BATTLE OF GUADALCANAL RAGES ON 2 FRONTS

GERMANS OUTRUN DAGOES

CAIRO, Nov. 6.—Germany's North African desert forces appeared today to be streaking for the Libyan frontier, abandoning their Italian comrades-in-arms to capture by rapidly-advancing British forces.

The Allied advance had reached point 83 miles west of Alamein. Today's British Middle East headquarters communique disclosed that Gen. Francesco Scotti, the commander of the Italian Trento division, and his chief of staff and 4,000 prisoners, had joined two high German generals captured by Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery's Eighth Army.

In addition, it said, large numbers of Italian troops were being rounded up in the southern battlefield, where they appear to have been abandoned in the desert by German mechanized formations.

This official disclosure supported earlier reports from the fighting front that eight divisions of Italian soldiers had begun a forced march on foot to Benghazi, 180 miles from the Alamein battlefield where they were holding when the British offensive started Oct. 23.

The Italian divisions included the remnants of the Ariete and Ariete armored divisions, the Trento and Triete motorized divisions, and the Golegna, Brescia, and Folgore infantry units. The Italians were believed to be cut off from food, munitions and all supplies, and forced to fall back on foot over the open desert and save themselves as best they could.

The communique disclosed that the remnants of the German and Italian Axis forces that had held together were being driven eastward by Allied planes, tanks and infantry, "well west of Daba."

It said the Axis tank losses were mounting. Yesterday alone 9 tanks were captured by the British.

The list of Axis leaders held by the British was growing. The Italian leaders taken yesterday included Gen. Ritter von Thoma, German's leading tank expert who, as commander of the Afrika Korps, was in charge of all the Axis tanks in North Africa.

(London reports said Thoma and his entire staff were taken at a time when they were supposed to have been surrounded by a group of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's special tank bodyguard.)

Daba is on the Mediterranean coast, 35 miles north and west of Alamein, where the great British campaign to regain control of North Africa began Oct. 23.

FRAZIER HUNT PAINTS PICTURE TEXAS EMPIRE

(Editor's note: The following story by Frazier Hunt, newspaper correspondent and radio newscaster, was the subject of a broadcast made while he was in Houston. His regular analysis is presented by the radio, television and electronics department of the General Electric company every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings over Columbia broadcasting system.)

By FRAZIER HUNT.

HOUSTON, Nov. 6.—Some 20 miles outside the city of Houston, the slender white shaft of San Jacinto towering into the Texas sunshine, stands as an everlasting monument to freedom. For it was in San Jacinto in April, 1836, that Texas won its freedom from Mexico. And here almost within sight of the San Jacinto monument, I would like to comment on how the descendants of those courageous Texans, led by Sam Houston, have a grim determination to protect that dearly won liberty. I'm not sure that this busy and beautiful country around Houston isn't far more than merely "Deep in the heart of Texas." I'm beginning to feel that it is deep in the heart of America.

For nowhere else have I quite felt the depth and power and magnificence that I have these past two days riding about these rich and endless prairies, these booming harbors, great ship canals, rising industries, thousands of oil derricks, shipyard, refineries; all expressing the restless energy of this mighty coast section. You simply can't know and understand America unless you know this rich and resourceful land here.

There is hardly anything they haven't got or can't and don't do down here. It's an incredible land, a fantastic story-book land. It has spirit and bravery and the will to win. I can't begin to tell you the power there is in this Houston country. It spurts out of the earth through deep oil wells. It comes actually out of the sea, salt water that is turned as if by pure magic into priceless magnesium. It slides down the shipways in a hundred victory cargo boats, it flows as by-products from gasoline refineries into vulcanian that will soon be turned into fine sturdy, synthetic rubber that will, in the future, make America independent and free us from the strangle hold that rubber plantations of the East Indies and Malaya long have threatened us with.

They're actually freeing America here, making us self-sustaining, self-supporting. I tell you this is a land for poets to write verses about and great singers to sing about, it's a land that is like a youth suddenly come to the full power and knowledge of his manhood. It is bursting with energy and riches. It sings as it goes to work building, making, training, dreaming victory. It's an epic land.

As some of you who are of faint heart and some of you who are prating of our complacency and some of you who know so little of America, yet talk so much about it, you come out here, come deep into the heart of Texas and you'll stop your fault finding, your cheap criticism and suddenly you'll find yourself lifted up until you can almost touch the fair stars that love this wonderful land so much that they hang low in the skies, so as to be near it.

I have never felt so sure of my country as I do here and at this very moment. I have never had so much strength and sureness and glory come to me. Honestly, it's almost like getting religion just to come down here and let the power of this magnificent land flow into you, recharging your batteries, re-conditioning your spirit and determination to the service and the protection of your dear country to its honor and its victory. This is a land, my friends, a land of milk and honey, of cattle and rice, of oil and ships and smoking chimneys and busy brave men. Here is something to sing about, to preach about, to shout about. This is where Texas and America come together.

The chief fault of the price control board is that it isn't directed by a red tape control board.

DR. GROSS SPEAKER TONIGHT

In point of attendance, as well as work transacted, the Methodist conference now in session in Cisco is generally regarded as a fine success. Between 500 and 600 delegates are here and at the services last night, the large First Methodist church was crowded, with many standing.

Dr. John O. Gross of Nashville will be the speaker at the conference session tonight at First Methodist church at 7:30. Dr. J. N. R. Score, president of Southwestern University of Georgetown, will preside for this service.

During the afternoon program Dr. Dow Bancroft of Nashville brought the main address for a special laymen's service at 4 o'clock.

Special services for Saturday will be the early morning devotions at 8:30 in the sanctuary, with Dr. C. R. Gray of Breckenridge in charge; a special service of commemoration for the ministers who have died during the year, this to be from 11:30 to 12:30 at noon; a worship service at 4 p.m. with Rev. Quay Parmer, chaplain, preaching; a program of music at 7:30 by the Dragoo octet and the Harmony Girls from Eastland; the service of ordination of young ministers at 8 p.m., with Bishop Holt in charge.

Business session of the conference began at 9 this morning and continued until 12:30, then at 2:30 p.m., closing at 4 o'clock.

Local pulpits will be supplied Sunday by visiting ministers of the conference.

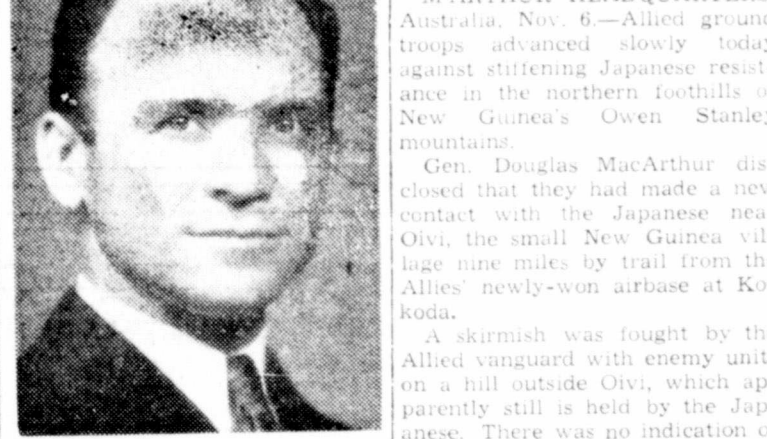

The closing session will be at 2 p.m. Sunday, at which time the appointments of the 300 pastors will be announced by Bishop Holt.

Life is a slow job of making progress, with frequent interruptions to make a fool of yourself.

MAYOR OF WACO AND SUPERINTENDENT OF METHODIST HOME IN THAT CITY, IS CISCO VISITOR

Hubert Johnson, mayor of Waco and superintendent of the Methodist Home of that city, is attending the conference today.

The Home recently held a Returned Heroes Day, when Luther Holt of the United States army and Tom Appling of the navy, both of whom have seen recent foreign service, came home for a visit. Holt, Methodist Home resident from 1927 to 1938, who was due to leave Hawaii, Dec. 8, 1941, after being stationed two years at Schofield barracks in the medical corps, had his plans interfered with by the Japs at Pearl Harbor. He finally sailed the middle of last month, and is enroute to air corps officers' training school at Miami Beach, Fla.

Appling, who lived at the Home from 1924 to 1937, graduating from Waco high school, had the U. S. S. Quincy shot out from under him in the Pacific war theater. Prior to that he saw service in South America, Africa and convoy trips to Iceland. He is a petty officer, first class.

TUDOR GAME PRESERVE TO GET 50 DEER

Approximately 41,000 acres of land lying in the area known as the Tudor game preserve will be the new home of 50 head of deer which the Game, Fish and Oyster commission of Austin is releasing to the members of the Tudor game preserve association, according to Floyd Lynch, county agent.

The project has been approved for some time pending completion of necessary papers which are being mailed to Phil Goodrum, Director of Wildlife Restoration, Game, Fish and Oyster commission.

AMERICANS HOLD INITIATIVE AND CAPTURE EQUIPMENT AS ONCE-JAUNTY JAPS MOVE BACK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The battle of Guadalcanal raged today on two fronts—barely 20 miles apart—with Americans holding the initiative, capturing more valuable equipment and inflicting comparatively heavy losses on the Japanese.

The battle for the strategic South Sea islands, which is three months old today, has reverted temporarily to a land battle on Guadalcanal Island. Last month the fighting raged for two weeks on land, sea and air not only on Guadalcanal but in the waters and on the islands for hundreds of miles.

Although American planes and warships continue to blast enemy positions on Guadalcanal, there has been no mention for 10 days in naval communiques of enemy air or naval activity. But the Japanese haven't withdrawn, because on two nights of this week enemy troops have landed east of the airfield on the north shore of the island.

The two Guadalcanal land fronts are to the east and to the west of the airfield on the north coast of the island.

The fighting on the east front—the first in that sector since early in August—began at dawn Wednesday (island time) when the Marines attacked enemy troops which had landed the night before east of Koli Point, about six miles east of the airfield. The Marines were repulsed in their initial attack, but the latest word received by the navy was that "they are pressing their attack."

The Koli Point battle is just a little east of the scene of the battle of the Tenaru River in August when Marines, supported by tank units, slaughtered all but about 30 of 700 Japanese troops who tried to capture the airfield.

The western front on which Americans began an offensive nine days ago still remains the main theater of war on Guadalcanal. Last night's communique brought action there through Tuesday night when American naval forces shelled enemy positions near Kokumbona, about 10 miles west of the airfield. Army aircraft bombed enemy supply dumps and troops in the same sector Sunday night.

During Tuesday, Marines "continued successful attacks against enemy positions west of Matanikau River." They killed 350 Japanese and added more enemy equipment to that already captured.

There was no information yet about the extent of ground gained in the western part of the island by marines and soldiers, but progress was expected to be slow because of the dense jungle and the nature of the terrain which is rugged and heavily wooded.

The Japanese apparently are putting up a stiff battle as they retreat. Their losses—in men and equipment—indicated that they were fighting a strong rear guard action.

AUSSIES GOING ON FORWARD IN SOLOMON ISLES

MARTHA HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Nov. 6.—Allied ground troops advanced slowly today against stiffening Japanese resistance in the northern foothills of New Guinea's Owen Stanley mountains.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed that they had made a new contact with the Japanese near Oivi, the small New Guinea village nine miles by trail from the Allies' newly-won airbase at Kokoda.

A skirmish was fought by the Allied vanguard with enemy units on a hill outside Oivi, which apparently still is held by the Japanese. There was no indication of the strength of the present enemy resistance and it was not known whether the Japanese had been able to dig into the fortifications since MacArthur's men overran their previous positions west of Oivi Wednesday.

The communique disclosed another full schedule of Allied air activity, with United Nations bombers returning to the northern Solomons area after a one-day lull in their operations supporting the Americans on Guadalcanal.

In the darkness of yesterday morning, MacArthur said, Allied medium bombers attacked Japanese shipping in the Buin-Fais area of northern Bougainville Island. Although heavy bomb loads were dropped on the enemy vessels, believed concentrated there for use in Japanese operations against the southern Solomons, bad weather prevented observation of the results.

800.00 MEN ARE NOW IN OVERSEAS SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Developments Friday indicated the United States will have more than 6,000,000 men under arms and probably 1,000,000 soldiers overseas by the end of this year.

Secretary of War Stimson revealed the army will have more than 4,500,000 men in service before 1943 and Secretary of the Navy Knox has disclosed naval strength will exceed 1,300,000 by the end of this year.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, said 800,000 American soldiers already are stationed overseas. It was pointed out that undoubtedly 1,000,000 men will be abroad by Jan. 1 if the present rate of transportation is continued.

THE FRENCH SHIPS

At the fall of France, some of its fleet lay in French harbors. Some of it lay at Dakar and other colonial points. Martineau, for instance, Hitler long has wanted to get his hands on those ships, but Marshal Petain was able to hold them off. Laval has no moral or patriotic inhibitions. Darlan appears to play the Hitler game. Hitler thinks now he can get the ships.

It makes a great difference to both sides who has them. If Hitler can add them to an active navy, they will be a great asset. If they can be held inactive, they have been so far, their menace to our side is removed. There is a much better chance of invasion. If the United Nations could take them over that would be a great gain, but such possibility seems far off at the moment.

The B. B. C. recently broadcast that Hitler had sent an ultimatum to Laval, demanding the surrender of all merchant ships. French officials, now in French harbors, if he gets these, he will be after the naval shipping next. The French do not have these few, unarmed they have been helpless. Now assistance is drifting in, so far a mere trickle. Their day is coming, however. Hitler knows it. That's why he is in haste about French ships.

WHY BABIES HOWL

The baby transportation problem grows more serious. They hazy supply is exhausted and their mothers, what with the war work and everything, are getting into the same fix. Last-war prams and other rolling stock usually available are reduced to a thin trickle. A recent report in one of the big cities revealed a total available supply of only seven units. As this sad situation dawned on the parents of you should hear the howls going up. Maybe you have already heard them. And babies' parents and friends will just have to endure it. It's one of the later war hardships and life is like that.

The babies, however, have not yet given up. They are persistent and resourceful, and can bring plenty of pressure to bear over their holler and whine. There is said to be a new scheme circulating among them—when a really, very old one. The idea is to make their mothers adopt the oriental practice of taking the kids around in their backs in a harness that keeps them securely hitched while the mothers attend to their household duties or war work, or go shopping and give the babies a look at life.

Now that General MacArthur has denied all political ambition, maybe Mac can have a little peace in his war work. Anyhow he has a bigger job than the presidency.

WAR OF MOVEMENT

The present war, with all its innovations like dive-bombers and flying tanks is conservative in one respect. It has reverted to the old-time war of movement. Whether a soldier rides a horse or a tank is a detail. In either case he is a mounted soldier. Even if his horse is mechanical, he is essentially either a cavalryman or a mounted infantryman—professionals distinguish between the two—and can be moved considerable distances.

The first world war with its trenches was quite the opposite. From Switzerland to the North Sea was one continuous siege. Movement on any large scale was impossible, and strategy was almost non-existent.

That was one of the troubles with the French army in 1940. It was trained in the school of 1914-18 and its stationary warfare. The Maginot Line was a system of fortified super-trenches. Apparently the possibility never occurred to them that means might be found to break through this system and return to the old days of open warfare. The Germans found such means.

and skill in handling large masses of troops is since more at a premium. Nansen would have found some of the modern military inventions strange, but he would have understood this war.

POOR RICH MEN

A sympathetic soul might soon be saying, with a slight variation of the line in the old melodrama, "God pity the rich on a night like this." Many a man who lately counted his income by tens of thousands will be reduced to one thousand and worrying about the mortgage on his palatial home.

There is a business dictatorship now, and James F. Byrnes, boss of "economic stabilization," is expected to stabilize with a club. Already an executive order issued by the president has pegged wages and salaries at October 3 levels. There can be no increases of either wages or salaries under $3,000 without the approval of the war labor board, which will be hard to get. As for salaries above $3,000, they will be controlled by the commission of internal revenue, with a limit of $25,000 after payment of federal taxes and certain other obligations. The president is reported as cutting his own salary to that rate—an impressive gesture.

It is natural to wonder how much farther this leveling process will continue. Presumably it will last for the war's duration, at least and will grow still more severe. Perhaps the lower income brackets will be made more heavily taxed. This nation may not know her fate at Britain, but citizens in all but the low brackets may get to see half their incomes of more going to war taxes.

TO A NEW BRIDE

There is no house so comfortable as a new one. As a young bride's first, another home may seem more spacious, richer furnished, but the dream of her is lacking. Who like her can claim a home. A common chore into adventure. A kitchen put into a picnic, slip a waterfall into the faucet drip to make a little china dinner. The water with more lavishly, holding close. The very best to drop it in the water. The water below the sink—her man. It was supposed to exercise his nose. Just then. And who can bring the golden notes. Or a letter to a house and make the clocks. Perhaps to bear the human music box. And look their entry from their doorway. Some women may perfect their household schemes of merging and the culinary arts. But to the wives know within efficient hearts. There hangs no more the miracle of a home. VIRGINIA WOODY HAGAN

Religious Instruction Section: The following is an extract from a letter written by a state commissioner of education, which merits careful attention. "The problem you have brought up is one which has aroused considerable controversy in various parts of the country. I take the position that the American tradition of democracy supports the thesis that religious instruction should be voluntary and not compulsory. Furthermore I subscribe to the belief that the complete separation of church and state is sound democratic procedure and should be zealously and jealously guarded. If children in the public schools are required to study the Bible, you have immediately laid the foundation for a state church and a state religion which is entirely foreign to everything our forefathers have struggled to establish. I should like to call your attention to the fact that children are in the public schools by legal compulsion for an average of about six hours out of each twenty-four hours for five days out of each week. This leaves them free to pursue other interests for many leisure hours outside of their public school program. With the state and the country dotted with church buildings lying idle and unused most of the time, I cannot see the wisdom of forcing further solemnity on such institutions and placing an additional burden and responsibility on the program of public education. "Good morals and character training should be and are being emphasized in every good public school program in this state. The Bible is being read daily in most of the classrooms and, according to the state law, such reading is required, without comment. I do not mind telling you frankly that I believe the movement to require the teaching of the Bible in the public schools is an open acknowledgment that the free churches have failed to meet the responsibility for which they were established and for which they are supported."

CROSS PLAINS

Census report shows that 2,907 bales of cotton were ginned in Callahan county from the crop of 1942 prior to October 18, as compared with 2,307 bales for the crop of 1941. Cross Plains schools suffered another epidemic of teacher resignations this week as one teacher left Monday morning, another Wednesday and two others tendered their resignations to take effect as soon as possible. Replacements are being made rapidly, however, and superintendent Leo Varner anticipates no interruption in classes.

HIGH COURT TO REVIEW NEGRO VOTING CASE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The National Lawyers Guild has filed a brief as friend of the court requesting the United States circuit court of appeals for the fifth circuit at New Orleans to declare the so-called Texas white primary law unconstitutional. The brief has been filed in the case of Lonnie Smith vs. the election judge and associate election judge of Harris county, Texas, and was signed by Osmond K. Fraenkel as chairman of the National Lawyers Guild committee on constitutional liberties and Arthur J. Mandell and Herman Wright of Houston.

The case was instituted by the national association for the advancement of colored people and arose out of the denial by election judges at Houston to permit Lonnie Smith, a negro, to vote at the Democratic primary election because of his race. The state election judges in the trial court admitted that all white persons qualified to vote, regardless of party affiliation, were permitted to vote in the primary but that negroes were excluded.

The lower federal district court denied the Smith petition and the case was taken on appeal to the circuit court at New Orleans.

Duty is not a matter of age, but capacity. In a fight for life, all must help who wish to live.

It is not a war of nerves, but of brains. If the Japs outsmart us, they will beat us.

Hazards decrease. When a modern man is complimented by a lady, he may blush and suffer, but he has no tobacco to swallow.

WHY GO... ELSEWHERE?

To buy your monuments or grave stones . . . away from home . . . when you can get just as good workmanship, and just as cheap prices in Cisco as you can by patronizing some one who cares not a rap for your town.

We have spent our life and all the money we have ever earned right here in Cisco. The quality of our work speaks for itself. Look them over in our home burying ground and be convinced.

Rationing of gasoline, coffee and meats will make people food conscious as nothing else could do. The lack of ability to buy bacon has already made customers appreciate that lowly item as never before.

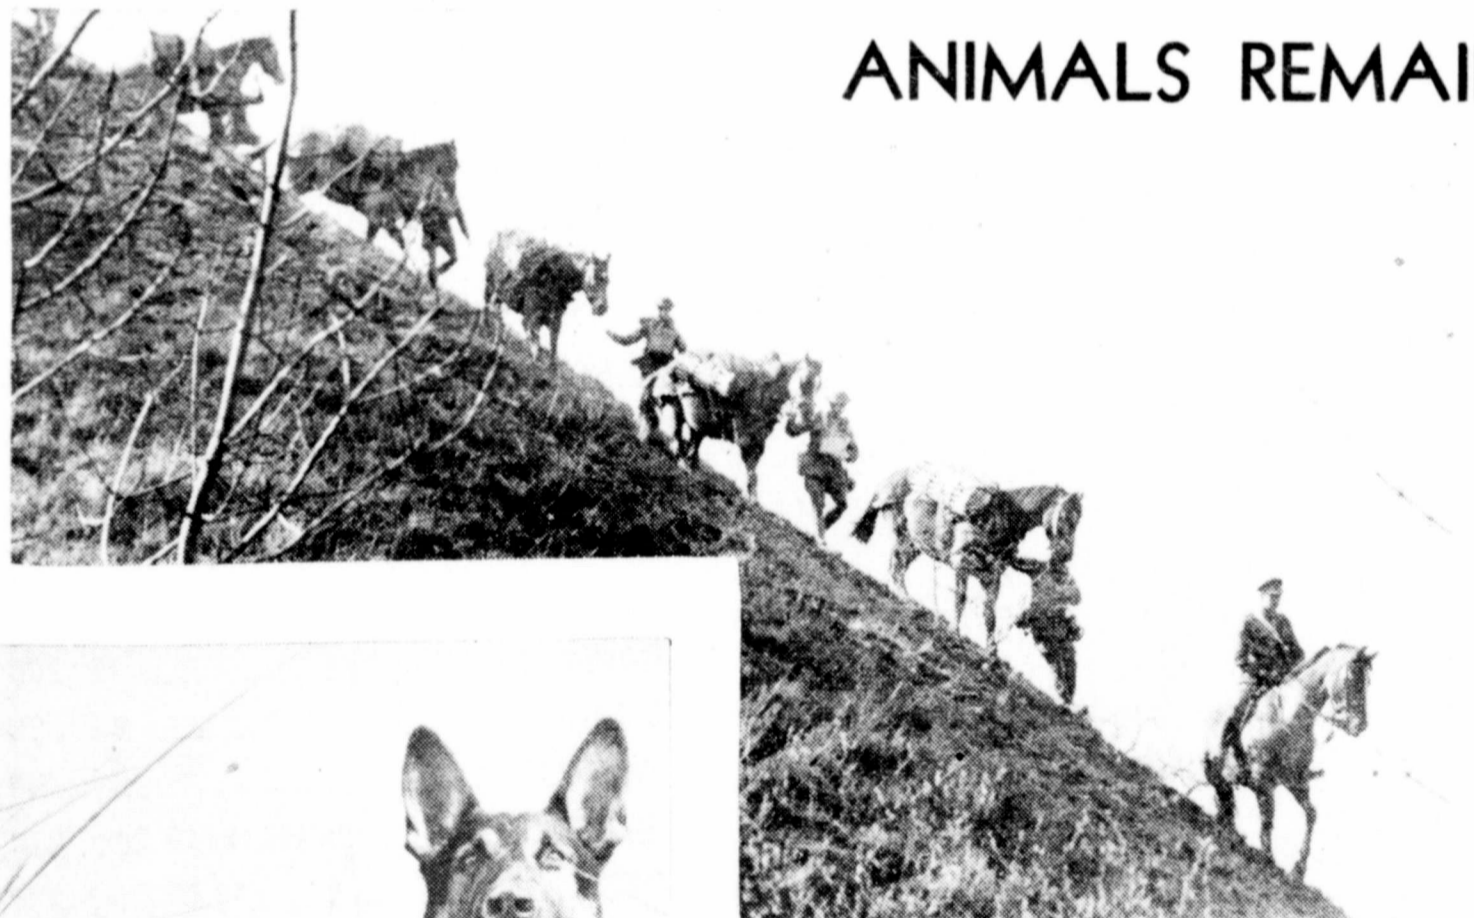

All of this makes it necessary that housewives be more discerning in their buying. Just buying promiscuously with nothing in mind except the price will slow up. People are going to demand quality along with price.

This store has steadily contended that one or two cents difference in price when the quality was far different was not real thrift. Quality counts for more than that. Try us during November and be convinced.

ANIMALS REMAIN MAN'S FRIENDS, IN WAR OR PEACE

PACK HORSES ON A TOUGH TERRAIN.

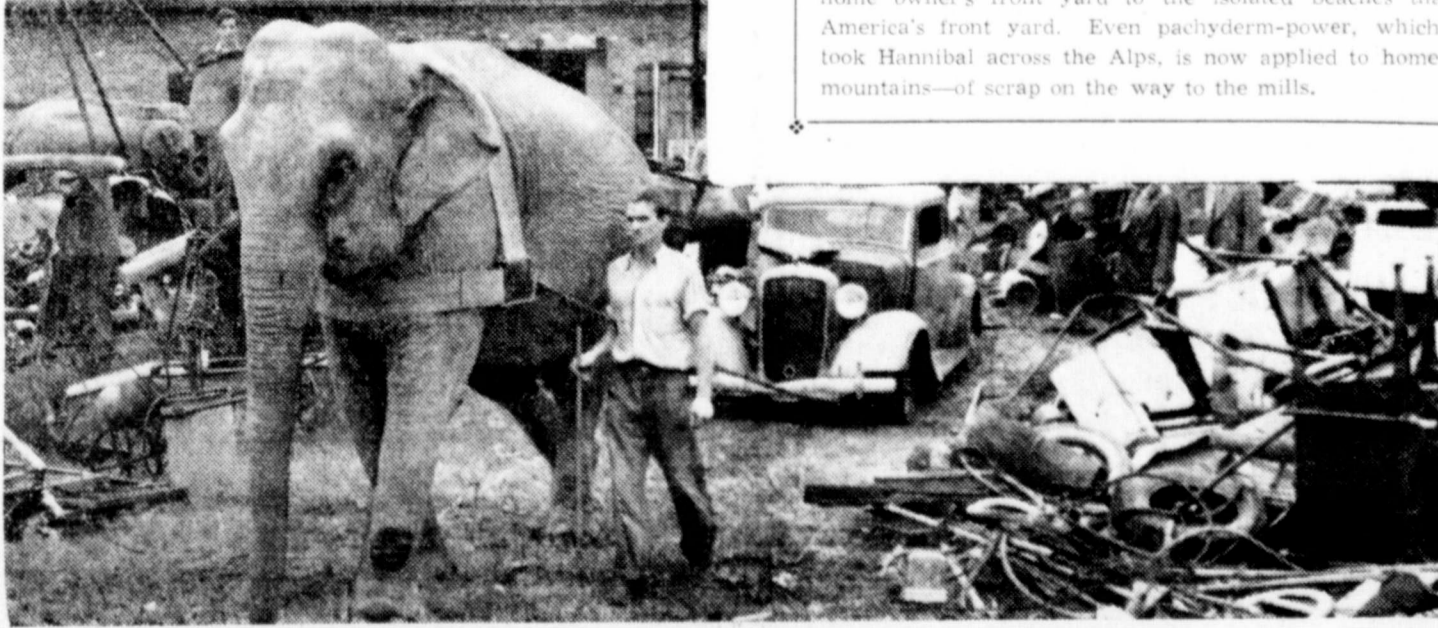

WAR HASN'T DEPLETED ZOOS, SO ANIMALS THERE TO PROVIDE AIR RAID ALERT.

For all of war's mechanization, man still counts heavily on the strength, speed and cunning of animals for the specialized jobs where they out-perform machines. Those jobs, as these pictures show, are pretty much the same as their traditional peacetime duties. It doesn't make any difference to the pack mule whether he's toting the prospector's pack or the artillery's punch. The sheep's job, in war or peace, is providing food and clothing for man. A cat remains a pet, whether at home on the hearth or aboard a warship at sea. Dogs have merely shifted the locale of their protective watch—from a home owner's front yard to the isolated beaches that are America's front yard. Even pachyderm-power, which once took Hannibal across the Alps, is now applied to home-front mountains—of scrap on the way to the mills.

TEXAS GENERAL FUND DEFICIT IS NOW $33,244,863

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—The state's general fund deficit which voters apparently wish funded by bonds, reached $33,244,863 Thursday, an increase of $2,236,279 in one year. A constitutional amendment requiring funding of the debt as of Sept. 1, 1943, received approval of the electorate on the basis of unofficial and incomplete returns from Tuesday's election. The amount of the deficit fluctuates, depending upon the ratio of state spending to income, both variable figures. The deficit will decrease as additional property tax collections for 1942 are received but will increase by next Sept. 1.

TEXAS & PACIFIC WAR BOND COACH WILL BE A FORCEFUL AGENCY IN GREAT CAMPAIGN

One of the most unique war bond salesmen traveling in America today, selling bonds for Uncle Sam, is the beautiful new Texas & Pacific war bond coach. The coach is painted red, white and blue and carries the slogan "Buy War Bonds" in white. "We are very proud of the war bond coach, and believe it will be a forceful agency in the great war bond campaign," said Frank Jensen, general passenger agent. "Through this effort it is expected that thousands of dollars worth of war bonds will be sold." The plan contemplates that the war bond coach will alternately be carried by the various Texas & Pacific trains over the two thousand miles of this railway in Texas and Louisiana. Millions of people in this territory will have an opportunity to observe the car. "Surely such a reminder as the war bond coach will stir every good American and cause him to dig deeply into his pockets to buy his share in our country's victory," said Mr. Jensen.
