These boys are in the army now, and will be trained as glider pilots, flight instructors, service pilots and for highly specialized personnel to maintain the vast system of military training and air transportation lines throughout the country.

Instructors are J. D. Higgins and Joe Coulter. Five more students are to be added to those present now, making a class of 15 glider students.

M. D. BAILEY, JR., TRAINING FOR AIR PILOT

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Bailey, of 208 East Twenty-third street, Cisco, are in receipt of a letter of congratulations from Maj. Gen. H. R. Harman, at Randolph Field, which states their son, M. D., Jr., has been selected for training as an air pilot.

The classification board believes your boy has the physical, mental and sound judgment necessary to qualify him for this training, said the letter.

Young Bailey is well known in Cisco where he grew from a boy. Former newboys of the Cisco Daily News remember him as a faithful and very efficient and agreeable comrade.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Senator Barkley of Kentucky expressed doubt Tuesday that the senate would include a sales tax in the new revenue bill. Further, he told reporters in discussing the big revenue measure, he believes the 5 per cent freight excise tax is "out."

GALLANT REDS SURPRISE HUNS AT STALINGRAD

MOSCOW, Aug. 18.—The Germans have suffered so many defeats in their all-out assaults southwest of Stalingrad and the Volga river line that they have retreated several kilometers and are entrenching themselves in new defense lines, front-line dispatches revealed today.

Not only have the Germans retreated, but the Russians have attacked on several sectors and occupied new positions northeast of Kotlenikovski, including many important heights, these dispatches said. Kotlenikovski is 90 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

The Germans, however, were continuing to probe the Russian lines, trying to find a weak spot. Not only have the Germans withdrawn southwest of Stalingrad; to the northwest, in the Kietskaya area, 75 miles away, massed Russian artillery mowed down Nazi shock troops and tanks, and the Soviet noon communique indicated that both prongs of the frenzied Nazi offensive on Stalingrad were being firmly held.

German forces that had crashed through strong defenses and crossed the Kuban river, near Krasnodar, in the North Caucasus, at two points, gravely menaced the best remaining Soviet Black Sea base of Novorossiisk, less than 63 miles away. The Russian propaganda chief warned that the Soviet's peril was greater than in 1941, when the Germans drove to within 13 miles of Moscow.

BRIDE ON HER HONEYMOON IN SERIOUS WRECK

A very serious wreck occurred Sunday morning at 7 o'clock just south of Eastland on the Carbon highway, says Mrs. A. B. B. Byrd, 910 W. Sixth street, Cisco.

Raymond Gilder, a cousin of Mrs. Byrd, was on his way from Los Angeles, Cal., with his young bride to visit his parents at De Leon. They were on their honeymoon trip.

At a culvert near the county poor farm, they came into collision with a truck driven by a man named Snyder of DeLeon, both vehicles being demolished.

The driver of the truck was slightly injured, as was Mr. Gilder, but Mrs. Gilder is reported in a serious condition with a dislocated hip and head injuries.

The injured were taken to the Payne hospital at Eastland where Mrs. Gilder is being treated.

MOSCOW, Aug. 18.—Pravda, official newspaper organ of the Russian communist party, said today that the Moscow conference was a great event which had fostered the development of close collaboration and understanding among Russia, Britain and the United States.

MEET OF IMPORT 8 P.M.

Owing to the pressing need for all kinds of scrap metal with which to carry on the battle of the Allies against Germany and Japan, the United States government is urging that continued drives be made by all communities to gather every vestige of scrap and get it to the proper salvage destinations as soon as possible.

To make this program register in the minds of people and to secure the best result in the quickest way, "Roundups" or "Rallies" are being scheduled all over the country to arouse the enthusiasm necessary in the minds of citizens to make them more duty-conscious by thorough organization of the country's citizenship.

Pursuant to that program, Mayor G. P. Mitcham has been appointed by Governor Coke Stevenson as city chairman for the Cisco unit, and August 29 has been designated as a "Rally Day" on which to initiate the metal drive. Mr. Mitcham will act in conjunction with County Chairman John H. Kleiner to make the event a success.

The mayor is busy perfecting his organization to make the rally the success it should be and to that end has appointed a committee of leading men and women to serve as a nucleus around which to pivot the drive. About 64 men and women have been invited to meet at the chamber of commerce tonight at 8 o'clock to plan for the rally program and initiate and carry through the drive.

At tonight's meeting a committee will be selected to prepare a patriotic program for the rally of August 29, which will be held on East Seventh street in front of the Foxworth wholesale grocery, where seats will be arranged for the people to hear a patriotic program, consisting of talks by county orators and other entertainment features.

U. S. FLYING FORTS BOMB ROUEN, FRANCE

U. S. BOMBER BASE, BRITAIN, Aug. 18.—American and British officers were throwing a baseball around or lobbing a football, not for fun but to relieve the tension.

A few minutes later, misty shapes in formation appeared on the horizon. A man in the control tower shouted: "They are all there."

"They" were the U. S. Army Air Force Flying Fortresses that had just bombed the railroad yards at Rouen. They circled low once and began coming in like so many transports making scheduled landings.

Brig. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commanding general of the U. S. Army Air Force bomber command, stuck his head from a Fortress labeled "Big Punk." The ground crews grinned.

The pilots and crews were jubilant. All were ready to go back again, "right to Berlin."

One German plane—Probably a Focke-Wulf 190, fell to the guns of Sgt. Kent L. West, 21, of West Blocton, Ala., the belly gunner of a fortress named, "Birmingham Blitz," which returned with 12 bullet and shrapnel holes in its tail and wings.

Sgt. E. L. Love of Elgin, Okla., belly gunner in another fortress, saw the encounter.

"The attacking fighter was one of three," he said. "After receiving the fire from West's guns it simply dropped. The other two fighters cleared off."

"I'm particularly well satisfied," General Eaker said. "We were very anxious to get started."

The active leader of the formation in which Eaker flew was a colonel from Nashville, N. C. Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of United States Air Forces in the European theater, welcomed the returning crews.

"I think they all behaved like veterans," he said. "Everything went according to plan. This is a real start, and we are going to keep it up as often as feasible. It couldn't have been better as a test of daylight bombing."

"I could see bursts of smoke and dirt on the target. All bombs were in very close proximity," Eaker said. "There was some ack-ack on our level. We bombed in close formation. The Spitfires stayed right with us and gave us fine protection."

"Birmingham Blitz" was piloted by Lieut. Tom Borders of Birmingham, Ala., who played tackle for Alabama on the 1938 Rose Bowl football team.

THEY ARE WELL EQUIPPED WITH MODERN FIGHTING TOOLS, AND SUPPLY LINES ARE WIDE OPEN

MacARTHUR HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 18.—U. S. Naval and Marine forces won a historic victory in the first phase of the 12-day Solomon Islands battle, dispatches indicated today.

Navy department announcement at Washington that shore positions taken by the Marines had been developed and were now well established, was believed to mean that the U. S. forces held all key bases in the southern Solomons which they set out to seize.

Japan was expected to fight bitterly to prevent further expansion of the American footholds, and if possible to re-win the areas which the Marines had taken under the guns and planes of the Pacific fleet.

There was belief as well as hope that the Marines were in the Solomons to stay until they and the Allied troops of MacArthur started northward to oust the Japanese from the South Pacific.

The Washington navy communique and dispatches from the South Pacific fleet headquarters of Vice Adm. Robert Lee Ghormley left little doubt that thousands upon thousands of Marines were now in the Tulagi-Florida-Gavutu-Makambo-Guadalcanal area of the southern Solomons with tanks, artillery and plentiful supplies streaming to them through a protecting lane of American and Allied warships, under an umbrella of U. S. Navy planes.

A dispatch from South Pacific fleet headquarters in New Zealand said naval developments in the Solomons were attracting greatest attention.

It was clear, the dispatch said, that Adm. Ghormley had a naval fleet of great strength at his command and that it probably had split into a striking force and reserve force deployed to maintain the striking force against interference.

In the Kokoda area of interior New Guinea, just across the Owen Stanley mountains 55 miles from New Guinea, strongly reinforced Japanese combat patrols had driven the Allied forces back toward the mountain heights. It was not ruled out here that the enemy might try to storm the 8,000-foot pass leading down to the Port Moresby side.

MacArthur's planes, on reconnaissance, dropped their bomb loads yesterday on the township of Kavieng, on New Ireland Island in the Bismarcks, 550 miles northeast of Port Moresby and 950 miles northwest of Tulagi, and on shipping in its harbor.

It was indicated that the Allied planes had detected the presence of a Japanese reinforcement fleet, coming from the north, the direction of the Japanese-controlled Caroline Islands, on its way to the Solomons.

Dispatches from Adm. Ghormley's headquarters and from Pearl Harbor, headquarters of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, emphasized again that big losses must be expected in such a battle and that the Japanese navy was unlikely to concede the U. S. a definitive victory without a long and stubborn fight.

Today there was no indication that the navy's losses had been even as great as the U. S. command had envisaged. It seemed likely that the final communique would show that losses had been below expectation.

Gen. MacArthur's communique today reported the first Japanese raid since July 24 on Port Moresby, the Allied base in New Guinea, 1,000 miles to the west of Tulagi. Twenty-four enemy bombers attacked a Port Moresby airfield and it was admitted that they caused damage and casualties.

Allied fighters went up in challenge, but the enemy, attacking at high altitude, dropped bombs and fled before the fighters could effect contact.

Legion Convention
FORT WORTH, Aug. 18.—Arrival of visiting Legion and Auxiliary members throughout Tuesday morning indicated that attendance at the twenty-fourth annual convention of the Texas department of the American Legion, opening here Wednesday, might exceed early estimates of 600. Registration of guests began at 8 a. m. at the Hotel Texas, convention headquarters, with Henry Love, of the convention corporation, in charge. Bruce Brannon of Hillsboro, departmental chaplain, donned whiskers during the morning to play the role of "Judge Roy Bean" and gave a new twist to this time-honored play by using his power as "the Law West of the Pecos" to sell war bonds and stamps.

NEW NAVY FLYING BOAT FORERUNNER OF WORLD FREIGHT TRANSPORT BY AIR

Many experts believe that the best answer to the pressing need for getting U. S. war materials speedily to the far-flung battle-fronts of the world lies in the mass production by American industry of mammoth flying boats, a small scale model of which George W.

Mason, president of Naam-Kelvinator, is inspecting here, with W. F. Armstrong, vice-president in charge of the company's wide-spread war production activities. The former automobile-refrigerator manufacturer expects to have these huge, four-motored, freight-carrying planes soon rolling off its lines in mass production. Seen as the forerunners of a world-spanning system of freight transport by air, these flying boats will be virtual duplicates of the two originals recently produced by the famous Vought-Sikorsky airplane works.

"We have sufficient electric power," he said, "to meet all the requirements of war production and for essential civilian needs. If used properly—no more or less than we need."

CHECK UP—AND SEE! Dirt on lamps and fixtures in plant, store, or office can absorb up to 50 per cent of the light. A regular cleaning schedule will help you get all the light you pay for and make it easier for workers to see. Light-colored walls and ceilings also help.

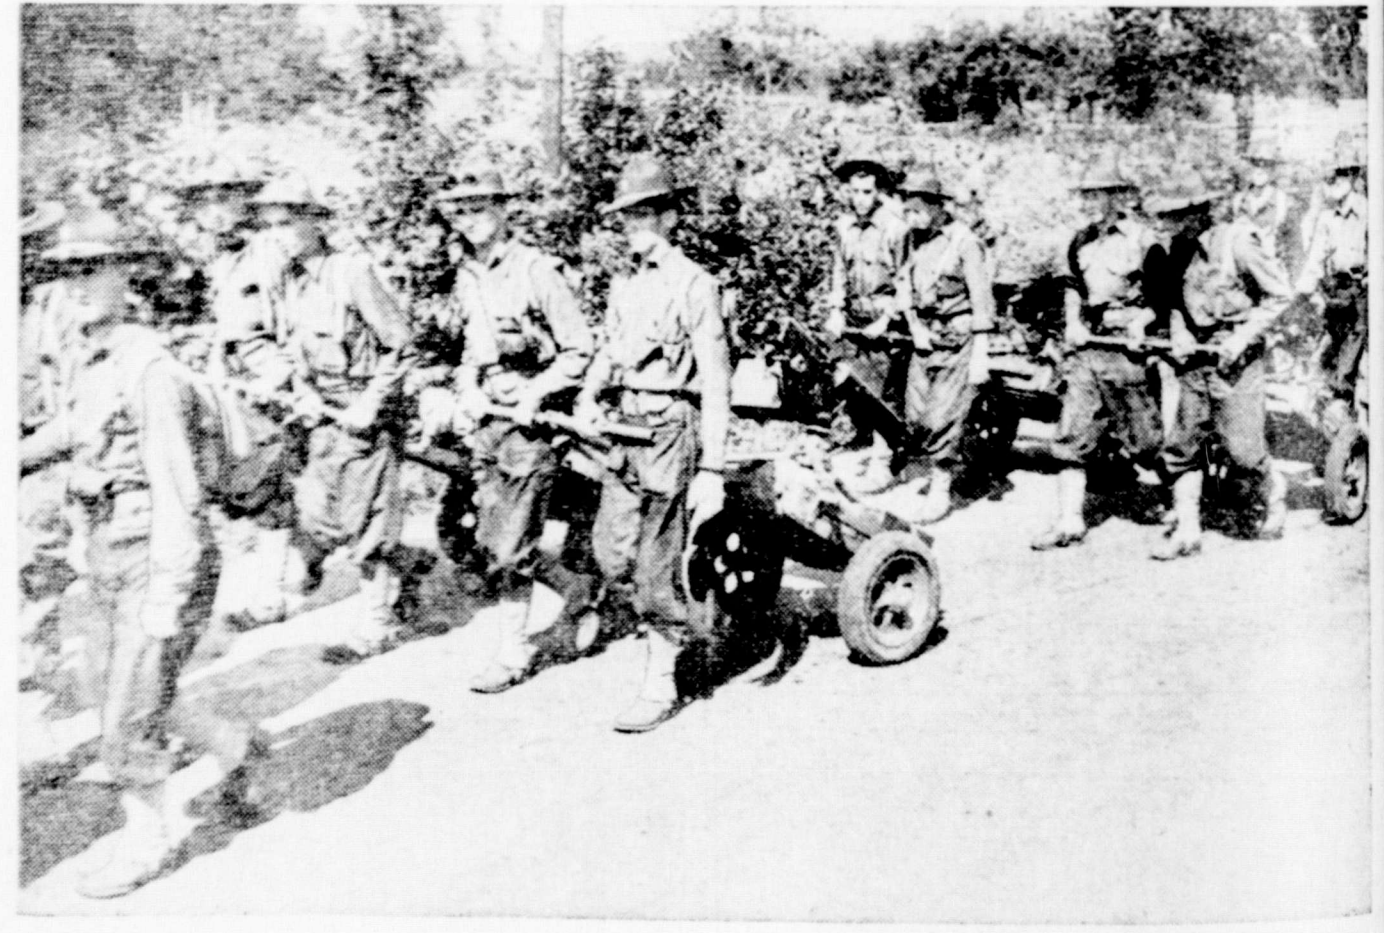

CHECK UP ON SHADOWS! Is your lighting arranged to give workers all the light they need? Look around—today. If men are working in their own shadow, call our lighting advisor. See if a few simple changes won't make a lot of difference! This service is FREE.

CHECK UP ON GLARE! Bare or poorly shaded bulbs, or light reflecting from shiny surfaces, causes glare likely to result in eyestrain. Glare in a worker's eyes makes him squint, like facing bright headlights at night, and causes fatigue and tenseness.

"God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it..."

Liberty is something that we give too little thought to. We're apt to take Liberty for granted. We often forget that the privilege of reading and writing and saying and thinking and doing as we please is a God-given right --- one that is ineffably valuable --- one that we should love and be always ready to guard and defend.

The Cisco Daily Press and the Free Press of a Free America are as much guardians of our Liberty as are those boys who are trained for the guardianship of it in camps throughout our country.

As long as America's Newspapers print the words and thoughts of America's free people, just so long will America's people be free. Your newspaper loves Liberty --- it is prepared to guard and defend it.
