

Don't blame Mr. Roosevelt if he takes the lead when some congressmen put in most of their time "talking" while the world is on fire. Somebody must manage public affairs and the president has never been accused of sidestepping work.

RUSSIA WANTS UNIFIED ACTION AGAINST HUNS

HEARST, M'CORMICK PAPERS FATHER COUGHLIN AND CERTAIN BRITONS FIGHT SECOND FRONT

MOSCOW, Oct. 22. — Vladimir Krushkov, secretary of the Soviet Information Bureau, today accused William Randolph Hearst and Col. Robert R. McCormick, American newspaper publishers, and Charles E. Coughlin, radio priest, of obstructing the opening of a second front.

Writing in the fortnightly publication, "The Propagandist," Krushkov bitterly attacked the "Munich party" in the United States and Great Britain, which, he said, was opposing the second front.

In the frankest Russian discussion of the second front to date, he named Lady Astor, American-born member of parliament, and Capt. Bernard Acworth, naval correspondent for several British newspapers, as leaders of the British wing of "the Munich party."

"We must note that the American press speaks more energetically for a second front than the British," Krushkov wrote, "but in the United States there are also people who sympathize with the Munich men in England. People like Hearst, Coughlin, McCormick and others who take every step to suppress the increasing demand by American public opinion for the opening of a second front.

"Besides, there is a group in England that believes that England should first worry about the empire's interests and that British armed forces should be used to defend all parts of the empire. They draw the conclusion that their main forces should be used against Japan.

"Fear of the military risks makes some people in England say aerial bombardment of Germany and increased production at home of supplies for the Soviet Union can take the place of a second front."

Germany. "There exists in England a group of followers of the Munich policy" who, under various pretexts, are trying to prove the inadvisability of opening a European war against Germany.

"The Munichites are trying to prove that the people's demand for a second front is a demand by a poorly-informed people." It is true that such opinions have been criticized by British and American.

"However, such opinions are not exceptional and reflect the viewpoint of a people who have surrendered up to the present to the old and harmful policy of capitulation."

Referring to British opponents of the second front, Krushkov said: "Besides such people as Lady Astor and Capt. Bernard Acworth, who try to diminish in speeches and articles the importance of the fight which the Soviet Union is waging, there are other opponents in England of a unified decisive action who conceal their negative attitude with all sorts of motives, such as the impossibility of opening a second front because of the lack of shipping, an insufficient number of land and shock troops, the unpreparedness of commanders, and a lack of air superiority."

He cited foreign estimates that the German command has 200 divisions including those of its satellite states on the Russian front and in occupied regions of Russia, while it has only 25 divisions in Belgium, Holland and France and 10 to 15 divisions in the Balkans and on the Egyptian front. He intimated that a second front might be opened with comparative ease on either sector.

He said the vassal states, had given Germany 90 divisions, totaling 1,000,000 men, of which 19 are Hungarian divisions, 28 Rumanian, 21 Italian and 22 Finnish.

"If the German army is smashing on the Soviet-German front," he said, "the war is won."

Krushkov cited the statement of Premier Josef Stalin concerning the primary importance of a second front, and added:

"However, not everyone in the freedom-loving countries understands. Certain circles in England and the United States do not understand the necessity of a quick decision for unified action against Germany."

NAZIS TIRING AT STALINGRAD AFTER 59 DAYS

MOSCOW, Oct. 22. — Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's forces, driving through the first blizzard of winter on the desolate steppes north of Stalingrad, captured an important hill today and penetrated the second German defense line.

The Soviet noon communique, not mentioning a great advance, said that Timoshenko's men had stormed into enemy trenches and killed 200 Germans in hand to hand battle.

Snow now was drifting on the steppes northwest of Stalingrad, front-line dispatches said. Normally the blizzards that roar over the steppes which are among the coldest areas in Russia, do not begin until late November.

The roads inside Stalingrad had been turned into bogs by days of continual rain. A bitter wind, whipping across the Volga, numbed the Germans whose attacks against an industrial sector in northwestern Stalingrad were becoming weaker and weaker.

Red Star, the Soviet army organ, said the Germans were nearing exhaustion at Stalingrad, and had only enough strength left to attack on narrow sectors one at a time.

Another resounding Russian success was reported from the western Caucasus. There, after 10 days of hard fighting, the Russians had stopped 45,000 Germans trying to break through on a mountain road and killed at least 4,000 of them.

Every attack the Germans delivered inside Stalingrad was beaten off with heavy losses. The Russians, seizing the initiative yesterday, had swept the Germans from several houses near a vital factory fortress in the northwest part of Stalingrad.

More than 72 hours have passed without the Germans making a gain. This was the 59th day of the siege of Stalingrad, which the Germans believed they would take six weeks ago, and which Adolf Hitler had promised his people would be taken.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. — A four-point program to stimulate oil well drilling and exploration for new crude reserves needed to meet the war demand has been recommended to the Senate by the O'Mahoney subcommittee of the Senate Public Lands committee.

At the same time, the committee acknowledged the need for an early decision on the question of increased prices for crude oil, but took no position with regard to the price increase.

The four-point plan would include:
1. Long term financing of exploratory drilling by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.
2. Immediate steps to co-ordinate the government wartime control over the oil industry, now divided between five federal agencies.

3. More unified efforts to secure steel and other materials needed for oil well drilling and production.
4. Establishment of a flat royalty of 12 1/2 per cent for a period of 10 years on oil discovered in new reserves on the public domain.

YANK INTERESTS FIGHT TEXAS IRON

AUSTIN, Oct. 22.—Reports from Washington that eastern and northern steel interests are using pressure to prevent establishment of blast furnaces to develop East Texas iron ore caused a stir in railroad commission circles Wednesday. Olin Culberson, commission member, severely criticized efforts to block the Texas project already underway.

Information has been received by the commission that the steel industry is raising a variety of objections to East Texas iron ore, for the processing of which a $30,000,000 plant is in course of construction at Daingerfield.

One report has as its source Sen. Harry S. Truman of Missouri who charges leaders in the iron and steel industry had insisted they could fill every demand of the defense program, without development of new fields. They fear this competition after the war, he said.

Culberson, aroused by this and similar reports, telephoned East Texas sources Wednesday for more information.

Another 100 per cent attendance meeting was announced by President Ernest Hittson at today's Rotary luncheon, when he said the only absentee for last week had made up his attendance elsewhere. It was also announced in the Rotary district governor's report that Cisco was fifth in the attendance score of the district, with an average attendance of 97 1/2 per cent for September.

Burl Williams, band leader for the Cisco schools, was introduced by Rotarian Bill Fewell as a new member. Rotarian R. L. Ponsler made his report on the welfare association decision regarding formation of a city-wide Community Chest. He was retained as Rotary representative for the welfare meetings.

Program Chairman Lonnie Shockley introduced A. E. McNeely as the speaker for the day, and Rotarian McNeely used his time to display his collection of old items, including bullet molds and an ancient snuff box, elaborately carved, which was probably more than a century old, and his comprehensive collection of ancient Indian arrows and relics of the stone-age artistry.

The collection was tabulated and indexed on cards that located and explained the origin of each piece. The subject was deeply interesting.

100 PER CENT JAPS SINK TWO U. S. DESTROYERS, BUT PAY MEETING ROTARY TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. — American ships today were harassing small Japanese naval task forces prowling near supply lines in the southern Solomons as both sides were revealed to have suffered new naval losses, including two American destroyers.

The big enemy counter-offensive for Guadalcanal has not started, but the main Japanese invasion fleet remains menacingly in the northern Solomons.

The emphasis in the battle of the Solomons still remains on the fight for control of the air over Guadalcanal. Japanese and American airmen are exchanging daily blows over the vital airfield there.

The navy disclosed last night that the United States lost two comparatively new destroyers—the Meredith and O'Brien—"within the last few days as a result of enemy action."

It also announced that a Japanese cruiser and a destroyer were damaged by American bombers. The cruiser was "stopped by at least one bomb hit."

American ship losses in the Solomons now stand at 12 warships and auxiliaries sunk, Japanese losses are 10 sunk, three probably sunk and 46 damaged. Damage to American ships has not been announced.

Lt. Col. Richard C. Mangrum, until recently commander of a Marine dive bomber squadron at Guadalcanal, told reporters in Pearl Harbor last night that the United States would hold its ground in the Solomons but warned that surface craft and land forces would be needed as much as planes.

61,000 STEEL WORKERS ARE IN THE ARMY

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. — The American Iron and Steel Institute says more than 61,000 steel workers had entered the armed forces between Oct. 1, 1940, and June 30, 1942.

The tonnage of steel produced increased substantially in the 18 month period, necessitating employment of additional workers besides replacement of men called into military service, the institute said.

Nearly 65 per cent of the 789,279 employees on steel company payrolls as of last June 30 fall within the 20-40 year age group and may soon face selective service boards, the organization continued.

THE LAST MAGIC CHEF MADE-- TAKE GOOD CARE OF YOURS. In December, 1941, the American Stove Company, manufacturers of MAGIC CHEF, Announced their wholehearted cooperation with the government to help win the war. They meant it. On account of the demand for metal to aid in this war preparation, and the need for industry to participate in war munitions manufacturing, the company made its last MAGIC CHEF in July of this year. The great plant had been remodeled for war munitions manufacturing—the making of airplane flares, after more than a year of preparation for the work, and through an expenditure of many thousands of dollars. GIVE YOUR RANGE THE BEST OF CARE-- DO NOT USE THE OVEN FOR HEATING. It behooves all housewives to give their ranges the best of care. No telling when you can buy another. Your range is the result of a cooking development gradually going on through the centuries. It is a long step in advance of the open fire or crude flat rock cooking of the savages. Your fine range was never intended as a heating element. It was not built to radiate heat as a warming device. Conserve its fine efficiency as a cooking appliance by giving it the best of care. WE WILL BE GLAD TO COOPERATE WITH YOU IN ANY WAY TO PROLONG THE LIFE OF YOUR RANGE. DON'T FAIL TO CALL US IF WE CAN HELP YOU. CISCO GAS CORPORATION

FEDERATED CLUBS GEAR FOR WAR

Work of the General Federation of Women's clubs is now completely geared to absolute participation in the nation's war effort, say Texas clubwomen who have returned from Chicago, where they attended a called board meeting of GFWC. The meeting was held at Hotel Sherman, Chicago, Oct. 17-19.

Mrs. J. W. Walker, Plainview, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, headed the Texas group in Chicago. Included were Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, Eastland, TFWC director to the GFWC; Mrs. Nancy Ruple Armstrong, Houston, chairman, GFWC international relations; and Mrs. Volney W. Taylor, Brownsville, GFWC motion picture chairman.

Mrs. Richard J. Turrentine, Denton, also a GFWC officer, was unable to attend.

There were no social functions for the Chicago meeting, the women giving their time to conferences with James Landis, OCD director; Joseph B. Eastman, ODT; Miss Katherine Lenrodt, child welfare bureau; Miss Mary Anderson of the woman's bureau, and others of national importance with regard to obvious needs and problems of the nation in which the clubwomen can give immediate assistance. One of the highlights of the Chicago meeting was an address by the Rt. Hon. Margaret Bondfield, former minister of labor for Great Britain.

Many of the GFWC's findings will be mirrored in the streamlined business sessions of the annual convention of the Texas Federation, scheduled for November 10-12, in Austin, when forums will be directed by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, WAAC director; Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, GFWC president, and Frank Scottfield, Texas chairman of stamps and bonds sales. The Austin meeting will be void of social affairs.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the many friends who so thoughtfully remembered us following the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Jennie M. Robinson; and especially the women of the Baptist, Christian and other churches who helped in every way possible to lighten our burdens.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mayhew, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Smith,

Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Robinson, Grandchildren and Great grandchildren.

DEATH OF C. A. NELMS.

L. R. Nelms, 404 W. Second street, has returned from Comanche, where he attended the funeral of his brother, C. A. Nelms, who died October 21, at 7 a. m. Deceased was 72 years of age and survivors include the wife and five children. He was a native of Burleson county, but lived at Comanche 26 years, and was a member of the Baptist church since early manhood.

People fear death but are really eager to keep on living. Name one who avoids all that shorten life.

WHY GO... ELSEWHERE?

To buy your monuments or gravestones... away from home... when you can get just as good workmanship, and just as cheap prices in Cisco as you can by patronizing some one who cares not a rap for your town.

We have spent our life and all the money we have ever earned right here in Cisco. The quality of our work speaks for itself. Look them over in our home burying ground and be convinced.

American Victory Must Be Won in American Homes

War must be fought and won by nations as a whole. Behind the fighting forces, there must stand strong and determined a united home front.

The woman who learns to sew for herself and her family, who studies for a problem, who thriftyly manages the family income so there will be a surplus to invest in War Bonds, that houseside is fighting the war like any soldier. She stands guard over the family pay envelope, buying only necessities, of sound, durable quality. She turns instinctively to stores that give her full value, stores like Penney's which have always served her well.
