AXIS RUSHES AIR AID TO EAST TUNISIAN COAST

LOOKING TO THE FARMER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24. The Daily Press, Cisco, Texas. The government is asking the American farmer to dedicate the remaining weeks of 1942 to an intensified scrap hunt. Steel mills need more heavy scrap and the farms are one of the best sources of this type of metal. We need your paper's further help in this farm drive, and in aiding our salvage committees to continue this effort throughout the next few weeks. Mats and other material to help you are being prepared and will be mailed to the Daily Press soon. All salvage committees are being instructed to continue to make available to the farmer all their transportation facilities and manpower, and to cooperate with you in every way possible. The Nation is looking to the American farmer. I am sure, with your help, he will come through. DONALD M. NELSON, Chairman.

H. Clegg, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, to preach the sermon. Rev. James R. Wright, pastor of the First Christian church, will preside as chairman. The choir will be made up from singers from the various churches, to whom an urgent invitation to participate is extended. W. Frank Walker of the First Baptist church will direct the choir and Mrs. Roy Camfield, from the same church, will be at the piano. Rev. Leslie W. Seymour, pastor of the First Methodist church, will give the invocation and Rev. Russell Dennis of the East Cisco Baptist church, the offertory prayer. Benediction will be given by Rev. Gary L. Smith of the First Presbyterian church. All churches of the city are to participate.

ALEUTIAN FLYER IN CISCO

A double-header program at the Lions luncheon today consisted of the initiation of five new members for the club and a talk by Lt. Winton Mathews of Albany, who has seen active flying service in the Aleutian islands, which called for many questions by members following his talk and the display of shells from guns used by U. S. flyers. Visitors at the club today were R. L. Ponsler, Rev. Russell Dennis, Roy Mathews, of Albany, father of the guest speaker, and Joe Eddy Hays of the West Texas Utilities company. Members initiated by Lion E. L. Jackson, who had charge of the program, were M. D. Fox, Arlin Birt, H. L. Baker and E. T. Thomas. Lieutenant Mathews, who is about 22 years of age, told vividly of his experiences in the fights for the possession of the Aleutian islands, which are covered by dense fogs during much of the time. His description of the dog fights between U. S. planes and the Jap zeros, which he described as wonderful fighting machines, made the audience almost imagine they were in the scraps, themselves. The story began with the arrival of the U. S. flyers in the Alaskan area and then told of the scouting and discovery of the enemy. Questions by members brought out much information concerning the Jap planes as compared with ours. Mathews did not underestimate the versatility of the Jap zeros, which he said were quick as lightning and could turn on a dime; but the U. S. planes were faster, he said, and were armored, whereas the Jap planes were to an extent suicide instruments of war, being unprotected and with the Japs strapped into their planes without parachutes. It was a matter of win or die with them, the lieutenant said. Lion O. L. Stamey made an announcement concerning the Lobo-Buckaroo football game at Breckenridge tomorrow, and asked that any one with car room should contact him.

BATTLES ON LAND AND IN THE AIR INCREASING IN FEROCITY; DECISIVE STRENGTH TEST NEAR

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Adolf Hitler is rushing airplanes from the Russian front to Sardinia and Sicily in a desperate attempt to get supremacy of the air and sea in the Tunisian zone, it was said authoritatively today. It was admitted that the reinforcements were heavy and that the Axis air forces were making big raids on Allied ports and shipping. The informant suggested that the Italian battle fleet might take to sea to join in the attack, but said a strong Allied naval covering force would be waiting for it. Dispatches from Africa reported that Allied and Axis armies had clashed in widely separated zones of Tunisia and that battles on land and in the air, increasing steadily in ferocity and size, portended an early decisive test of strength. Allied headquarters reported that all was going well as the main forces moved steadily eastward toward the Germans massing along the east Tunisian coast.

HOFFMAN RUMORS FALSE

The Dallas News this morning carried an Associated Press story concerning C. H. Hoffman, who last week tendered his resignation as mayor of Eastland, stating the resignation was caused by widespread rumor that he was a German spy and had been investigated by the FBI, and that he felt his usefulness was ended. The Associated Press quotes the Dallas office of the federal bureau of investigation as saying it had no record or recollection of investigating Mr. Hoffman. This would seem to make it very clear that the whispered charges against Mr. Hoffman had no factual foundation whatsoever. The News' Story EASTLAND, Nov. 24.—C. H. Hoffman has tendered his resignation as mayor of Eastland because, he said Tuesday, of false rumors that he was a German spy. Last Thursday he submitted his resignation along with a statement saying: "I find it unfair to the citizens of Eastland to serve them as their mayor or as city commissioner, as is generally and very publicly known that during my absence from the city last week the report was widely and thoroughly circulated that I am a German spy and that the FBI discovered a short-wave radio set at my home, and that I was arrested by the government agencies for same." Hoffman, whose mother and father came to this country from Germany, cited his record of service with the United States army in pursuit of Pancho Villa and in World War I. He enlisted both times, becoming an officer while serving with the AEF. The mayor said he was not certain of his status as mayor now. Petitions have been circulated through the town carrying names of citizens testifying the charges were false. He said he did not know whether the city commission had accepted the resignation. Hoffman's statement said he would finance an audit of city books. In addition, he proposed a special election which he also would pay for. He has served

COLLINS SUCCEEDS LANE

At a meeting of the city commission last night, J. J. Collins was elected to the vacancy caused by the recent resignation of Neil Lane, who has entered the army. Numerous matters were discussed and a committee was appointed to supervise the housing of the 200 Automotive Training School students who are to arrive in Cisco about December 14. The housing committee is composed of Nick Miller from the chamber of commerce, George Boyd from the city commission and L. A. Warren from the school board. The city accepted the offer of the M. K. & T. railroad to donate the use of the Mobley hotel, to the city to be continued as a city park provided the city would continue to keep it up. The city has been paying $12 per year for the use of the park, heretofore. Lots 11-12-13, block 107, subdivision I, were ordered sold to G. N. Mahaney for the sum of $75. Commissioners present were Mayor G. P. Mitcham, George Boyd, H. S. Drumwright, Charles J. Kleiner and A. D. Anderson.

PAY FOR TEACHERS.

AUSTIN, Nov. 25.—Increased pay for teachers in smaller schools will be necessary to remedy a threatened closing of many of them, Charles Tennyson of the Texas State Teachers' Assn., said today. The present law for equalizing school facilities prohibits increasing the pay of 17,000 teachers in schools receiving state aid, Tennyson said, and it has created a situation in which many vacated to turn into a rout. Let's see. What was that about the British not knowing how to fight? Eternal Vigilance is the price of liberty. Also of good behavior and a good figure.

LEST WE FORGET!

Joining other Cisco business firms in quiet celebration of America's most significant annual holiday — Thanksgiving Day — the Cisco Daily Press will not be issued tomorrow. Friday's paper will contain the weekend dry goods, grocery and other specials. Despite the insane slaughter of men, destruction of property and the wasting of everything that contributes to the betterment and everyday welfare of mankind, Americans, we feel, still have more to be thankful for than any other people on earth. Let's try and remember that and render sincere thanks and homage to the Author of all that is good and lasting.

TEXAS HAS TURKEY.

AUSTIN, Nov. 25.—Texas' turkey production this year, 2 per cent above last year, will provide 3,724,000 birds, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported Wednesday. An increased demand within the state means that farmers will sell close at home and not ship as much poultry out of the state as in previous years, said Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director.

COFFEE ONLY IS OUT.

FT. WORTH, Nov. 25.—Starting Monday, coffee-as-usual will be out for the duration of rationing in Fort Worth's cafes and restaurants. In some establishments, the pinch may not be felt heavily until the initial coffee allotment begins to run out. In others, the practice of selling coffee only with food will be adopted as soon as rationing starts. Some operators plan tactfully and gradually to discourage "coffee only" buyers, while others will end this kind of sales abruptly.

LLOYD'S LUCK.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—It never rains but it pours oil for Ralph B. Lloyd, who's already wealthy from petroleum royalties. He was advised by Mrs. Tilton Powell, occupant of a house he owns, that a flow of 14-degree gravity oil had started flowing into the basement. Lloyd ordered a hole dug outside the basement and a barrel or two of oil is being hauled away daily.

DRIVE STARTS TUESDAY A. M., DECEMBER 8

The Community Chest drive for funds for the five benevolences represented will begin Tuesday morning, December 8, said H. S. Drumwright, chairman of the organization. Having directors representing these fund-sharing groups, a great deal of lost motion will be saved by the fact that donors will only be contacted at the one time, instead of five separate times for the groups. The fund-sharing benevolences are Hot Lunch, Boy Scout, Welfare, Nursery school and Men's Service club.

TEXAN GETS NEW POST

FT. WORTH, Nov. 25.—Col. John O'Hara, 37, a native of Diboll, Texas, Wednesday was named chief of staff of the second air service area command by Brig. Gen. James A. Mollison, commanding general. Colonel O'Hara, who thus becomes one of the youngest chiefs of staff in the army air forces, attended Southern Methodist University until his appointment to West Point, from which he was graduated in 1929.

GERMANS IN BAD WAY.

MOSCOW, Nov. 25.—Three Russian army columns in the Stalingrad area and 100 miles to the west today smashed into Nazi defense positions in a great offensive which Soviet organs declared soon would liberate Stalingrad and effect "complete extermination" of the German armies in south Russia. The Red Army forces were driving ahead with increasing momentum and at some points Russian reports said terrified German and Rumanian troops were falling back in such disorder that their retreat threatened of turn into a rout.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Thankful? In time of war and carnage, misery and death? For what? First of all, thankful for the war itself—that we have the strength of mind, heart, body and soul to get out and fight for freedom.

Thankful for such measure of victory as so far has been given us. Thankful next for the power and richness of our country which enables us to provide for our fighting forces and for those of our allies the goods they need.

Thankful, also, for the normal things of American life—for homes, schools, churches, factories, mills and markets.

Thankful for the courage of our defenders who are brave and intelligent, strong beyond the strength of ten.

This is a sorrowful year for the families of those who have died within it—but a year of exaltation, too, for those who have entered a new and happier world, and for what they have accomplished before they went.

It is a year of anxiety and uncertainty about many things. But it is also a year of more certain direction, stronger unity, surer hope.

Americans give thanks this year as never before. They ask faith, hope and sustaining courage for the days to come. They lift their heads to meet the glory of the coming of the Lord. For Freedom marches on!

FAITH AND WORKS

The Allied Nations have been having such a run of luck lately, with the war, that some folks are beginning to worry a little. It doesn't seem natural to win so many victories in a row, to take over that vast area in North Africa with so little trouble, to find ourselves suddenly on the offensive in the Pacific, instead of the defensive, and so on.

Well, excessive pride and vainglory have doubtless snarled up many a promising war. It is well always, while keeping a stout heart in adversity, to have "an humble and contrite heart" in prosperity. This is a good time to read that great "Recessional" poem of Kipling's, with its refrain: "Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget."

But there may be also a counteracting principle. We say that "nothing succeeds like success," and that the way to win is, when you get into a winning streak, to go all out for victory. There's certainly something in that.

Perhaps the conclusion of this matter is simply the current slogan, "Praise God and pass the ammunition!" We haven't realized yet the full value of that inspired battle cry.

BUTTER NEXT

It seems strange, in a land like this one, flowing with milk and honey, to be short of sugar and coffee and to look forward to less and less butter and cream next year. But that's what war does, and especially when it is necessary to feed so many of the Allied forces.

She Does A Man-Sized Job On The Home Front

unless there is a rapid diversion of skilled dairymen back to farms. Why they were permitted to leave the farms is hard to understand.

There is also a constantly increasing demand for dairy products to go overseas, for our fighting forces and for our allies. This will be increased wherever we are able to take over portions of occupied countries, whose people need desperately whatever food we can get to them.

TINY STATES SAFE

Some creatures, it is said, are so small that they are never stepped on. If this applies to countries also, it explains why Hitler, who generally respects only the rights of the stronger, has left Andorra alone.

This little republic of 191 square miles and 3,000 population, lying high up in the eastern Pyrenees between France and Spain, was in line of march of the German soldiers occupying the whole of France. Yet Hitler ordered his troops to keep out of Andorra.

The smallest of all is San Marino, in northern Italy, with an area of only 32 square miles and a population of 14,000. It boasts of being the oldest state in Europe, going back to the fourth century.

Like Liechtenstein and Andorra, it has managed to stay out of the conflicts that have engulfed practically all Europe.

PUMPKINS

It was strangely appropriate that Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, when he was rescued from a raft at sea, rode back to the ship lashed to the wing of a plane. Wings for the Eagle!

Some folks call pumpkins commonplace. And only good for pies. But I see Romance twinkling in their laughing golden eyes!

Poor Peter-Peter lost his wife— You know the story well— Until he built a love-nest in A sunny pumpkin shell.

And Cinderella never heard Love tenderly approach Until she started riding in A shining pumpkin-coach.

Some folks treat pumpkins shamefully. And eat them up in pies. When all the while there's Romance in Those laughing golden eyes!

It is distressing to have your daughter act that way, but remember your mother had the same trouble with you.

Life seems rough to any only child when his parents no longer can hold him up and he must stand alone.

Typical of the firm, feminine hand which today is at the controls of many of America's activities is Mrs. William Wood of Coloma, Michigan. While her husband works at a war plant, Mrs. Wood manages a 120-acre farm, thereby taking her place in the ranks of the great army of women who have emerged as such a dominant factor in the victory drive on the home front.

16,000 WELLS PROPOSED BY OPC FOR 1943

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Minimum of 16,000 wells at a cost of approximately 1,200,000 tons of steel and other materials has been recommended by the office of petroleum co-ordinator for war in 1943, it has been revealed by E. DeGoler, assistant deputy co-ordinator. He revealed the drilling plans in a report to the house interstate and foreign commerce committee.

"This is a restricted program," he declared. "We will strive to make it serve but we are near the point where oil in addition to our estimated productive capacity can be secured only by a direct expenditure of critical materials."

DeGoler said a substantial increase in the number of wildcat wells was needed to "maintain our reserve position."

KENTUCKY IS SAVING MONEY ON AUTO TAGS

HARTFORD, Ky., Nov. 25.—County Clerk Cecil P. Taylor has received his stickers which will replace the metal tags for car licenses for the next year and which will go on sale December 1st.

The small sticker, which goes on the windshield is two inches by 4 inches and has the state outline and the state seal, the word Kentucky, the date 1943, and the type car. Clerk Taylor received 1,850 automobile stickers, 400 for commercial trucks and 200 for farm trucks.

Under the new regulations, car operators will retain their rear tag of 1942 and remove the front tag. Legally the rear tag will be the motorist's identification and his sticker will be his receipt.

The small sticker will cost the same as the plates and March 1, 1943, is the deadline for purchase. The shortage of metal was given as the reason for using stickers next year. The stickers will not have a county identification but are numbered 1 up for counties in alphabetical order.

The use of stickers is being adopted by several states to save metal and in Kentucky 125 tons will be saved. And the presses used for making them have been pressed into war service. The savings to the state will be enormous as the plates cost $30,000 while the stickers cost only $8,000.

NEW "FLU" VACCINE

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Nearly 2,000 Cornell University students and instructors have volunteered for an army experiment in combating influenza. A mass vaccination trial to test two new vaccines opened Monday under direction of the army influenza commission. The physicians described one vaccine as a "new preparation of great promise" and the other as a "control." While both have been used experimentally before, the doctors said, this is their first large scale test.

CISCO BANK ROBBED BY SANTA CLAUS

Police Chief Bedford Slain by Gang During Gun Battle After the Holdup.

It was the day before Christmas when a man dressed in a Santa suit and his three gunmen invaded the First National Bank in Cisco. Quickly they sacked the bank's money. When they started to flee they found officers blocking their path and grabbed two children as hostages.

Then the gun battle began. Police Chief G. E. Bedford shot down one of the gunman before withering fire blasted him to death. Another officer was wounded as the gang shot their way out of the trap.

Apparently the mob escaped without leaving a trace to their identities. District Attorney Sparks and Sheriff Hart managed to trace the Santa costume to the woman who had made it. But she proved to be a stumbling block until the investigators found a bunch of stolen bonds cached in her home.

From this point on the case looked like a cinch. But the officers didn't know then about the bloody scenes to come—the killing of the jailer, a lynching...

You can read all the vivid, dramatic, true details of this outstanding investigation, follow it step by step as it actually occurred. This exciting account appears under the title, "When Santa Claus Robbed the Cisco Bank," and is only one of the many intriguing fact detective stories which will be in the action-packed January issue of OFFICIAL DETECTIVE STORIES Magazine. The Early Pilgrims Smiled with Joy at the FIRST THANKSGIVING Although the Year Had Been Hard. Almost half their ranks had been decimated by illness and starvation, but still they maintained their morale and faith in God. The cold, raw climate and their lack of knowledge of how to cope with a new country, coupled with their lack of food, had been a terrible shock to them, yet they did not think of going back across the sea. They were set to a task with no thought of failure. Ciscoans find themselves with much for which to be thankful, yet with much to do. News from over the world in the various army camps of Europe, Africa, Russia, China and the South Seas, give Americans a feeling of security, and serves as a brace to their faith in success — based primarily on the fact that their cause is a just one, unmarred by selfish thought of conquest or empire. We have cause for smiles, while we go on with our plans, grimly determined that nothing shall hinder us in this war. We join other Ciscoans in a hearty co-operation for an ALL-OUT effort to do our share of whatever is demanded of patriotic citizens. PLAN NOW YOUR GIFT TO THE COMMUNITY CHEST! CISCO GAS CORPORATION

GAS BOOKS ARE STILL AVAILABLE, STATED

"It has been called to the attention of the county gasoline rationing board that numbers of people were unable to register for the Basic 'A' ration book," said L. A. Warren and George P. Fee, Cisco members of the board.

"If this is true of any Cisco people," Warren explained, "you can still secure the book by going to Eastland (taking your license receipt), or by visiting the Cisco chamber of commerce, where facilities for registering will be found. In Eastland the board has an assistant in the person of Miss Anna Jo Tableman, who will gladly aid all who have a good reason for failing to register thus far."

Some failed to register cars that are entitled to an A card, but whose owner is in the armed service. These cars may be registered with the Eastland board.

Those requiring additional gas should secure Form OPA -R-535 from your local chamber of commerce, or from your local board member, fill it out and leave with your chamber of commerce. Or, they may be mailed direct to the rationing board at Eastland.

Some cars were not registered because they had commercial licenses, though of the passenger car type. These should be registered as passenger cars. Use the Basic A blank. However, all commercial cars (pickups, etc.) that are so registered with the office of defense transportation, can secure their gasoline, as well as trucks, as per mileage set out on the certificates of work necessity.

Non-highway equipment (tractors, engines, washing machines, stoves, motorboats, etc.) may secure a non-highway blank from the chamber of commerce, fill out and leave with the chamber of commerce to be picked up by local board member. Or, it may be mailed direct to the rationing board.

Local board members will be glad to assist all who need it, but almost 5,000 applications are being considered by the board and it will require full cooperation with the board to get best results.

Use Gas Wisely

USE WHAT YOU NEED FOR HOUSE HEATING... DON'T WASTE IT

Watch the Temperature

Here in the Southwest natural gas is an important war fuel. Fortunately, your gas company has adequate facilities for making available a sufficient supply. Even so, it is the civilian's first responsibility to conserve all our resources for the needs of our armed forces. And this means conserving natural gas in every sensible way that you can. Use what you need, but use it wisely, don't waste it.

An example of waste is overheating the home. Scientists say that the ideal, healthful indoor temperature for winter living is between 70 and 72 degrees. So get a thermometer (if your equipment isn't automatic) and watch it so your house heating won't get above 72 degrees.

How to Use Gas Wisely for House Heating

1. Avoid over-heating. Don't let temperature get above 72 degrees.
2. Keep all heating equipment in good operating condition; keep it clean and free from all dust particles.
3. Flame on radiant-type room heaters should not be allowed to lick out top of radiators.
4. If you have a gas heater in your fireplace, seal the flue tightly so the room heat will not go out the chimney.
5. Shut off from rest of house seldom used rooms such as spare bedrooms or sun porch. However, for the health of your family, maintain an even heat not over 72 degrees throughout balance of house.
6. Do not put metal covers on radiators. They absorb heat radiation and stop warm air circulation. Radiators should be painted with a thin coat of flat oil paint, not metallic paints.
7. See that windows and doors lock tightly; if possible they should be weather-stripped.
8. Window openings should be no wider than otherwise they become heat wasters. Where window equipment is used, a small opening at the top of the window is recommended to help reduce "sweating."
9. At night when windows are open in bedrooms, shut off rest of house to prevent temperatures from dropping so low that more fuel will be needed to build up warmth during the morning hours.
10. Insulation reduces consumption of heating gas 20 to 25 per cent in one-story houses and 15 to 20 per cent in two-story houses of standard type construction. Insulation materials are plentiful and cheaper than ever before.

As far as Lone Star engineers and production men can see, Lone Star System will be able to meet the wartime demands of all residential, commercial and war customers this winter.

Convenient size fits standard notebook, or paste on card-board for display in prominent place so all members of family can see as a daily reminder to use gas wisely. Remember, gas rates have been reduced since last winter, and using gas wisely adds to this saving.

Bells to Toll Hitler's Knell Are Made by German-born Canadian

SOMEWHERE out on the heaving Atlantic, the ship's bell of a Canadian corvette tolls the hour and a sailor, his face lashed with the wind and the spray, gratefully prepares to go below after a long spell on watch.

"Sure sounds good to hear that bell," he remarks as one of his mates appears to relieve him.

What the sailor and a good many other Canadians probably wouldn't know is that the melodious bell was manufactured in a little machine shop on a farm a mile and a half out of Kitchener, Ontario, by a craftsman from Germany.

Born in Leipzig district but a naturalized Canadian citizen several years before the outbreak of war, Carl Stoermer, shown above, makes bells and nameplates for shipyards from coast to coast. His humming shop stands as a perfect example of how little plants all over Canada are being utilized to speed production.

Before leaving Germany, Stoermer headed a bell-making firm that employed forty skilled artisans. Although there was little demand for his type of craftsmanship in Canada before the outbreak of war, the shipbuilding expansion started orders pouring in. In a barn that formerly housed the livestock of the farm, he set up a foundry and machine shop.

The sand used as cores for his bell-molds he gets from his own farm. Formerly, it was believed that this special sand had to be imported from the United States. Now the experts are studying his methods to see whether Canadian sand can be used for other moulding purposes which at present require imported sand.

Most of his equipment is home made. Perhaps the most ingenious item is his lathe. He obtains speed variations on this machine by using an old automobile transmission picked from the scrap heap. Unlike some of the larger war plants of the Dominion, he doesn't need any production engineers or efficiency experts. When he gets a little behind in his orders he shifts into high gear and the sparks begin to fly.
