CANTEEN AT CISCO AUTOMOTIVE TRAINING SCHOOL WILL BE THE MODEL FOR OTHER CANTEENS

Mrs. W. P. Hardy, dietician in charge of the canteen for the Women's Automotive Training School, will begin training her helpers tomorrow, looking to the beginning of school on Monday, January 4.

Mrs. R. B. Carswell has been employed as assistant to Mrs. Hardy. For preparation and service, six women have been employed, while two dishwashers have been selected out of about fifty applicants.

All these applications have been reviewed and will be used for reference and for a possible increase in employees.

The canteen will be open 16 hours daily, serving two dinners, at 11 a.m. and at 6 p.m., for the shift. Refreshments and sandwiches will be served at other hours.

ARMY CUT WAY THROUGH 30,000 GERMAN TROOPS NEAR STALINGRAD TODAY AND MOVED ON

MOSCOW, Dec. 30.—The Red Army cut its way through 30,000 German troops southwest of Stalingrad today, seized two divisional headquarters and rolled on toward Rostov, key to the Caucasus.

Tank-led Red troops, driving tirelessly throughout the night with hope bright of turning a German disaster into a debacle, captured new towns and villages on the southwest Stalingrad front and sent great numbers of prisoners to their rear.

In another southwest Stalingrad sector a single Red unit destroyed 15 field guns, 45 trench mortars, four big ammunition dumps and 52 trucks.

By their capture of Kotelnikovski, 90 miles southwest of Stalingrad, they smashed the anchor of the entire German right wing, and news was expected at any time that the Russian left wing had swung around in a direct attack over flat plains which offer little possibility of effective defense against tanks, on Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus.

In night fighting in piercing cold, the Russians took village after village.

Tanks, operating by themselves, encircled one batch of 6000 German troops, and killed 1800, the noon communique said.

In another southwest Stalingrad sector a shivering battalion commander came voluntarily into the Red Army lines to surrender. The Russian sector commander invited him to return to his unit and bring back his men. He did so and surrendered about 1000 men with all their arms and supplies, the noon communique reported.

In the northern factory area of Stalingrad, where the new Russian offensive was assuming proportions almost as important as that to the southwest, the Russians during the night drove forward against desperate German resistance and smashed 82 blockhouses and dug-outs, killing 300 troops.

Over Stalingrad, the Red Air Force and the anti-aircraft gunners in the single day shot down 31 giant German transport planes which sought to drop food and supplies to the garrison.

In the middle Don sector the Russians threw back a succession of counter-attacks by shock troops the German High Command was throwing in steadily from diminishing reserves. In only one attack did the Germans regain lost ground. There the Russians attacked again, got back their positions, killed 400 Germans, knocked out six tanks and captured ammunition dumps and other important supplies.

ALLIES MAKE GAINS IN ONE TUNISIA AREA

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The Allies were advancing on at least one sector of Tunisia today, and on others were smashing Axis counter-attacks with heavy Axis losses. German-controlled Radio Vichy quoted "Berlin reports" today that American forces northwest of Medjez-El Bab, 27 miles southwest of Tunis, had advanced toward Tebourba, but had "been forced to retreat."

The British First Army, Radio Vichy said, had tried to outflank Axis forces southwest of Pont Du Fahs, which is 36 miles southwest of Tunis, but below Medjez-El Bab, and had "been repulsed."

Allied North African headquarters acknowledged yesterday that British and American forces had withdrawn from a hill position six miles northeast of Menjez-El-Bab, which they had taken the day before Christmas.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE MEETS JAN. PLAN TO ESTABLISH INTERNATIONAL COURT FOR TRIAL OF HITLER & CO. IS A GOOD ONE

AUSTIN, Dec. 30.—Governor Stevenson expresses full approval of the proposed recommendation by President Roosevelt for heavy reductions in government non-war costs. The president, according to Washington reports, will go before congress and urge deep cuts in expenses not directly involved in the war effort, a decrease that may run anywhere from $500,000,000 to $5,000,000,000.

"The more reduction made in federal expenditures not essential to winning the war, the more it will help the taxpayer," the governor said.

Stevenson added that the most important subject to come before the regular session of the Texas legislature, which opens Jan. 12, will be economy. Cooperating with the board of control, he will submit to the legislature a budget calling for a $10,000,000 slash, and the governor expressed belief an additional $1,000,000 can be lopped off.

"I still do not think any new tax will be necessary," he asserted. "Surveys of the state government's finances show we are in pretty good shape."

The state auditor, state controller and state treasurer only recently have reported much more money will be available than predicted several months ago, that revenues from state sources with the exception of the gasoline tax have been showing increases, which will continue.

"If the legislature can make the reduction in excess of $10,000,000, it will be all right," Stevenson said. "I think we can do this safely without impairing any government functions. I have received from members only one or two suggestions for any tax proposals."

Lieutenant-Governor-elect John Lee Smith a week ago declared that with Texas setting the example by cutting $10,000,000 from expenditures the federal government should follow up with a reduction of $1,000,000,000 or more.

Governor Stevenson had little to say regarding the proposed rationing of 200 food items, as announced Tuesday in Washington. However, he commented: "It will require an army of employes for checking and bookkeeping to supervise the program." Smith said that nearly 3,000,000 are employed by the federal government and that the number should be cut 50 per cent "in behalf of the taxpayer."

and they provide a cheap way of harvesting such crops. Peas are another economical crop that turkeys may gather for themselves. One must be on the job each day with turkeys, Arnold says. They will stray away from home and may take up roosting headquarters miles from their home, unless one sees to it that they come home at night. They are lots of worry, but then what is it one can do without some worry, he asks.

LIQUOR SURVEY SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—office of war information, whose investigators traveled more than 12,000 miles in a coast-to-coast survey of drinking conditions in and around army camps, reported Wednesday: "There is not excessive drinking among troops, and drinking does not constitute a serious problem."

NIMITZ SEES FAMILY. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—News of the recent arrival in San Francisco of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet, to visit his family, was made public Wednesday.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—(United Press)—Nations are preparing to establish an international criminal court for the postwar trials of Adolf Hitler, Benito Mussolini and other Axis war criminals, reliable informants say.

Though the criminals themselves cannot be brought to justice until after the war, plans already under discussion call for the immediate drafting of rules of procedure, preliminary amassing of evidence and codifying of international law.

It is understood here that President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull probably will select a prominent American legal expert to act as a consulting adviser to the court.

The most likely choice appears to be Sheldon Glueck, professor of criminal law and criminology at Harvard university and considered one of the world's greatest authorities on international law.

Though a native of Poland, he became a naturalized citizen of the United States in 1920 and is a member of the advisory committee to the United States supreme court on rules of criminal procedure.

The principal work on the establishment of the court itself has been done during the last several months by the Inter-Allied commission for the trial of Axis war criminals.

Glueck has been assisting in preparations for establishment of the court, cooperating closely with Marcel Dedaer, chief justice of Belgian courts in Britain and chairman of the war crimes commission of the London International Assembly.

Glueck proposed that provisions for trial and punishment of the Axis war criminals be made part and parcel of any armistice or peace treaty.

The defeated nations should be compelled to surrender for trial their chief war criminals, as well as civilian violators of civilized criminal laws, as a prerequisite for any cessation of hostilities, he contends.

Glueck also proposes that the United Nations military forces furnish police officials for the arrest, detention and trials of accused persons and urged that extradition treaties be re-examined to prevent Axis leaders from fleeing to neutral countries to escape punishment, as did the Kaiser in the last war.

Proponents of the court argue that it should be set up at once

COLEMAN WILLIAMS OF MIDLAND MADE TALK AT LION LUNCHEON; DISCUSSED THE OIL SITUATION

Coleman Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Williams, Cisco, presented today as speaker at the Lion luncheon by his father, who was program chairman. President Hinton read a letter of thanks to the club from Miss Betty Sikes for the Christmas remembrance. C. E. Hickman, local manager of the J. M. Radford Co. company, was a guest of the luncheon.

Williams, who is now in charge of the engineering department of the Texas railroad commission, oil division of Midland, said the outlook for oil development was very bright and that regulations which greatly encourage wildcatting but restricted one well to each 40 acres, will help in the development after the war, since location of oil sands would have been found and development would be less costly.

Wildcat drillers have preference over other oil development in receiving materials, especially steel, for their work. They can get all of it they require, but the problem now is its distribution, more especially in the north and east.

Williams ended his interesting talk with the thought that sacrifice was necessary in the oil business, just the same as it is in every other line in the United States. Victory is the main thought, and whatever can be done to attain that end must be done, regardless of whether it hurts one's private business or not. Of course, he added, the government is trying to make that hurt just as little as possible without sacrificing the drive for victory.

HOGS PREDOMINATED IN THIS WEEK'S SALES AT CISCO CATTLE AUCTION; TOTAL $3,000

Hogs predominated in the auction sales at the Cisco Livestock association, Tuesday afternoon. Sales reached only about $3,000, probably because totals for hogs do not add up so largely as do sales from cattle.

Prices were good, according to Paul Booth, secretary for the association.

151 TURKEYS BRING ARNOLD A NEAT SUM

The growing and marketing of 151 turkeys out of a hatch of 160 eggs is a pretty fair record, according to H. G. Arnold of near Rising Star. He has just sold the last of this flock and has received $438.90 for the number sold.

Turkeys are about as easy to raise as are chickens, thinks Arnold, if one is prepared to care for them. As a matter of fact, he says one must fix for it if he expects to grow any kind of animals or crops.

Turkeys need a good range. The more bugs on that range the better luck he will have and the less feed he will have to use to keep them growing. In the wild state, not many years removed, turkeys fed on all kinds of bugs and wild berries. Peanuts make mighty good grazing for turkeys

WAR COSTS

This war is far more costly than any previous one, but it is not the interest rates on war loans that make it so. It is the cost of war equipment and operations. Airplanes, tanks and other forms of mechanized fighting are less expensive in terms of human life, but far more when measured in dollars. From present estimates and appropriations already voted by congress and the current outlay for subsidies and loans to states that may never be repaid, it begins to look as if the war may set Uncle Sam back as much as $300,000,000,000. It will take a long time to wipe out that indebtedness.

There are, however, ameliorating factors. One is the lower interest rate paid by the government on war loans. War loans have fallen from 4.5 and 4.75 percent interest in the last World War, to less than 3 percent now. Secretary Morgenthau hopes to do most of the financing of 2 1/2 percent. This will mean in the long run, a saving of many billions.

Obviously the more war bonds people buy now, while they are making big money, the less they and their children will have to pay later.

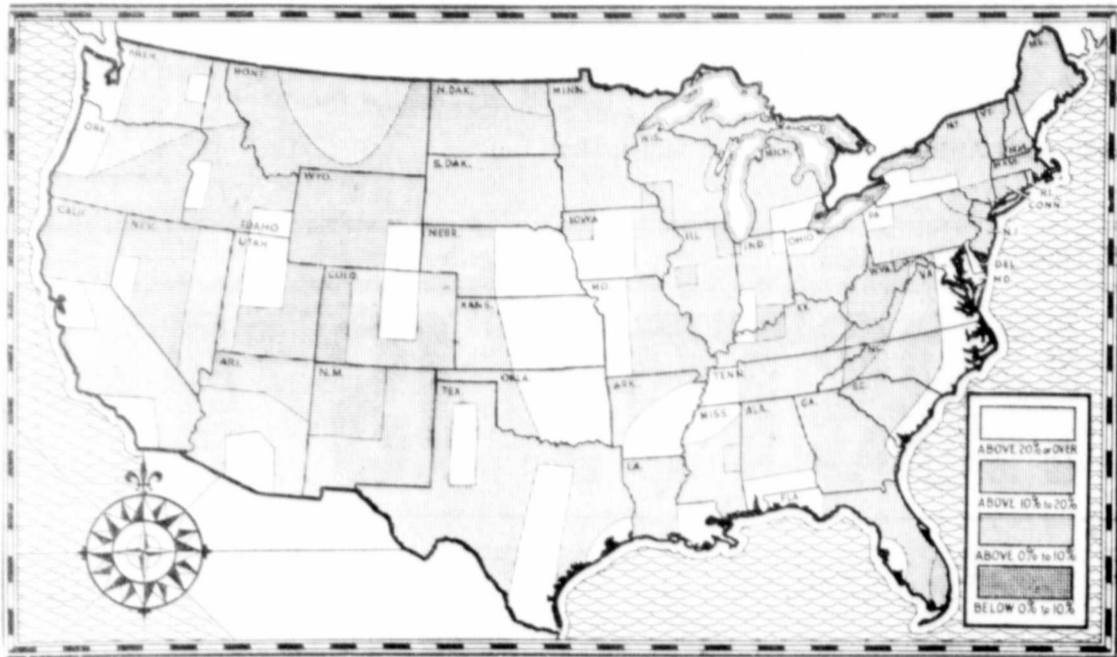

SEESAW CITY

If the Russians wanted to rename Rostov, an appropriate title would be "Seesaw City." It is changed hands more than any other important town in this war. The German invaders took it on Nov. 21, 1941, only to lose it a week later. In May 1942 they made a renewed drive, but not till July was it successful. Now it begins to look like the Soviets' turn again. Their advance not long ago carried them within 85 miles of that outpost of the Caucasus, and the Germans are in no way to worry about its safety.

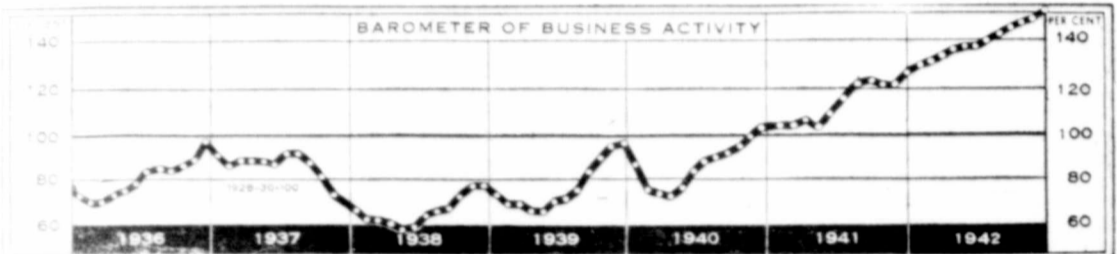

As a gateway to the oil country, a manufacturing town and a railroad center, Rostov is well worth seeing. If it should fall again to the Russians, Germany will have little to show for her war and a half of war except a million or more men dead or mangled for life.

VOLUNTARY TEMPERANCE

One way to check the spread of the movement towards prohibition is to prove that it is not needed. This takes self-control on the part of the people who do not want prohibition because they are a crime-ridden and then, Bishop James A. McFadden, in a recent address to a group of Knights of Columbus, urged this voluntary temperance upon the young generation.

This map depicts current business conditions as compared with the same period last year. It will appear in the January number of "Nation's Business", published by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

They need to be temperate, as well as part of the maintenance of the American standard of living. It is a respect for one's religion and also to be in readiness to meet the physical hardships of war.

Also a quarter century ago enough people believed that law was the answer to the problem of crime. Congress passed the prohibition amendment. Later, enough people believed the amendment was wrong that it was not the answer.

It takes something inside of a man to remain temperate. It takes a purpose in life which calls for standards of conduct, a strategy of will to follow the purpose and uphold the standards. The law did not work well. Voluntary temperance, beginning with the individual, could turn the tide. Enough people saw the reason for it. An educational campaign might help.

WORDS COME TRUE

Let us hope England has saved herself by her energy, and will save Europe by her example. These brave words were spoken nearly a century and a half ago by her prime minister, William Pitt, struggling against what seemed then the invincible might of Napoleon. They came true, though Pitt did not live to see it.

They are even truer today, when England's victory in the Battle of Britain in September, 1940, saved her national existence. This has since brought Russia and the United States to her aid, and the signs of 1942 show that the Nazis will be beaten and Europe will be saved.

As late as 1937 there were hard-boiled Europeans and no Americans in the Solomon Islands. Progress was made even as late as Pearl Harbor. The war is a great upheaval of geographic inter-relationships.

Little Complacency

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, returning to the United States after his ordeal in the South Pacific, says if Americans could see our soldiers on Guadalcanal they would stop quibbling over gasoline rationing and would not be so complacent toward the war. We are happy as are all Americans, to welcome home the intrepid aviator, but he has fallen into the common error of others who have been absent from our shores, in assuming that we are indifferent toward the war.

We do not believe America is complacent. If there is grumbling over gasoline rationing, it is not because of a longing against sacrifice for war, but because substantial numbers believe the method wrong and the program unnecessary. Such complaint as we have heard is against administration of the war effort, a criticism that it is not being prosecuted with full efficiency—not that there should be a letdown in the war effort. Our proud record of production this year, our assumption of tax responsibilities, and our adjustment of a new American way of life, refute any charges that the American people would let the enemy win by default. We can understand Captain Rickenbacker's emotions in passing from the rough and tumble of Guadalcanal to the comparatively placid confines of our own Main streets, but because we don't wear long faces the clock around is not proof that the boys in the Solomons are being let down.

Captain Eddie seems to have the illusion of others, that the American people must have a "shot in the arm" at intervals to Credit on Your Income Tax... for the money spent on title work in 1942 will not be allowed. But don't worry. The savings you have made in getting the abstract first and buying later will be sufficient, in most cases, to pay your entire tax, and probably some to spare. So let us resolve for 1943 that we will not buy real estate, howsoever cheap, without first getting an abstract, and having it approved by a title attorney. Earl Bender & Company, Inc. CARD OF THANKS. My heart was shaken when the news came that my son is missing in action, and for the moment I was seized with a feeling of desolation and terror, that seemed more than I could endure. But, through the countless expressions of loving kindness and the many prayers of my friends and loved ones, I have found comfort and anchorage to help me go on during the gallant thing during the agonizing days to come. Thank you one and all, for these many tokens of sympathy, and may God bless you, is my prayer. FRANCES LITTLE.

VEGETABLES . . . as you like 'em

by Dorothy Greig

French Style Onions—a new and delicious way to serve this every day vegetable.

IN old B. V. (Before Vitamins) days we did weird things to vegetables—such as soaking before cooking, boiling long and hard in deep water, peeling skins in thick ribbons. After all that drabbing the poor vegetables arrived on the table looking dejected—and tasting that way, too.

Now we know better. We bake and boil vegetables in their skins where possible. We're stingy with water, very stingy. We keep them tightly covered and never stir them. We cook them quickly, eat immediately. And have discovered that vegetables treated thus not only are better for us—but have lovely fresh flavor. They're fun to eat!

Having mastered the new technique we can go on from there to add a few flourishes. For instance, the humble little onion fixed this way has new zest and spirit.

French Style Onions
 3 cups small sweet-skinned onions
 1 cup condensed consommé
 Pinch of pepper
 2 tablespoons grated cheese (sharp)
 Heat the consommé by boiling and add onions and cook until tender about 40 minutes. Then add pepper and grated cheese just before serving. Serves 5.

And celery—it's another prosaic every day vegetable—but in this cream tomato sauce you'd never guess it.
 Celery in Tomato Sauce
 1 cup celery, cut in pieces about 1 inch long and 1/2 inch wide
 Cook the celery in water until tender. Then drain.
 Tomato Cream Sauce
 1 cup condensed tomato soup
 2 tablespoons cream cheese
 Add the cream to the tomato soup and heat. Pour sauce over the cooked celery. Season, if necessary. Serves 6.

GREAT INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT COMING

PARIS, Dec. 30.—Senator Tom Connally told a luncheon gathering here that the United States faces a long, hard struggle in the war, an increased tax load next year, and forecast postwar industrial developments in Texas which will surpass anything in the state's history.

Of gasoline rationing, the chairman of the senate foreign relations committee said there is a possibility regional differences in transportation problems may be considered soon in formulating regulations. He cited the differences in available facilities in Connecticut, for example, as contrasted to Texas. This he called to the president's attention, he said.

By indirection, he endorsed United States participation in this war's counterpart of the League of Nations, and said there has been too much of the "irritations and annoyances" of rationing and other regulations.

He said the tide has begun to turn in our favor in the Solomons, and predicted it Rommel can be eliminated as a factor in North
