HIGH MAIKOP OIL FIELDS MAY BE DYNAMITED

SPENCER HAS ONE OF FINEST PEACH ORCHARDS IN THIS AREA; HEAVY RAINS RUINED 1942 CROP

at the tragic loss of so many other-wise choice peaches.

The rains washed away sprays as fast as they were applied and as a result they were at the mercy of what ever insect ravage came that way. Abundance of moisture multiplied the worms and insects.

Unlike many persons who try to get the most possible from an unfortunate venture that turns out badly, Mr. Spencer chose to maintain his reputation for quality rather than sell low quality fruit at good prices, just because of the great demand.

Strict grading was made and only the choicest pickings and selections were sold as good fruit. The culls were sold as such and customers were told the truth about the quality, with prices according.

Spencer still thinks commercial orchards of apples, pears and plums, with peaches predominating, are the best for farmers with land suited to fruit growth. Red sand and clay soils with plenty of sugar content in the soils, are especially suited to such fruits. He said many farmers and orchardists make the mistake of planting fruits that have no commercial demand or, owing to their texture, cannot be handled from orchard to consumers without spoilage.

Many others took advantage of the $100 rate for flights over the city that are now being offered. Only safe, trusted pilots are used for this service.

From recent reports army planes will soon start coming in from Coleman on their cross-country training, using the Cisco airport as their northeast turning point. Ciscoans are invited to see them come in next week.

J. C. Pace, Jr., wife and son, Sweetwater; flying an Aeronca-Chief; stopped en route to Fort Worth.

Marvin L. Beuck, Burbank, Calif., a short stop; flying a Columbia-50 from LaMetro airport, Los Angeles, to Love Field, Dallas.

Lt. M. J. Carroll, Rising Star, is in to spend Sunday at home. Met him in a car. Lt. Carroll is stationed at Lubbock. Flew a small Taylor Craft plane.

R. B. Cowden, Midland, was in for a short stop, flying a Stearman Hammond pusher type plane. He was taking the ship to Fort Worth to be overhauled, then to the Atlantic coast for patrol under the C. A. P. to help run down subs in the shipping lanes. When this funny looking plane landed here Sunday it brought out about 100 cars in addition to the usual turnout. Some came who had never visited the port before.

Monday, a big Stinson 5-passenger plane made a stop from Helena, Ark.; was carrying four art-instructors on a pleasure trip west, between classes. They were eastern boys and this was their first trip west. They liked the country.

Alex Howard and R. D. Tyler of Abilene made a stop; flying an Aeronca plane. Cleared for Stamford.

H. C. (Chief) Brown with Joe Coulter made a business trip to Coleman, flying Brown's private plane, a Porterfield, which is the red plane seen flying over Cisco. Brown went through a class last year and is considered an extra good pilot by the instructor and the boys at the airport.

Four young men of Baird have bought the silver plane, known as the J-2, from Jack Lauderdale, who is now taking an instructor's course at Abilene. He will soon be training the boys for fighting "overthere." The young men who bought the plane are E. L. Dunlap, W. A. Banks, Bruce Bell and E. B. Brown, Jr. This ship is carried at the airport as the "Baird Flying Club." These men are taking instructions under the able leadership of J. D. Higgins of Fort Worth, who is now connected with the flying school here. (He is young, good looking and unmarried).

Instructor Joe Coulter has under his wing John (Ace) Harvey of Eastland, who has about 25 hours of flying to date. He is making a real pilot and will soon have his private certificate and has promised A. D. Anderson he

AIRPORT GROWS IN FAVOR

By CHARLES D. ROBERTS
Airport Clearance Officer.

There was a big crowd of local people at Cisco Municipal Airport last Sunday, making their first visit to the port, not realizing the many improvements that had been made at the grounds since it became the site for local flyer training and a stopping port for passing planes along this beam.

Yes, it is really surprising how the local interest is picking up. In fact, a private class of five, mid-age young local business men, will start training this coming week. They will soon be flying their own private planes, thus keeping up with modern progress in business and commercial transportation.

Many others took advantage of the $100 rate for flights over the city that are now being offered. Only safe, trusted pilots are used for this service.

From recent reports army planes will soon start coming in from Coleman on their cross-country training, using the Cisco airport as their northeast turning point. Ciscoans are invited to see them come in next week.

M'CRARY QUIT T.-P. JOB TO JOIN MARINES

Billy Gerald McCrary, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan McCrary, who has been employed in the T. and P. ticket office at Abilene, has resigned his position and joined the United States marines—the hottest fighting contingent on earth.

McCrary, who was born and reared in Cisco and graduated from Cisco high school in 1939, went to Dallas Saturday for his examination.

ANNUAL CAMP WOMEN CLUBS AT EASTLAND

The annual encampment of the Women's Home Demonstration clubs for Eastland county will be held at Eastland city park Wednesday, beginning at 10 a. m. and continuing into the evening.

Members of 12 clubs in the county will participate in a program under the direction of the county council, of which Mrs. T. E. Robertson of Flatwood is president.

The Program

10 to 11 a. m.—Registration, with Mrs. John Love of Alameda club in charge.

11 to 12 a. m.—Recreation, with Mrs. Cecil Eubanks of Morton Valley club in charge of games and singing for the day.

12 noon to 1:30 p. m.—Lunch, with sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, fruit and cookies and iced tea or milk.

1:30 to 2:30 p. m.—A book review, "Mrs. Appleyard's Year," given by Mrs. H. Durham.

2:30 to 3:30 p. m.—4-H club boys—Clifton Beck and Winice Graham—will give a demonstration, and Wanda Myrick, gold star girl of 1942, will tell of her work.

3:30 to 4 p. m.—Recreation and debates.

4 to 5:30 p. m.—"How We Are Being Good Victory Demonstrators," with Mrs. Ernest Schaefer of Word club in charge.

5:30 to 7 p. m.—Swimming and other recreation.

7 to 8:30 p. m.—Supper, with each club bringing its complete menu.

8:30 p. m.—Stunts, with Mrs. Thad Henderson of Morton Valley club in charge.

The last number on the program will be a picture show, with T. C. Williams in charge.

A big day and night is in store for all who attend, so come and bring your family and friends, says Mrs. Ernest Schaefer, club reporter.

FT. WORTH, Aug. 8.—The war and the rumblings of its beginnings have traced a devious path in the career of Dr. Lee Clark, Jr., of Jackson, Miss., grandson of the late Randolph Clark, one of the founders of Texas Christian University and son of Mrs. Randolph Lee Clark, Sr., of Cisco.

His research, as a youthful chemist for Du Pont after his graduation from the University of South Carolina, is aiding the war machine today in the field of alioys.

In Paris, as a resident surgeon in the American hospital, he heard Germans speak of the defects of the first World War and discuss the possibilities of the inevitable second conflagration. "Good Will" flights from London to Melbourne and air races outlined the aviation inferiority of the continent and pointed the way to an important future for long range bombers.

He saw the French, serene in the notion that their Maginot Line was an impregnable barrier. He wrote letters home which pointed to the signs and to the fact that not even the Maginot Line could stop an air armada.

Dr. Clark came back to America after a year, and became associated with the Mayo Clinic. There he did research with Dr. Randolph Lovelace on the oxygen mask for air pilots. They were faced with the problems of high altitude flying—blackouts—air sickness that pilots suffered at high altitudes.

This research—and all the credit goes to Dr. Lovelace, Dr. Clark emphasizes—has made possible the high altitude flights so important now on bombing forays.

Dr. Clark has been commissioned a captain with an assignment in surgery at the 650-bed hospital at the Air Force Technical Training School at Goldsboro, N. C., where he is scheduled to report next week. One of his air corps chiefs will be Dr. Lovelace, who is now in charge of oxygen research for the army air corps.

Dr. Clark's departure and that of Dr. John W. Worsham of San Antonio, ex-roommates at the Medical College of Virginia at Richmond, and later brothers-in-law, has kept the J. B. Lovejoy home on the Benbrook Road in a state of perpetual motion with some 20 assorted relatives on hand this week to tell the boys goodbye.

Dr. Clark married his medical school sweetheart, known professionally now as Dr. Bertha Davis. All her sisters-in-law say she's completely glamorous and unprofessional until she goes into action.

She couldn't come to the farewell party, but remained at their home in Jackson, Miss., with their two youngsters, aged 3 and 5. She studied with her husband in Paris, was in a French hospital there, and later was at Mayo's. She has been asked to return there, and she may do so, for the duration, Dr. Clark said.

And another brother-in-law, Dr. John C. Henthorne, (who was Dr. Clark's roommate, too) and who now is an eminent pathologist, will carry on the practice in Jackson. His wife is the former Miss Helen Clark.

Mrs. Randolph Lee Clark, Sr., of Cisco, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Mignon Clark, has returned from Fort Worth where she spent several days with her son, Dr. Lee Clark, Jr., whom she had not seen for about a year and a half.

The family group of some 20 persons was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lovejoy at Benbrook Farm, near Fort Worth.

ALLRED A CISCO GUEST

Judge James V. Allred, aggressive candidate for the United States senate in the runoff with Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, arrived in Cisco at 8 o'clock last night and was met by a delegation of representative Ciscoans who were awaiting him in the lobby of the Laguna hotel.

After a few introductions, the distinguished guest was escorted to the roof garden of the hotel, where an appetizing dinner arranged for by J. E. Spencer, chairman of the Cisco Allred committee, awaited Judge Allred and the following invited guests: Mayor G. P. Mitcham, A. D. Anderson, Forrest D. Wright, S. H. Nance, George W. Downie, George Boyd, W. C. McDaniel, Nick Miller, J. L. Thornton, R. E. Grantham, R. N. Clark, L. H. McCrea, W. H. LaRoque, E. L. Jackson, J. B. Pratt, Jesse Proctor, O. J. Russell, Pete Nance, W. J. Foxworth, P. R. Warwick, O. L. Stamey, Rev. Leslie W. Seymour, G. R. Kilpatrick and Dr. G. M. Stephenson.

In Fine Shape

The former governor of Texas and until recently federal judge, was in excellent physical condition when he arrived in Cisco, the go since early morning, with four full-time speeches behind him, together with several impromptu talks to audiences at wayside points between Seymour, Olney, Graham and Breckenridge. He came to Cisco direct from Breckenridge.

Forceful Speaker

Judge Allred was introduced by J. E. Spencer in a brief but comprehensive talk in which he emphasized the candidate's worth and ability as a man, saying his record as attorney general for two terms, governor for two terms and during his tenure as federal judge was above reproach and unassailable even by the professional politicians, who have persistently but unsuccessfully fought him whenever he offered for office.

After a few complimentary remarks directed at long-time Cisco and Eastland county friends, Judge Allred touched on the following salient points of his candidacy:

"The independent oil men are entitled to a higher price for their crude and, if elected, I promise that I will do my best to see that they get it. Many independent oil men already have been forced to the wall and others are facing ruin because of curtailed production and rising costs of everything they have to buy.

"I will also continue my efforts to have additional pipelines built to provide more outlets for Texas oil. Many will remember that, when governor of this great state, I sought additional pipelines, but my efforts at that time were blocked by the same interests now opposing my candidacy for the United States senate."

The speaker scored isolationism as the cause of the present war and altogether responsible for our unpreparedness when the treacherous Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor on December 7. He said the predicate for World War II was laid when a small group of isolationist senators prevented ratification of President Woodrow Wilson's World War I peace treaty.

That treaty was the sweetest dream of permanent peace since that of the Nazarene Himself. And, Allred added, we were warned by the far-seeing Wilson that its rejection would lead to another and more terrible war within 25 years. Despite this warning, Allred said, the isolationists blocked ratification and now the

RUSSIANS MAKING DETERMINED STAND IN CAUCASUS FOOTHILLS, BUT NAZI HORDE IS RELENTLESS

MOSCOW, Aug. 8. --- Red Army demolition squads stood ready today to blow up the great Maikop oil fields of the Caucasus to prevent them from falling into the hands of German forces which have broken Russian defenses at Armavir and are closing in upon Maikop from two sides.

The German break-through at Armavir, city of 80,000 and vital oil and pipeline junction on the Kuban river, threw the Russian defenders back upon the foothills of the Caucasus mountains and carried the Germans to within 60 miles of Maikop whose wells supply a great bulk of the Red air force's high-test aviation fuel.

(The German high command reported the capture of Armavir and a pounding drive on across the Laba river which is a tributary of the Kuban to capture the town of Kurgannaya which is only 30 miles east of Maikop and midway between the oil fields and Armavir).

Front-line advices reaching Moscow made it clear that the Red army under Marshal Semyon Timoshenko was prepared to lay waste to the Maikop fields at the enemy's approach.

The Maikop fields, together with those of Grozny, have produced 10 per cent of the Soviet union's oil.

The swift 100-mile southward drive of the German armored forces down to Armavir from the Byelo-Glina sector, accompanied by a steady advance of another column striking down upon Krasnodar farther to the west near the sea of Azov coast threatened to trap large Russian forces still fighting around Kushchevka.

Stiffening Russian resistance was said officially, however, to have stemmed at least for the time being the Germans' big pitier assault on Stalingrad, industrial metropolis of the Volga.

Russian tanks and artillery threw back successive German attempts to storm across the Don in the Kietskaya sector about 70 miles northwest of Stalingrad and Red army lines were reported holding somewhere north of Kotelnikov to the south.

Fierce battles were said to be underway around Armavir with the Germans throwing masses of infantry, armored units, dive bombers and sub-machine gun infantry into the attempt to storm Maikop.

The Moscow press acknowledged that the Red armies, with their back to the Caucasus mountains, were in a grave position and that the Russians including Don and Kuban Cossacks still battling around Kuchchevka might not be able to escape eastward.

Simultaneous with the drive on Maikop it was believed that the Germans would strike out to the southeast, following along the main railroad paralleling the Caucasus foothills.

They probably will attempt to reach the Prokhladnenski railroad junction about 165 miles southeast of Armavir and 40 miles southeast of Georgievsk, where the line branches down to Ordjonikidze and southeast to the Caspian port of Makhach Kala.

On the Germans' northern flank south of Voronezh on the Don to the northwest of Stalingrad Russian forces were said in mid-day dispatches to have encircled several communities on the west bank of the Don and enlarged their bridgeheads in the face of three strong Nazi counter-attacks.

For the moment, Russian tanks had checked the southern claw of

HIS FIRST SPEECH OF RUNOFF CAMPAIGN, O'DANIEL PREDICTED G. 22 VICTORY BY BIG VOTE

WORTH, Aug. 8.—Senator O'Daniel opened his campaign for re-election here Sunday with a declaration of deep interest in the effort and the prediction he would go back into the majority that would break the power of "professional politicians" and "the interests" in Texas.

Spencer became interested in commercial fruits a few years ago. In his usually thorough manner, began to study the best suited for commercial production of this section of Texas. Special attention to detail consumers, and the fact that matured at the proper time, and types that would well without bruising.

An exhaustive study, set out this large acreage in 1931, and began successful growing of his first fruits.

Spencer began to grow in 1931, and this year should have been more than 3,000 bushels of extra fine fruit had not been against spraying the proper time to ward off from worms and insects damaged some of his large, but that one almost weeps over with enthusiasm about the "great victory" of July 25. But many of them also wondered, he said, why he did not get a majority. The late returns strangely shifted in trend, he said, and failed to reach the majority the earlier returns indicated.

Many of his friends had suggested he contest the election, O'Daniel added.

"But," he said, "it will be easier for me to run this second race than to argue with them. Just make sure that we have an accurate accounting of the votes at the second election."

He urged his friends to send for copies of the W. Lee O'Daniel News, which he described as devoted to his record in public life. He said the edition would be available free of charge.

"They are fighting me because I refused to be their yes-man or wait on their doormats for them to tell me what to do," he said.

He told his listeners not to send for his paper thinking it would be a scandal sheet. "I am not running for office on the demerits of my yes-man opponent. I am running on my own record."

TROOP 49 ENJOYED NIGHT STAY AT LAKE

Scoutmaster Sim Ledford of Troop 49, returned with his boys Saturday from an over-night hike to Lake Cisco, where they went Friday.

The boys enjoyed the outing and the experience in camping they received. They also fished and took boat rides as diversions from regular scouting routine.

Boys on the hike were Harry Grantz, Joe Tom Poe, Billie Joe Greenhaw, Bobby Walker, Bobby Poe, Eddie Jackson, Jack King and Frank Strawn.

LASATER IS HOME FROM THE U. S. NAVY

Garland Lasater, 18, son of Mrs. Ruby Lasater, 207 W. Thirteenth, who joined the navy in January, has been honorably discharged following an accident in which he lost one of his eyes, and has returned to Cisco.

The young man has many friends in Cisco, all of whom sincerely deplore his misfortune. He will be remembered as an outstanding Lobo football player.

Bill's a bigger man than his dad was in '17

1 INCH TALLER - 10 LBS. HEAVIER!

...and ELECTRIC POWER, too, has grown to Meet the Wartime Needs of 1942!

Plenty of Electricity on Hand

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—J. A. Krug, chief of the power branch of the War Production Board, expressed confidence today that war production would not be crippled by a shortage of electric power. "We have sufficient electric power," he said, "to meet all the requirements of war production and for essential civilian needs, if used wisely—as far as we can see ahead."

WAR DEPARTMENT figures show that today's average soldier is nearly an inch taller and ten pounds heavier than in 1917—a great gain for one generation and a real tribute to the men of science and the men of industry who helped build Bill's husky frame.

We're glad electric service had a hand in it.

Food experts discovered new vitamins and better diets for Bill; doctors developed new serums, drugs and healing techniques; and electric research worked out new and better ways to refrigerate... preserve... his food so it would be fresher, safer, cheaper.

Even before Bill was born, electric servants freed his mother of much household drudgery—so that she and her children might be healthier and happier.

At the same time that the electric industry was helping Bill to develop into a stronger, healthier man than his dad, it also was expanding to provide the power vitally needed in 1942. In back of Bill today is plenty of electricity for building tanks and planes, guns and ships... power to run the factories making weapons with which Bill will win the war!

Actually, this country now has five times more electric power than we had in 1917.

And over 90 per cent of ALL the nation's commercially generated electricity is being provided by companies like this institution... free to work and create things that men and women want and need for everybody's benefit.

This company "grew up" that way—organized by a few men with foresight to see West Texas' great need for ample, cheap electric power. Today it represents the savings of thousands of small stockholders, operating under good business management, regulated by government, paying taxes, and providing excellent service at low cost.
