Our Are Still on Pension Rolls From a Texas War Bought 106 Years Ago

CIN, April 10. — Texas and won her war of independence 106 years ago but—as it seems—the state paying pensions to four because of that heroic than three-quarters of a ago, Texans laid down in the bitter War Between the States—yet, the state to the subsistence of Confederate veterans and of Texas' War of Independence, concluded by the battle of San Jacinto on 21, 1836, are widows of Houston's fighters. By the legislature in 1885, they quarterly pensions of our are Mrs. S. R. Freeman, Mrs. Mary Long-Ahline, Mrs. Julia Reed-Giddings and Mrs. C. Baird. The comptroller's department conducted a check to determine the status of the pensioners. The department originally reported still active on the widows' list but they have been lost for many days Texas will celebrate one-hundred and sixtieth anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto 77 years ago yesterday. The survey was made in March, when employees of 1,000 business concerns were asked to estimate when tires on automobiles bringing them to work would wear out and employers were asked to estimate their anticipated employment increases.

The employment survey showed that, whereas 64,157 persons were at work on March 1 this year, 67,126 would be working on April 30; 71,653 on June 30; 85,208 on Dec. 31, 1942, and 122,211 on Dec. 31, 1943.

Correspondingly, it was estimated population would increase from 225,000 to 260,000 by end of 1942 and 325,000 by end of 1943. The population figures were computed on the basis of experience in San Diego, Cal.

At present, 19,996 employees go to work from their work by bus, 9,708 walk, 1,164 ride bicycles or have some other means—compared with 33,289 who come in automobiles.

"Thus," Ben E. Keith explained, "we have the alarming situation that, whereas 29,400 now ride buses to work daily, the number who will be asking for daily transportation by public conveyances two years from now will be 113,000."

TO LIVE IN HISTORY. WELLINGTON, N. Z., April 10. —The defense of Bataan "will live in history as long as men value courage, heroism and sacrifice," Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand declared Friday. "The defenders of Bataan," he said in tribute to the little American-Filipino army, "covered themselves with imperishable glory, providing a shining example of the spirit animating the soldiers of democracy."

TEXAN SENTENCED. PHILADELPHIA, April 10. —Samuel Mason Newton, 38, identified as a former journalism student of the University of Texas, was sentenced to three months in jail Thursday for failure to register for the draft. Newton was identified by Assistant United States Attorney Edward J. Kallick. "I didn't think they'd accept me," Newton said when asked why he had not registered, the prosecutor said.

Nelson would encourage workers by offering bonuses. Maybe that's a good idea, but soldiers seem to be satisfied with medals.

FORT WORTH'S PANTS SEEM BIT TOO LONG

FT. WORTH, April 10.—The critical transportation problem facing Fort Worth as a result of expanding war industries and the tire shortage was revealed Friday when a chamber of commerce survey disclosed the number of persons who must ride buses to and from work almost will quadruple in the next two years.

With employment expected to increase from 64,157 to 122,211 and the metropolitan area population from 225,000 to 325,000 by the end of 1943, the survey showed at least three steps which must be taken to solve the problem:

1. Working hours must be staggered to make full use of existing facilities.

2. Highest priority ratings must be obtained so that additional bus equipment may be purchased.

3. The government must be requested to supply equipment to be operated here.

The survey was made in March, when employees of 1,000 business concerns were asked to estimate when tires on automobiles bringing them to work would wear out and employers were asked to estimate their anticipated employment increases.

The employment survey showed that, whereas 64,157 persons were at work on March 1 this year, 67,126 would be working on April 30; 71,653 on June 30; 85,208 on Dec. 31, 1942, and 122,211 on Dec. 31, 1943.

Correspondingly, it was estimated population would increase from 225,000 to 260,000 by end of 1942 and 325,000 by end of 1943. The population figures were computed on the basis of experience in San Diego, Cal.

At present, 19,996 employees go to work from their work by bus, 9,708 walk, 1,164 ride bicycles or have some other means—compared with 33,289 who come in automobiles.

"The defenders of Bataan," he said in tribute to the little American-Filipino army, "covered themselves with imperishable glory, providing a shining example of the spirit animating the soldiers of democracy."

BRETT CLAIMS AIR OFFENSIVE TAKEN BY U. S.

MELBOURNE, April 10. —"We've taken the offensive against the Japanese in the air and we'll continue to increase it," Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, air chief and deputy commander under General MacArthur in the Southwest Pacific, declared Friday.

In an interview, Brett said "our only limitation is equipment." He added: "My plans are clear cut. I was assigned the task of unifying and commanding Allied air forces. "The goal of my unified command is to smash Japan in the air. "Of the three forces under General MacArthur's command, the Allied Air Force is organizing and carrying the fight into the enemy's camp.

"Planes and equipment are flowing here at an ever-increasing rate. They have to come a long way but they are coming with equipment. "The machines already in hand are laying a first class foundation for air war against the Japanese and, simultaneously, are doing their best to hold the Japanese where they are north of Australia."

SAYRE TELLS OF HORRORS CORREGIDOR

NEW YORK, April 10. — The story of how he lived, worked and dodged Japanese bombers for two months in a foul-smelling tunnel on Corregidor where "life was stripped to its essentials" was told Thursday night by Francis B. Sayre, United States high commissioner to the Philippines.

Sayre, who returned recently to America, told a United China Relief dinner he moved into the tunnel, where "cots were jammed end to end," with his family and part of his staff on Christmas Eve after a breath-taking exodus from Manila.

"For the next two months," he recalled, "we lived on Corregidor in the tunnel—one of the tunnels—which was known as Malinta tunnel.

The air was foul, fetid, hot—even in December. Two or three days after we got over there the Japanese put on a show—started bombing us—rained bombs down on Corregidor, smashed the buildings on top side, as it is called—on the top of Corregidor.

BOMB ENGLISH WORKS. BERLIN, April 10.—Light German bombers blasted a gas works on the English south coast and severe damage was caused in adjacent factories by the resultant explosion, the high command said Friday. Naval artillery was declared to have shot down three British bombers over Helgoland Bight.

FATALLY BURNED. ROCKFORD, Ill., April 10. —Maj. Ira Brown of Chicago and Capt. Harry S. Goelick of Detroit were fatally burned early Friday when fire razed an officers' barracks at Camp Grant. Two other officers were severely burned. The fire was extinguished after raging for an hour. Authorities would not comment on the cause of the blaze.

MARINES SAFE IN FORT

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The navy announced today that most of an estimated 3,500 blue jackets and marines who participated in the defense of Bataan were evacuated to Corregidor fortress.

The evacuation, carried out under cover of darkness, was ordered by Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright "when it became evident that it was no longer possible to hold the peninsula in the face of overwhelming enemy odds."

TEXAS FARM LABOR NEEDED HERE AT HOME

AUSTIN, April 9. — Asserting farm jobs will be plentiful and pay higher this year in Texas, Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald today warned farm laborers in Texas against migrating to other states in response to calls not sanctioned by agencies of the state and federal governments in charge of labor movement.

With the federal government calling for 150,000 more acres of long-staple cotton, almost doubled peanut acreage, more milk, eggs, and vegetables for the army and navy, there will be plenty of employment for all available laborers wanting farm work, McDonald asserted.

The commissioner's statement came after reports that extravagant offers were being made to induce farm laborers to other states on the pretext that their labor was vital to defense.

"Texas agriculture is playing a vital, or more vital, a role in the defense program than that of any other state," McDonald declared. "Our cotton, feed, oil crops and vegetables are badly needed by our rapidly expanding army and our fighting allies. And Texas labor is needed in Texas to insure the harvesting of these crops."

The commissioner warned that laborers leaving Texas in response to the extravagantly high wage offers are often stranded without work and away from home.

"The United States employment service and the Texas state labor department are cooperating on all phases of the labor situation and laborers should be slow to start migrating to other states without first hand information from these agencies relative to actual needs," he said.

BILL FINCHER GOOD FARMER VISITS CISCO

Bill Fincher and family of the Moran sector were in Cisco shopping this morning and said they had a fine rain and believed it had come in time to save the grain—or a greater part of it—which they had thought was dead from a combination of bugs and dry weather.

The grain had been eaten down to the ground by blue and other bugs and many farmers had already plowed the ground for other crops, but now that the rains had come, Fincher said grain showed signs of coming out—the roots were not dead and from the fact that they had gone so deeply into the earth, trying to find moisture, they might come out and make a good crop, after all.

"The darkest hour is always just before daylight," he said, and perhaps this despondency they had all felt on account of the loss of a grain crop, may yet turn to gladness. And, he said, of all time when we are feeding the world, it looked like we needed a good wheat crop.

"Yes, we raise chickens and turkeys," he stated. His wife and the children are interested in turkeys and the pasture land in his part of the country furnishes fine range for turkeys with the bugs and grasshoppers, that usually abound.

"A turkey likes to range widely, and after they get past the delicate age they are usually pretty hardy fowls," Fincher stated. "I am going to place emphasis on turkeys this year," he added.

LEE OWEN IS ABLE TO BE OUT AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Owen were welcome callers at the Daily Press office this morning. Mr. Owen has been confined to his home for the past five years, but is some better now and again wears his old-time smile.

Mr. Owen is a native of Dresden, Tenn., and came to Cisco in 1903. He was in the drug business with Howard D'Spain for a brief period, but ill health caused him to retire from that line of endeavor and enter the insurance business.

THEO. MCCOY ABLE TO BE DOWN TOWN. Theodore McCoy, a resident of Cisco for more than 25 years, was downtown today. He has been jilting for the past two years and spends most of his time at his home, 1409 F avenue.

TOUGH BATTLE FOR SEA CONTROL IS SEEN

LONDON, April 10. — The United States and Great Britain face a desperate battle in the next three months to maintain dominion of the seas because of steady Axis progress in picking off key bases throughout the world, an informed naval observer said Friday.

Bataan's conquest fits into the Axis pattern since it raises the imminent possibility that Manila Bay will be opened up to aid Japan's lunge toward India and the threatened junction with Germany somewhere in the Near East, this source declared.

"We must face the facts," he said gravely. "The Japanese, German, and Italian fleets are nearing numerical superiority, if they have not yet achieved it. "Every Allied loss, such as the sinkings of the British cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall in the Bay of Bengal, cuts whatever edge we have in guns and ships. "The great naval bases on which Anglo-American sea supremacy rests either have been captured, attacked, or are continually menaced by the adroit Axis use of combined air and sea power."

The Axis opportunity to take over the French fleet was described by this source as "too good to miss." He believed it would be seized and combined with the Italian navy to support an Axis offensive against Egypt and points east, and thus prepare the way for a blow at Russia's Caucasian flank.

Air power, "the cheapest form of attack," has been used wherever possible by the Axis to sink isolated Allied flotillas and heavy units, he declared.

DAN MOODY, JUDGE ALLRED BIT RELUCTANT

AUSTIN, April 10.—The dogwoods is blooming in Texas, but politics slumbers on. Tradition is that "when dogwoods bloom" the politicians must begin planning for the crop of votes they intend to harvest in the July and August democratic primaries. But war changed all that, and it appears possible that the potential candidates are adopting almost unanimously the suggestion that politics be adjourned for the duration.

Candidates have until June 1 to file for places on the July democratic ballot. As of today, it seems likely that the liveliest race will be for the vacant office of lieutenant-governor—one that ordinarily attracts only casual attention.

Present holders are candidates for every other state office, and several are without opposition. Persons who enjoy red-hot political campaigning are hoping that something may develop in the U. S. senate race. W. Lee O'Daniel, who holds the office now, is opposed by Joe Steadham of Fort Worth, legislative representative for the railroad brotherhoods.

Both James V. Allred and Dan Moody, former governors, still are being discussed as prospective opponents for O'Daniel but neither has announced. Either is considered by their friends as strong enough to give O'Daniel a real race, but the word from the hustlers is that they'd better be getting started if either one hopes to make a respectable showing.

GUARD GROWS TO 76

Cisco Defense Guards are now increasing numerically with each meeting. Last night 76 men were in line as compared with 53 the previous Thursday night.

All men were on hand promptly and, under the direction of Capt. O. L. Stamey and his subordinates, were given vigorous workouts. The officer personnel is as follows: Capt. O. L. Stamey, First Lieutenant Sim Ledford, Second Lieutenant Wyatt Jacobs, First Sergeant D. G. Streater, Acting Sergeant Dick Thomas, Platoon Sergeants A. L. Farley and George Boyd, Corporals L. E. Sublett and Homer Blak.

Weather permitting, the meeting next Thursday night will be at the Cisco ball park. Thanks to the West Texas Utilities company, lights have been installed at the park.

Following appeal through the Daily Press for funds to purchase uniforms for those unable to buy them, Edward Lee, treasurer, reports an excellent response. More than $50 was received following the first call and without personal solicitation.

It will be interesting to some of the guardsmen to know that another shipment of caps has been received. It is again emphasized that all able-bodied men between 18 and 64 years of age may get in touch with some of the company officers for additional information about the guard.

DUNN FAVORS A DRESSING PLANT HERE

Better still, says one enthusiastic guardsman, COME OUT AND DRILL WITH US!

Among those who have bought baby turkeys for rearing purposes is Dr. D. V. Rogers, of Gorman, who purchased 500 little poultlets today. The Gorman country is a great chicken and turkey section, but it does not have the natural setup for turkeys that Shackelford and Callahan counties, and this part of Eastland county, have. The large pastures, infested with bugs and grasshoppers, make natural ranges for the turkey, which is a bird domesticated only a few years from a wild fowl, used to ranging over wide areas and getting its living from insects of various kinds and berries in season. If given free range, the turkey will almost make its own living because of its nature to forage and live off the country.

The turkey is a voracious eater and when a farmer can get it to make even a part of its living from the natural prey of the fields, he counts himself in luck. Many farmers plant peanuts and peas and let the flock harvest them, thus saving much work for themselves.

Mr. Dunn thinks that this trade territory should support a dressing plant and thus add greatly to its income from growing chickens and turkeys.

JAP SUPERIOR NOW IN FAR EAST WATERS

American torpedo boats sank another Japanese cruiser and Great Britain lost the aircraft carrier Hermes today in the growing battle for command of sea approaches to India and Australia.

An enemy cruiser was sent to the bottom in an attack on five warships and 10 transports landing troops on the island of Cebu in the Philippines, where fighting has ceased on Bataan peninsula, but not on the rocky island fortress of Corregidor, guarding Manila Bay.

In the Bay of Bengal and the Indian ocean, a Japanese drive for command of the seas appeared to be approaching a climax that may decide the fate of India and Burma, but there is no clear picture of what strength the United Nations might be able to muster against the strong enemy fleets.

At least one Japanese aircraft carrier was damaged and 18 more enemy planes knocked out off Ceylon, but the 10,850 ton Hermes was sunk by Japanese planes within 72 hours of the sinking of the British cruisers Cornwall and Dorsetshire.

The Japanese in the Far East, as well as the Germans and Italians in the Mediterranean and Atlantic, are evidently making an all-out effort to break Allied sea domination at a time when British and American naval forces necessarily have been spread thin over a world front.

There is no indication of enemy successes in the Atlantic area this week, but Japanese superiority in surface ships in the Far East seemed to have given the enemy at least temporary control of the Bay of Bengal and a marked advantage throughout the eastern waters of the Indian ocean.

Most formidable challenge to Japanese strength may be provided by Allied air strength, especially the flying fortresses, in India, but surface forces are also essential to break threat of enemy invasion. Fate of American forces still fighting at Corregidor and elsewhere in the Philippines, and Allied armies in Australia and Burma, is closely connected with the success or failure of Japan's naval offensive.

Geography Comes Alive. "What though the balmy breezes blow soft o'er Ceylon's isle. Where every prospect pleases And only man is vile?"

So the world shrinks, and our own interests spread, and we learn geography and history as we never did before. It should be especially interesting to the boys and girls in school. We have warships and armies over there, looking after our affairs. We grown-ups had to learn in a harder way, when such matters were dry as dust, having no human connection with the life we lived.

General Sikorski knows all this, better than any of us. That makes his present support of the Soviet war effort all the more impressive.

General Sikorski knows all this, better than any of us. That makes his present support of the Soviet war effort all the more impressive.

"A great American patriot whose only crime appeared to be that he tried to keep America out of war." So said Mrs. Agnes Waters of Washington, D. C., addressing a mid-Western meeting of an organization calling itself the United Mothers of America.

Who is this great patriot? None other than George Sylvester Veck, propagandist for the Kaiser in the last war, and lately convicted as an unregistered Hitler agent.

It is difficult to be patient with such stuff. We can think of only two explanations of such speeches. One is dumbness.

"A garden is a loveless thing. God wot." Although this poetic utterance was probably intended for a flower garden, or a little family park in the back yard, it is no less applicable to a vegetable garden. And there's no law against having both together. Anybody may go as far as he likes.

It is unfortunate that the coming of spring this year finds so many male gardeners away from home and the women and children unable to do the necessary spading to get a garden started. For in war time there is more need of gardens than usual—vegetable gardens for fresh, wholesome food, and flower gardens for people's souls.

of American families carry on, regardless of a tragic world. But don't forget the flowers. They do something to the human soul. You can plant a few almost anywhere.

BALKAN TURMOIL

Bulgaria and Hungary have signed an agreement to protect each other against Rumania. The report has just leaked out from Eastern Europe. The agreement is phrased in this way, although, like other such agreements, its real purpose is probably to cover up a proposed attack by these two powers against Rumania. Hungary evidently thinks so, for it is said in its turn to be making overtures to Croatia and Slovakia.

In short, the Balkan pot is boiling under the German lid. The conquered countries, though all in the same boat, love each other no better than they ever did. The best part of all this is that Germany must spend valuable time and effort to keep the peace. Not only that, but she loses expected help. Eight Hungarian divisions are now understood to be posted on the Rumanian border when Hitler could use them to great advantage against Russia.

Balkan turmoil, therefore, means German trouble. So there's more trouble in the Balkans!

George Washington, according to staff members of the Mayo Clinic, suffered at one time of another from measles, smallpox, diphtheria, rheumatism, pneumonia, malaria, and bad eyes and teeth. What would he have done if he had been a really well man?

RISING STAR

Miss Mary Keen, head of the home economics department of the Rising Star High school, and Mr. Douglas Jackson, high school principal, were united in marriage Tuesday evening at St. Mary's Catholic church in Brownwood by Father Harrison, using the single ring ceremony. Attendants were: Wm. R. Falls, as best man and Miss Mildred Keen, twin sister of the bride, maid of honor.

Funeral services for Mrs. T. B. McCracken, 46, who passed away at the family home in the Blake community Saturday afternoon following a long illness, were held at the Blake church Sunday afternoon by the pastor of the Primitive Baptist church at Wichita Falls. Mrs. McCracken is survived by her husband and a married daughter. Also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Haynes, and a number of brothers and sisters.

Gayle Greynolds, contractor on Crownover, No. 2, which was spudded early the past week, reported drilling as going forward, with a depth of more than 400 feet early this week. The new well is on the west side of the Crownover tract, three miles south of town, and some 500 yards from Crownover No. 1, a heavy gasser.

According to Frank Robertson, local deputy tax collector, a final day rush almost brought local auto registrations up to last year's figures. To April 1, last year, a total of 670 licenses had been issued.

GARDENING

Gardens should be started wherever it is in any way possible. The mere fact of having fresh, growing things in the yard gives a lift to the spirit and a sense of security. There is a thrill in your first radishes. Children can be taught to get a great bang out of vegetables. They have raised themselves Cabbages, potatoes, turnips and tomatoes, where there is space for them, can help countless thousands sued and on the same date this year, 604.

Dr. and Mrs. N. T. Maloy, who have been making their home in Floydada, are now located in the W. P. Small residence just north of town, which they have recently acquired by purchase. The property is one of the most attractive in the vicinity. For the past few years Dr. Maloy has been camp physician with the CCC organization, but resigned his place to come to Rising Star to be nearer his oil interests. He has production in the Crocker community.

Staff Sergeant Charles W. Buey, formerly of Rising Star, left the "West Point of the Air" this week for Miami Beach, where he will be a student in the air corps administrative officers' Candidate School. Sergeant Buey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Buey, of Rising Star. On completion of the three-month course at Miami Beach, Sergeant Buey will be commissioned a second lieutenant. He will then be assigned to an administrative post at one of the U. S. Army Air Forces' far-flung flying schools. Sergeant Buey held a key position in the orderly room of the 32nd school squadron at Randolph Field.

According to the Hamilton Herald-Record Travis Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Roach, of this city, and athletic coach in Hamilton high school, has been accepted by the navy as a physical instructor under general direction of Gene Tunney and will report to Norfolk, Va., soon. Bill White and Douglas Jackson, of Rising Star, are also enlisted for the same work.—Rising Star Record.

CROSS PLAINS

Word has been received in Cross Plains that Walton Erwin, 20 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Erwin, formerly of Cross Plains and now of San Angelo, was one of the several hundred seamen whose lives were lost when the U. S. S. Arizona was sunk at Honolulu in the sneak attack by Japan on December 7, 1941. Young Erwin, who was well known in Cross Plains and had many friends here who mourn his passing, enlisted in the United States navy in the autumn of 1940. He was an anti-aircraft gunner on the ill fated U. S. S. Arizona.

More than a million pounds of junk iron has been shipped from Cross Plains to go into weapons of war since Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor. December 7, 1941. A check-up by the Review Tuesday revealed that 28 carloads of 50,000 pounds have moved from here since America's entrance into the war. R. A. Bowles, local MK&T station agent reports that an average of two cars now leave here every time the train runs, or six cars of 300,000 pounds weekly. The tempo has been greatly speeded in recent weeks.

Only sixty-three votes were polled in the annual city election here Tuesday as a mayor and four aldermen were named. Rain which continued intermittently throughout the day was blamed for the light turnout. Mayor Martin was unopposed for reelection to a third term as Cross Plains mayor. In the council race the first four, whose names appeared on the ballot were elected: J. A. Caton, H. C. Freeman, B. A. Pierce and S. N. Foster.

$435,944 TO BE SPENT FOR BIG BEND PK. LAND
AUSTIN, April 10.—The State Comptroller's records Friday showed expenditures of $435,944 for land which will become part of the Big Bend National Park in West Texas.
Nineteen owners received a total of $212,701 with W. A. Hanger of Fort Worth donating his holdings. The department also paid Land Commissioner Bascom Giles $223,243 for public school acreage, the money accruing to the State's permanent school fund.

PROFESSIONAL POLITICIANS STUDY VOTE
AUSTIN, April 10.—Politicians have been studying the poll tax lists for Texas and have come to the conclusion that the labor vote will be proportionately larger than usual in this summer's party primaries and in the general election in November.
Heaviest poll tax section is around Houston, where there is great industrial activity. Much of it is wartime industry requiring skilled labor for which deferment from military service has strong call.
Few deferments have been reported from farm labor, so the bulk of deferment will be in the labor groups which generally are organized and known popularly in politics as "labor."

Regardless of poll tax payment, the men in the service from Texas will lose their vote. The state constitution forbids it—a relic of the days when it was feared military cliques might control government. This section of the constitution denies the vote to "all soldiers, marines and seamen employed in the service of the army or navy of the United States." There is a proviso that the ban shall not apply to the national guard reserve and the organized reserves of the United States, nor to army officers who have retired.
But there has been a ruling that when the national guard of Texas was called into federal service it became a part of the army of the United States and it has been held also that the voting right of a reserve expires when he is called to active duty.
Texas trainees or selectees of course forfeit their voting right while in the army.
While service in the armed forces takes away a person's vote, it does not prevent his candidacy for office. Congressmen Lyndon Johnson of Johnson City and Gordon Worley of Shamrock, as lieutenant commanders in the navy, are eligible for re-election, although they cannot vote for themselves. The war department has announced that each case will be considered separately and soldiers will be permitted to be candidates if it will not interfere with their military duties.

State Senator Vernon Lemons of Waxahatchie, candidate for lieutenant governor, can run for that office but cannot vote in the election because he has been called into active army duty from reserve status.
Probably the most noted instance of a man being eligible for election to office in Texas when he was not a qualified voter in the election was when U. S. Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel first was a candidate for governor. He had neglected to pay his poll tax in time to vote.
Free mail privileges for soldiers offers the possibility that campaign literature could be distributed postage-free. A candidate might ship a supply by truck to a town near an army camp and have soldiers mail it to a list of names supplied by the candidate.
Postal officials say the free mail applies to "personal mail" but the soldiers could write a letter asking support of the candidate and enclose the literature.
Practically it will not be done. As House Speaker Homer Leonard pointed out, any attempt to abuse the privilege would react against a candidate and likely would defeat him.

T. M. Trimble, first assistant school superintendent, has had to write so many letters telling school boards that a person could or could not be elected school teacher under the state anti-nepotism law that he has drawn a chart and furnished it to school officials.
The anti-nepotism law prohibits appointment of teachers who are related within certain degrees to any member of the school board.
A person within the third degree of consanguinity (blood relationship) may not be chosen, nor a person within the second degree of affinity (relationship through marriage).
School officials found it so difficult to decide if Trustee Smith's wife's niece could be elected second cousin could be elected teacher that they frequently asked the department of education for a ruling.
So Trimble drew two charts. Each is a half circle with a school trustee in the center slot. Radiating from him in first, second and third degrees in the consanguinity chart are radii placing each kind of relative in a proper degree position. A similar affinity chart shows the prohibited first and second degrees.

PRINCE TO GIVE LAST SERMON SUNDAY NIGHT

Rev. Judson Prince, pastor of the First Baptist church, will bring his farewell message at the Sunday evening worship hour, and he and his family will depart the following week for their new field of labor.
Said Mr. Prince today: "Feeling that the First Baptist church of Odessa offers a larger opportunity for service, we decided to cast our lot there. Since we know the people of the west and know them to be aggressive, friendly and builders of a great church, we believe we can be happier there. The Odessa church has a membership of 1,380 and is one of the leading churches of the Baptist denomination in Texas."
"There are many ties here that we regret to sever and since we were honored with the moderatorship of the Cisco Baptist association. And Mrs. Prince is leader of the young people in the association. We are also serving as vice president of the district convention and vice president of the Leaders Baptist encampment at Leaders, Texas."
"Maybe we should have more elections in time of peril. Nothing else makes Congressmen so eager to serve."
