REDS HOLD, OUT-FIGHT NAZIS IN STALINGRAD

MORE THAN 25,000 OF THE INVADERS KILLED THE PAST WEEK IN VIOLENT STREET FIGHTING

MOSCOW, Sept. 25.—Thrown on the defensive on Stalingrad's northwestern rim by the development of the Red army's flanking counter-attack, the Germans were reported Friday to have failed in fresh infiltration attempts directly against the city while battling desperately against the menace from the flank. The epic battle centered on the northwestern sector where the Russians had recaptured two dominating heights and nearby populated sectors, according to Friday's Stalingrad dispatches.

The Red Star newspaper declared that no other city in this war had been such a battlefield as Stalingrad. A military commentator quoted by Tass, official Russian news agency, said the Germans had lost more than 25,000 dead in the last week. "And Stalingrad is not the fortress which Verdun was," he added.

YANKS SHOWER YELLOW DEVILS WITH DYNAMITE

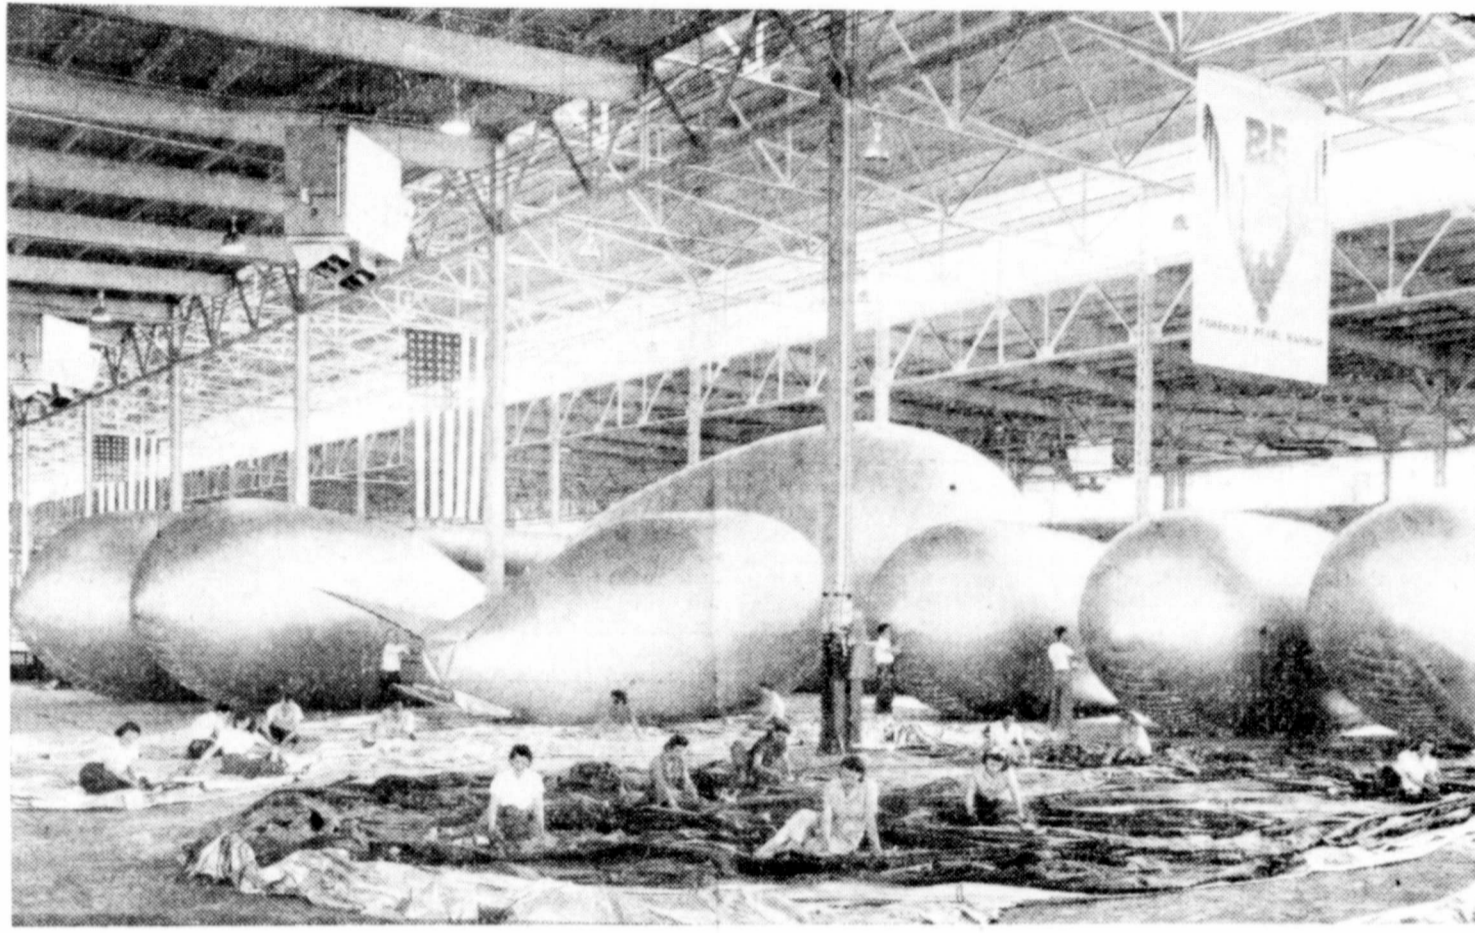

MacARTHUR HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Sept. 25.—Allied planes have struck for the 11th straight day at Japanese communication lines between Buna, on the north New Guinea coast, and the mountain village of Kokoda, base for the Japanese who drove across the Owen Stanley mountains, it was announced today. Fighter, attack, heavy bomber and reconnaissance planes joined in a day of raids which extended from Buna Island at the northern end of the Solomons to Dili in Netherlands - Portuguese Timor 2200 miles to the west. A strong formation of Allied fighter planes machine gunned the 60-mile trail between Buna and Kokoda. They left flaming huts which the Japanese used as storehouses for equipment and supplies, and again bombed the important Waropu bridge which had been damaged in two previous raids. The bridge is a bottleneck on the Japanese supply line to Ioribaiwa village, 32 air miles from Port Moresby. The Allied base on the southern New Guinea coast, which enemy combat forces had reached in a drive across the Owen Stanley mountains. Japanese forces at Ioribaiwa were still stalled and Australian patrols maintained contact with them, awaiting signs of any move. At Rabaul, the great Japanese base in New Britain island in the Bismarcks east of New Guinea, Flying Fortresses scored a direct hit on an 8000-ton enemy ship and probably sank it. Over Dili harbor, in Timor Island northwest of Australia, a medium bomber unit of Lockheed-Hudsons, on armed reconnaissance bombed a medium sized enemy ship but could not see what happened to it. In addition to other offensive operations in the New Guinea zone, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's attack bombers with a fighter escort bombed and machine gunned the small enemy base at Mubo, 10 miles inland from Salamaua on the Gulf of Huon. A single long-range Consolidated PB-5 Catalina flying boat raided Buna harbor at the northern end of the Solomons, starting fires in aircraft dispersal areas.

ONLY 62 DISPLAY INTEREST

The war department is emphasizing the need of keys which give up a considerable amount of nickel silver, needed so badly in the allied fight against Germany and Japan. The Cisco Daily Press is collecting keys slowly—yes, slowly—when one considers there are 5,000 people in Cisco and that only 62 persons have heeded the call of the country. Its plea for this material which lies unheeded and unneeded in practically every home in Cisco. And when we consider that many of these 62 persons have come in from the surrounding rural area in response to the call for keys, one wonders just what it will take to arouse our patriotism and break up our feeling of security. It will take many thousands of keys to fill this barrel—and it will take many thousands of barrels to give Uncle Sam the metals he needs. The metal is here in Cisco—in your home—get it to the Cisco Daily Press barrel and leave your name, so that your friends may see that you are trying to do your bit for that son or neighbor who is fighting for your liberty, but who will soon be handicapped for lack of ammunition and other fighting equipment, made from the metal found in your keys. Here is a list of those bringing keys since the last list was published: J. A. Burnam, Bill Harder, 39 keys; W. T. Malone, Bobby Wilson, Mrs. H. J. McArdle, H. W. Hamm, A. J. Olson, 92 keys; Mrs. W. T. Dowda, Mrs. R. F. Gilman, Mrs. H. J. Woodridge, 24 keys; B. B. Hurst, Elbert Rains, Mrs. James Taylor, Miss Susan Haynes, 128 keys; Jessie Bingham Eastland, Melvin and Zella Sandier, 179 keys; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Owen, Mrs. Connie Davis, J. E. Hays, McCall Cleaners, Jewel Poe, Mrs. W. P. Lee, Billy Smith, L. W. Seymour, Mrs. Walter Ziehr, Leon Cloud (six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cloud, who has four brothers in the service); Mrs. A. J. Olson, Mrs. J. E. Caffrey.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS TO BE ORGANIZED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt today announced a plan for organizing a high school Victory Corps which will provide an opportunity for all of the 6,500,000 high school students in the country to prepare for war service. The purposes of the corps will be to train its volunteer student members for war service they may be expected to perform after leaving school and to provide opportunities for them to participate in community war efforts while still in school. The basic aim is to cut down the time now needed to train men and women after they are enrolled in the armed services or in war industries. The corps will be divided into five special service divisions for high school: 1. Land service calling for pre-induction training for all branches of the army except the air; 2. Air service; 3. Sea service providing training for all branches of the navy except the air; 4. Production service, preparing for war industries and agriculture; 5. Community service preparing for medical, nursing, teaching, business and civil services. Girls as well as boys will be eligible and are expected to predominate in the production and community service divisions.

GERMANS RAID ENGLAND

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A few German planes dropped bombs along the southwest coast of England Friday night but the RAF failed to follow up its Wednesday night assault on Flensburg with another raid on Germany, presumably because of bad weather over the continent. The government said the German raiders had caused only slight damage and no casualties. One of the Nazi planes was reported destroyed.

DAGOES RAID GIBRALTAR

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Reuters reported from Gibraltar Friday that several Italian planes raided Britain's Western Mediterranean stronghold Thursday night, causing an air alarm but no damage or casualties. Only a few bombs were dropped, all falling in the sea, before the fortress' anti-aircraft barrage drove the raiders off, the dispatch said.

"They also serve who only stand and wait," which is more than you can say for the bureaucrats who keep them waiting.

GALLANT REDS NEED SECOND FRONT NOW

MOSCOW, Sept. 25.—Wendell L. Willkie returned to Moscow today from a 14-hour jeep car trip to the German-Russian front which took him well within earshot of duelling artillery. With Lieutenant General Llyushenko of the Red army and a party of Americans, Willkie rode for miles across seas of mud. He said he had a really first-hand opportunity to study the Russian troops at work and was very much impressed. The soldiers asked him, as had Moscow workers, when the United States and Britain would establish a second front, he said. Maj. Gen. Follett Bradley, chief of a United States supply mission; Lt. Col. Joseph A. Michela, United States military attache, and Gardner Cowles and Joseph Barnes of the Office of War Information made the inspection with Willkie, who is acting as President Roosevelt's personal representative.

IN THE MIDDLE

With farmers still insistent on high prices and factories insistent on high wages, organized Americans are in the middle in more than one sense. They get squeezed around from both directions. They are in the middle to them and to the nation as a whole. They are about half the people.

Because they are so much in the middle, they are being squeezed. They are being squeezed by the unorganized masses, those who are taken advantage of in a world mental situation. Perhaps they, combined, are the most important representatives of the American people with regard to political and economic problems. They may be able to think more clearly than any other group regarding the good of the people as a whole.

When there comes a big change in viewpoint, a new swing of public opinion, a ground swell breaking through all organized forms of action and changing the policy and direction of government it is likely to be these unseen or unheard millions who are responsible for it.

BOMBS AND BLOCKADES

Bremen has just been bombed for the 100th time. According to the last census it had a population of 342,000. Houston and Seattle, Denver and Rochester are comparable American cities. For a town of this size, 100 bombings must mean one of two things. Either nothing much can be left of the place or the bombing has not been very effective.

Probably the latter is the case. Ever unpopular it may be, English experience showed that a great deal of destruction can take place in a town without weakening it essentially. Destroying streets, houses, schools, and apartment buildings may mar the surface of a city without affecting its industrial life.

As a means of winning a war, bombing is something new and untried. At first sight they seem very different. Bombing is quick and violent, whereas blockade is gradual and steady. Yet in the long run they are alike in the extra work they do. The war, but either may require an unreasonable long time to do so.

AMERICA

"East, West, Home, Best" decides the traveler, setting the key comfortably in the lock of his front door. "But God! What a country!"

The immensity of America, its power, its variety, its beauty are brought home with startling force by a quick trip from one end to the other and back again to a spot between. "The Lawd sottray passed a miracle," thunders the traveler when he created the country through His resurrection power. The length of time alone represented in the laying up of some kinds of terrain, the wearing away of others, the cutting of channels by rivers, the growth of deep, rich soil, become concomitant in his mind with nothing less than infinite power and patience.

The dramatic contrasts of mountains with plains, of great rivers and bad lands, of wooded mountains and rugged rocky heights, of isolated farms and mines with crowded, growing cities are so intense as to leave the observer breathless. He finds it almost impossible to believe that there could be so great a country.

The traveler loved his America before this last swing around it. He loved his nation, with its history and its ideals. But his affection and admiration have been turned into something akin to worship of its awful greatness. Yet he feels a curious sense of oneness with its unlimited power. It's a country for a free, strong, glorious people. No one has yet begun to discover America.

VOTING PRINCIPLES

With election coming, a good rule to follow is this: Don't vote because of personal resentments or gratuities. Don't vote a particular ticket because you are subject to gas rationing and don't like the idea, or because your wages have been raised and the world looks like...

What has been or is being done is done with the idea of helping the country, not just to help or hurt special individuals or groups. If the country loses the war, individual fates will matter not at all.

Vote for the best candidate with the best record in helping the war effort, and the best ideas of how to improve this effort. Vote not as an individual, but as an American.

"Pedal, Gwendolyn!"

This bike ain't like your sewing machine"

"Why, Edgar! You said let's make two tires do the work of four."

"Yeh, but I'm doing all the work. There ain't no 'lectric switch on this thing. You have to pedal it!"

"Oh, well, Edgar. You don't mind giving me a free ride, do you?"

"Listen, baby. You don't get any free rides any more!"

"Oh yeah? Well, I'm getting a free ride on that sewing machine!"

"U-u-m-p-h! Just because it's electric, and you don't have to pedal it, don't think it's FREE. You have to pay for the juice!"

"Sure, Edgar. But we're using two or three times as much now as we used to—for the same money. That's what I call a free ride!"

D'ya ever win an argument with your wife, Edgar? You may persuade her to help pedal the bike. But she's right about the cost of electric service.

It's a fact that West Texas homes today are getting two or three times as much electricity for the same money as they did 10 or 15 years ago. Actually, the electric bill of two-thirds of them is a dime a day—or less!

Not a free ride... but FREE enterprise makes this big bargain possible under the American system whereby men are free to plan and create a business that builds and serves!
