6 CISCO HOMES OPEN TO SOLDIER BOYS

DANCE AT COUNTRY CLUB FOR VISITORS SATURDAY NIGHT; SPECIAL SERVICES SUNDAY

Mrs. W. W. Wallace, chairman of the home committee of the Men's Service club, stated this morning that approximately 66 Cisco homes have been opened to visiting soldiers who are expected here from Camp Wolters to spend the week-end as guests of local people.

The soldiers are expected to leave Camp Wolters at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, arriving in Cisco between 7:30 and 8 o'clock. Hosts or some member of the various families are expected to be at the Service club at the time of arrival and be introduced to their guests, Mrs. Wallace said.

A reception committee composed of Mrs. R. B. Carswell, Mrs. Charles S. Sandler and Miss Virginia Carter will greet the soldier boys.

E. P. Crawford is chairman of the transportation committee that will assist in taking the visitors back and forth to the homes assigned them.

The soldiers will be welcomed at all Cisco churches Sunday morning and the Men's Service club will be open all day Sunday for their convenience and pleasure.

No Saturday evening meal will be expected by the visitors, Mrs. Wallace said.

The chairman also said hosts will be free to entertain the guests Sunday in any manner they choose.

The dance at Cisco Country club will start at 9 and continue until midnight. George P. Fee will be in charge of the music and Mrs. H. J. McArdl will have charge of refreshments.

Officers from the various army camps will accompany the visiting soldiers and local chaperones at the dance will be Mrs. Edward Lee, Mrs. R. B. Carswell, Mrs. J. D. Lauderdale, Mrs. Alex Spears, Mrs. W. C. McDaniel, Mrs. Homer Slicker, Mrs. A. E. Jamison, Mrs. George P. Fee, Mrs. Paul M. Woods, Mrs. E. P. Crawford, Mrs. Nick Miller and Mrs. Carl Armstrong.

GEORGETOWN 32,000 CATTLE PREACHER BE WILL TREK 2,000 MI. SOON

Rev. P. C. Williams of Georgetown will supply the pulpit at the First Baptist church at both morning and evening services Sunday, according to Asa Skiles, chairman of the supply committee, who with his full committee heard the minister at his own church last Sunday night.

Mr. Williams is a graduate of Baylor and has had training at the Southwestern Theological Seminary, Fort Worth. He was a former pastor of Stamford First church and is well known in Texas.

The committee is anxious that a full membership of the church hear Mr. Williams Sunday.

NEW YORK, May 8.—One of the greatest cattle drives in history—a 2000-mile overland movement of 32,000 head—will be started soon when herds are moved from the Kimberleys in northwestern Australia to safer pastures in Cork and Queensland, the British radio reported today.

The drive, reminiscent of those in southwestern United States years ago, will take months. Thousands of head will be inoculated against pleural pneumonia, and others will be dipped and sprayed to prevent tick fever and other diseases.

More than 200,000 Texans saw service during World War I.

CRUCIAL BATTLE RAGES

The greatest naval-air battle of this or any other war raged today off northern Australia where U. S. and Allied forces have sunk or damaged 20 ships of a Japanese invasion fleet in five days of fighting.

The United Nations' position in the Southwest Pacific was at stake and the people of Australia were warned invasion may come at any hour unless the sea and air forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur's supreme command achieve a knock-out victory.

The battle covered nearly 200,000 square miles of the Southwest Pacific, with its heaviest action 1000 miles off Australia's northeastern coast among the ragged islands of the Solomon and Bismark groups.

U. S. warships, the Australian fleet and swarms of planes including American Flying Fortresses and Catalina-Consolidated bombers were thrown into the sea battle against the Japanese.

The Japanese imperial headquarters in Tokyo broadcast a claim that an American battleship of the 32,600-ton California class and American aircraft carriers Yorktown and Saratoga had been sunk in the battle, as well as a British battleship of the Warspite type and a light British cruiser.

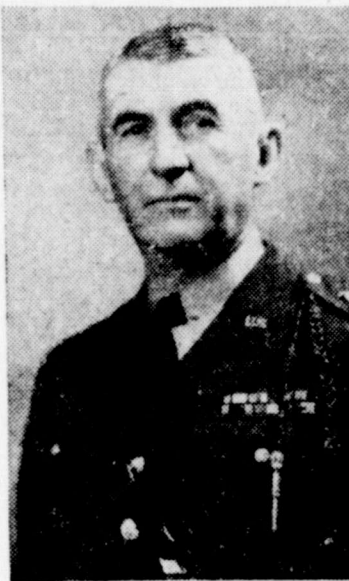

There was no verification of any of these Japanese claims, however, and the British Admiralty denied that the Warspite or any other British warship had been sunk.

Gen. MacArthur, in a communication reporting the sinking or damaging of 20 Japanese ships including 13 war vessels, said that "our own losses have not yet been reported."

The Japanese, operating over extended lines of communication, already have paid heavily in their efforts to knock out the Allies' Australian stronghold—only base remaining for MacArthur's promised counter-offensive in the Southwest Pacific.

Enemy ships sunk, according to MacArthur and the navy department, included one aircraft carrier, a heavy cruiser, a light cruiser, two destroyers, four gunboats, one transport and one supply ship.

FLYING CADET EXAMINER HEAD IS HERE TODAY

After a conference with P. R. Warwick, co-ordinator, and Haywood Cabanes, chairman of the aeronautics committee, tentative plans were made to hold the meetings in the Cisco chamber of commerce building about the middle of June. Details are being worked out for definite time and demands by the board.

Captain Johnson remarked that birth certificates were hard to obtain, mentioning his own case. He was born in a town in Norway that has been burned and all records destroyed, and he is not an old man by any means. Photostatic copies of certificates already sent to Washington will probably be arranged for, so that these may be used for youth applying for examinations at this and forthcoming examinations.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge and was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends as an honorable man and loyal friend.

DO NOT DESTROY - REGULATE

Many good people in the United States are opposed, as a matter of principle, to state socialism as it is being promoted in this country through federal power development as an offshoot of flood control, navigation projects, etc.

Private enterprise cannot compete with government in business. We have seen this demonstrated in the power field in Tennessee. Today we are witnessing the determined drive to give federal power projects on the Columbia river the right to take over any and all private power industries in Washington and Oregon.

They cannot reconcile themselves to this trend, for they know that once it is established, it will be extended to other industries. They have witnessed the ultimate in state socialism in Germany, where the individual is as near a pawn of the state as it is possible for a human being to be.

PERUVIAN COTTON

About 200,000 bales of cotton per year will be purchased from Peru by the United States while the war lasts, says the secretary of agriculture. This will replace the market lost by Peru because of the war.

The Peruvian government is trying to induce planters to shift to flax, rice, beans and other food crops needed by the United Nations during the war, so there will be less cotton surplus and more of the varied and needed foods and fibers. It will raise the base price to growers of cotton in proportion to decrease in area planted after 1942, decreasing the base price in similar proportion to increase in area.

It is interesting to see the Peruvians adopting some of the devices used by our own department of agriculture. Many experiments have been performed in years gone by to deal with farm surpluses, and none have been perfectly satisfactory. But as the nations of the earth become more closely interlocked, as knowledge spreads of what is needed and what is likely to be excessive in any given year, agricultural planning may be more successful than it has ever been in the past.

It seems likely that greater variety of crops is one of the answers for the individual farmer, and that more industrial farming—which spreads the diversity from food into materials used in industry, is another.

TEAM WORK

Nobody wants to threaten American workmen. And in fairness it must be admitted that labor groups here and there have legitimate grievances. But in Canada, which is as democratic a country as ours, with as much pride in its freedom, it is illegal to strike in war industries, and labor leaders who attempt it are jailed. There is little striking in England, because the people there understand clearly that their only safety is in loyal team-work.

There have been strikes in this country lately, too many of them, in spite of the fact that Americans are in the same fix. Such strikers are like men at sea chopping holes in the bottom of the boat.

Doubtless there are legitimate grievances among the rebellious groups. But there are also ample arrangements for dealing with grievances and remedying them, where the demands are justified. The time is near when any individual or group refusing to play

EDUCATION.

ESKIMO TEETH

The United States Army, taking its material from all available sources, now includes several hundred Eskimos. They are found to be intelligent and adaptable, and apparently will make good soldiers. But one thing is wrong with them. They have bad teeth.

This is surprising because Eskimos in the past have generally been blessed with perfect teeth. But apparently the same thing has happened to them that happens to more highly civilized people. Adopting the white man's diet, with its excessive starch and sugar, they have acquired the white man's bad teeth. They were better off physically when they lived mainly on fish and meats, fresh or decayed, apparently getting therefrom the vitamins they needed.

Some of us are terribly distressed about the taxes we would have to pay if we made more than $25,000 a year.

The greatest tragedy of the Germans under Hitler is that, in seeking the conquest of other nations, they have enslaved themselves.

Free School Buses

Scottish Rite News Bureau: The Louisville Baptist Pastors' conference, meeting in Louisville on April 20, 1942, unanimously passed declarations condemning the Kentucky law allowing private and sectarian school children to ride free on public school buses. The declarations were also unanimously approved by the Louisville Ministerial association, composing all evangelical bodies in the city.

Contesting the constitutionality of the Kentucky free bus law, the declarations stated "that, in our opinion, the act of the general assembly of Kentucky for the year 1940, providing free bus transportation to pupils attending private schools, is clearly contrary to, and prohibited by, our constitution on three main grounds: (1) It diverts tax-raised funds to other than public purposes. (2) It diverts tax-raised school funds to other than public schools. (3) It diverts tax-raised funds to the aid of sectarian schools."

EDUCATION.

THE "LAYMAN," ALIAS AVERAGE MAN, HARDLY KNOWS

what to think about learning and the road to it, after reading remarks made by Dr. Stringfellow Barr, president of St John's College at Annapolis. He is quoted as saying that colleges ought to throw away their textbooks, and he explains as follows: "Textbook writing has developed into a first-class racket. It has become practically the only way professors can make a living without stealing. If we don't chuck textbooks out soon, we're headed for educational catastrophe."

It sounds somewhat like a Shakespearean recipe for improving the world: "First we'll hang all the lawyers." But just as there would have to be some substitution for legal talent, so Dr. Barr offers an alternative to college textbooks. Apparently he would use only masterpieces of literature that provide real knowledge and wisdom informally. Instead of texts, he says, study "the best books you can get," books that crystallize and convey truth. "The best way to use your mind is to use it in the operation of understanding a great mind."

That sounds fine, and doubtless great and wise men have been produced by such a process. But for general use, what would the wisdom-seeking student do when examination day came around? How would he ever get his degree? And how get a job without it?

Isn't the organization of knowledge as important as knowledge itself?

private and parochial schools under the free bus law was small. The Baptist group, however, pointed out that the precedent established could easily have far-reaching effects—even to paving the way for the eventual union of church and state.

RISING STAR

The commencement season for Rising Star high school will be opened Sunday with the baccalaureate service at the Church of Christ next Sunday evening, beginning at 8:30. An interesting program has been arranged and a large crowd is expected. Graduation exercises are to be held in the Methodist church Friday evening of next week at 8:30 p. m. at which time the class of 44 will be awarded diplomas by Supt. Self. The name of the speaker for the occasion had not been announced yesterday. The class this year is made up of 30 girls and 14 boys. Honor graduates had not been determined up to yesterday.

Joe Earp and Paul Cawley of the Okra community, were reported as somewhat improved Tuesday in a Breckenridge hospital where they were taken the past week after becoming violently ill upon returning from a fishing trip to the clear fork of the Brazos. Attending physicians stated that the illness was apparently caused from handling a rabbit which they

Frank Langston Was Married In Dallas Thursday

A marriage of interest to Cis-coans took place at 8:30 Thurs-day night in the Trinity Lutheran church, Dallas, when Miss Mar-jorie Katherine Klindworth, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Klindworth, 3106 Forest avenue, became the bride of W. Frank Langston, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Langston of Cisco.

The ceremony was read by Rev. Mr. Klindworth before a back-ground of white gladioli, stock and cathedral candelabra. Music was played by Fred Egbert, church organist.

The bride was given in mar-riage by her brother, L. W. Klindworth. She wore a white chifon gown made Grecian style and a finger-tip length veil. Her strand of pearls was a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis.

Miss Thalia Summers, maid of honor, wore a frock of yellow chiffon; her flowers were yellow roses. Garland Franks of Wichita Falls served the groom as best man. Ushers were Cleon R. Cogswell, Hal Lewis and Folger Val-lette, Jr.

Following the wedding a recep-tion was held in the home of the bride's parents. Out of town guests included the groom's par-ents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Langston of Cisco and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stierling of Waco. The young couple will make their residence in Dallas.

W. Frank Langston was reared in Cisco and graduated from Cisco High school with the 1928 class. He was editor of the "Gusher," a high school paper. He later attend-ed Baylor university and was em-ployed on the Cisco Daily News for about a year.

CATTLE MARKET

Cattle of all classes found a strong market at Fort Worth Fri-day while calves were fully steady.

Hogs sold mostly 10 cents below Thursday's prices with the ex-treme top $14 while packers paid up to $13.90.

All classes of sheep and lambs were about steady.

Good fed steers and yearlings ranged from $11 to $12.25, sales including a package of steer yearlings at $12.25; a load of steer yearlings at $11.50, and a short load of steers at $11.25. Common to medium slaughter steers and yearlings brought $8 to $10.50.

Good beef cows sold at $8.50 to $9.35; butcher cows at $7.50 to $8.25 and canners and cutters at $5 to $7.50. Not enough bulks were on hand to test the market.

Good to choice fat calves brought $11 to $13.50 with plain and medium butcher calves at $9 to $10.50 and culls at $7.25 to $8.50.

Stockers were very scarce. A few good stocker steer calves cashed at $14 down with stocker heifer calves mostly $13 down. Occasional stocker steer yearlings brought $8.50 to $11.50 and the for lambs carrying six weeks' wool credit; a few shorn ewes at $6, and odd lots of feeder lambs at $8 down.

BEHIND EVERY GREAT MAN'S LIFE IS AN UNTOLD STORY OF THE WOMAN WHO SPIRED HIM. That's the plot of the surprise picture of the year, "The Great Man's Life," which unites the star trio of "Union Pacific," Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea and Brian Donlevy. McCrea the buckskin pioneer American hero of a few generations ago and Donlevy, a professional gambler like a "Great McGinty" character. But it's Barbara Stanwyck's show from start to finish. Her mag-nificent portrayal of the woman whose courage, sacrifices, strength and character spelled success for the man who labeled her a back-street lady places her among the ten best dramatic actresses in Hollywood. A cavalcade of the great American West with sweeping scenes of a gold rush, the building of a new empire, six-gun action and a love as wild and adventurous as the lusty lives of our pioneer heroes.

DO NOT DESTROY -REGULATE

Many good people in the United States are opposed, as a matter of principle, to state socialism as it is being promoted in this country through federal power development as an offshoot of flood control, navigation projects, etc. Private enterprise cannot compete with government in business. We have seen this demonstrated in the power field in Tennessee. Today we are witnessing the determined drive to give federal power projects on the Columbia river the right to take over any and all private power industries in Washington and Oregon.

They cannot reconcile themselves to this trend, for they know that once it is established, it will be extended to other industries. They have witnessed the ultimate in state socialism in Germany, where the individual is as near a pawn of the state as it is possible for a human being to be. With all the power of regulation that government has over industry, they can see no reason for it owning and operating industry to the exclusion of private citizens.

Why, instead of going into business in competition with private citizens, as government is doing in the power field, can it not sell power, its "by-product" of navigation and flood control, to private companies to be distributed by them under suitable regulation, with all savings passed on to the consumer? This would be the democratic way to run a democracy, rather than to use the might of government to limit the field of activity of private citizens.

PERUVIAN COTTON

About 200,000 bales of cotton per year will be purchased from Peru by the United States while the war lasts, says the secretary of agriculture. This will replace the market lost by Peru because of the war.

The Peruvian government is trying to induce planters to shift to flax, rice, beans and other food crops needed by the United Nations during the war, so there will be less cotton surplus and more of the varied and needed foods and fibers. It will raise the base price to growers of cotton in proportion to decrease in area planted after 1942, decreasing the base price in similar proportion to increase in area.

It is interesting to see the Peruvians adopting some of the devices used by our own department of agriculture. Many experiments have been performed in years gone by to deal with farm surplus, and none have been perfectly satisfactory. But as the nations of the earth become more closely interlocked, as knowledge spreads of what is needed, and what is likely to be excessive in any given year, agricultural planning may be more successful than it has ever been in the past.

It seems likely that greater variety of crops is one of the answers for the individual farmer, and that more industrial farming—which spreads the diversity from food into materials used in industry, is another.

TEAM WORK

Nobody wants to threaten American workmen. And in fairness it must be admitted that labor groups here and there have legitimate grievances. But in Canada, which is as democratic a country as ours, with as much pride in its freedom, it is illegal to strike in war industries, and labor leaders who attempt it are jailed. There is little striking in England, because the people there understand clearly that their only safety is in loyal team-work.

There have been strikes in this country lately, too many of them, in spite of the fact that Americans are in the same fix. Such strikers are like men at sea chopping holes in the bottom of the boat.

Doubtless there are legitimate grievances among the rebellious groups. But there are also ample arrangements for dealing with grievances and remedying them, where the demands are justified. The time is near when any individual or group refusing to play his part in the national war team will be designated by a very ugly and unforgettable word.

ESKIMO TEETH

The United States Army, taking its material from all available sources, now includes several hundred Eskimos. They are found to be intelligent and adaptable, and apparently will make good soldiers. But one thing is wrong with them. They have bad teeth.

This is surprising because Eskimos in the past have generally been blessed with perfect teeth. But apparently the same thing has happened to them that happens to more highly civilized people. Adopting the white man's diet, with its excessive starch and sugar, they have acquired the white man's bad teeth. They were better off physically when they lived mainly on fish and meats, fresh or decayed, apparently getting therefrom the vitamins they needed.

Some of us are terribly distressed about the taxes we would have to pay if we made more than $25,000 a year.

The greatest tragedy of the German under Hitler is that, in seeking the conquest of other nations, they have enslaved themselves.

OTHER EDITORS

Free School Buses

Scottish Rite News Bureau: The Louisville Baptist Pastors' conference, meeting in Louisville on April 20, 1942, unanimously passed resolutions condemning the Kentucky law allowing private and sectarian school children to ride free on public school buses. The declarations were also unanimously approved by the Louisville Ministerial association, composing all evangelical bodies in the city.

Contesting the constitutionality of the Kentucky free bus law, the declarations stated "that, in our opinion, the act of the general assembly of Kentucky for the year 1940, providing free bus transportation to pupils attending private schools, is clearly contrary to, and prohibited by, our constitution on three main grounds: (1) It diverts tax-raised funds to other than public purposes. (2) It diverts tax-raised school funds to other than public schools. (3) It diverts tax-raised funds to the aid of sectarian schools."

In urging citizens of all faiths to join in the fight for complete separation of church and state, W. O. Carver, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, chairman of the conference, wrote: "In the United States now the American and Christian principle of separation of church and state is again being jeopardized. The Roman Catholic church is in the midst of its most aggressive and earnest campaign for centuries to extend and establish its belief and policy of church control of all life, including the use of political organization and forces for religious ends. Subtle and persuasive courses are being adopted which may gradually subvert the American principle and way of life until the public mind is made ready for direct union of church and state."

He recalled the Roman Catholic claim to the exclusive right of educating children of all faiths and pointed out that steps have already been taken in this direction. "One of the most plausible is the relatively innocent provision for free transportation at public expense of children to and from the schools of the church. If this is accepted and established, free school books for religious schools will be provided (as already in some states) on the same principle. Next will be the placing of religious schools and teachers on the lists of public schools, supported by general taxation."

Though the lower courts of Kentucky have held that the free bus law is constitutional, final decision has not yet been handed down. If upheld, Kentucky Protestants are prepared for a non-partisan campaign to have the law repealed by the general assembly. Almost identical to the Kentucky law was one passed some time ago in Oklahoma. After a bitter fight through the courts, the supreme court of Oklahoma held that it was unconstitutional. Commenting the court significantly added that, "if the Legislature may directly or indirectly aid or support sectarian or denominational schools with public funds, then it would be a short step forward at another session to increase such aid, and only another short step to some regulation and at least partial control of such schools by successive legislative enactment. From partial control to an effort at complete control might well be the expected development. The first step in any such direction should be promptly halted, and is effectively halted, and is permanently barred by our constitution. Kentucky officials stated that actual help extended pupils of

EDUCATION.

The "layman," alias average man, hardly knows what to think about learning and the road to it, after reading remarks made by Dr. Stringfellow Barr, president of St John's College at Annapolis. He is quoted as saying that colleges ought to throw away their textbooks, and he explains as follows:

"Textbook writing has developed into a first-class racket. It has become practically the only way professors can make a living without stealing. If we don't chuck textbooks out soon, we're headed for educational catastrophe."

It sounds somewhat like a Shakespearean recipe for improving the world: "First we'll hang all the lawyers." But just as there would have to be some substitution for legal talent, so Dr. Barr offers an alternative to college textbooks. Apparently he would use only masterpieces of literature that provide real knowledge and wisdom informally. Instead of texts, he says, study "the best books you can get," books that crystallize and convey truth. "The best way to use your mind is to use it in the operation of understanding a great mind."

That sounds fine, and doubtless great and wise men have been produced by such a process. But for general use, what would the wisdom-seeking student do when examination day came around? How would he ever get his degree? And how get a job without it?

Isn't the organization of knowledge as important as knowledge itself?

private and parochial schools under the free bus law was small. The Baptist group, however, pointed out that the precedent established could easily have far-reaching effects—even to paving the way for the eventual union of church and state.

RISING STAR

The commencement season for Rising Star high school will be opened Sunday with the baccalaureate service at the Church of Christ next Sunday evening, beginning at 8:30. An interesting program has been arranged and a large crowd is expected. Graduation exercises are to be held in the Methodist church Friday evening of next week at 8:30 p. m. at which time the class of 44 will be awarded diplomas by Supt. Self. The name of the speaker for the occasion had not been announced yesterday. The class this year is made up of 30 girls and 14 boys. Honor graduates had not been determined up to yesterday.

Joe Earp and Paul Cawley of the Okra community, were reported as somewhat improved Tuesday in a Breckenridge hospital where they were taken the past week after becoming violently ill upon returning from a fishing trip to the clear fork of the Brazos. Attending physicians stated that the illness was apparently caused from handling a rabbit which they

A marriage of interest to Cisconians took place at 8:30 Thursday night in the Trinity Lutheran church, Dallas, when Miss Marjorie Katherine Klindworth, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Klindworth, 3106 Forest avenue, became the bride of W. Frank Langston, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Langston of Cisco.

The ceremony was read by Rev. Mr. Klindworth before a background of white gladioli, stock and cathedral candelabra. Music was played by Fred Eggert, church organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, L. W. Klindworth. She wore a white chiffon gown made Grecian style and a finger-tip length veil. Her strand of pearls was a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis.

Miss Thalia Summers, maid of honor, wore a frock of yellow chiffon; her flowers were yellow roses. Garland Franks of Wichita Falls served the groom as best man. Ushers were Cleon R. Cogswell, Hal Lewis and Folger Vallette, Jr.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Out of town guests included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Langston of Cisco and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stierling of Waco. The young couple will make their residence in Dallas.

W. Frank Langston was reared in Cisco and graduated from Cisco High school with the 1928 class. He was editor of the "Gusher," a high school paper. He later attended Baylor university and was employed on the Cisco Daily News for about a year.

Hogs sold mostly 10 cents below Thursday's prices with the extreme top $14 while packers paid up to $13.90.

All classes of sheep and lambs were about steady.

Good fed steers and yearlings ranged from $11 to $12.25, sales including a package of steer yearlings at $12.25; a load of steer yearlings at $11.50, and a short load of steers at $11.25. Common to medium slaughter steers and yearlings brought $8 to $10.50.

Good beef cows sold at $8.50 to $9.35; butcher cows at $7.50 to $8.25 and canners and cutters at $5 to $7.50. Not enough bulls were on hand to test the market.

AND EVERY GREAT MAN'S LIFE IS AN UNTOLD STORY OF THE WOMAN WHO PIRED HIM. That's the plot of the surprise picture of the year, "The Great Man's Lady," which stars the trio of "Union Pacific," Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea and Brian Donley. McCrea, a buckskin pioneer American hero of a few generations ago and Donley, a professional gambler, "Great McGinty" character. But it's Barbara Stanwyck's show from start to finish. Her magnificent portrayal of the woman whose courage, sacrifices, strength and character spurred the hero who labeled her a back-street lady places her among the ten best dramatic actresses in Hollywood. The picture of the great American West with sweeping scenes of a gold rush, the building of a new town, the gun action and a love as wild and adventurous as the lusty lives of our pioneer heroes.

probably is a complete loss. Also damaged were a heavy Japanese cruiser, a 9000-ton seaplane tender, a light cruiser, a cargo vessel and a transport.

MacArthur reported in a communique that the "heavy naval and air fighting continues," indicating that the outcome still is uncertain and that it may be some time before the extent of the Allied losses are known.

Naval and air losses in addition to the three planes which the navy department said were lost in the first phase of the battle—around the Solomon Islands—are to be expected, however, because of the fierceness of the struggle and the narrow, dangerous waters where it is being fought.

FOOD-FOR-VICTORY MEETING ON MAY 12

In order to advance the Food-for-Victory campaign and to secure the full planting of this year's cotton allotment the Cisco chamber of commerce petitioned Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture at Washington, D. C., asking for allotment of unplanted acres to this territory and other sections of West Texas, so that cotton planting may be done before June 1, or immediately thereafter.

In order that this allotment plan may be advanced as much as possible, a tri-state meeting of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico has been called for the district court room at Vernon, Texas, for 1:30 p. m., Tuesday, May 12, and Cisco is urged to send a delegation to Vernon for the purpose of augmenting the West Texas delegation, according to a telegram from D. A. Bandede, general manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, sent to Secretary P. R. Warwick and President J. D. Lauderdale.

Petitioners think that this part of Texas is best fitted to the planting of cotton, and especially further west, and that the surplus of vast acreages will not be planted unless there is some sort of re-allotment made as to unplanted acres.

AVOID WASTING PRECIOUS EYESIGHT

WE'RE IN THE ARMY OF CONSERVATION NOW!

THE strain on eyes today is greater than ever before. In most homes people are using their eyes more . . . studying, sewing, knitting, reading, or doing war work of some kind "on their own." This additional burden on your eyes can be reduced, guarding them from strain, through the proper use of your present lamps and light bulbs. We offer the simple suggestions below as a means of helping you to avoid wasting precious eyesight.

1. Keep Lamps Clean . . . and Dust-Free

Reflector bowls and lamp bulbs gather dust . . . more than you think . . . and in one to three months can rob you of badly needed light. Dusting them with a damp rag, or washing, will give you from 25% to 30% more light.

2. Use Light Shades

If your lamps have dark shades, or shades now turned yellow inside, you are losing light needed for easier seeing, possibly as much as 50%. Clean shades regularly, or if they're too bad, replace them with fresh ones. (White or light colored shades reflect light instead of absorbing it.) Even light-colored silk shades give more light if brushed weekly.

3. Place Lamps Where Most Used . . . and Use Them More

Every chair or davenport (or bed) used for reading or sewing should have its own lamp, but often two or more of the same lamp when furniture is properly arranged. The lamp should be placed so that the unshaded bulb is never exposed to the eye. No light bulb should be without a shade. (See the direct fixtures for old-fashioned ceiling drop lights.) When doing work likely to strain the eyes, don't sit too far from the lamp—a difference of 12 inches can cut your light as much as 50%.

When Buying Bulbs

—make sure to buy the size to guard against eye strain. A high-wattage bulb gives more light is better than a smaller one of the same age. For instance: A 40-watt bulb gives 50% more light than four 25-watt bulbs, and uses the same amount of current.

AIRMEN AT SOLO STAGE

Flying training events are moving along swiftly at the Cisco airport, it was announced Saturday. About 20 young trainees have advanced to the solo stage and will be ready after next month for a move to higher training school bases, where they will become a real part of the great U. S. army air corps. They will then start drawing salaries and their training will begin to shape into real army life. Meanwhile new boys are showing up and seeking to be taken into the next class, so they too can do their bit in the fine showing American flyers are making in all parts of the world—hammering despotism and softening the way for ground armies and naval units to finish the mopping up operations that all are eagerly looking forward to. A large crowd is expected at the airport this afternoon, as many mothers will want to see their sons doing their solo maneuvers.

PRESTON SAYS HOME PAPER IS ALWAYS NEWSY

Sgt. Walter V. Preston of the U. 'I'll be coming to Cisco on the 20th and hope to enjoy the free fishing offered service men at mammoth Lake Cisco. LABOR BOARD ORDERS 1,200 STEEL STRIKERS TO GET BACK ON JOB AT BETHLEHEM PLANT

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The War Labor Board today demanded that 1,200 workers involved in an unauthorized strike at the Williamsport, Pa., plant, of Bethlehem Steel, return to work immediately and submit their dispute to mediation by the board. WLB Chairman William H. Davis at the same time telegraphed officials of the steel workers organizing committee (CIO) and the company that the board will hold a hearing May 12 on the dispute. The workers struck Wednesday, after charging the company with unwarranted delay in the settlement of grievances and in the establishment of grievance machinery. Yesterday they telegraphed Davis and President Roosevelt a request that the government seize the plant. Davis told the workers that the strike was in violation of the union's no-strike pledge and has "interfered with the production of necessary materials for our war effort."

"I call upon you as loyal and patriotic citizens to return to work immediately and to settle your disputes in a peaceful manner before the National War Labor Board," Davis said in a telegram to John Riffe, executive director of the SWOC's Bethlehem committee, and R. E. Hall, SWOC staff representative at Williamsport.

The telegram carried the identical wording as that received by Mrs. Bacon concerning her son, Bobby T. Bacon.

TIRES MUST LAST
FORT WORTH, May 9.—More rigid inspection of old auto tires belonging to new-tire applicants was ordered today as rationing board No. 2 gave Fort Worth dealers 10 days to complete a shakeup in the personnel of inspectors. At a meeting yesterday with board members, the dealers agreed to general tightening of tire regulations and named a five-man examining body to pass on the qualification of new inspectors, who will begin functioning May 18.

You can "exterminate" termites, but Alas! the cost is greater than the annual cost of replacing what they chew up.

BILL SUBLETT GETS CITATION FOR BRAVERY

The United States navy Saturday cited Henry William Sublett, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sublett, route four, Cisco, for bravery at Corregidor Fortress. The Cisco boy was slightly wounded on April 14. Word came April 17 that he had been "wounded in action," but on May 6 the parents received word that their boy had been "slightly wounded." The Daily Press was unable to communicate with the parents Saturday after receiving news of his citation for bravery.

'STRAY CATS' A LAUGH MAKER; DON'T MISS IT

On Thursday evening, May 14, the senior class of Cisco high school, under direction of Mrs. E. L. Hazlewood, will present a rollicking comedy, "Stray Cats." This delightful farce of high society abounds in exuberantly funny scenes, depicting the pretensions of a young man who, having to get married within fourteen hours in order to receive a four-million-dollar legacy, makes up for lost time in proposing to not one young lady, but to four! Imagine the complications! The action is swift, the dialogue clever and the mad situations will keep you laughing until the final curtain.

The enthusiastic seniors have worked long and hard on this play and promise side-splitting entertainment to all who attend. "Stray Cats" should be the most successful production staged by Cisco seniors in years. The place: High school auditorium.

WALLACE IS AFRAID OF JAP ATTACK
NEW YORK, May 9.— Vice President Henry A. Wallace said last night that the Japanese might attack Alaska and the Pacific Northwest, while the Germans lead an uprising in South America. "We may be sure that Hitler and Japan will co-operate to do something unexpected—perhaps an attack by Japan against Alaska and our northwest coast at a time when German transport planes will be shuttled across from Dakar to furnish leadership and stiffening to a German uprising in Latin America," he said, addressing a meeting of the Free World Assn.

SUBS BUSY IN GULF MEXICO; 2 BOATS LOST

NEW ORLEANS, May 9.—Axis submarines striking in the Gulf of Mexico for the first time, have sunk a medium-sized merchantman and a small freighter, the Eighth Naval District announced today.

There was no loss of life, but two men on the merchant ship were injured by shrapnel and two men on the small vessel cut by flying glass. The submarine attacks occurred on May 6.

The merchant ship, which carried a crew of 41 and six passengers, was torpedoed and shelled. The freighter, with a crew of 46, was set afire by 120 rounds from the U-boat deck gun and sank.

The navy declined to say whether there was only one submarine which attacked the two ships within approximately seven hours and a comparatively short distance apart.

It was one of the passengers—Augusto J. Senna, of New Bedford, Mass., who saw the first torpedo fired without warning about noon. Senna yelled a warning and Chief Mate J. L. Spaine, of Worcester, Mass., sounded a general alarm. The torpedo missed and the ship began zig-zagging.

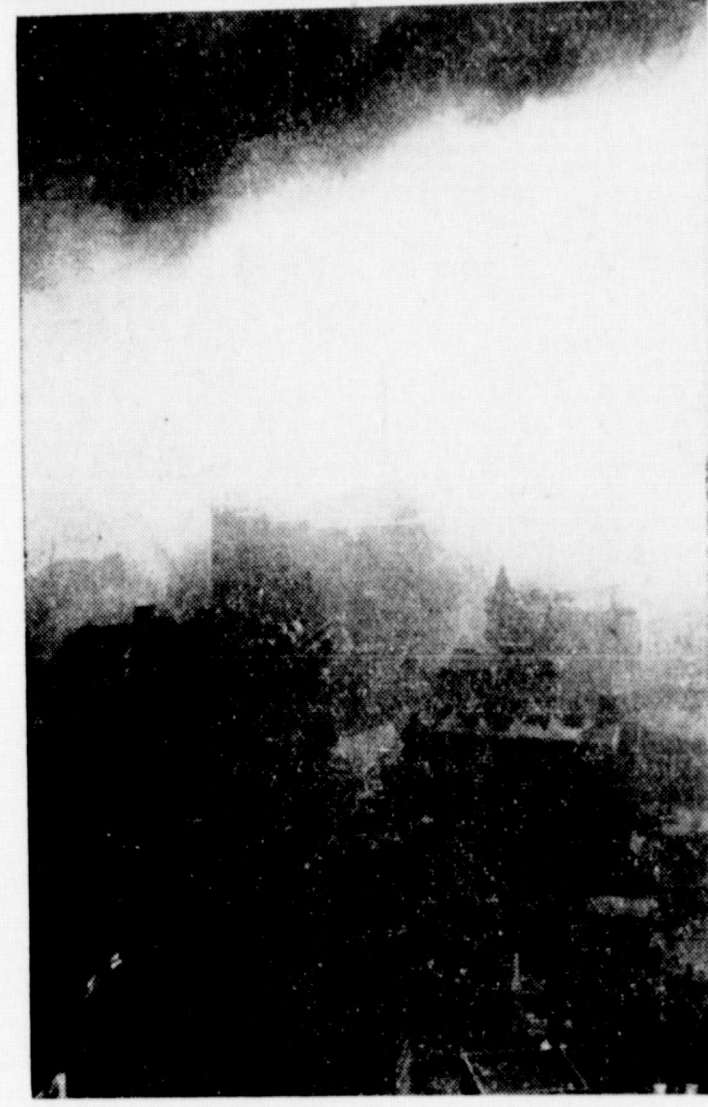

The alarm caused little concern because practice alarms previously had been sounded. Ten minutes after the first torpedo missed, the U-boat surfaced and began firing shells from a five-inch and a three-inch gun.

Capt. Y. A. Krantz, of New Orleans, turned the ship's stern to the sub and tried to escape, but the undersea raider gave chase and fired again and again. A shell knocked the rudder out of commission and the captain ordered "Abandon ship."

The crew and passengers took to two rafts and a lifeboat. The submarine put a torpedo into the merchantman and the ship began sinking.

Survivors said the U-boat crew lined up on deck to watch the ship go down. A deeply-tanned man on the sub, stripped to the waist shouted in perfect English: "Sorry we can't help you. Hope you get ashore."

MCGEE OPA HEAD

Governor Stevenson was notified of the appointment Saturday by Leon Henderson, national administrator. The governor said it was his understanding McGee, who has been serving voluntarily, would become salaried and would direct all rationing and price control operations in the state. The governor declined to discuss reports McGee's rationing office would be moved to Dallas and combined with an OPA regional office now in Dallas.

MASCOT TIPPY VISITS CLINIC VIA AIRPLANE

It was a sad day at Cisco airport Friday, according to Charles Roberts, one of the guards on duty there. Tippy, the little dog mascot, whose picture is to appear in Ripley's "Believe It or Not," soon as the only dog in the world that gives students their solo test—giving them their "Go Ahead" signal by a lick on the back of their necks before landing if they are good—was sick—and something had to be done about it, and right now.

Tippy is the friend of everybody at the airport. He is one of those personality dogs that make friends with everybody.

It has become a tradition that no student will start his solo flight when his training has advanced to that stage without the little white dog going up in the plane with him to give his okeh to the kind of flying done on the flight. Students declare Tippy licks them on the back of the neck if they are good. If they fail to get his "lick" of approval, they won't land, but soar above for another trial.

And so Tippy was sick. Jack Lauderdale as pilot and Mrs. Lauderdale as nurse volunteered to take poor Tippy to the nearest dog specialist, which was at Ranger. The trip was made to the Ranger landing field and Tippy received the clinic inspection and proper shots. The return trip was made in safety and the ship and patient welcomed back to the airport by students and guards, who hope their little friend will soon be well and on the inspection job again.

MAKING OF MOTHERS OF MEN.

When they come to our homes
A scepter they hold
And their tiny we heads wear a crown.
Then in meek adoration
Before their wee shrine
Our heart humbly bows it's self down.

Then on through the years,
We fathers of girls,
Shape thinking and acting as well
In the hope that these Queens
Will believe they were sired
By dads 'most as perfect as God.

The rest of the world
May judge as it will;
But it's the Queens of our home
That inspire us to be
What a sire should be
For the MAKING OF MOTHERS OF MEN.
