NEED MORE MEN AND MACHINES

JUNK IS ROLLING ALONG

John H. Kleiner, co-chairman of the drive to gather all scrap iron that can be found in the counties of Eastland, Shackelford and Callahan, and ship it direct to the various steel furnaces of the United States, reports the big task will be under way and results to date very gratifying.

"The need for continued effort on the part of both dealers and individuals is urgent," says Mr. Kleiner.

"Scrap iron must be had to keep the big foundries busy, to the men of the army and navy can have guns and machines. Urge everybody to bring in all scrap metal at once—before hot weather—heavy loads in hot weather is hard on truck tires," Kleiner advised.

Thirty cars of junk have been shipped by the dealer at Eastland since the drive started three weeks ago.

Charles S. Sanders, local dealer, has shipped a total of 27 cars. Moran has shipped four cars.

Albany has so far shipped three cars.

Ranger junk is being shipped through the dealer at Eastland.

Mr. Kleiner, it might be said here, is devoting full time to the work assigned him by Charles Roeser, general chairman of the Texas Midland Oil and Gas association's scrap iron campaign.

He covers the three-county territory three times a week and at his own expense.

CISCO FUTURE FARMER BOYS WINNERS IN JERSEY HEIFERS AT FT. WORTH FAT STOCK SHOW

T. G. Caudle and his Future Farmer boys have returned from their visit to the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth where they entered some of their prize showings from the Eastland County Live-stock Show held at Cisco in February.

Victor Childers' Hereford steer placed in the showing and sold for 16 1/2 cents per pound.

The Eastland county group of five Jersey heifers took third prize ribbon in the showing at Fort Worth. Three of these heifers belonged to Cisco boys. They are Jerry Myrick, whose heifer took fourth place in both club and open showings; Larken Akers with third club prize for his showing; and Geo. White, who took seventh club prize for his heifer.

The Eastland county herd took fourth place.

Mr. Caudle was well pleased with the work of his boys and thanks steady gains are being made by this county in its program of better beef and dairy cattle, now being waged by Future Farmer boys of this locality.

SEVENTEEN ARE ENROLLED FOR FLYING SCHOOL

"We are progressing nicely in the matter of securing volunteer students for Cisco's flying field," said Dr. Chas. Hale Saturday. Dr. Hale is what may be termed "recruiting officer" for this project, representing the Cisco chamber of commerce, the sponsor.

"In fact we had the required number of students to secure the project, but we lost three good ones Wednesday by the military board inducting them in the army. So we are just shy three members now of the required minimum of 20. However, we anticipate no trouble in securing the minimum. We could get them, as the government has recently called for 45,000 men for the civil aeronautics service. "Those boys we have secured have wonderful eyesight," Dr. Hale said, "which, with good hearing, are the chief requisites for the service."

The chamber of commerce is sponsoring the tuition of five students, with the government taking care of the remainder of the minimum requirement.

CISCOAN IN NAVY MISSING

Mr and Mrs. A. R. Westfall have received word from the navy department that their son, Billy Westfall, is missing. The last word received by the parents from the young man was a letter written from Cavite, Manila, November 21, 1941.

Young Westfall came to Cisco with his parents about four years ago from Wichita Falls. He entered Cisco high school, made good records and many friends and graduated with the 1940 class. Later he enlisted in the U. S. navy.

The father, A. R. Westfall, conducts a service station at 309 W. Eighth street, under the firm name of A. R. Westfall & Sons.

With Mr. and Mrs. Westfall for the week-end are their daughter, Mrs. Christine Cockroft, Houston; Mrs. Mark McKinney and Mrs. H. B. Suedeker, sisters of Mrs. Westfall, and her brothers, W. C. Wehres and C. R. Wehres, all of Ft. Worth.

BETTER GET YOUR TICKET RIGHT AWAY

Dave Rubinoff, who is to appear at Cisco high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, under auspices of the Cisco Lions club, was born of very poor parents in Grodno, Russia, Sept. 3, 1897. His father was a tobacco packer in a factory and his mother operated a mangle in a laundry. They lived in abject poverty in a basement apartment.

At the age of five, young Rubinoff began to display unusual talent in improvising folk songs and military marches on the balalaika, an instrument somewhat like a guitar; so much so that a music teacher offered to teach him free. His mother skipped still more and purchased him a violin, and thus little Dave was able to appear in a military symphony at the age of nine. Winning a scholarship in the music conservatory in Warsaw, he continued his studies until his family migrated to the United States.

Being given charge of the orchestra in Forbes school in Pittsburgh, he soon attracted notice which led to a tour of the country, thence into New York City where his rise was swift.

Rubinoff has become a favorite over the radio where he has been employed on several commercial programs of recent years.

Tickets are on sale by Lion members and by a number of local stores. Reserved seats are on sale at Red Front drug store.

D. G. Streater, general chairman for this concert, urges that tickets be purchased at once in order that seats may be secured. Opportunity to hear an artist like this in a town as small as Cisco is unusual. Streater says, "Get them today."

DIED AT MIDNIGHT

AUSTIN, March 21.—The Board of Pardons and Paroles Saturday denied further clemency for James Alford, convicted in the hitch-hike slaying of R. L. Agnew, San Antonio salesman, and Rogers Lee King, a negro convicted in the robbery slaying of H. M. Wallace, Alvarado filling station operator. Both men were scheduled to die in the electric chair at the penitentiary shortly after midnight Saturday night.

CISCO GUARD W. H. KIRBY IS MAKING FINE HEADWAY

Thirty men were in line at the defense guard drill Thursday night, with practically all of them in uniform. Those who have been attending regularly are looking good now, said an officer Saturday, and we expect to have a full company of 67 men within the next three months.

Among the commissioned and non-commissioned officers giving their time to the formation of a military body for Cisco are O. L. Stamey, captain; Sim Ledford, first lieutenant; Wyatt Jacobs, second lieutenant; D. G. Streater, first sergeant; Allen Farley, line sergeant; George Boyd and H. A. Bible, corporals.

CALLAHAN CO. GOES DRY BY LARGE VOTE

Incomplete returns from the Leer election held in Callahan county Saturday, indicated an overwhelming victory for the dries.

Jack Scott, publisher of the Cross Plains Review, furnished the Daily Press with the following election figures at 8 o'clock Saturday night:

Cross Plains—Dry, 313; wet, 66. Dressy—Dry, 51; wet, 11. Cottonwood—Dry, 72; wet, 8. Baird—Dry, 261; wet, 382. Putnam—Wet, 87; dry, 154. Clyde—Wet, 56; dry, 364. Fred Cook, at Putnam, told the Daily Press at 8:15 o'clock, that with a few small dry boxes still out, the county vote stood 1,588 against the return of beer and 720 in favor of beer's return.

SUGAR USERS AND DEALERS TO REGISTER

CHICAGO, March 21.—Frank Banc, national field director for the office of price administration, announced today that a nationwide registration for sugar rationing will be held on April 28 and 29 for commercial concerns and on May 4, 5, 6 and 7 for consumers.

PRAISED CISCO HIGH SCHOOL

Cisco public schools have been elected to membership again in the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, according to a letter recently received by Supt. R. N. Cluck from J. W. O'Banion, chairman of the executive committee, reporting on the session of that body at Louisville, Ky.

Quoting from the letter: "The selection of your high school to membership in the Southern Association is particularly significant in that no adverse criticism was expressed against your excellent high school."

Schools are graded on laboratory and library facilities and qualification of teachers, but the acid test is the quality of work done by graduates during their first year in colleges or universities.

"Too many failures by these students reflect on the school and hence cause many large high schools to be dropped from membership in the association," said Mr. Cluck.

MISSING RISING STAR GIRL BACK FROM FT. WORTH

RISING STAR, March 21.—Henry Beth Bolding, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bolding, reported missing the past 10 days, when she checked out of high school, was located in Fort Worth later, where she had taken employment in a private home. Upon reading a story in a Fort Worth paper that her parents were trying to locate her, the lady in whose home she was employed notified police, who in turn notified her parents here. Mr. and Mrs. Bolding drove up to Fort Worth Sunday to bring the young lady home and she was back in her classes in high school this week.

FBI FINALLY NAB THE FIVE COHEN CROOKS

WASHINGTON, March 21.—A numbers game with a $10,000,000 annual take appeared to be all over Saturday with the arrest of three score persons in smoothly timed raids in 36 Eastern cities.

Acting on bench warrants issued Thursday in Wilmington, Del., former headquarters of the gambling ring, agents of the FBI simultaneously picked up half of the 122 indicted men and women.

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, described Louis Cohen, said to have financial interest in Miami, Fla., night clubs, as the "moving figure of this ring."

With Louis, the FBI named his brothers, Joseph, Harry, Frank and Charles, as leaders, along with Seymour Burns, a Cohen brother-in-law, and Benjamin Lustgarten, associated with a Miami loan firm.

Hoover said Louis Cohen and associates, "because of their considerable wealth and political influence, have been able to remain in business despite the numerous attempts of local law enforcement agencies to enforce local statutes barring lottery activities."

AUSSIES CHEER GEN. M'ARTHUR AT MELBOURNE

General MacArthur told cheering Australians that more men and machines are urgently needed for the battle raging along the southwestern Pacific front.

As if echoing the words of the Allied supreme commander as he was welcomed to Melbourne, the battle on island approaches to Australia developed as follows:

1—American - Australian bombing attacks sank or damaged a second and third enemy cruiser off New Britain island and battered the Japanese-held base of Saumliki on Yameda island, 225 miles north of Australia. (This boosted the toll of enemy ships in the island sector to 25 or 26, including at least 14 warships.)

2—New Japanese raids made on Port Moresby, where the enemy met heavy anti-aircraft fire and on Broome and Derby in northwest Australia.

3—Persistent but unconfirmed reports circulated that Japanese fleets are approaching Australia, possibly aiming for Perth on the southwest coast.

4—Axis sources reported that the Japanese had cut across New Guinea to the south coast near Papua Gulf, an advance of 110 miles through the jungles.

5—An Axis source also said Jap warships are pressing deeper into the Solomon island group, northeast of Australia, in an apparent effort to strike at the Fiji islands and Allied supply routes from America.

In Russia guerillas were reported hacking through German rear lines in the Orell sector, key to the Central South front.

A PAGE FROM THE PAST

"Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead!" This famous dispatch, sent by Secretary of State John Hay to the sultan of Morocco, thrilled Americans in June, 1904. The occasion was the kidnaping of a Greek-American citizen, Jon Perdicaris, and his stepson, by a Moorish bandit named Raisuli, not as might be supposed, to raise money, but to create an international incident and thus make trouble for the sultan. The scheme succeeded perfectly. Both the United States and England sent battleships to Morocco, and France joined in the demand for the release.

Hay's ultimatum made such splendid campaign material as to suggest that that was its purpose, the more so when it developed that Perdicaris was actually being released when the dispatch was sent. Later it was even stated that Perdicaris was not an American citizen at all, so that his capture was none of our business.

The last charge has now been refuted. Harold E. Davis, an Ohio history professor, has just found that while Perdicaris did at one time claim Greek citizenship to escape serving in the Confederate army, he was indeed an American citizen and some time after the Raisuli incident received a passport as one.

This is welcome information. Now that we are accusing the Japanese of dishonest diplomacy, it is well to know that our own, at times bumptious, has at least been clean.

FANCY WRAPPERS

Forced economies are sometimes blessings in disguise. Many manufacturers are now finding this out. In the past they have been tempted to outdo one another in such details as fancy packaging. Take two manufacturers of liniment, both selling at the same price. One manufacturer puts up his product in a specially attractive wrapper. Not to be left behind, Manufacturer No. 2 follows suit. They are now both where they were before, except that each has added the fancy wrapper to his costs. At best, this process is wasteful. At worst, it means bankruptcy.

Now war-enforced saving is cutting these frills out. Seller and buyer both benefit, and nothing essential has been lost. A lot of these leaks are going to be stopped up, even after the war is over. At least, until human nature becomes foolish again.

BOOKS FOR SOLDIERS

When you are giving books to the Victory campaign for soldiers' libraries, why not write your name and address in them? The suggestion comes from a man who himself has given the better part of his own library to the camps. "By doing so," he says, "you will overcome the temptation to unload trash, and you will increase the interest in the gifts tenfold."

CARS AND REALTY

Some real estate brokers are saying that the automobile shortage will help their business. They figure that without automobiles to buy, people will be more interested in making down payments on homes. The war, too, unsettling the general feeling about the future, tends to make people feel more than ever that home ownership is one of the few investments that can be depended upon.

Those brokers, however, are in the minority. Perhaps they are whistling to keep their courage up. About half of the nation's brokers expect automobile and tire restrictions to affect them unfavorably. Another quarter believe there will be no visible effect, that the favorable and unfavorable factors will tend to balance each other.

This wide divergence of opinion indicates how upset are all usual views of life. Most brokers seem agreed, however, that it is a good time to remodel old houses near the centers of industry and business. The "walking distance" houses are apt to be substantially built, and require only minor changes in design to meet modern requirements. Money is still avail-

BLOOD MONEY.

Despite all the talk to the effect that the labor problem has been generally settled for the duration, the fact remains that no man can get a job in most defense industries unless he belongs to a union, pays dues to a union, and accepts dictation from a union.

The closed shop amounts to a labor monopoly of the worst kind—a monopoly exercised by labor leaders who seem to be responsible to no one.

If the 100 per cent closed shop goal is reached, labor dictators will be more powerful than government itself. They will have an absolute stranglehold over all instruments of production and distribution.

The Daily Press has no fight with labor unions as such. In fact, we believe they are necessary. However, the closed shop on government projects, either in times of peace or when the country is at war, is undoubtedly bad and diametrically opposed to the Constitution of the United States.

A private industry can operate under closed-shop conditions and it is nobody's business.

But it is a different matter entirely with a department of government, or a government-financed project.

Witness use of such power in slowing up war production to enforce demands. Refusal of thousands to work in defense industries on Washington's birthday except at overtime pay, is an example of unpatriotic or disloyal action hard to equal.

Our soldiers are dying on many fronts because such actions have held up vital supplies.

Double time for overtime should be called "blood money" today.

In fact, if congress would repeal the 40-hour week and establish a 48-hour week, there would be no call for overtime work.

Six 8-hour days per week would win the war and 48 hours of honest labor is all the average workman can stand up under.

The demand of some that defense workers put in seven days a week is ridiculous and could not have originated with any actual worker—union or non-union.

able in banks to make the repairs.

FASHION

"Fashion for morale." So read a department store advertisement. It hit on a notable truth. The consciousness of being fashionably dressed does raise morale, except possibly on the part of father. The story is told of a woman brought back from death's door by the gift of some new clothes, and there's a saying that no woman ever committed suicide after buying a new hat.

The vagaries and costs of fashion are so often denounced that we forget that it is not an unmitigated evil.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION CLOSES

The civil service commission announces that March 31, 1942, will be the closing date for receipt of applications for positions as regional agent, trade and industrial education, $4,600 a year, and special agent, trade and industrial education, $3,800 a year. Applications must be filed with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., on or before that date.

Full information on this examination, and application forms, may be obtained from the secretary of the board of U. S. civil service examiners at the post office in Cisco, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at any first or second-class post office.

LONG BRANCH

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carter had as guests in their home Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Lanier of Phoenix, Arizona.

Rev. Lee Fields and Laud Black from Carbon accompanied Rev. H. D. Christian to Long Branch Friday evening where the latter made a talk on the two ordinances of the church.

Joel Reed transacted business in Rising Star Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Theford and daughters, Charlotte and Dolores visited in the Arthur Theford home in Cisco Sunday.

Lynn Carter and Blanton Johnson left for Bastrop the first of the week in search of work.

Mrs. Bernice Mitchell visited in the Mike Miller home near Romney Wednesday.

Christine Ghormley is able to be in school again after an attack of the chicken pox. Her sisters, Gladys and Betty Jo are suffering from that malady this week.

Neal Marsh, who is in training under the NYA program at Ranger visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Marsh near Long Branch Sunday.

Cloyd, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Walker, has taken up work in the NYA at Ranger recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey from Pleasant Hill attended church at Long Branch Friday evening.

Rev. Seth Woods from Brownwood was among those out-of-town people who attended services here last week.

Rev. and Mrs. Leon Woods who are in Brownwood for school this winter were in Long Branch and the minister delivered a sermon here Friday evening. He is pastor of the Pleasant Hill church.

Mrs. Minnie Jo Milford and her daughters, Frances Jo and Sandra have been suffering from measles.

Rev. Herbert Christian from Rising Star delivered a sermon at the Baptist church Friday evening. While he praised the great work of our school system and paid tribute to the Christian homes in our land, he reminded us, however, that these institutions would pass away, and the only institution that will live forever is the church, the bride of Christ.

A group met at the church Tuesday evening to organize for a local war defense food program. A speaker was to have been present but failed to be there as R. R. Bradshaw had planned. Henry Reed was elected chairman of the new organization, Rufus Beem, vice-chairman and E. N. Marsh, secretary. The program committee are J. T. Kinard, Kirby Theford and A. M. Thompson. The next meeting of this body will be the second Tuesday in April.

Iron is still the most important metal, and how we need it in our systems!

Poor lawyers occasion much trouble to the state board of pardons and paroles. Ordinarily, the board makes no attempt to review the trial of a clemency seeker considering that to be the duty of the court of criminal appeals. But sometimes there is a plea about the conduct of the trial which the board finds it hard to ignore. For instance, relatives of a man given a death verdict said his lawyer had induced the defendant to withdraw from an agreement to plead guilty if the state would not ask for the death penalty. The lawyer, relatives said, painted such a bright picture of what could be done in his defense that the man changed his mind, pleaded not guilty and found himself facing a sentence of electrocution. There are cases also in which inexperienced attorneys, named by the courts to defend prisoners who cannot hire counsel, have made trial mistakes that an older lawyer would have avoided. The usual plea for clemency presented to the board where two men are tried as participants together in a crime and receive different sentences is that their punishment should be the same. Of course, it is relatives of the man who was given the most severe punishment who ask for clemency. This sort of plea to the board has been made frequently in murder cases, where one defendant gets a life sentence and the other is sent to the electric chair. These cases give the board much trouble. In most of them, it has been found that jurors gave the death penalty to the one they conclude to have been the actual killer. But, as a board member pointed out, it might be that the real instigator of the crime maneuvered his companion into the

EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO HOLD LEGISLATIVE SESSIONS TO 60 DAYS DURING THE WORLD WAR

AUSTIN, March 21.—If a movement started in Austin this week gains the momentum expected, the 48th Texas legislature will be adjourning its 1943 session just about this time next year, instead of dragging on into May or June, as some sessions have done. The legislature will meet Jan. 12, 1943 and can finish by mid-March or soon afterward, if the members make up their minds in advance to do so. It was not until recently that the legislature switched from a 90-day session to one of 120 days, and it is argued that it can well return to a 60-day session if wartime. The high praise won by the legislators for meeting, acting promptly and going home after settling the road bond matter last year in a short special session has stimulated hopes that the legislators will show a similar spirit at the regular session. The 120-session has been written into the state constitution, but there are two ways in which the session can legally be reduced to 60 days or so. The constitutional provision for the 120-day session contains an authorization for the legislators to vary the session time by vote of four-fifths of the members. If a stubborn one-fifth plus one hold out for a longer session, the result can be accomplished in a round about way by a mere majority vote. The session can be recessed by majority vote and the pay of the members can be cut off during the recessed portion of the 120-days, also by majority vote.

both church and school upon his head. Ministerial wrath was aroused by McGee's quotation of the Second Book of Samuel to a minister who complained he could not get tires. The passage quoted was: "I will saddle me an ass that I may ride thereon." The Rev. William D. Wyatt, pastor of College Avenue Baptist church, Fort Worth, has taken up the cudgels with a letter to McGee saying: "I seriously question your moral right to hold the ministers of your state up to public ridicule." He complained too that McGee had withheld the name of the minister asking for tires. That, Dr. Wyatt said, casts an aspersion on all preachers, "guilty or innocent."

Texas Rationing Officer Mark McGee has brought the wrath of

The school controversy resulted from McGee's criticism of use of a school bus to bring contestants to Austin for the state basketball tournament of the Interscholastic League. The Interscholastic League, edited by Director Roy Bedichek, said editorially: "As much as we are to engaging in a newspaper controversy, we were forced into one the other day by tire-rationer Mark McGee's newspaper and radio criticism of schools attending the 22d annual state basketball tournament of the league, held in Austin, March 3-7. His published criticism seemed to us to amount to an accusation against the schools present of hindering the war effort by consuming rubber in a non-essential activity, and it was certainly a threat that schools attending in school buses would not be able to get new tires readily when those now on the buses were worn out. Bedichek's editorial says the school executives who have returned from a meeting of the National Educational Association in San Francisco report that school buses were used to take the convention visitors on sightseeing trips with no protest from the tire rationer of that state. He cited another instance of use of school buses for extra-curricular activities, with the express sanction of the Regional O.P.A. director."

WALLPAPER STYLE SHOWS WILL BEGIN MARCH 24 AND CONTINUE UNTIL SEASON'S CLOSE, MAY 24

The Bible: "My days are like a shadow that declineth; and I am withered like grass. But thou, O Lord, shall endure for ever; and thy remembrance unto all generations" (Psalms 102:11, 12). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "As God Himself is good and is Spirit, goodness and spirituality must be immortal. Their opposites, evil and matter, are mortal error, and error has no creator. If goodness and spirituality are real, evil and materiality are unreal and cannot be the outcome of an infinite God, good" (page 277).

War-wise housewives are well aware that many commodities available today may not be so readily obtained tomorrow, and are acting now to replace some of the old and discarded items about the house. With the coming of spring housecleaning season, they are seeing the wisdom of an attic-to-basement clean-up and are repairing all the rooms in the house.

To assist them in their selections of the new wallpapers, 7,500 unitized wallpaper dealers throughout the country and in Cisco, will inaugurate National Wallpaper Style Show on March 24, continuing through the peak of the spring decorating season to May 24. The complete selection of 1942 unitized wallpapers includes both the daring modern designs in bold and brilliant colors, and the always good and well-loved period patterns in rich new color harmonies.

Color has always been an important factor in your wallpaper plans, and now it is doubly important that a bright and cheerful home be maintained as the first fighting front in America. The farseeing home decorator is doing what she can now to assure a well-papered home that can survive the duration if necessary. The unitized wallpapers exhibited in the National Wallpaper Style Show, made to give many seasons of service, are well-tested, sun-proof and, when so marked, washable.

TEXAS TRAFFIC FATALITIES ON DECLINE NOW

AUSTIN, March 21. — Traffic fatalities in Texas decreased 19 per cent during the first two months of 1942 as compared with the same period of last year, says State Police Director Homer Garrison.

As of March 18 for the respective years, 294 persons were reported killed in January and February of 1941 and 239 were reported killed in January and February of 1942, a reduction of 55 fatalities.

Although the highway planning survey found a 6.4 per cent decrease in highway traffic at 28 points in the state in January and February, the comptroller's department reported a 10.6 increase in gasoline consumption. This divergence, Garrison explained, probably is due to the enormous amount of defense traffic not on principal highways where traffic counters are kept.

Speeds have been reduced noticeably, drivers are exercising more care, and local and highway patrol officers are bearing down a little harder on violators as a result of the recent emergency traffic control conference in Dallas, where representatives of five southwestern states met to formulate plans for more vigorous traffic law enforcement, Colonel Garrison said.
