Rotarians voted to buy a wedding gift for Clark Roberds, former Cisco Rotarian now in the service, who was married Wednesday of this week, appointing a committee composed of Edward Lee, E. P. Crawford, T. J. McCarty and Billy Cole, at today's meeting, to make the selection of the present.

J. A. LAUDERDALE, STEPHENS COUNTY, IS ILL

J. A. Lauderdale, who lives about 19 miles north of Cisco, in Stephens county, though showing some improvement, continues ill and friends and family are worried about his condition.

SABOTEURS TRIAL

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The life or death trial of eight Nazis accused of entering this country equipped to burn and blast war production centers, entered on its second secrecy-shrouded session Thursday. There were strong indications that another day or two might see the end of the proceedings in which a commission of seven generals will pass judgment on the men who roved ashore from submarines and landed at night on deserted beaches.

EXPECTS EARLY PEACE

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Predicting the war would end "probably in 1942 and unquestionably in 1943," Chairman May of the house military affairs committee said Thursday there would be no need for the army to induct married men or youths in the 18 and 19 year group.

The information on which he based the prediction, the Kentucky told reporters, was "a military secret," obtained since the recent apparent Russian reverses.

Mr. Lauderdale, 67 years of age and a native of Hickman, Ky., has lived at his present abode about 45 years. He has been a farmer and ginmer throughout his life and was a stockholder in the old Cisco Banking company for many years.

With that what we have now and the reserve power becoming available each year," May explained, "the army's manpower needs can be met without resorting to the extremely young men or men who are married."

IF VORONEZH TAKEN, LAST RAIL LINK BETWEEN MOSCOW, CAUCASUS OIL FIELDS WILL BE CUT

MOSCOW, July 9. — The Germans, having broken through Russian defenses west of Voronezh, today were reported developing a drive on Svoboda, 56 miles to the south, junction of the important Moscow - Rostov, Kuibyshev and Don Basin railroads.

Front line dispatches, dated yesterday, said small units of more than a dozen German tank and motorized divisions storming the Soviet defenses around Voronezh, had succeeded in crashing through. If Voronezh is taken -- the Germans already have claimed it -- the last important railway between Moscow and the oil of the Caucasus will have been cut.

The threat to Svoboda, an even more strategic point, because some of the most important railway lines in Russia join there, developed after Soviet forces withdrew from Stary Oskol, 65 miles southwest of Voronezh. The Germans apparently now intended to drive 80 miles southeast to Svoboda and establish a solid front between there and Voronezh, cutting the Moscow-Rostov railway at another point, as well as the Kuibyshev and Don River line.

Dispatches said that upwards of 2000 German tanks pushing toward the Don continued to widen the salient in the Voronezh region and at a point near Stary Oskol. Soviet counter-attacks forced the Germans from several villages northwest of Voronezh.

The noon Soviet communique said: "Last night our troops fought battles with the enemy west of Voronezh. On other sectors there were no important changes."

Quoting late reports, the Soviet army organ Red Star said the situation west of Voronezh and in the Stary Oskol region remained most grave, that a vastly superior enemy was unremittingly attacking, and compelling the hard-pressed Russians to retreat.

Especially was fighting fierce in the Don Basin, Red Star said. Masses of more than 800 German armored vehicles were trying to force the river.

Marshal Semyon Timoshenko was counter-attacking on the German flank at Orel, 150 miles north of Vorenezh, but there was no immediate report on his progress.

BOY SCOUTS DO THEIR BIT FOR OUR UNCLE SAM

Boy Scouts are being given valuable training and also tasks of usefulness during these times of defense, when Americans are trying to impress the idea of war service on the minds of people to the end that all will give unstintingly to the job of retaining our liberties and lives.

MEGLASSON IS A FUSE SETTER FOR BIG GUNS

George Meglasson writes from Camp Wallace, Texas, that he is now a full-fledged soldier and that the army life has already benefited him in a physical way. Meglasson, formerly bookkeeper for the Cisco Daily Press and a University of Texas student when he was called, is in the anti-aircraft section of the coast artillery and temporarily classified as a fuse setter for a 90 mm. gun.

FINANCIAL POWER

The total war chest set up by congress to meet the present anticipated costs of this war is now reported as $220,000,000,000. There is not that much money in the world, but Uncle Sam expects to use a lot of it over and over and provide necessary additions as he goes along.

The process is a sort of merry-go-round, although not so merry, either, if you stop to think about it. Most citizens don't do that, because the whole business is unpleasant, and they couldn't grasp or analyze such immense sums anyway. There seems to be, too, in this buoyant and optimistic nation, an ingrained superstition that what people don't know won't hurt them.

And this may be as good a way as any. It conserves nervous energy and maintains the blind faith in itself, and in destiny, which has made America the power it is in the world.

Cheer up! It's only half the world that we're fighting.

PLEASANT DREAMS

Louis Bromfield, miracle man who succeeded both as a novelist and a farmer, adds his bit to the plans for a new world. In an interview he says: "After this war we shall not only have to feed the defeated and stricken peoples, but fight to reconstruct the world along the right lines. We shall have great responsibilities to meet, and we won't be defeated this time by a bunch of blind and selfish old men such as defeated the League of Nations."

"It will be in our hands to make the new world as great as we have made this country. We shall have a new sense of values. We shall learn that we get out of life, or the world, just what we put into it."

Americans want to believe that, although many are less hopeful than others about the oceans of wisdom this nation is going to acquire, and use, after it has licked the killers and burglars now bedeviling civilization. But there is one little detail that many of the planners and prophets with their heads in the clouds seem to be overlooking. That is the need of licking the enemy first.

STAMP TAXES

When you consider the origin of this familiar institution, the same acquiescence with which Americans have come to accept every new "stamp tax" is rather surprising. History-minded people have not yet forgotten the storm which arose in this country in the year 1765, over the Stamp Act passed by the British parliament to raise revenue for the mother country in the American colonies. It required the use of stamped paper and stamps for legal and official documents, commercial writings, and so on. Opposition was so intense that the British parliament soon had to repeal it.

Now we seem to have new issues of federal and state stamp taxes in ever-growing number, scope and cost, and free-born citizens merely groan a little as they lick the nasty things and paste them in their appropriate places.

The famous British tax, it may be recalled, which the British people themselves had to pay, was adopted to help meet the expenses of a costly war. Thus, as the Frenchman said, "the more things change, the more they remain the same."

FUTURE TANKS

This has been a war of tanks as well as planes. Though the last war was won largely by the use of tanks, which broke through the German lines that had been thought impregnable, few foresaw the amazing importance they would assume in the present struggle.

An English writer, Prof. A. M. Low, observes that empty ships or planes can already be controlled by radio. We may yet see crewless tanks controlled and operated from the air. They would advance inexorably, to be stopped by nothing short of blowing them to pieces. Special types of tanks may arise: tank mine-sweepers to clear mine-fields on land as they are cleared at sea, and mine-laying tanks. Burrowing tanks which appear, able to dig in and take cover; submarine tanks which could crawl over the bed of a river, and flying tanks which would hop over obstacles. Television and radiolocation will do their part, too, enabling future tank crews to see on a screen a perfect picture of the countryside, and have their guns laid automatically.

This greater use of tanks may be balanced by less need of men. Infantry regiments today have often found tanks more than they could master. A war in which machines warred against machines might well be a war in which men were of little use at the front. Such a war might terrify the imagination, but also be less bloody than the warfare of today.

WEEDS FOR LUNCH

Lamb's quarters, pigweed, white goosefoot, fat-hen, frost-bite, meal weed, bacon weed, are all the same. Their fancy Latin name is chenopodium album. They are good to eat. Purslane is a pot weed, too, or one for salad. Milkweed can be cooked and served as a vegetable. So can the broad-leaved dock. Dr. George Washington Carver, noted scientist, has for years been pointing out the food values in common but neglected plants.

There was some historical discussion in Oregon recently about a kind of fern pie made and eaten with pleasure by the ancestors. It was probably made of the brake-fern, whose stems the English cook and eat like asparagus, saving the fronds for pot-herbs. This is the branched fern which the Scotch call "bracken."

These are not all the good weeds, but merely samples. Weeds are not all bad, apparently. What is contemptuously called a "weed" and thrown out, may be, in the garden, merely a useful plant out of place.

Here, however, is an important word of warning. Before the children run right out-doors and begin to sample everything, before any unusual plants are set on the table, it would be well to lay them before an expert. The poisonous ones and the good ones sometimes look much alike.

DEAD MIDNIGHT

Day has long gone, dead midnight's here: I, too, must quench my candle clear— This candle of celestial fire Lighting my secret desire.

Moons may perpetually wax and wane, And morning's sun return again, But when the very heart is cold and black Cock shall not crow its brilliance back. —WALTER DE LA MARE.

Two women and a girl whose transcontinental automobile journey halted here abruptly in a wreck that sent the three to a hospital, today are leaving Cisco praising the hospitality and the medical treatment they received. Although each of the three, a mother, her 14-year-old daughter and a friend, was badly cut about the face, such unexpected surgical skill was found in Cisco that through the aid of plastic surgery none of the frightful gashes were expected to result in scars. The three are Mrs. L. V. Barrow, her daughter, Mariellen, and Mrs. A. B. Culp, all of San Diego, Cal. They were enroute from Norfolk, Va., to San Diego, Cal., when the steering gear of their car broke west of Cisco, plunging their machine into the ditch. Mrs. Culp received a bad knee cut and the most serious face cuts, while Mrs. Barrow was also badly cut on the hand. They were taken to Graham sanitarium where Dr. E. L. Graham spent more than three hours in treating their injuries. The tedious work of facial surgery occupied most of the time. Today the women, whose husbands are with the United States navy, praised the hospital and medical attention they had received and also thanked Cisco people generally for the universal kindness they encountered. Mrs. Barrow spoke appreciatively of the hospitality of Mrs. R. B. Carswell, who opened her home to them. The accident took place on September 19. Mrs. Barrow left the hospital September 26 and Mrs. Culp two days later. Having sold what remained of their car to a salvage man, they are leaving via the Sunshine this afternoon for home.

The Cisco Gas Corp. today was preparing to move into its quarters in the 700 block on D avenue. Installation of customers' meters and completion of "odds and ends" of the new distribution system are being rushed so that gas can be turned into the mains this week. The large building formerly occupied by an automobile agency and adjoining the Central Service station has been fitted up with a handsome suite for the new company. A large customers' room, show room, cashier's office, private offices for officials and a warehouse and space for repair shop and meter testing equipment are provided. The distribution system has been built of new equipment throughout, and is said to be one of the most complete and efficient that it is possible to build. It was constructed as a "turn key" job by the National Supply Const. company.

A. D. Anderson was nominated county roll call chairman for the Eastland county chapter of the Red Cross at meeting of the nominating committee in the offices of J. E. Spencer, county chairman, Tuesday morning. Meeting with the committee was R. H. Ziehm, field representative of the National Red Cross for West Texas. A. L. Foster was nominated for assistant county chairman and local chairman of the roll call, which will occur during the period between Armistice and Thanksgiving. Present at the nominating meeting Tuesday morning besides Mr. Ziehm and Mr. Spencer, were Mr. Anderson, J. B. Cate, J. D. Lauderdale and O. J. Russell.

A news item announcing the marriage of Mrs. Carolyn Gehrmann to Olin Welborn III at the home of E. L. Doheny, old magnate, at Beverly Hills Saturday meant little to Cisco residents, except such "old-timers" as recall the late J. P. Anderson, rancher, and his family, who left this section in 1902. Mrs. Gehrmann was the daughter of Mr. Anderson, who had large ranch interests in this section. Her mother, now Mrs. Frank A. Parsons of Los Angeles, and her daughter, 11, were present at the wedding. The bride was attended during the ceremony by Mrs. Doheny and the 11-year-old daughter.

Among Cisco people attending the Lutheran mission rally at Abilene Sunday were Rev. and Mrs. E. Steyer and daughter, Lorna; Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Reich and daughter, Bertha; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stephen and son, Robert; Rev. and Mrs. E. Reiser; Mrs. C. A. Weiser; Misses Gertrude Eifert, Ruth Weiser, Dora Wende, Dubena Wende, Alma Stroebel, Hattie Wende, Meta Wende, F. H. Eifert, Johnnie Gerhardt; Herbert Wende, Alvin Stroebel, Clarence Stroebel and Rudolf Weiser.

Mrs. J. W. Wilson, 75, died at her home, 1011 West Twelfth street, at 10:30 this morning after an illness of four days. Funeral services are to be held at 2 tomorrow afternoon at the family residence and burial will be in Eastland cemetery. Dr. J. Stuart Pearce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate and burial arrangements are in charge of Green's Funeral home. Mrs. Wilson is survived by three sons, J. W. Wilson, Jr., of Cisco, Maek Wilson of Spur, and Buford Wilson of San Francisco, Cal.; four daughters, Mrs. H. C. Poe of Kansas City, Mrs. A. Rountree of Amarillo, Mrs. J. Claud Gaines of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. R. A. Smith of San Antonio; and two

S. E. Saddler, 81 years of age, died at his Rising Star home at 11:40 last evening after a week's illness. Burial will be in Sabanno at 3 o'clock this afternoon beside the body of his first wife. Services were to be held at the Rising Star Baptist church at 1 o'clock. Born in Mississippi, Mr. Saddler was 81 years, 8 months and 27 days old at death. Death followed a week's illness. All of his children, except one who is ill, were at his bedside when he died. All of his step-children, except one, were also present. His survivors include his wife, four sons, three daughters, one step-son and three step-daughters. Mrs. Saddler is a sister of Rev. J. T. Bryant of this city.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Hitler found out that his high powered mechanized and motorized army bogged down in the snow and mud of the Russian Winter. Although our Army is largely mechanized the cavalry horse is still a highly essential factor in this mounted division and in the Field Artillery. The Army also maintains reform farms where many cavalry horses are bred and raised.

These select horses cost from $100 to $165 and our crack cavalrymen are expert riders and carry on the traditions which have followed the cavalry from the earliest days of the Army. Purchase of War Savings Bonds will insure good mounts for the Cavalry. You and your neighbors buying War Bonds and Stamps regularly every pay day can help buy these horses for the U. S. Cavalry. Invest at least 10 percent of your income in War Bonds.

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 6.—Dist. Judge W. W. McCrory today dismissed a civil action which sought to invalidate James V. Allred's democratic nomination for governor. The suit, brought by Joe Burkett, alleged Allred spent more than the legal limit of $10,000 in his primary campaign. Judge McCrory pointed out that the Texas supreme court refused Burkett's request to issue a mandamus compelling the fourth court of civil appeals to review the case.

Complimenting her niece, Miss Eunice Cooles, bride-elect of Mr. Jack Bernard Seligson, Mrs. I. Sandler entertained Wednesday with a buffet bridge luncheon at her home on Park Hill Drive, Fort Worth. The table was laid with a Venetian lace cloth centered by a large oval reflector with miniature bridal couples on two sides and surrounded by a billow of tulle and sweetheart roses. Centering the reflector was a silver bowl of marigolds, flanked by green swan comports holding nuts. Gold appointments and tapers were used. Misses Mollie Finger and Lucile Mosier, also bride-elects, were presented with gifts attractively wrapped in gold and green and showered with queen's wreath. The honoree was presented with a gift also. Luncheon was served to 25 friends of the honoree, whose marriage will take place Oct. 14 at Cisco Country club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Cooles of Cisco, and Mr. Seligson is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. Weber of Fort Worth.

Bus and streetcar ticket stubs are being saved by British people and contributed to the paper salvage campaign.

FBI CORRALS 101 MEMBERS GERMAN BUND

NEW YORK, July 9.—A total of 101 German-American Bund leaders, their relatives and bund members — many openly professing their love for Germany—were in federal custody today, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation was expected to arrest more.

Seventy-two bundists, 15 of them women, were arrested yesterday and last night in New York City. They were relatives, friends and followers of 29 bund leaders seized earlier for trial on charges of having conspired to defeat the purposes of the selective service and alien registration acts.

The newly arrested bundists were taken to Ellis Island, where they must prove they are not dangerous to the security of the United States, or go to concentration camps for the duration.

All are aliens who were quoted as saying they would not fight for this country and hoped Germany won.

Some had bought ruckwandener marks, which can be spent only in Germany, and some said they tried to return to the Reich.

P. E. Foxworth, FBI agent in charge of the New York district, said some were members of the bund's "Prospective Citizenship League" and others were Nazi sympathizers who wanted to express their feelings by making regular contributions to the organization.

The 29 leaders under indictment are in New York City prisons or in jails in other parts of the nation awaiting removal to New York, and federal authorities said they were waiting until all defendants were brought here before announcing further prosecution moves and setting final trial dates.

CATTLE MARKET

Cattle were uneven on the Fort Worth stockyards Thursday with cows and bulls weak to 25c below Wednesday's levels, the cows showing losses of 50c to 75c for the week. Medium to good grades of steers and yearlings were fully steady while choice grades of beefs were practically lacking. Common grassers ruled weak. Slaughter calves were mostly steady while stockers were dull.

Hogs were steady to 10c higher than on Wednesday with packers and city butchers paying the top of $14.25.

All classes of sheep and lambs were steady.

Good beef cows cashed at $8.50 to $9.50, common to medium butcher cows at $7.25 to $8, and canners and cutters mostly at $4 to $7. However, some shelly, lightweight canners were purchased at $3.50 and below.

Good fed steers and yearlings ranged from $12 to $12.50 with two loads of heifers at $12.50 and six loads of cake-on-grass steers averaging 1,242 pounds at $12.25.

Medium grade caked grassers brought $10.50 to $11.50 and included five loads of steers at $11. Common grass cattle sold at $7.50 to $9.

Good heavy bulls sold mostly at $9 to $9.75; medium grades of medium weights at $8 to $8.75, and common lightweight bulls at $7 to $7.75.

Good to choice fat calves brought $11 to $12.50, with a package of good 471-pound calves at the top figure. Common to medium butcher calves ranged from $10.50 and culls mostly to $8.

Better kinds of stock calves cashed at $13 for similar grades of heifers down. Common to medium calves ranged from $11.50 down and stockers back to the grass at $9.
