less than 67,000 in January to more than 2,000,000 in the shortest month.

No fair-minded American will argue that this was all the fault of the workers. There were probably aggravations on the part of employers. There were injustices and inequalities in wages and working conditions that needed to be corrected. Nevertheless two facts should be borne in mind by everybody concerned: First, that the country is in a grave emergency where every possible bit of productive power is urgently needed. Second, there are ample means, both public and private, of correcting injustice without striking.

THE COMPLAINERS

Six months ago lots of people howled at the idea of going into a "foreign war." Today they are howling because Britain's too slow and we're too slow. They wring their hands and ask why somebody doesn't do something. The Allies are doing it as fast as they can. The complainers wouldn't let us start sooner. This war has been coming upon us since Munich. Maybe since Vienna. Maybe since Manchoukuo. But what happened when you said it to your friends? There's just one answer—Production. There's just one defense—Production. There's just one offense—Production. Soldiers are doing their bit, men in mills and factories do theirs. The rest of us can work harder, wait for what we'd like to have today and buy bonds with the difference. Every American has a right to grouch about his government. But he grouches with a better grace, so to speak, when he's faithfully doing his own best.

ENLIGHTENMENT

The president of Ohio State university urges American colleges to be careful about "junking" courses of study, and do as little of it as possible. For we have not only a war to win now but a "post-war world" to win hereafter, and young men and women must be prepared for that job as well as the present one. Medicine, engineering, chemistry, physics, biology and meteorology, he remarks, should be pushed now because they are greatly needed. But after the war we shall need philosophy, ethics, psychology and so on, to shape the fair and enlightened world that we shall want to live in hereafter. Just as an army without doctors is no army at all, he observes, so "a world without philosophers, without thinkers, without a trained sense of right and wrong is lost."

READY FOR FIRE

People in industrial cities are being told that the main thing to do about homes is to be prepared against danger of fire. Not because bombing is expected in the interior, but because a big fire in any industrial plant would call out all the fire apparatus for miles around. Then if a small fire occurred in a home, set by a cigarette, an overheated furnace or a match dropped near inflammable material, there would be no local fire engines to put it out. People must be more dependent on themselves. The first preventive is watchfulness. Care about matches, furnaces, paper in the basement or near the kitchen stove. Safe ash trays for cigarettes. The next is to have two sand pails of water and two of sand close by, indoors if possible. The ordinary fire is easily extinguished if caught when small. The next is to know that windows and doors must be instantly closed to shut off the draft which feeds the fire. If you have to get the pails from the porch, let the door be open only two seconds, one to go out and one to come in. Keep doors closed. The last and perhaps most important is not to go around wasting energy worrying about such things. You don't even think about letting the baby play with knives. Dad keeps his in his pocket. Mother keeps the kitchen drawers shut. Take these other things in an equanimous matter-of-fact manner. Prepare, then go on to other interests. A little horse sense is better than a lot of hand-wringing.

OTHER EDITORS

Confusion of Opinion. Star-Telegram: Japan today holds practically the entire source of about 95 per cent of America's raw rubber, the Dutch East Indies and British Malaya. Synthetic production in volume lies several years in the future. Raw rubber in storage totals only about 650,000 to 675,000 tons, slightly better than half a year's supply for normal, peacetime purposes. Price Administrator Henderson's statement to the senate committee Thursday that the rubber situation is grave was undeniably correct. Mr. Henderson told the committee that there is "not even enough rubber to sustain the military forces and the most essential civilian needs exclusive of automobiles." As a result, there will be no new tires, no retreading or recapping of old tires for automobiles, and some motorists may be required to give up tires on their cars for others engaged in vital defense work.

It is logical to ask why a conclusion, so strongly indicated to many persons even before the fall of Singapore when both Malaya and the East Indies were being invaded, has been reached so belatedly by officials in Washington. There was considerable optimism initially about the adequacy of rubber stocks and the quick potentialities of synthetic production. Tons of rubber in new tires have been issued by rationing boards, and other tires placed on new automobiles. Most of this outlay of a precious war material, rubber, has been labeled "essential defense needs," whatever that broad generalization may mean.

The confusion of opinion among various administration officials has been apparent in the denouement of the rubber situation. Those who have been trying to save face after blundering in the past, and those who have been ignorant of the rubber situation, should now be willing to turn the whole matter over to some informed official like Mr. Henderson. Millions of car owners will willingly surrender their tires to a capable official, preferably one who will give the armed forces a priority over "essential civilians." There is no shortage of self-styled "essential civilians" or of public officials who suddenly have sifted from depression activities to wartime work. Many of these do not need tires, even on government jobs. "Essential civilian activities" in and outside government must be trimmed down lest they drain away rubber reserves which are needed for the planes, trucks and other machines of the armed forces.

MEN AND WOMEN OF THE FBI

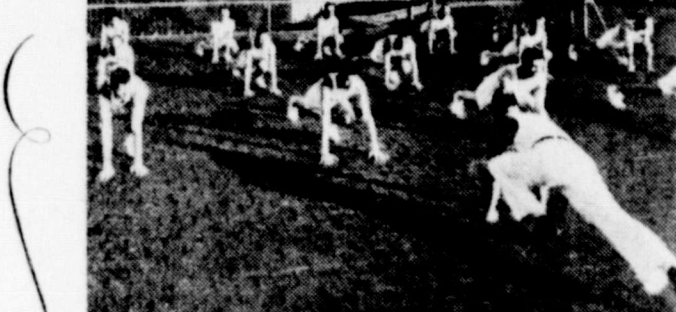

A group of FBI Agents learn the mechanics of firearms.

How a Young Man Becomes a Special Agent—The Training of a G-Man

In these critical and dangerous times, one of the most important of our government departments is the Federal Bureau of Investigation—known to Americans for its colorful G-Men, its legend of efficient service and its energetic and capable director, John Edgar Hoover.

What is a G-Man? Well, he's not only a tracker down of spies and kidnapers, but a man who is an expert on every aspect of federal law—from robbery of national banks to crimes on Indian reservations, espionage and bankruptcy frauds. He is capable of talking during the course of one afternoon with a bank president, the nation's Public Enemy Number One and a society debutante. He is an expert shot with pistol and rifle, and his home is anywhere in the U. S. A. Here's how an ambitious young man becomes a Special Agent. He must be first, between 23 and 35 years of age and either a graduate lawyer, a graduate accountant with three years' experience, or a college graduate with special investigative experience or linguistic ability. Starting salary is $3200 a year.

TOP—Special Agents of the FBI attend classes for three months of intensive training before being assigned to field duty. BOTTOM—Roof gymnasium of the FBI in Washington, where Special Agents keep fit by calisthenics and outdoor exercise.

After the applicant has passed an oral, written and physical examination, the Bureau makes a careful investigation of his background and interviews him personally. The standards of the FBI are high—but the man who makes the grade as Special Agent will have the satisfaction of working in a position where his best talents may be put to full use and where he will be performing active public service. After passing all his tests, the new G-Man doesn't yet start after his first bank robbery. He still has a lot to learn—and that's where the FBI Academy comes in. At this school for super-detectives, the new Special Agent takes a three months' course of intensive training before he's ready to go out into the field. The FBI Academy is a unique institution of learning, and its methods of teaching are sometimes unusual. One of the favorite props is a wax dummy, fondly called Oscar, which to the new G-Man always represents the murdered man. Working on Oscar, the Special Agent learns at first hand what to do when coming on the scene of a crime. The FBI Academy also boasts of a magnetic blackboard, which can show the outline of a city street or country road, complete with miniature houses, trees, hedges, automobiles and men. The new Special Agent spends a good part of his time on the pistol and rifle range. Nothing less than complete mastery is required in the use of firearms. He must learn to fire from a prone position, from the hip, sitting or standing. To trail spies and public enemies also requires good muscles and skill in using them. The FBI roof gym, as well as the one indoors, is a busy place from morning until evening. After three months of rigorous mental and physical training, the Special Agent is ready for duty in bringing to justice the nation's criminals.

4 MORE NON-PRODUCING DAYS ORDERED

AUSTIN, March 7.—The railroad commission, state oil regulatory agency, Saturday ordered four additional non-producing days this month for Texas wells — March 11, 12, 18 and 25. Nine shut-in days previously had been ordered for Texas and the additional closing days, with a few fields exempted, were decreed by request of the office of the petroleum co-ordinator which declared transportation difficulties required less production. Under the new plan Texas' daily production will average 1,292,239 barrels daily which is 46,363 barrels less than the OPC's revised estimate of 1,338,600 barrels needed to meet demand in Texas.

FBI ARRESTS 60 MORE IN FRISCO RAIDS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—FBI agents detained additional prisoners Saturday after the most far-flung drive in several weeks against possible fifth columnists in Northern California. The latest figures indicated more than 60 aliens arrested in raids on 31 cities. Members of two Japanese secret societies were the particular objects in the roundup.

FBI men moved as the army worked out details of a new order, to be issued soon, that will clear

EX-ARTILLERY OFFICERS TO HAVE CHANCE

AUSTIN, March 7. — Certain former national guard artillery officers are now eligible for active duty. Those who are less than 60, and physically fit and who were honorably discharged after Dec. 31, 1931, are being sent questionnaires by the adjutant general's department. Those who are eligible but who do not receive questionnaires should communicate with him immediately, said Adjutant General Page.

FOOD STAMPS FOR FEBRUARY TOTAL $10,931

Blue food stamps in the amount of $10,931.50 were issued during February to stamp program participants in Eastland county, according to P. M. Miller, acting area supervisor, surplus marketing administration. The total of blue stamps issued since the beginning of the program is $394,078. Orange stamps clients were required to buy at the local issuing office amounted to $15,903.00, bringing the total of food purchases with food stamps this month to $26,834.50. There were 1,292 cases representing 4,755 persons participating in the program last month according to the report. The benefit of the program to farmers as well as participants was pointed out by Miller. Blue stamp purchases represent food markets the farmers would not have otherwise had since clients are required to purchase each month the amount of orange stamps they would ordinarily spend for food. Clients are then issued blue stamps enabling them to purchase additional food. The food stamp program of the surplus marketing administration is only a part of the United States department of agriculture's broad program to help create ready markets for the full yield of American farm products, Miller added. Others are the school-lunch program, direct distribution of commodities and lend-lease purchases.

The mere righting of a wrong is easy. The hard part is to do it after both sides have talked too much.

Club Program Given Thursday Honored Texas

A "Texas Day" program was given Thursday afternoon when the First Industrial Arts club met in regular session in the club house. Mrs. B. E. Morehart was hostess and Mrs. W. W. Wallace program leader.

SNOWBIRDS OF CANADA

FROM the young men who used to spend their winter weekends skiing on the snow-covered hills of Canada, the Dominion has created a body of ski troops who are second to none. Long experience in this popular sport made it easy for these men to adapt themselves to the conversion of skiing from a pastime to the sterner purposes of war. Already they have proved their value in Iceland and many thousands of them are ready to demonstrate their merits in other theatres of war if necessary. The photographs show a platoon of ski troops on manoeuvres and a sniper who would be very difficult to spot.

Their Eyes Are No Less Important

Since it is true that both workers' and children's eyes show less strain when the lighting is good, this remains an important part of our wartime job—helping to protect precious eyesight for today's vital tasks and for tomorrow's future generations.

Of course our power plants are turning out kilowatts, now, primarily, for military usage and in defense of our country. But they are geared, in addition, for normal usage in your home and business to help win the war.

Perhaps your home lighting can be improved through rearrangement of fixtures, or by inexpensive "adapters" or lamp shades. And at little or no extra cost to you. Ask our lighting advisors to make a free checkup in your home.
