Cisco Gets Busy Preparing for Opening of Automotive Training School

At a meeting of the city commission Saturday morning at which J. R. D. Eddy, state supervisor of trades and industries, and George Blitch, state supervisor of mechanical training, were present, together with a number of local citizens, plans of a more or less detail nature were made and committees appointed to carry through on the Automotive Training school to be located in Cisco as soon as physical properties are ready to receive the equipment and work.

About $20,000 worth of equipment is ready to be shipped to Cisco as soon as the building is ready to receive it, Mr. Eddy stated. A concrete floor and doors and windows are to be installed first, and the roof is also to be mended.

Committees Appointed Building and Repairs—A. D. Anderson, R. L. Ponsler, H. S. Drumwright. Finance—J. D. Lauderdale, R. N. Cluck, Harry Reynolds, C. M. Neville, N. C. Huston, Charles J. Kleiner, G. R. Nance, George Boyd. Lunch Room—Charles J. Kleiner, L. A. Warren, E. P. Crawford. Entertainment—Mrs. E. L. Graham, Mrs. A. D. Anderson, Mrs. H. S. Drumwright, Mrs. Karl Armstrong.

All committees except the entertainment committee are to organize and report to the city commission Monday night. It was stated that these committees should proceed with dispatch, so that work can be completed at the earliest possible moment.

Mrs. E. L. Graham, chairman of the entertainment committee, said her group would make a survey of the city.

The executive board of the Cisco Welfare association will meet Tuesday morning at the chamber of commerce, says Mrs. B. S. Huey.

of their possibilities, but would await further consultation with the lady director who is to be in charge of the women trainees before making any definite plans.

Mr. Eddy said it was hoped and expected that the Cisco institution will become the model school of its kind in Texas.

West Texas Utilities CO. Reddy Kilbratt TALKS IT OVER WITH YOU. "Mister, do you believe in paying taxes?" YOU: Do I? Boy, oh, boy!... Hey, wait a minute? Who? Me? REDDY: Yes. YOU! YOU: Aw, shucks! I thought you meant the other guy. REDDY: Just as I suspected. You... most all of us... want "the other guy" to bear the tax burden. Well, in that case, you can fully appreciate the taxes paid by your electric servant— YOU: Sure! You betcha— REDDY: Yes, we're all used to the utilities and other types of free enterprise paying most of the cost of schools, parks, highways, local, state and federal governments. A large portion of every dollar we spend for electric service has always gone for taxes... paid out by the utilities. Now that we've got a real war on our hands, the utilities will pay a lot more taxes— YOU: Oh, well, don't they always say: "The consumer pays"? REDDY: Whoa! Not in this case. It's the people who've invested their savings. There has not been any increase in the cost of electric service! But the 1942 taxes paid by the West Texas Utilities will total not less than $1,150,000... an increase of 35 per cent over 1941! YOU: W-h-h-ee-e-w! That's a lot of dough! REDDY: Right! It's enough money to blast Hitler with 55 million bullets from the new Garand rifle at the Army's specified price of two-bits a dozen... 55,200,000 bullets, to be exact. And it's money that YOU don't have to dig up in taxes... or for electricity either! In fact, today you're getting two or three times as much electricity for the same money as ten or fifteen years ago— YOU: Say! That's the American way... the West Texas way... of doing business! SECOND SOLOMONS KNOCKOUT MORE SEVERE ON YELLOW MEN THAN WAS THE FIRST DEFEAT

HEADQUARTERS UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET, Pearl Harbor, Nov. 17.—America's naval victory in the Solomon Islands means the eventual expulsion of the Japanese from Guadalcanal Island, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet, said today.

"We are going to clean them out," he promised.

Nimitz described the four-day engagement in which the Japanese lost one battleship, five cruisers, five destroyers and 12 transports, against two American light cruisers and six destroyers, as one of the most decisive battles of the war, a major U. S. victory, and the "toughest slugging match" in which the Navy had engaged since the Civil War 80 years ago.

He said the result justified the Navy's faith in the battleship, since dreadnaughts of both sides were in action and those of the U. S. contributed considerably to the shattering enemy losses.

A startling feature of the battle, Nimitz disclosed, was the complete absence of Japanese aircraft carriers, while American carrier-based planes played an important part.

Japanese carrier losses, he said, may be "heavier than we have claimed or they have acknowledged."

Nimitz disclosed also that the Japanese, with their greatest naval concentration of the war, estimated by themselves at 90 ships, apparently had planned a double thrust at the southern Solomons and New Guinea.

The result was a historic American naval victory in the Solomons, and in New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur assumed personal command at the front of the Australian and American troops who seemed likely within the immediate future to throw the enemy entirely off the north coast of New Guinea and leave Rabaul, on nearby New Britain Island, their biggest base in the Southwest Pacific, open to attack.

The Japanese fleet became confused in the darkness, the Navy communique revealed, and two of the group fired on each other. Then, beaten, the enemy retired northward.

By daylight Nov. 13 U. S. planes attacked continually, raining bombs on ships damaged in the surface action.

That afternoon at least 12 enemy transports, under heavy naval escort headed for Guadalcanal. To cover their proposed landing, surface ships bombarded Guadalcanal early on the morning of Nov. 14.

As the transports neared the island, American planes struck, and at least eight of the transports were sunk. The remaining four kept heading for the island. They were found beached next day, and were destroyed by bombs.

On the morning of the 15th, scout planes saw the remnants of the enemy fleet retreating to the north.

Thus the U. S. won the first great surface ship engagement of the war. The victories won in the Coral sea and at Midway were largely battles of plane against ship.

ALLIES READY FOR DASH INTO TUNISIA

FRENCH NORTH AFRICA, Nov. 17.—Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson's British first army, reinforced by fast, hard-hitting American mobile units and French forces, was ready on the Algerian frontier today for the grand smash into Tunisia.

Advanced columns still were sniping into Tunisia, feeling out the coming battleground.

French and German reconnaissance units met in Tunisia Sunday, it was disclosed, and after an exchange of rifle fire, the Germans withdrew to Tunis.

The U. S. consul who escaped from Tunis and arrived in Algiers Saturday, said the Germans would only fight defensively, in an effort to hold ports and harbor facilities for eventual aid to Marshal Erwin Rommel, whose shredded Afrika Korps soon may be trapped between two great Allied armies.

4 CISCO BOYS ARRIVE CAMP KOHLER, CALIF.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—A congressional drive to postpone the nationwide rationing of gasoline, now scheduled to start on Dec. 1, was reported by its backers Tuesday to have gained strength in influential quarters.

Without disclosing the names of more than a score congressmen he said had assured him of support, Representative Johnston of Oklahoma said there was a splendid chance for an early hearing on a resolution he introduced Monday to set up a three-man board to study the entire petroleum situation.

Johnson's resolution automatically would forestall nationwide application of gasoline rationing for three months to give the board a chance to complete a survey. It was referred to the Banking and Currency committee, several members of which have been outspokenly opposed to extension of rationing to areas having plentiful supplies.

CATTLE MARKET

Cattle and calves of all classes found a fully steady to strong market on the Fort Worth stockyards Tuesday.

BUTCHERS STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—The San Francisco area was virtually without meat Tuesday as a walkout of butchers aggravated an already serious shortage brought about by federal government restrictions. The walkout came when 487 members of the Slaughterhouse Workers Union, Local 508, refused to report for work in a dispute over an 11-cent an hour wage increase demand.

WOMEN'S JOBS

It is a grand time to have the women of this country coming forward so gallantly and taking their men's places in business and industry, as men are called into the fighting forces. It is a natural procedure, which has always occurred to some extent in war time, but the overturn now is immensely greater than ever before.

It has brought one big change that is new to this country. Women by millions enter the factories. Not merely clothing factories and some others that involve no real novelty, because they represent mere mechanical extensions of hand work that women have done for ages. The big change now is in the women assuming men's jobs in steel mills and factories where they handle big and complex machinery. The public has been surprised, and not shocked but rather pleased, to see in the newspapers and magazines pictures of such workwomen, neatly attired, standing in long lines and so intent on their lathes that they pay no attention to the photographers.

All this is necessary, patriotic and admirable. Without such industrial recruits such a war could not be fought. And there isn't much worry about it now. But there may be headaches ahead. What will happen when the war is over, and the men come back, and the women face the loss of their good pay and independence? Their homes cannot take them all back. Other jobs must and will be found for them.

In the meantime the fact should be recognized locally that no work is more important than that now being performed by the women of America, and particularly the class of work soon to be taken up by trainees at Cisco's Automotive Training School.

FRANCE AND DANZIG

"Why die for Danzig?" Just before the war this insolent question was asked in a newspaper editorial by Marcel Deat, a French Fascist who has since become a pillar of the Nazi regime. He referred to the French promise to Poland against German aggression, the promise which brought France into the war. Most French patriots felt that the existence of their country depended on maintaining a strong bulwark against the Germans on the Polish border. Both interest and honor demanded that this solemn promise be kept. Yet Deat cried out, "Why die for Danzig?"

Frenchmen now know that to die for Danzig was to die for France. Americans can learn from their experience. We have not been free from people like Deat, honest but not informed enough to realize the unity of the world. Just as letting the aggressor in through a breach in Poland meant ultimately the overthrow of France, so a Nazi conquest of North Africa would bring ever more submarines to our coast. That is why Americans are now fighting in Algeria and Morocco. "Why die for Danzig?" "Why die for Morocco?" It would be as sensible to ask, "Why die for the United States?"

RISE IN POWER

The government's plans for mobilization of American fighting power now call for an army of 9,700,000 men, in round numbers 10,000,000. It is a larger force than most experts thought necessary or possible. But since the dispatch of that incredible American army to North Africa, with so short a time for preparation, civilians can only look on admiringly and assume that the men in charge know what they're doing. At the same time civilians will have to be bumping to do their part of the big job. It is hardly less important than that of the fighting forces, though much safer. The more men there are under arms, the more raw materials must be fed into the factories and the more finished munitions must pour out. It takes far more workers to produce the armament than there are fighting men to use it. The productive capacities of this nation will be strained more than they have ever been before.

No longer working hours are inevitable. And for God's sake, no more strikes! There are adequate means of settling disputes without quitting work. With all those American fighting men to be supplied in Europe and throughout the world, any strike interfering with the production and dispatch of munitions would be little less than treason.

MARATHON

The mountains look on Marathon, And Marathon looks on the sea; And moaning here an hour alone I dreamt that Greece might still be free.

So wide the poet Byron a century and a quarter ago. The victory of Marathon, won against overwhelming odds by a band of devoted freemen, ensured the liberty of Greece for centuries. It has thrilled and inspired the world both before and after Byron. It is a part of the Greek heritage which no tyranny not even the Nazi can wipe out.

Such memories encouraged the Greeks to drive out Mussolini's army, and now to struggle against Hitler. As a weapon for free men, one Marathon is worth a thousand tanks.

THE PARENTS

These are the ones whose silent hands betray The hole propped wide by dread. Upon their still Pale lips are pressed the words no tongue dare say. Last hope fall, shattered by a note too shrill.

These are the one who urge themselves with work, Each trivial task a blessed opiate For nerves that tingle with a fear of Dunkers, For reined hearts struggling to communicate.

Be careful when you pass them. Leave a space Between you and their god for not alone Was in that candle smile upon her face.

Mr. in his voice, believed that casual tone.

Two Soldiers Write New War Bond Theme Song, "Ev'rybody Ev'ry Payday"

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Two young soldiers have completed a tour of duty with the Treasury Department, during which they composed several songs to promote the sale of War Bonds and Stamps. The composers, Sgt. Dick Uhl and Corp. Tom Adair, turned over the copyright to the Government for registration in the name of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr. Release of "Ev'rybody Ev'ry Payday" at this time is particularly timely because the War Savings Staff of the Treasury Department is preparing to launch a nationwide payroll savings campaign to "top that 10 percent by New Year's."

Uhl and Adair came to the Army from radio and met at Fort Jackson, where they were assigned to the orchestra. Uhl, one of four brothers in military service, is a native of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and graduated from Princeton in 1939. Adair was born in Newton, Kansas, and graduated from Los Angeles City College. Adair is well known in Tin Pan Alley, having written several hits. Among the songs for which he wrote the lyrics are, "Let's Get

MRS. PENTECOST COST VERY ILL AFTER STROKE

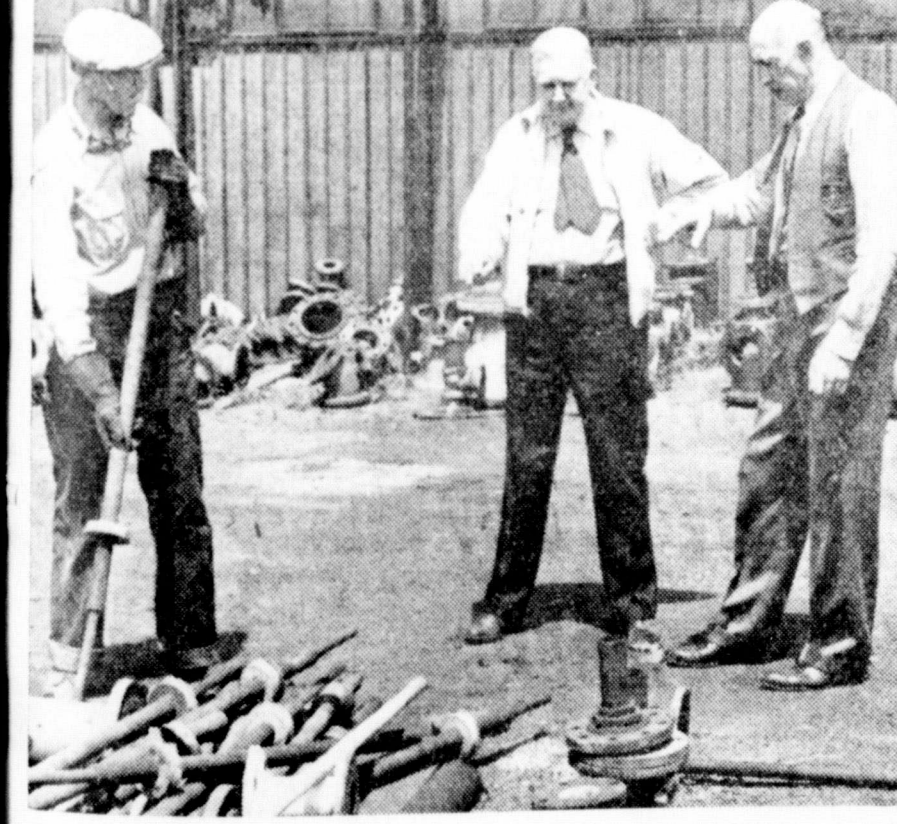

Mrs. R. M. Pentecost, mother of Mrs. P. R. Warwick, who suffered a stroke of paralysis at the Warwick home a week ago, continues very ill and there is little hope of recovery. Mrs. Warwick stated this morning.
The aged woman—past 70—was born in Exeter, Devonshire county, England, and came to this country on her first wedding anniversary, more than fifty years ago. Her home had been in Pittsburgh until she came to Cisco to be with her daughter, two years ago. A free, well-stored mind and a cheerful disposition have made her many friends during her stay here.

INDUSTRY SALVAGING OLD PARTS TO EASE WAR NEEDS

OFFICIALS OF BUFFALO, N. Y., PLANT SURVEY SCRAP.

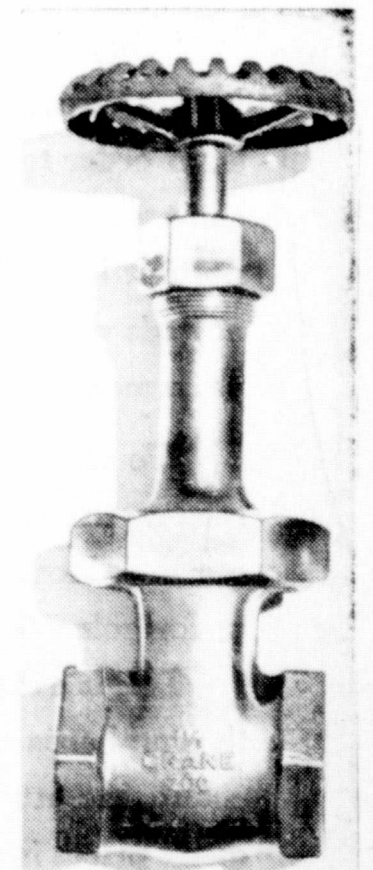

In keeping with the drive by industry to rout out all unused machinery and parts for defense salvage and, where possible, to repair parts scheduled for replacement, the Dupont Company, at its 82 plants throughout the country, has dug up more than 7,000,000 pounds of scrap thus far, with the effort still continuing. During the search of basements, warehouses and storeyards for this metal, many machines and parts were unearthed that with a little attention could be placed back in service. Company officials estimate that by the end of the year, well over 100,000,000 pounds of such metal will have been poured into the defense cauldrons. Typical of the reconditioning of parts that is taking place, workmen are pictured in the process of restoring to use a defective brass valve that had been discarded in pre-war days.

"Yes, sir, I am waiting for the rural carrier who will be due here in a few minutes if he is on time, and he always is, in order to get the Cisco Daily Press. Seems like we can't wait to get it. Besides the latest war news and important happenings over the state and nation, the local news is worth many times the price that they are asking us farmers for the paper. And then the ads we find!

We save quite a bit on our groceries since we started reading the ads each week. It is several miles farther than our little local town but we save more than enough to pay us for going to Cisco each week to do our shopping."

This is a sample of the conversations going on all over the rural area covered by the Cisco Daily Press, and merchants are attracting people to shop in Cisco when they quote prices in their ads. They not only do themselves a service but they help their community by bringing shoppers to Cisco.

If you have a soldier boy or friend who is not getting the paper, better make them a Christmas gift of a Year's Subscription. Nothing would be more appreciated because the soldiers and their buddies would enjoy it a whole year. When they are moved it can follow them to their new camp.

WAR BONDS HELP BUY BOMBERS

and hasten the day when you can have your cake --- and eat it, too!

Many a home-maker is finding it good to know that the War Bonds she is buying now for Victory will one day let her say: "Send me out that new hat!"

War Bonds, with which to win the fight for Freedom, also are savings. One day they'll buy the new hat. They'll buy a lot of things that you're doing without right now because the factories that used to make them are turning out weapons of war.

Electric appliances no longer are being manufactured. War Work has replaced them at the factory.

But Free Enterprise, the American system wherein men and women are free to create a business that builds and serves, will again make this a Land of Plenty.

Meanwhile, take care of your electric appliances ---and keep them working!
