O'DANIEL TELLS OF HIS FIGHT FOR FREEDOM TO WORK; BLAMES CONGRESS FOR LABOR MUDDLE

United States Senate, March 28, 1942.

Dear Friend:

In view of the avalanche of support I am now receiving on my labor legislation, several newspapers have asked me for a report on this movement. Thinking you might also be interested in this matter, I am writing you the same letter.

The first thing I want to make clearly understood is that I am a true friend of the laboring man. The second thing is that I do not consider the laboring people responsible for the deplorable conditions which are retarding the production of war materials and thus causing us to lose every battle so far.

The labor racketeers are causing most of our present troubles by plundering the hard-working men and dominating them to such an extent that it is retarding the production of vitally essential war weapons.

But it is my opinion that full blame for this deplorable condition rests squarely upon the shoulders of the Congress because it has failed to enact legislation that will make the racketeering of the communistic labor leaders illegal.

There are a few of us in Congress who have been doing everything possible to get some legislation enacted that would outlaw labor leader racketeering, but we are still in the minority.

It is a well-known fact that war equipment cannot be manufactured in factories that are strike-bound, and maximum production cannot be attained in factories where slow-down practices are resorted to.

Therefore, when the urgent need for an abundance of war equipment became apparent, as Governor of Texas, I called a joint session of the Texas Senate and House of Representatives and appeared before that body in person, and urged the enactment of legislation which I believed would tend to discourage strikes.

A law was promptly enacted, and since then we have had no strikes of consequence in Texas. No other State in the Union can boast of such accomplishment.

I then sent copies of the Texas legislation in congress, and to every governor of the other forty-seven states in order that lawmakers might be familiar with what we are doing in Texas to speed up war production.

When I came to congress and on every first day after being sworn in as a United States senator, I introduced the Texas bill in the senate. It went to committee and is still locked up in committee.

Unable to get the bill out of committee, I did the next best thing. I offered it three times at various intervals as an amendment to other bills. Each time the senators voted it down by an overwhelming majority.

I have made several speeches on the floor of the senate explaining the bill and urging its enactment. I have talked to many senators individually about it. I have sent copies of the bill and my speeches to many people throughout the other states. I have repeatedly explained it on my regular weekly broadcasts, and have made many public appearances explaining it. In fact, I have waged an intensive and continuous campaign for the bill since I started the fight while I was governor of Texas.

In addition to introducing this bill, I introduced in the senate on November 25, 1941, a constitutional amendment entitled "Freedom to Work," which would outlaw the closed shop so that labor racketeers could not charge honest working men from $40 to $100 or more for the right to

GANDHI AGAINST BRITAIN

Allied planes pounded Japanese bases north of Australia today, but in Burma the enemy ignored heavy losses and pushed northward toward Mandalay and the Prome oil fields.

Greatest immediate danger seemed to be on the Allied west flank, where the enemy has pushed 20 miles northward to the village of Shwedaung, only 10 miles south of Prome.

Britain's plan for granting Indian independence under a dominion form of government and thus enlisting Indian aid in the war, is threatened with mounting difficulties, if not collapse.

From New Delhi comes reliable word that Mohandas K. Gandhi, son of the famous Mahatma Gandhi, who often has stood against the British empire, has now swung the all-Indian congress working committee against acceptance of the British plan for enlisting independent India in a war against Japan.

AUSTRALIA -- American and Australian planes have blasted Japanese bases at Lea on New Guinea and Koe-pang on Timor. Australia has reorganized its army command under two generals.

American reports of knocking out 16 Japanese warships, 46 transports and 50 planes to March 1, boosts the Allied totals for the war to an estimated 30 ships, 60 transports and 200 planes.

To England: Give India freedom now, or think up another alibi after the Japs take her into camp.

JAP CARAVAN-U. S. A.—Stretching as far as the eye can see, this caravan, carrying 1,000 Japanese from Los Angeles to Owens Valley reception center, near Manzanar, California, rolls across desert country near Lone Pine, as Nipponese were evacuated from vital areas on West Coast.

GERMANS SAY U. S. CONVOY LOSS HEAVY

LONDON, March 31. -- British and Soviet naval forces protecting a convoy of British and United States war supplies to Russia, sank or damaged five Nazi warships and U-boats in the Arctic ocean in a three-day running battle, the admiralty announces.

Two British warships escorting the convoy were damaged but made port.

The Germans, who admitted loss of one destroyer in the battle, claimed earlier in a broadcast that another four ships of the convoy had been sunk -- possibly a total of eight purportedly sunk or damaged.

British admiralty said the attack had been "beaten off" and remaining German ships and subs put to flight.

DEFENSE GUARD ADVISORY COM. MEETS TONIGHT

The advisory committee of the Cisco defense guard has been called to meet tonight at 8 o'clock, at the chamber of commerce.

Forrest D. Wright, executive chairman, says two important matters will be presented to the committee and that tonight's meeting will be a joint affair with the chamber of commerce.

The chairman asks that all members of the advisory body make special effort to be present.

HUNTING EASTER EGGS

Cisco Lions, who have sponsored the local Easter Egg Hunt since 1934, will again set the stage for this thoroughly enjoyable affair, says Charles S. Sandler, chairman of arrangements.

The hunt will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Lake Cisco and there will be plenty of Easter eggs and numerous prizes for the contestants.

All children up to 12 years of age are invited to be present and participate.

There will be trucks at city hall to carry children who have no other way to reach the grounds, the chairman announces. Trucks will leave the city hall promptly at 3 o'clock.

MORAN BAPTIST CHURCH CALLS OLDEN PASTOR

MORAN, March 31.—The Rev. A. A. Palmer of Olden has been called as pastor of the Moran Baptist church and will move here as soon as repairs have been made on the church parsonage.

Mr. Palmer comes highly recommended. He is a graduate of Howard Payne college, accompanying him here will be his wife and nine-year-old daughter and they expect to be settled here by Easter.

ANOTHER FLYING SCHOOL

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The location of an air force school costing more than $5,000,000 at San Angelo, Texas, is announced by Representative South of Texas, who said a contract for architectural-engineering services had been awarded Myers & Noyes, and Mark Lemmon of Dallas. Construction will be under direction of the Galveston office of the Corps of Engineers, South said he had been informed by the War department.

H. BERGH TO DIRECT CECILIAN SINGERS

The Cecilian singers, under the direction of Hjalmar Bergh, will provide selected devotional music for the service at First Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock.

A piano prelude will be a slow movement for one of Beethoven's sonatas. Choral numbers to be given by the singers will be: "Hymn to Night" by Beethoven, "O Saviour of the World" by Pears-Riegger, "Passion Choral" by Bach and two hymns, "Ask Ye What Great Thing I Know" and "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

The pastor, Rev. Leslie Seymour, will bring a devotional message on the theme, "Jesus, An Example for Men," this sermon to be third in the Holy Week series on the general subject, "The Saviour of the World."

At the close of the worship the singers will give a choral benediction arranged by Lutkin.

Tomorrow night the choir of First Methodist church will have charge of the music. The sermon theme will be, "Jesus, the Companion of the Way."

Thursday evening a candle light communion service will be observed with a sermon on "Jesus, the Head of the Church."

The pastor is meeting the boys and girls each evening at 7:30 on the lawn for a play period.

SUPPLIES FOR TRUSTEE VOTE DISTRIBUTED

T. C. Williams, county school superintendent, is this week sending out supplies for the school trustee election to be held all over the county, Saturday.

Superintendent Williams said one trustee is to be elected to the county board for each of the Gorman and Rising Star precincts. The terms of W. P. Roach of Rising Star and J. Frank Dean of Gorman expire as members of the county school board this year. However, both are candidates and are running without opposition, so the county board will be the same as at present, Mr. Williams stated.

In addition to filling the vacancies of these expiring members there will be elected one trustee for each of the common school districts of the county. But none of the candidates have opposition, so the election will be practically unanimous. A few write-in votes is looked for, but Williams says the election will probably be the most harmonious of any held in recent years.

Besides the vacancies in the common school boards and on the county board, vacancies will be filled in the independent districts next Saturday. The vote will be polled in the various common school houses, and the officers will be those designated by the various districts, both common and independent.

SCOUT DRIVE IS UNDERWAY HERE TODAY

Cisco's Boy Scout organization, together with Guy Quirl, Comanche Trail executive, and Homer Tudor, assistant executive of Brownwood and Eastland, met at Laguna hotel this morning and enjoyed breakfast together, preparatory to launching a drive to raise Cisco's quota for the Comanche Trail organization.

After the meeting had been called to order by J. D. Lauderdale, two boy scouts bearing an American flag and preceded by two scouts blowing trumpets, entered and placed the handsome emblem near the head of the table. The boys were Harry Grantz, Robert Shaw, Eddie Jackson and Joe Tom Poe.

Invocation, was by Rev. J. R. Wright and there were talks by Dr. Gary L. Smith and Executive Quirl. Following the meal, teams were formed and the drive launched.

Those present were Guy Quirl, Brownwood; Homer Tudor, Eastland; Dr. Gary L. Smith, Rising Star; R. Wright, Sim Ledford, E. P. Crawford, E. L. Jackson, J. D. Lauderdale, Pete Nance, Tom Stark, T. C. Williams, S. E. Hittson, R. E. Grantham, George Boyd, Charles J. Kleimer, Neil Lane, T. J. McCarty, G. P. Mitcham, H. A. Bible, Forrest D. Wright, G. A. Eppler, J. W. Cousins and J. B. Pratt.

EASE THE LOAD
WASHINGTON, March 31.—House ways and means committee looked favorably today on proposals to ease the income tax load for families who are educating children or who pay unusual medical expenses.

FORMER PASTOR FIRST BAPTIST VISITING HERE

Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Kendrick are guests in the home of her sister, Miss Cora Harris, 301 Ninth street. Dr. Kendrick began his pastorate with the First Baptist church of Cisco in April, 1905, and while visiting at the Daily Press office Monday expressed pleasure at the advancement of this church and congregation, as well as the progress made by other church organizations in Cisco through the years since his last visit here. Also, he stated, he was glad to see the many improvements in the town.

Dr. Kendrick has served as pastor and evangelist of churches throughout the south, especially in West Texas.

Mrs. Kendrick has served as an official in educational institutions in Texas and other states, but is in feeble health now; however, able to accompany him on his infrequent visits here to spend some time with Miss Harris.

COCKTAIL CIVILIZATION

Dr. Lee H. Ferguson, director of student health service at Western Reserve University, speaking to a Nursery Education meeting, stated four principles as basic in preserving home strength. They were: a biologically sound and stronger marriage bond, a morally clean family unit, common ideals for parents and children to replace the cocktail civilization which came to an end December 7, and faith in the heart.

There can be no doubt that a marriage bond assumed to be permanent is needed if children of this new age are to be brought up without the danger of broken homes. Common ideals for parents and children which lead them to look for something higher than mere and better cocktails are also called for. These require home-staying and home interests for their growth and development. Fortunately there is a general feeling that new and better home-stability is on the way.

Certainly nothing worth while for children or parents either is attainable without faith. And would it not be pleasant to believe that the "cocktail civilization" really did come to an end on the seventh of last December? Perhaps the easy-going attitude which let it develop did come to a sharp halt in its progress on that day.

HIGHEST PEAK

The United States is the greatest country in the world. We always knew that, and we knew it in the most remarkable way. But we didn't know that we had the world's highest mountain.

In school it was taught that that honor was held by Mount Everest on the borders of India, which is 29,141 feet high. Now it seems that Everest must yield to Mauna Kea in Hawaii, which is 33,825 feet high. Yes, you read that right, but it is not quite so simple. There is more to Mauna Kea than you see. The 13,825 feet are merely what is above sea level. According to James B. Ulman, historian of mountaineering, in his new book, "High Conquest," Mauna Kea actually starts from the ocean floor, 19,000 feet further down. This gives Mauna Kea a total height of over 31,000 feet, which makes it easily first.

Not everyone would agree with this method of reckoning. But it starts one thinking about the American character. We like to brag about our belongings, whether new cars or mountain peaks. But there might be a real resemblance to Mauna Kea, after all. The American character may not appear to be so much, veiled on the surface, but its roots go deep, and there may be more to its height than meets the casual eye.

Many women whose husbands are in the army find some compensation in the fact that hubby at last is learning to wash dishes.

A real ambition that would appeal to most of us was expressed by a woman who suddenly became wealthy. When everything had been bought for her and she was asked if there was anything else that she wished, she said, "I want to sit on a fence and see myself go by."

UNDER TWO FLAGS

The military affairs of the United States and Canada, which carry good-neighboring to an unusual extreme, are now somewhat tangled. The governments seem to manage all right, but there are individual complications. When we entered the war, some 15,000 "Yanks" had enlisted in the Canadian army. Some of these boys lost their citizenship by taking an oath of allegiance to Canada. Others enlisted in branches of the service where they did not lose citizenship, but merely promised obedience to the Canadian authorities for the duration of the war and the customary few months thereafter.

Now that their own country has entered the same war, many of them would like to return. The Canadian government will help in such repatriation. It is announced that Americans in Canadian service may apply for transfer to the States after April 1. Citizenship will be regained, apparently, by the simple process of transferring to the service of the United States. They will keep the same rank they have had in Canada if they pass the physical requirements of the United States Army. Americans in the Royal Air Force may apply for service in our Army, Navy or Marine air services.

It is remarkable how well the citizens of these two democracies seem to mesh, so to speak, in work and play, in peace and war. In the present situation they might almost be regarded as interchangeable parts in a joint war and a common way of life.

"THE ONLY WAY"

A sensational war profiteering case has been attracting national attention. It concerns a firm which has been making excellent airplane starters for the army but charging far too much for them. Life in that factory was a riot of enormous salaries, dividends, bonuses and banquets.

"It's the only way for an all-out production, protests the president and chief stockholder of the company. But is it? Have things come to a pass where our men and women need to be bribed in this manner in order to get their loyal and efficient service in a great national crisis?"

We don't believe it. Employees in a thousand factories should rise up and denounce the slacker.

Hitler's career was foreseen by the great Greek philosopher Plato. He said: "When the tyrant has disposed of foreign enemies by conquest or treaty and there is nothing to fear from them, then he always attacks up some war or other, in order that the people may require a leader." Moral: Always keep one eye at least on your political leaders. Human nature does not change.

AUTOISTS WAKE TO IMPORTANCE TIRE THRIFT

DETROIT, March 31.—The importance of saving tires by reducing speed and driving more carefully finally has dawned on the American motorist.

This is the consensus of police traffic officials and tire experts who study the driving habits of the war-time motorist.

Six weeks ago a Detroit traffic inspector was asked whether the acute, war-imposed shortage of rubber had prompted drivers to slow down.

"Now," he snapped. "They're just as 'screwball' today as they ever were. They drive fast, they're reckless and they don't share rides with their fellow workers."

Now, however, he says the situation is entirely different.

Women More Interested. "There is improvement all along," the traffic expert said. "People are driving slower. We are issuing fewer tickets for speeding. Another very important development is that fewer young people are driving. Parents seem to be doing a good job of prohibiting children from using the family car."

Police and tire company officials agree that a big factor in the educational program necessary to achieve rubber conservation is gaining the interest of women. This is being done successfully, according to an official of U. S. Rubber company.

"We find that women are eager for information on what they can do to save their tires," he said. "They also want to know about substitutes for civilian articles in which use of rubber will be restricted or banned."

Pontiac Plan a Success. Although police in this vital war production area note substantial improvement in the sharing of automobiles by workers driving to and from their jobs, great strides still must be made before maximum utilization of car miles per hour can be obtained. Municipal transit lines in many cities, including Detroit, are carrying near-capacity loads, although many workers still drive alone to factories.

"The economic waste in automobiles carrying only one person is terrific," said Fred A. Nolan, general manager of Detroit's municipally-owned transportation system which carries nearly 1,500,000 passengers daily. "It means we have to shoulder a terrific load and the worst is yet to come. The problem will be staggering when it comes time to store cars because of no tires."

Even at Pontiac, Mich., which has reported great success with its so-called "Pontiac plan" for pooling transportation facilities, there still is much spade work to be done. A survey of high school students who drove their parents' car to school showed that some of them lived not more than five blocks away.

The average man doesn't oppose reform; what irks him is being reformed by somebody no better than he is.

Cotton Turns Shower Into Bower

A shower can be turned into a bower with a lovely rose-printed cotton shower curtain and matching window draperies. ### MARINE TELLS MOTHER ABOUT HIS COLLEEN OPELOUSA, La., March 31.—From Somewhere in Northern Ireland, David Jean Weir, 22-year-old Marine, wrote his mother he had met a pretty Irish girl.

"What eyes!" he wrote appreciatively. "You think they're blue, but when I give her a sweet word they dance from deep violet to lettuce green. Her hair is jet black, but short and crinkly, and flies wild to her shoulders.

Her skin, face, neck, arms are cream. Two strawberry splashes in her cheeks. Her lips are two tiny slices of watermelon. No rouge nor lipstick. The top of her head comes to where I keep my fountain pen."

Her name is Noreen and she is about 15 years old, he said. "She's never had a date." Weir continued. "What an armful she would make. Wish she were about 20—I'd take her for a ride."

After reading the letter, Weir's mother said, "Hmmm. She has already taken him for a ride—but he doesn't know it yet."

Don't be forever criticizing the narrow-minded people of your town. It makes people think you have been broad-minded to excess.

YOUR USE OF THE TELEPHONE IN WARTIME

TODAY telephone wires are humming with the urgent messages of a nation at war.

In a few localities and on certain long distance routes, these vital messages have brought heavy loads. Elsewhere we are still able in most places to give you good service, however, and there is no reason why you should not make normal use of your telephone.

But you can help us serve both you and the war effort by avoiding any wasteful use of telephone facilities. So please keep in mind these four simple suggestions:

4 WAYS YOU CAN HELP

- 1. Speak clearly. Having to repeat yourself takes time, and ties up the lines needlessly. Please talk in normal tones directly into the mouthpiece, with the lips about 1/2 inch away. It's better not to talk with a cigarette, pipe or pencil in your mouth.
- 2. Hang up carefully. A book or other object under the receiver may put your telephone "out of service." Please replace the receiver carefully. It will insure your getting all incoming calls.
- 3. Answer promptly. Even seconds are important these days. However, when you make a call, give the other fellow enough time to reach his telephone before you hang up.
- 4. Avoid "rush hours." You may avoid occasional delays if, when possible, you will not make long distance calls during peak hours—10-12 A.M., 2-4 P.M., and 7-8 P.M.

WILL FIGHT TO SAVE 40-HOUR LAW

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The Administration gave clear indication Tuesday it would fight to the last ditch against any moves to suspend the 40-hour week law or to curb war profits except through taxation. Senate Democratic Leader Barkeley told reporters prior to a scheduled White House conference Tuesday on the legislative program that he was opposed to enactment now of any restrictive labor measures. Moreover, Barkeley said he favored attempting to recapture excessive war profits by high taxation such as the Treasury has suggested rather than through a flat limitation of 6 per cent, a method the House approved when it amended a pending $18,000,000,000 military appropriation bill. Barkeley said suspension of the 40-hour week law was likely to cause "chaos" in war industries. He added that he would continue to oppose efforts by Senator Connally of Texas to obtain Senate consideration of Connally's measure freezing working conditions in strike-bound plants taken over by the government.

Contending that most war industries were operating far in excess of 40 hours a week, Barkeley said the only question involved was whether employees were to receive time and a half for work over that period.

This time and a half, he said, represented about a 10 per cent increase in pay over normal wages. He added that there had been an approximate increase of 15 per cent in the cost of living.

He said further that war contracts had been made by the government on the basis of overtime payments to obtain needed production speed. If labor loses its overtime pay, contractors are likely to profit that much more, Barkeley said.

TEXAS HAS 99,759 OIL WELLS NOW

AUSTIN, March 31.—Refinery oil storage in Texas at the end of February was 79,239,416 barrels, 4,354,632 higher than at the start of the month, Railroad Commission engineers reported Tuesday.

The number of producing oil wells in Texas has reached 99,759.

Railroad Commission engineers reported, however, that completion of new wells has slowed considerably—with only 17 reported last week.

Statewide crude production last week averaged 1,286,793 barrels daily, 51,807 below the recommendation of the Office of the Petroleum co-ordinator.

When the April proration order goes into effect Wednesday, crude yield will be slashed to an average of 1,036,512 barrels a day.

U. S. TO GET ALL CUBA'S SUGAR, 1942

HAVANA, March 31.—Cuba and the United States Tuesday were reported in agreement on a series of co-operative, wartime measures which one observer said "demonstrates a new splendid spirit of friendship between the two countries."

President Fulgencio Batista, who has pronounced himself "100 per cent co-operative" with the United States, discussed the program with cabinet aids and others over the week-end.

One of the first projects to become operative is a revision of the contract whereby the United States buys all of Cuba's 1942 crop except that needed for domestic consumption.

LOGISTICS

Strategy is the planning of warfare.

Tactics is the execution of those plans.

Logistics, the third branch of military science, is the supplying of everything necessary to strategy and tactics—in the right amount, at the right place, at the right time.

Now, in total war, we must apply the science of Logistics to all of our activities as a nation—civilian as well as military. WE ALL are part of the Victory Program.

Our supply lines are literally life lines of the United Nations. Man-power and munition-power are the controlling factors.

Today, Logistics dictates strategy—determines tactics.

Congress has appropriated billions of dollars but it cannot appropriate one single second of time.

Time favors those who appreciate it as the priceless commodity it now is.

In war, when we save time we save lives—and we make our individual contribution to Victory.
