S. TROOPS, TANKS STORM DIEPPE, FRANCE

CANADIANS, BRITISH AND FIGHTING FRENCH IN THE RAID; NOT AN INVASION, THE BRITISH SAY

United States troops were fighting on the French Coast today in the greatest and most spectacular military operation in Western Europe since Dunkirk.

The Americans -- "Ranger" units especially trained with the British Commandos -- landed in the Dieppe area, 60 miles across the English Channel from the Sussex coast, and early today, along with picked British and Canadian shock troops, were putting up a fierce battle against considerable enemy resistance.

A London communique, later admitted by Berlin, said that the British had managed to put tanks ashore in France and that they have rumbled into action in the center of the sector the Allied forces have occupied around Dieppe.

The crossing from England was carried out under the protection of the Royal navy, and under an umbrella of hundreds upon hundreds of fighter and bomber planes drawn from the Royal Air force, the U. S. Air force and American Eagle squadrons of the RAF.

Observers on the south English coast reported that the hundreds of planes, from the heaviest bombers to wave-skimming Spitfires and Hurricanes, were fighting wildly with Nazi airmen over the Channel as the landing operations were being carried out.

London made it clear that the operation, though large scale and spectacular, was not to be considered an invasion, and as the fighting progressed the British radio, in an attempt to prevent any confusion among the French populace, broadcast over and over again on all wavelengths: "This is not an invasion."

After hours of battling around Dieppe in which the chief objective of the attack--destruction of a German battery of six-inch guns and an ammunition dump--had been attained, it was announced that withdrawal of some of the Allied forces was under way.

British combined operations headquarters, at 1:05 p.m. (7:05 a.m. CWT), issued the following communique:

"The troops participating in the raid on the Dieppe area landed at all points selected.

"Heavy opposition was encountered at some places and on the left flank one landing party was initially repulsed but was reformed and later carried the beach by assault.

"Troops on the right flank, having achieved their objectives, which included complete destruction of a six-inch gun battery and an ammunition dump, have now been re-embarked.

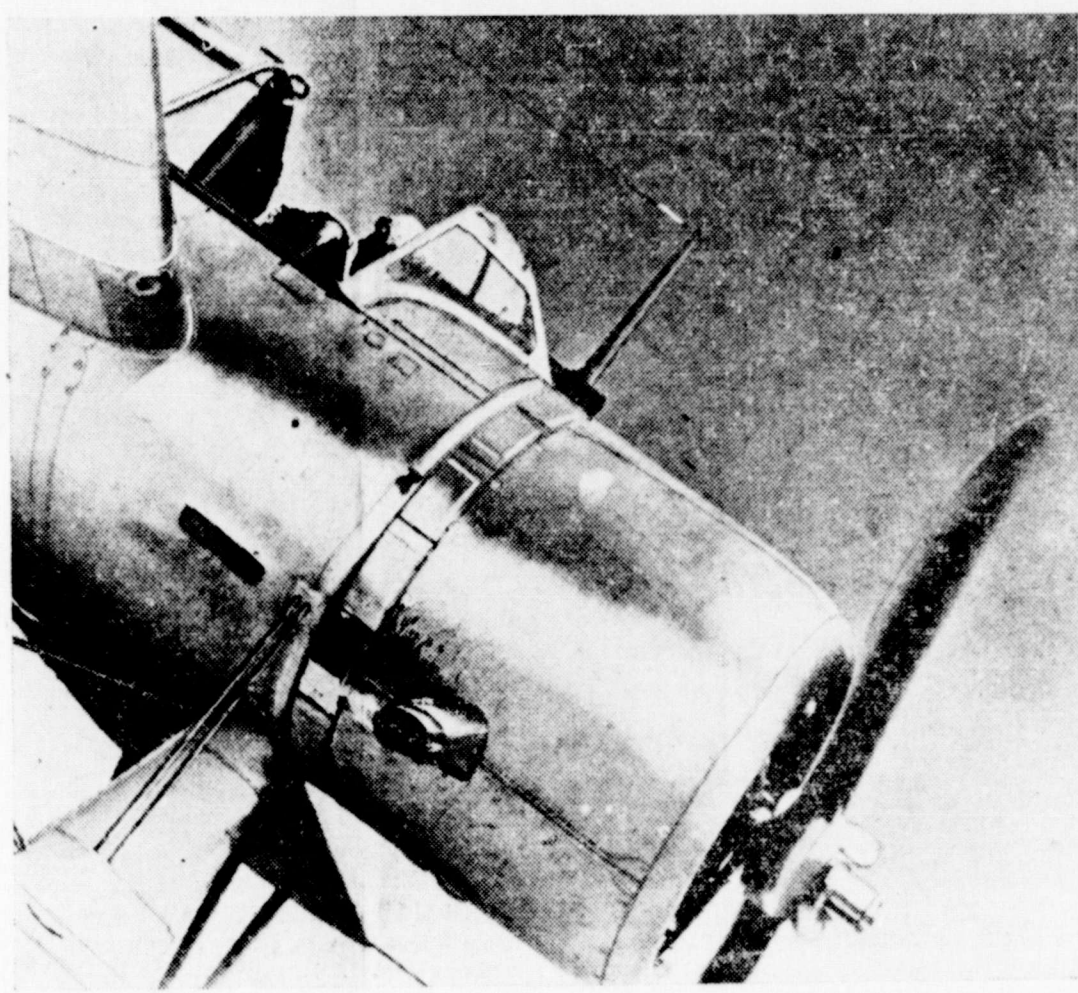

"In the center tanks were landed and heavy fighting is proceeding.

"The military force consists mainly of Canadian troops. "Also participating are British special service troops, and the United States Rangers. These "Rangers" are selected task troops, chosen from an avalanche of volunteers from various branches, and they have been training for months with the Commandos at secret British depots.

"They have been serving as planners and advisers alongside officers from the British navy, army and Royal air force," said a communique from U. S. army headquarters in England.

Included in the force which took the training is Lieut. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., of the U. S. navy; Brig. Gen. L. K. Truscott, Jr., Charlottesville, Va., army; Lieut. Col. Loren B. Hillinger, El Paso, Tex., army air force.

CISCO IS NOT AIR-MINDED

L. W. Seymour was in the Lions program at the Cisco Livestock Exchange today and presented Cabaness as the guest of the hour. T. B. Ruth of Terrell was the guest of the hour. At the session the club voted to support the Red Cross to aid in the building of a hospital at Brownwood.

Out of the 100 men in the area being in the air training, not one student could not do the present stage of the course, which began last week, are all out-liers," Cabaness said. He stated that one of the present students formerly lived in Cisco, and that he was in the area being in the air training, not one student could not do the present stage of the course, which began last week, are all out-liers," Cabaness said.

He then went on to tell of the course being at the airport now. He stated that the course was under the supervision of the civil aeronautics administration and was being paid for by the government. He stated that the course was being held at the airport now.

CATTLE AUCTION WAS UP TO AVERAGE

Plenty of willing buyers and a rising market gave zest to the Cisco Livestock Exchange auction Tuesday afternoon when about half as many buyers as there were sellers took what was offered, at good prices.

Good pastures are keeping cattle fat, and recent scattered rains appeased the fears of those who were visioning a scarcity of stock water.

SALVAGING STEEL

Bud Essl, section foreman of the Texas & Pacific railroad here, with his crew is salvaging steel by removing the steel guard posts from the Cisco station and replacing them with wood ties unfit for use on the main line. The posts are sections of steel rails, cut to the proper length, and set around the station grounds to keep vehicles off the station premises. Several hundred pounds of steel will thus be converted to war purposes.

BARBECUE AND FIELD DAY AT SHULTS RANCH

All preparations have been made for the annual Eastland County Sheep and Goat Barbecue and Field Day, which will be held Friday of this week at the Cecil Shults ranch, five miles north of Rising Star, on the Rising Star-Cisco highway.

HATS OFF TO OLD TIMERS!

Cisco Defense Guard again had a very satisfactory drill Friday night, with 29 citizens participating, while a few of the regulars, including Capt. O. L. Stamey, were unable to attend because of pressing business engagements.

Noteworthy feature of the drill personnel is that a considerable number of the regular attendants saw service in the last world war and at least one--W. W. Ernst--is a Spanish-American war veteran.

Those known to this writer as formerly in the armed forces of the United States include Mr. Ernst, Sim Ledford, Wyatt Jacobs, George Boyd, J. E. Hayes and F. D. Wright. Hats off to these veterans, who refuse to get too old to hit the line when their Uncle Samuel needs them!

Those present were J. A. Alsobrook, F. B. Altman, George Boyd, Ralph Butler, E. P. Crawford, J. R. Coats, Geo. W. Dovenie, I. J. Dobbins, L. E. Edwards, W. W. Ernst, Leslie Fleming, J. E. CLEVELAND TO TRAIN FOR NAVAL AVIATION

Jesse Stewart Cleveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover S. Cleveland of route one, Cisco, has been selected for training as a naval aviation cadet and will be ordered to active duty soon, says a communication from the naval board at Dallas.

YANKS REACH CAIRO

CAIRO, Aug. 19.--A "shipload" of American air transport troops has arrived in Egypt, it was officially announced here today. The journey from America to Egypt was described as uneventful. It was understood the air support troops, composed of thoroughly trained and seasoned men, would be used by the U. S. Army Air Corps here.

LAMAR IS HEAD OF DRIVE

About 50 persons answered the call of Mayor G. P. Mitcham, who was appointed by Gov. Coke Stevenson to organize Cisco and surrounding territory for a scrap metal drive and round up rally for the evening of August 29.

These men and women manifested their willingness to work by their appearance at the chamber of commerce rooms last night at 8 o'clock, at which time the body went into an organization meeting to direct their efforts to make the drive a success.

A number of talks were made and some good suggestions were offered as to how the drive might be organized and efforts directed in the proper channel. Among those making talks were Mrs. P. Pettit, John Kleiner, L. A. Warren and Charles S. Sandler, the latter giving information as to prices he could pay as a scrap metal dealer.

Capt. George LaMar was chosen as chairman for the drive, with A. D. Anderson as vice-chairman. These men were instructed to perfect their organization as soon as possible, drafting workers from the names appearing in the Cisco Daily Press of Tuesday, appointed as committee workers by Mayor Mitcham.

A program committee to arrange for the round up rally on August 29 will be named by Messrs. LaMar and Anderson, and personnel for other committees will also be selected and published at once, since the time between now and the rally date is very short.

REV. COOPER WATERS.

NEW BAPTIST PASTOR AND FAMILY HERE

Rev. Cooper Waters and his family have arrived in Cisco and are now ensconced in the pastorage of the First Baptist church.

Mr. Waters was called to the pastorage of this church in July but, owing to the revival meetings scheduled for the summer, he could not come to Cisco until the present time. He will be in the prayer service at the church tonight, he said, and will preach his first official sermon Sunday.

REDS POURING IN ON NAZIS AT STALINGRAD

MOSCOW, Aug. 19.--The Russians are furiously counter-attacking in the Kletska area, destroying masses of infantry reserves and new tanks and planes poured into the most determined German effort so far to cross the River Don, capture industrial Stalingrad and cut the Volga river line, front-line advisers said today.

Soviet forces were reported to have surrounded and wiped out a German tank column in the Pyatigorsk region of the North Caucasus. The Russians, who announced last night that the Germans lost

BANQUET FOR MEN AIRPORT

Following the committee meeting last night to arrange for the collection of scrap metal in the Cisco area, the chamber of commerce directors went into their regular session program with President J. D. Lauderdale presiding, and Directors, E. P. Crawford, A. D. Anderson, J. L. Thornton, H. S. Drumwright, Bobby Deen, Wm. Reagan, Dr. Charles Hale, R. N. Cluck, R. L. Ponsler, L. A. Warren and Secretary P. R. Warwick present.

Members present were Charles S. Sandler, G. P. Mitcham, H. S. Drumwright, W. H. LaRoque and John Kleiner.

Mr. Crawford made a report on the highway work which is scheduled to begin west of Cisco at an early date. Crawford said he had not been able to find out just why the work was being delayed.

L. A. Warren spoke concerning Cisco Junior college, saying a number of prospective students are asking for jobs with which to supplement their funds. Mr. Warren said girls and boys were willing to do any kind of work, janitor or housework, and stated their classes were usually over by 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

It was suggested that a banquet be given at an early date honoring flying instructors and students at the airport.

A motion carried to that effect and President Lauderdale appointed R. L. Ponsler and P. R. Warwick to arrange details and set time.

1,250,000 men between May 15 and Aug. 15, were raising the total on both the Kletska front, 75 miles northwest of Stalingrad, and the Kotelnikovsk front, 90 miles southwest. The Soviet union communique announced that Russian forces had carried out successful raids in the immediate rear of the Germans northwest of Kotelnikovsk.

THE WISE WILSON

An article appearing in today's Daily Press under the "Open Forum" heading should be carefully read by all serious-minded, reasoning citizens. From start to finish the article contains cold facts, facts that cannot successfully be gainsaid by anybody, even though 23 years have passed into the beyond since they were presented to his constituents by the profound, far-seeing Woodrow Wilson, who was seeking a way to maintain the peace we had just won upon the battlefields of Europe.

The League of Nations, as first proposed, was nothing more nor less than an International Police Force, to permanently hold in check the bandits we had whipped to their knees at the expense of many lives and tremendous sums of money.

President Wilson saw what was necessary to insure continuance of peace, but his logic and eloquence failed to influence our politically-minded United States senate, and so America, the most powerful country on earth, declined to become a party to that insurance-against-war organization and sat idly by while Germany immediately set about building up another war machine.

As the Daily Press sees it, this is not the time to go into details as to the peace plans to be put into effect after we have won the present war. The practical-minded will say, "Let's whip Hitler first and then discuss the settlement." That is correct, of course.

However, read the statement made by Woodrow Wilson 23 years ago and you will probably come to the conclusion that after the enemy has again been subdued, this country must leave nothing undone to guarantee continuance of peace and order.

If you think it's hot, remember the Americans in the Red Sea region who are salvaging ships in a temperature of 150 degrees.

PERIL AT HOME

Rebellion, like charity, begins at home. In the midst of the greatest German war threats yet offered, there is evidence that the Nazis are now in trouble on the home front. People in Berlin are engaged in the peculiar procedure of burning apartment houses. They are not alien saboteurs, but Germans burning German property. So serious is this trouble said to be that the government is offering rewards of 2,000,000 marks for the arrest of the offenders.

It would be easy for outsiders to make too much of this and of other reports of abnormal events in Germany. But it may be that a wave of hysteria is sweeping that country, as a result of deferred hopes, personal and family privations, the upset of normal life and inability to see any end of war.

Such events may be connected, by some freak of psychology, with the growing recklessness of the people in the conquered countries of western Europe, as they strike back at their oppressors. Despair turns to bold sabotage, regardless of consequences. It seems somewhat like the beginning of revolution, with a strain of madness in it.

"Smatter with kids nowadays! Nothing they're organizing a commando outfit in every neighborhood."

THE SOLOMONS

The Solomon Islands have been, till lately, a good place to stay away from. The natives are cannibals, and until they were firmly discouraged, head-hunters as well. On that account little has been known about them since their discovery by the Spaniard, Alvaro Mendana, in 1567. He gave them their name because the luxuriant forests of sandalwood and other rare trees suggested to him the riches of Solomon. They suggested riches to the Spaniards, also, who achieved the difficult feat of keeping them virtually unknown to the rest of the world for 200 years. For the last half century the British have governed these uneasy islands. Rather than have the Japanese maintain their hold on the Solomons, most people would prefer to have them go back to the head-hunters.

YANK-CANUCK TROOPS

The most definite step yet in the merging of United States and Canadian troops appears in the Commando force being organized under the command of Col. Robert T. Frederick of the United States army, with Lieut.-Col. J. G. McQueen of Calgary second in command. There will be, when the men have been picked and toughened, a dare-devil outfit prepared for mountain and desert fighting, marine landings, and forays of any kind that ingenious patriots can devise against the enemy.

The Japs will get acquainted with them in due time. One job, doubtless to their taste, might be the expulsion or extinction of the intruders at the tip of the Aleutian island chain. That would smooth the way to Japan.

BEN'S BALLOONS

Major Alexander P. de Severson has attracted much attention by his arguments for air-power as the controlling factor of the war. It now appears that he was anticipated in this idea by no less a person than the many-sided genius, Benjamin Franklin. As far back as 1784 Franklin wrote, "5,000 balloons, capable of raising two men each, would not cost more than five ships of the line; and where is there a prince who can afford so to cover his country with troops for its defense that 10,000 men descending from the clouds might not in many places do an infinite deal of mischief, before a force could be brought together to repel them?"

One more feather in Franklin's cap.

WOODS

"The world," as Wordsworth wrote, "is too much with us—Late and soon, getting and spending, we lay waste our powers; Little we see in Nature that is ours." But one way to get over a lot of the troubles that bother people nowadays is to get out occasionally into the woods and establish friendly relations with the trees.

They are not bothered by anything that ails humanity. They have no nerves, no worries, nothing to do but absorb sunlight and water, and grow. And the things that refresh them also refresh tired men and women. Their spirit is calmness. Their greenness is life. Their fragrance gets into the human spirit. It is good to go into the woods, north or west or east or south, and find how human troubles fall off.

HOW TO TAKE A LICKING

An Oklahoma congressman was recently defeated for re-nomination. Things like that happen every day in politics. What is different is the way in which he took it. In a circular letter sent to his constituents, Congressman Cartwright said:

"Many men want to know what I am going to do. I have asked President Roosevelt to appoint me ambassador to Shanghai. If I fail in that, maybe I can get in some army corps. You heard about the little worm that wanted to go into his bit, so he joined the apple core."

His sportsmanship in defeat will do Congressman Cartwright no harm. His is not a bad example to follow.

OPEN FORUM

Had We But Listened

The Editor: In a recent University of Chicago round table discussion, Claire Booth Luce declared that the ghost of Woodrow Wilson "will not die down." His ghost is clothed with the language which he made use of in his advocacy of our ratification of the Treaty of Versailles, a part of which was the Covenant of the League of Nations, all of which the United States senate rejected. I quote the following from one of his many speeches made in the early fall of 1919 while the senate was debating the question:

Wilson's Advice and Prediction

"Turn your thoughts back to what it was that Germany proposed. The formula of Pan-Germanism was Bremen to Bagdad. What is the line from Bremen to Bagdad? It leads through Poland... Rumania... Slavia, down through Turkey and on into Persia, and every foot of the line is a line of political weakness. Germany was looking for the line of least resistance to establish her power, and unless the world makes that a line of absolute resistance this war will have to be fought over again. You must set the difficulties which gave oc-

Veterans of Canada's first squadron of flying fighters to go into action in Britain, these officers and their fellow "originals" have established impressive records in combat. It is just two years since they landed on British soil and in the Battle of Britain and the long daylight sweeps over German-held territory they have inflicted heavy losses. Martin, did the preaching, and Mrs. Sue Carey, of Caddo, led the singing, giving a solo each evening. Good crowds attended the services and, as a result of the efforts of the pastor, singers and members, several new additions were received by letter, and four boys and two girls were received on profession and were baptized Sunday night. In spite of a hard rain—the first in a long time—a large crowd was in attendance at the final service.

Monday night at the Methodist church, the pastor, Rev. H. B. Clark began a revival which will continue this week, and possibly longer. The church has screened in windows and doors and is supplied with large electric ceiling fans, which make the building comfortable. The pastor and members are working and hoping for a successful revival.

SYBIL HOLDER NEW CLERK OF APPEALS COURT

Miss Sybil Holder, former deputy district clerk, who recently resigned to accept the place of 91st district court reporter, has been offered and has accepted the position of clerk of the court of civil appeals at Eastland.

District Clerk John White said Monday he had selected a new deputy to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Holder's resignation, but was not ready to release her name.

Miss Holder is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holder of Stanton, formerly of Cisco, and is a sister of Carlton Holder of Cisco. She succeeds Miss Viola La-

Munyon, resigned, another girl, who has been with the appeals court for nearly ten years. She was formerly a stenographer for Judge J. D. Barker.

Maybe revolutions are necessary. It's the only way to get rid of accumulated and useless employees.

Nature's Sugar Factory at Work

Sugar of some kind is found in the sap of every living plant. Nature stores more sugar in the sugar beet and the sugar cane than in other plants and for that reason they have become the chief sources of the world's sugar supply.

Sugar is formed in plants through a process of photosynthesis, which is illustrated in the case of the sugar beet in the accompanying diagram. In this process, carbon dioxide from the air and water from the soil are combined within the plant through the agency of green pigment known as chlorophyll in the presence of light. For that reason sugar is often called "crystallized sunshine and water." The sugar which is manufactured within the green parts of the sugar beet is used principally for growth during the early part of the beet's life, but later in the season most of the sugar is carried to the root, where it is stored.

To the scientist sugar is "sucrose," and in its pure form even chemists cannot tell whether it came from the sugar beet or the sugar cane. Sugar from beets is identical with sugar from cane in appearance, sweetness, quality, and food value, and they may be used interchangeably for all purposes.

In 1942, according to estimates of the Office of Price Administration, which directs the sugar rationing program, beet sugar will be the most important single source of our national sugar supply. Within a few weeks farmers of nineteen states will begin the harvest of more than one million acres of sugar beets. The crop is expected to produce approximately two million tons of sugar, enough to give a weekly ration of eight ounces for one year to every person in the United States. It is expected to be the largest crop in history.

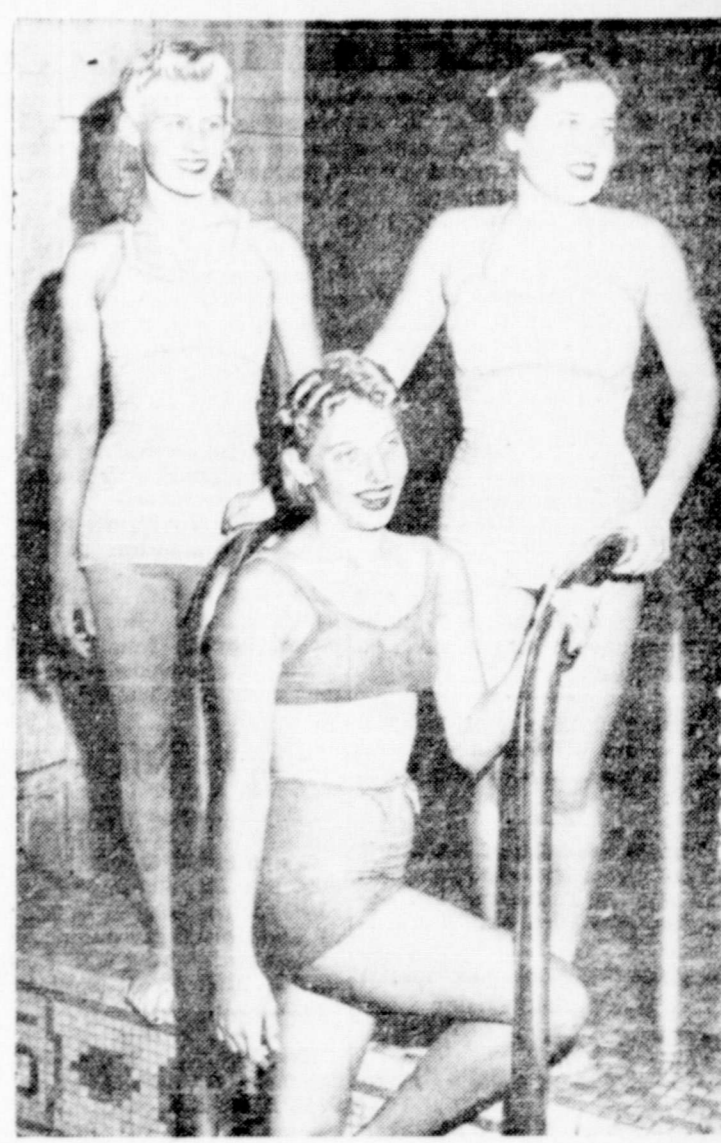

NAVY DRIVE FALLS FLAT IN EASTLAND CO.

In the U. S. navy's campaign to enlist at least 6000 men during the months of August and September, in which campaign Eastland county has been assigned a quota of 56 men, eight men have been enlisted from this county, Lieut. L. H. Ridout, Jr., officer in charge of the North Texas recruiting district, informs the Daily Press.

"Many counties are reaching their quotas, but the report from this county is far from encouraging," said Lieutenant Ridout. He was confident, however, that the various civic groups and committees aiding in this tremendous drive for recruits would redouble their efforts to aid in procuring men for naval service.

He was also confident that the quota of 6000 men from the North Texas district would be reached and expressed his thanks to all persons, organizations and newspapers actively engaged in this campaign.

LOSS WOODS FOR SHERIFF To the Voters of Eastland County: I desire to make the following statement concerning the circular distributed by John Hart on last Saturday, August 15th, as many of my friends think it is a "slap" at me. I did not put out any circular and do not know who did, however it seems the only criticism about the circulars was that they were unsigned and not printed on "white paper" but no denial as to their truthfulness. My official record is public property and any official act I make or do officially belongs to all the people and they can put out or make any statement, signed or unsigned, concerning my official acts. I care nothing about how John Hart ran his office and have said nothing about it, but I want to say here and now that I will sign anything I write or put before the people and will back up anything I say. No one will deny the truthfulness of the statements that John Hart DID hire two out of the county men as his deputies and he DID move to the county and had no telephone service in his residence. If this can't be verified by public records, I will resign my office and turn it over to Mr. Hart. Next Saturday, August the 22nd is election day and I take this opportunity to solicit your vote and support. I am running my race on my own merits and fully believe I can render you the kind of service which you should have these perilous times. If elected, I will continue to give you the very best service I am capable of giving. Thanking you, I am, Very Truly Yours, LOSS WOODS the Flying Fortresses attacked communications. The bombardment opened as the Commandos landed on the beaches last night and consolidated positions for the larger force of infantrymen. Berlin reported at noon (6 a.m. CWT) that the British were attacking on a broad front east and west of Dieppe.

In some quarters it was believed that most of the dissidents of the Dieppe population had been removed by the Germans some time ago, following the uprising of Frenchmen at the time of the British Commando raid on St. Nazaire. "I know that the Dieppe Frenchmen are not going to stand and watch the Germans and Allies fighting in the streets without mixing in it," said the Fighting French spokesman.

For weeks German propagandists have carried on a high-pressure campaign boasting of the "impregnability" of their French coastal defenses including new fortifications and concrete pill-boxes around Dieppe on which thousands of conscripted French workers had labored.

Reports came from the south English coast that after the infantry forces had crossed the channel, ships of the Royal navy put down a tremendous bombardment as Allied planes plastered bombs and showered machine-gun bullets on an area extending 60 miles along the Dieppe coast and far inland, where big planes like

M'NUTT SAYS STOP ENLISTING FIGHTERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The war manpower commission, seeking tighter control over manpower resources, has voted that the army and navy be ordered to stop all voluntary recruiting, it was learned today. WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt has or soon will ask President Roosevelt to order total responsibility for procurement of fighting men turned over to the Selective Service system, it was understood. Competent sources said such action almost certainly would be accompanied by a request to congress that the minimum draft age be lowered from 20 to 18 years. McNutt's proposal, it was said, strongly by Selective Service, the U. S. Employment Service and the War Production Board, labor production division—is based principally on the belief that the government, not the individual, is better able to determine where a man can contribute most effectively to the war effort. Mr. Roosevelt has expressed no opinion on the issue publicly, but it was recalled that his executive order creating the WMC instructed McNutt to work out an overall manpower policy, even to the extent of recommending special legislation where necessary.

Federal civil jobs increased 837,655 or 61.4 per cent during the fiscal year ended June 30. The June payroll was $333,364,409.
