Employer-Employee Cards.
Our state administrator, Frank Scofield, your county chairman and the chairmen of the committees of the respective towns, are calling on all employers and employees in the county to work with them to the end that all of the employer-employee cards may be signed by June 17, 1942, and this having been done we are then calling upon every citizen of Eastland county, which includes those who have already signed the employer-employee cards, to go to the town in whose trade territory you reside on Saturday, June 20, 1942, to sign what is known as the triplicate pledge card, by which you tell your government the amount of bonds or stamps you will try to buy during each month for the duration.

We think this is the democratic way to do this and feel sure that you do not want some member or members of the committee to take the time to look you up and call on you in person to sign these pledges which your government is requesting.

HEYSER MAKING GOOD

J. V. Heyser, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Heyser, who left Cisco on March 17 for San Francisco, where he hoped to secure work in a shipyard, is getting along nicely and writes his parents that he is thoroughly pleased with his job and feels he is doing something for himself and his government.

The Cisco boy, naturally efficient and painstaking and who had been trained to work, was fortunate in connecting with a shipyard job the third day of his stay in the Golden Gate metropolis.

The work was hard the first month—8 hours daily and six days a week—yet Heyser also put in a few hours in a government training school at night in order to equip himself as a professional welder in the construction of battleships.

About this time the man under whom Heyser worked was transferred to special duties in a shipyard near Berkeley, Cal., and offered to take him with him. He jumped at the chance and now lives a few blocks from the University of California, driving six miles each way daily to the busy, bustling shipyard.

But he likes his work, his living quarters in a private family, the men with whom he works and the California country.

CISCO YOUNG MAN IS OKLA. U. GRADUATE

Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Jones and son, Gail Jones, attended commencement exercises of Oklahoma University on June 1, when Crandall Jones, elder son, graduated, receiving a B. S. degree in geological engineering and also a B. S. degree in petroleum engineering.

Jones, who is 22 years of age and a graduate of Cisco high school, 1937 class, has applied for a position in the army as a meteorologist and expects to be called within a few weeks. He returned to Cisco with his parents and will await his call here.

NAPLES IS BOMBED.
ROME, June 6.—The RAF arid Naples and its environs Friday night, setting fires, and also dropped flares on the province of Littoria, the Italian high command communique announced Saturday. The communique said the fires in Naples were brought under control quickly and that no important property damage was caused. One person was killed and another injured, it said.

AT BATTLE STATION—Atop the "sky tower" of an American aircraft carrier in the Pacific, United Press Staff Correspondent Joe James Custer eye-witnesses the shattering, surprise attack by bombers of a U. S. naval task force on Japanese military establishments on Marcus Island.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL BIG SUCCESS

The Cooperative Vacation Bible school at the First Presbyterian church will continue through next Friday, meeting each morning at 9 o'clock.

High mark of attendance the past week was 107, with considerably more enrolled.

All children between four and fifteen years are invited to attend. Parents are invited to visit the school on Friday, the closing day.

METHODISTS TO HOLD SUMMER REVIVAL; JULY

The board of stewards of First Methodist church will meet at the church Monday night at 8 o'clock for the regular monthly business session, announces Wm. Reagan, chairman.

The meeting was scheduled for last Monday night, but because of the college commencement program it was postponed a week.

Among other matters to be considered will be a summer revival to be held sometime in July.

PHOTOS DISCLOSE THAT MORE THAN 5,000 ACRES OF GREAT CITY OF COLOGNE IN RUINS

LONDON, June 6.—British bombers devastated more than 5,000 acres of Cologne in the first of the RAF's 1,000-bomber raids this week on the Ruhr and Rhineland, the air ministry disclosed Saturday.

Railway workshops in Nippes, suburb of the big war industry town, were hit hard, photographs showed.

An air ministry source declared that "the greatest part of the old town of Cologne is finished."

Cologne newspapers reaching Bern Friday said the old Rhineland city, as its people had known it, was "lost forever" and declared a scene of desolation with some sections still burning and "whole quarters of the town empty."

Among the big factories smashed by high explosives and burned out by the spreading flames, the air ministry source said, were the vast Vulkan works, the Rheinfeiz plant and K. G. Mauser, producers of arms and steel for the German war machine.

He said an area of 660,000 square yards in the Ehrenfeld district northwest of the city, where thousands of industrial workers are housed, had been scorched and flattened.

A close examination of reconnaissance pictures of the district showed nothing but row on row of ruined homes, he said.

The east end of the great Hindenburg bridge which crossed the Rhine at the heart of the town was said to have been hit squarely with a heavy bomb.

Cologne's famed Fourteenth Century cathedral overlooking the Rhine near the bridge was said to have shown no signs of direct hits in the reconnaissance pictures, but three areas west of it apparently were devastated. These areas were said to total approximately 521,800 square yards.

The Cologne exhibition hall in the "old town" section, and many other areas of the city were reported heavily damaged.

R. F. Tuckler, of the Walton-Tucker Electric Co., has moved the company's equipment to the Dinwiddie building, opposite the Red Front Drug store. He has apartments there for his family.

CISCO TO HONOR FLAG

In cooperation with the Flag Day proclamation of Mayor G. P. Mitcham, A. D. Anderson, general chairman for observance in Cisco, has outlined a schedule for the week of June 8-14, inclusive, to give proper emphasis to what the flag of the United States stands for, and has appointed men to arrange for a program to carry out this honor event for the flag and all it symbolizes.

As chairman on arrangements, J. T. Eggen, post commander of the American Legion, will secure the cooperation of all ex-service men in properly signaling the program, culminating in an all-church service for next Sunday night, to be arranged for by Rev. James R. Wright, president of the Cisco Pastors' association.

It has been suggested that ex-service men and members of the Cisco home guard be special guests at the service and sit in a special section of whatever church is selected to house the program.

If this is arranged, the pastors, headed by Mr. Wright, will arrange a suitable religious program for the evening, calling upon Mr. Eggen's committee, whom he may appoint to aid in any way their ideas may suggest.

It was emphasized by Chairman Anderson that all business institutions of the city shall display their flags each day beginning Monday, from some convenient place of their business location.

JIM PHILIPS APPEARS AS GOLF CHAMP

Jimmie Philips of Ranger seemed to be having every thing his own way Friday at the qualifying event for the Philpico golf tournament, when he set up a score of 72 for others to shoot at, with very few others making as low as 80.

All finals were scheduled to be played today.

About 60 entered the Philpico tournament Saturday, held west of Rising Star. Considerable interest was manifested, but rain Saturday seemed sure to destroy any chance to make the annual event anything like a success if, indeed, contestants played at all.

EARL E. FRYE PROMOTED TO A SERGEANCY

The Cisco Daily Press has received the following communication from the public relations office at Ft. Lewis, Washington:

"Earl E. Frye, 21, son of Mrs. H. A. Frye, Cisco route two, has been promoted from corporal to sergeant in his organization of the army of the United States, for his soldierly qualities and demonstrated leadership ability."

POSSIBLY 20 ENEMY SHIPS ARE DAMAGED

At least eight and probably more warships and transports of a powerful Japanese invasion fleet have been damaged in the Pacific where the enemy is withdrawing under relentless attack of American naval and air forces.

A spokesman for Admiral Chester W. Nimitz' Pacific fleet headquarters at Pearl Harbor revealed the total of at least eight enemy ships damaged—and perhaps any number up to 16 or 20—as the battered Japanese fleet fled from its humiliating and possibly disastrous defeat near Midway Island.

Although communique were worried cautiously because the battle still is underway, it appeared that the Japanese already had taken a sound drubbing.

Naval authorities said the naval-air struggle, and its effect upon the balance of naval power, may well prove to be a turning point in the war of the Pacific which ends its first six months today.

The Japanese fleet, undoubtedly a formidable one, appears to be withdrawing "but we are continuing the attack," said Nimitz, noted for his reserve and caution.

He said that the Japanese losses thus far have been "very heavy indeed" involving "several ships in each of the (aircraft) carrier, battleship, cruiser and transport classes."

As to the United States' own casualties, Nimitz had only this report:

"This (enemy) damage is far out of proportion to what we have received."

In that connection, it must be remembered that warships at sea, especially when in contact with the enemy or in pursuit, do not use their radios which would provide information for the enemy and serve as "beams" for other enemy forces.

The Japanese aircraft carrier, damaged earlier in repelling the attack on Midway, has been struck by three torpedoes of a U. S. submarine, Nimitz said.

The fact that troop ships were included in the Japanese force made it clearly apparent that the Japanese were embarking on an important mission, either attempting occupation of tiny Midway which points like a dagger to the Japanese mainland 2388 miles away or perhaps an even more vital objective such as Pearl Harbor or the U. S. Pacific coast.

The Japanese imperial command claimed, without verification from any Allied source, that four United Nations submarines have been sunk in recent days in Japanese waters including Tokyo Bay.

The British air forces' devastation attacks, launched a week ago tonight with the wrecking of Cologne by more than 1000 bombers, continued on a reduced although still formidable scale.

During the week-long assaults that have played havoc with the centers of Nazi war production Adolf Hitler's air force has spurred battle and of the more than 3000 British long-range bombers participating in the assaults only 166 planes have been lost.

Friday night not a single German plane was over the British Isles while 300 or more RAF bombers heaped tons of bombs upon war centers of the Ruhr for the third time in five days and other bombers based in the Mediterranean and the Near East struck in waves at the Italian industrial city of Naples.

MEADOR TO PORTO RICO.
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Meador, their daughter, Mrs. Frances Boone and son, Virgil Meador, leave today for Atlanta, Ga., where the son will continue his journey to San Juan, Porto Rico, where he will serve in the civil aeronautic administration of the communication corps. The Meadors will visit Mrs. Meador's relatives in Heflin, Ala., for about two weeks.

FIRE FROM HEAVEN

The "second front" in Europe for which free souls have waited seems to be aerial. A word-juggler might say it is not a front but a top, and the most terrible one ever fashioned by man.

It comes, as it did over Cologne last Sunday, in thunders and lightnings more frightful than Nature's. More than a thousand war planes ferry through the clouds 3,000 tons of the most deadly bombs ever made. They destroy a great industrial city almost as Sodom and Gomorrah long ago were wiped out, for their wickedness, by fire from heaven.

If that tremendous "task flight" has not adequately wrecked the famous Rhineland city, the avengers may come again with flame and smoke and terror, as they did latterly at Rostock, until there is nothing left that is of service to the enemy. Then, like at Essen, they will proceed to other tasks of the same nature, in a crescendo of red flame and bursting bombs, wiping out the industrial cities that give Hitler's Germany its evil power. It is factory against factory, with men merely incidental. This can be done with growing intensity because the foes that Germany has raised up against her are now superior. Britain, America and Russia gain power from heaven such as Hitler never imagined in his hellish operations. More land warfare may come, too. But apparently the war in the clouds will bear the brunt of it, and week by week there are greater stores of thunderbolts to destroy the destroyers.

BARUCH

Bernard Baruch is a unique institution. He might be characterized as an "Elder Statesman" who has never held an elective job. He served with great distinction as chairman of the War Industries Board in the last war. He has been a confidential adviser to Presidents, regardless of political considerations, so long that "the memory of man runneth not to the contrary." Apparently he has never drawn a salary from government. He is the "Nestor" of American public life, a wise and disinterested statesman, above party and class.

It is good to see him accepting now an official position as adviser on the Army's $30,000,000,000 ordnance program, along with other prominent business leaders—K. T. Keller of the Chrysler Corporation, Benjamin F. Fairless of the U. S. Steel Corporation and Louis H. Brown of the Johns-Manville Corporation. All four are on the staff of Maj. Gen. Levin H. Campbell, Jr. The more of such business men the government can annex to help handle the vast war job, the better it will be for the war effort, and for the federal treasury at the end of the war.

YUNNAN

The Japanese onward thrust has carried them along the Burma road far into Yunnan. This southwesternmost province of China is in many ways the least Chinese and the most interesting. Wild and mountainous, it derives not the least of its attraction from its non-Chinese inhabitants, the tribes of the Lolo and Miao.

Most people think of the Chinese as the world's oldest people, who have always been where they are now and apparently always will be. And yet there in southwest China are peoples who were there before the Chinese, just as American Indians preceded the coming of the white man and are flourishing here today.

Primitive hillmen, the Miao and the Lolo every so often raid the Chinese of the valleys, rob, burn, take captive and return safely to their highland homes. White towers dotted over the landscape offer refuge to the Chinese fleeing from these raids.

BETTER EXPLAINING.

Mr. Harold Ickes may be right, Mr. Leon Henderson may be right about what ought to be done by government and citizens in the matter of the gas and rubber shortages. But in one important point they are wrong: They do not explain well. More and better explaining is decidedly called for.

The American citizen will do anything that is right, anything that seems fair to him. He will do more and do without more than some authorities expect. He wants to win this war. He wants to help his government win this war.

But he's a citizen of a democratic country. He has a right to know what goes on, and why. He is surprisingly patient about silence in regard to military information. He doesn't want to help the enemy. But he wants to know exactly why the gas is short, where it is short, and what is being done about it.

The American is willing to give up his tires, his car, to the government if that is necessary. He is willing to drive at forty miles per hour or less, and to confine himself to three gallons per week—if that is necessary. But he wants to know exactly what the situation is, what his fair share of sacrifice is, how long shortages will probably last and in what direction they lead.

It is fair that he be told these things clearly and squarely. He's not a moron. He's an intelligent part of this body politic. He is entitled to his due.

Let the departments in question tell all, in simple, understandable terms. They will find the American will do the rest.

WHAT I WANT!

Fish can be bought in the market place So it isn't the fish I'm after; I want to get free from the care-drawn face And back to an honest laughter. I want to get out where the skies are clean, And rest on a mossy brink. I want to get out where the woods are green And I want a few hours to think. Oh, it isn't the fish I am greedy for, It's the chatter and song of birds, And the talk of trees that I've known before—I am weary of selfish words. I want to stretch out, just my soul and I In a place from the strife afar, And let a few care-free hours pass by As I think of the things that are. Oh, it isn't the fish that I go to get, Though there's joy in a swishing line And a splendid thrill when my grip I set And a speckled brook trout is mine. But my soul seems cramped in the stifling air That is heavy with talk of gain. And I want to get out where the world is fair And there isn't so much of pain. Fish can be bought in the market place, But I long for the running streams And I want to stretch out, just my soul and I On a sun-kissed river shore. And be, as a few mad hours rush by, The man that I am, once more.

ALBANY

Shackelford County.

W. T. Garrett, Moran, Shackelford county's last living Confederate soldier, created a sensation for radio listeners of that community and other parts of the county Sunday afternoon when he was interviewed over KRBC on the Memorial Day program. Uncle Billie, as he is familiarly known to hosts of friends, knew no reason why he had lived to the age of 95 but gave no indication of regrets for still living in this war torn world. In answer to numerous questions fired in quick succession, he told of his arrival in West Texas when the country was still a bald prairie and described his first home here as a picket shanty with a dirt floor. Commenting on his three years spent in the Confederate army, he gave as his reason for joining at the early age of 15, that he "had to leave home to keep the Yankees from getting him." There was nowhere else to go he said, and all he had done all his life was just to take a chance.

At its annual meeting held in Woodson on Wednesday, June 3, the Seven-County Bankers' Association composed of Knox, Baylor, Haskell, Throckmorton, Stephens, Jones and Shackelford counties, the latter was named host county for 1942. The Association meets once each year on June 3, a bank holiday. Principal speakers at the program which followed a luncheon given by the Woodson Home Economic class were Bob Baskin of Seymour and Joe A. Clarke of Albany. Attendance at Wednesday meeting was approximately sixty-five including wives of some banker members. Representatives of all the banks of Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, and Abilene added to the crowd and the scene was one of revivals of old acquaintances and forming of new.

Born in the Gorman hospital to Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Weber of Moran, a baby girl on May 27, weighing six pounds. The young lady was named Mary Lyn. The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Adair and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Weber.

On Saturday evening, May 30, at the Judge J. J. Hitt residence at 8 p. m., Miss Edna Roberson and Guy L. Floyd were united in marriage. The contracting parties are well known in Moran. Those present for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lane and Mrs. Herb Sherrill. The young couple will live at the John Brazell residence.

Mrs. Merle Howard was installed as worthy matron of the local Eastern Star chapter at a public installation service held in the

First Victory Speed Sticker

As part of a program to enlist the cooperation of America's 32 million motorists in a voluntary movement to keep their driving at speeds under 40 miles an hour, Miss Muriel Hessler of Akron, Ohio, calls attention to a new rear window sticker now ready for free distribution by Firestone dealers and stores throughout the nation. Drivers of all Firestone company-owned cars and trucks are setting the good example by keeping below the "Victory Speed" of 40 miles an hour, as a conservation measure.

With the message, "Save Rubber, Victory Speed, 40," printed in the V formed by the outstretched wings of the American eagle, the red, white and blue sticker does not obstruct the line of vision of the driver when placed at the extreme left side of the rear window. In this position it also serves to remind passing motorists who may not realize the speed at which they are traveling, that they, by keeping their cars within the "Victory Speed," can help to save large quantities of the nation's precious supplies of rubber.

PULLMAN CO. IS GREATEST HOUSEKEEPER

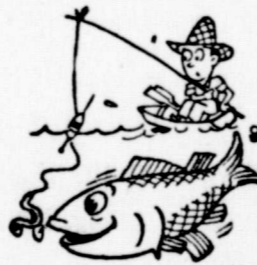

Enough cotton sheets and pillow cases to tuck 35 times the entire population of Cisco into bed were purchased last year by the Pullman company. Its total bed linen inventory, announced in Chicago by Frank S. Rick, general storekeeper, would be sufficient to give clean sheets and slips to each of the 3,868 men, women and children of Cisco every night for 241 nights. Pullman owns 2,342,186 sheets and 1,881,387 slips, worth about $2,000,000. This unique view into the operations of the sleeping car company, which was probably the largest user of linens in the world before the war expanded the requirements of the armed services, was offered to the cotton industry which in 1941 sold more than $260,000 worth of sheets and slips alone to Pullman.

The total estimated value of all linens in the inventory report was put at $2,571,000 and the annual laundry bill in recent years has exceeded $1,500,000.

With the price of cotton higher now than two years ago, Pullman expects to surpass its 1941 purchases, provided its increased orders for linen are not curtailed. Rick pointed out. Often called "the world's greatest housekeeper," Pullman plays host to more than 40,000 travelers nightly. Its fleet of cars, now numbering 7,000, has represented a rich source of income to the cotton industry since 1895, when the first sleeping car was put on the tracks. There are nearly 8,500,000 separate pieces of linen on cars or in company storerooms and laundries, the reports showed, and the average Pullman carries with it 160 sheets and 120 slips when it leaves on each two-night trip. Recent large-scale movements of troops in sleeping cars have quickened the linen turnover, but Rick said that soldiers have slept in clean linen every night on their trips, without necessitating any restrictions on normal passenger service.

Announcement Of Approaching Marriage

The approaching marriage of Miss Helen Louise Greynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guyie Greynolds, to Lieut. R. D. Donham of Chandler, Ariz., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Donham, of Cisco, was announced at a reception in the Greynolds home Friday evening. The wedding date is June 14. Guests were received by Mrs. Greynolds, who was modestly attired in a black crepe dress with corsage of white carnations, and Miss Greynolds, who wore an evening gown of net and pink satin with corsage of vari-colored sweet peas. Miss Geneva Isenhower, dressed in a blue organza and lace evening gown, directed guests to the dining room for refreshments.

The lace-laid dining table held a lovely floral centerpiece of red carnations and Queen Anne lace. Miss Melba Wood of Eastland laded punch from the large crystal punch bowl at a table end; the three-tiered white cake, topped with a miniature silver airplane bearing the words "U. S. Army," placed at the opposite table end, was served by Miss Marie Tune. Miss Wood wore blue taffeta and net evening gown; Miss Tune wore a yellow dotted swiss gown. Favors were small silver airplanes, to which were tied red, white and blue ribbons with card attached bearing the inscription, "Helen Louise and R. D. June 14." A patriotic theme was observed in all decorations and appointments; an attractive arrangement on the china closet portrayed a soldier and his bride standing under an arch of white flowers.

Miss Eula Mae Jackson, dressed in a pretty pink net gown, presided at the bride's book in which the following names were recorded:

Mrs. N. A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. George Downie, Mrs. W. F. Hunterman, Mrs. C. E. Reynolds, Mrs. J. C. Carr, Mrs. H. L. Jackson, Mrs. Sam Henderson, Sr., of Baird, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Alsop, Mrs. Wm. DEFENDER OF A FAITH

In the Middle Ages, they were called Crusaders --- those defenders of the right. Today, they're doughboys, and they fight with guns, planes and tanks instead of with swords, horses and armour. But they're only superficially different, for the significant fact still remains --- Right still finds defenders! There still are people --- now as hundreds of years ago --- with the courage and vision that it takes to defend the Right. We at the Cisco Daily Press are proud of the boys in camp and of the reasons they're there --- just as you parents are. And we're not only proud, we're interested just as you are. That's one reason why you find such complete news coverage in your paper of the activities of the boys in camp.

BRING US THE NEWS ABOUT YOUR SOLDIER BOY WHEN YOU HEAR FROM HIM --- In camp or in the far islands of the seas. His friends will like to read about him, also.

Many Cisco people are sending the Cisco Daily Press to their soldier boy --- some in South and Central America --- Others go to remote parts of the world, and letters from these boys say there is nothing like this news from home. Better put him on the mailing list today --- The charge is very little.

HENDERSON IS CHARGED WITH BEING 'SMART'

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Roosevelt today is studying the gasoline-rubber controversy and will decide "in a matter of days" whether gasoline rationing as a rubber conservation measure will be extended to all 48 states. His decision to assume command of the dispute came after a "revolt" by about 100 congressmen against proposals to extend gasoline rationing to all states—even those where gasoline supplies are plentiful.

When the President has decided what action should be taken, Archibald MacLesh, director of the Office of Facts and Figures, will prepare a statement on the entire gasoline and rubber conservation program for the President and the White House will issue it.

Inate congressmen caucused yesterday to protest the proposed national rationing program and to denounce Price Administrator Leon Henderson as a "smart aleck" and "this bird Henderson." Later, Rep. Jed Johnson, (Democrat, of Oklahoma), introduced a joint resolution opposing nationwide gasoline rationing until the House has been given evidence that such action is necessary.

Located at Camp Bowie Blvd. and Locke St., St. Alice's church is a frame structure with an asbestos veneer. A residence for the pastor is attached to the church.

OUR DUTY IS PLAIN

The path of our duty lies in keeping faith that the cause we fight is a just one and that we will be victorious. Back of that faith is the courage that will make victory inevitable. Our duty lies in bolstering up that courage so that it remains high even through set backs. We must believe in our leadership, in the strength of our armed forces, in the production efforts of business. If we do our duty of believing unflinchingly, we cannot be anything but successful.
