NOW COLD WERE YOU, FELLOW?

Cisco was one of the cold spots on the U. S. map last night, although there is a big difference of opinion among Cisconians as to just how cold it was—probably due to the fact that Cisco thermometers have not had much experience in recording weather of the extremely cold type.

Local Readings.

Here's what some of the local thermometers showed:

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. — E. Hooks—Our thermometer stood at zero at 6 o'clock, 2 below at 7, 3 below at 8—then it began to back-track.

West Texas Utilities Co. — ice plant—Readings taken here revealed 3 degrees above zero at 7:30 and also at 9:15 o'clock, said J. H. Proctor.

Blockwell Lumber Co. — J. R. Slaughter said it was 5 degrees above zero at 8 o'clock. This thermometer was outside, but was protected from the wind.

Frank Harrell, Harrell Hill—thermometer, in a protected place, registered 8 above at 8:30 this morning. However, with one large wood fire and three gas stoves burning all night, water pipes in the bathroom froze—the first time this has ever occurred. The Harrell home is a native-wood structure and the walls are 14 inches thick.

Fire Station — Clarence Tume said the department's thermometer stood at one degree above at 8:45 o'clock.

Cisco Gas Corporation — O. L. Dickett said the thermometer showed 6 above at 8 o'clock.

Dean Drug Co.—George Atkins reported Dean's thermometer on the zero mark at 7:15 o'clock.

Moore Drug, Mrs. Harriet Evans—Zero at 7 o'clock.

Burton - Lingo Lumber Co., Charles Dendy—Four above at 9 o'clock this morning.

City Drug, Leon Maner—Six above at 7:30 o'clock.

Yancey McCrea, 1301 N avenue—Four above at 7 o'clock.

W. Frank Walker, secretary school board—Zero at 8:05.

In Ft. Worth at 8:30 this morning the weather bureau thermometer at the airport station registered five degrees above zero.

21-DAY OLD STRIKE IS UP TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The 21-day-old strike of anthracite miners in Pennsylvania today inspired demands in congress ranging from proposals to prosecute the union leaders to passage of legislation making it a crime to strike in time of war.

One member of the house represents an anthracite mining town, Rep. John W. Murphy (Democrat, Pennsylvania) leaves today "to make a personal plea to the miners in my district to go back to work."

But the next step in the strike is up to President Roosevelt. The war labor board, having been defied by the strikers twice within a week, turned the case over to the white house yesterday.

STEVENSON, SMITH WARN OF BUREAUS

AUSTIN, Jan. 19.—A rejection of bureaucratic government highlighted the inaugural speeches of Texas' two highest state officials as the oath of office was administered to Governor Stevenson and Lieutenant-Governor Smith. Services were in the legislative chambers.

"In democracy," said Stevenson, "the very word means voice of the people. We are not slothful in statecraft when we keep government close to the people. But the voter in Precinct 2 in Kimble county or the voter in Precinct 3 in Travis county can not make his voice heard when his county seat is moved to the desk of a bureau chief in Washington, D. C."

"Our national government," John Lee Smith said, "is being operated today by some dozen or more great bureaucrats. We have reluctantly consented to this usurpation of power in order to more effectively organize for war. But we must be sure that these powers revert to the people when the great emergency is past."

DEADSHOT GAMBLER KILLED 4

FALETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 19.—Five men stepped out of a cafe at Springdale and Tack Bishop, 45, an Ozark Mountain gambler, raised a .45-caliber automatic and started shooting. He killed four of them.

Bishop told police today that he did it to "protect my wife's honor."

Three of the men—Lyle Carter, Springdale service station attendant; Paul Phillips, 36, a farmer, and Harold Nail, 19, Lowell, a farmer—dropped to the ground and died where they fell. Lyle Graham, 20, Lowell, died later of wounds in the neck and abdomen. Ed Kendrick, 23, Lowell, the fifth man, ducked under a car, thus saving his life.

"We were standing on the sidewalk in front when I heard a shot," Kendrick said. "I thought Bishop was trying to show off but when I saw my buddies falling, I dived under a car. None of us knew Bishop very well, we just had a speaking acquaintance with him."

Bishop and his wife escaped in a borrowed car, but Sheriff C. P. Gully of Washington county learned that Bishop had no gasoline ration coupons and knew the couple could not go far.

However, the state police found the car that Bishop escaped in at Greenland, and learned the couple had taken a bus. They were arrested at Alma, Ark., without a shot being fired and returned to Fayetteville.

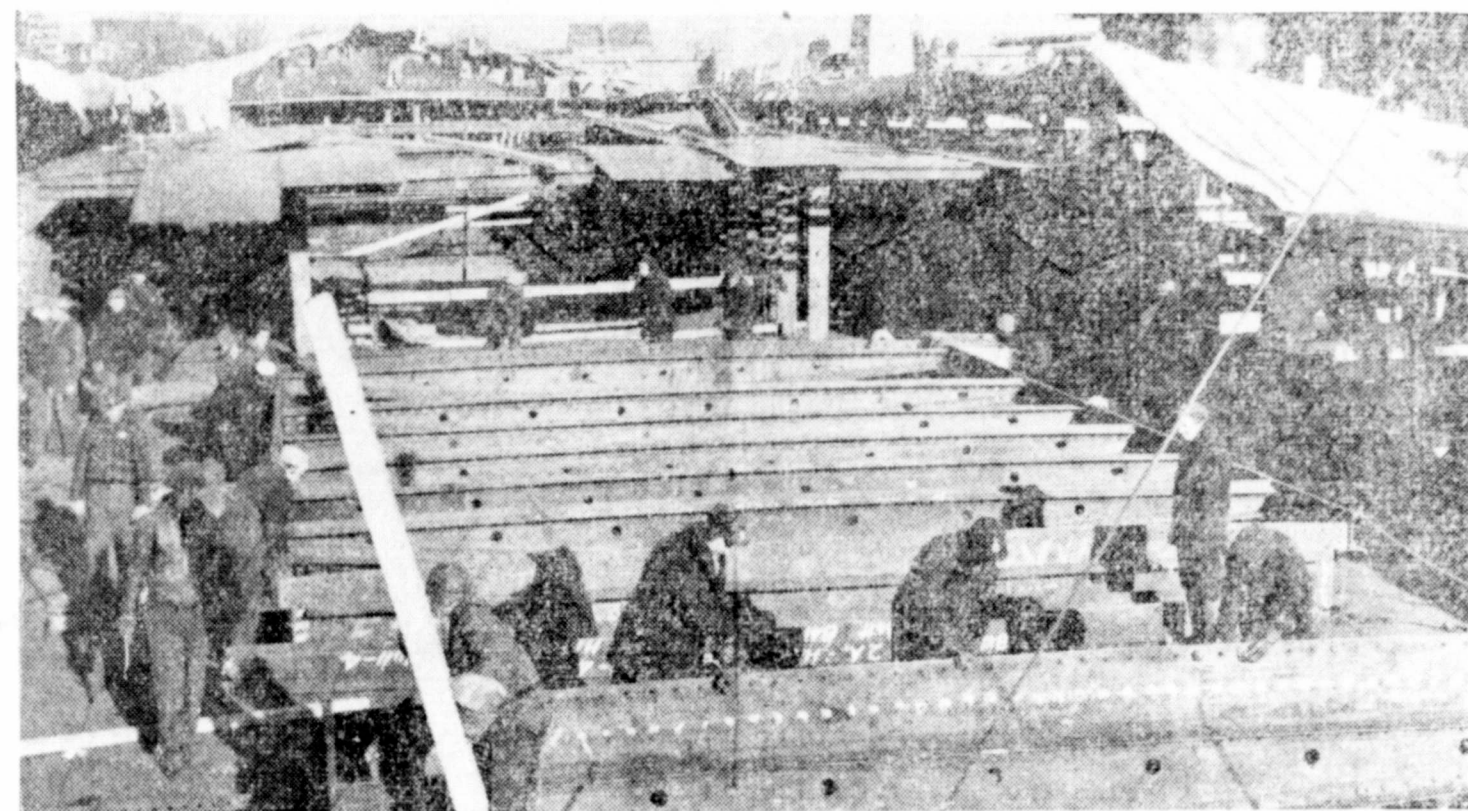

"Those guys tried to sit down by my wife in the cafe," Bishop was quoted. "I shot them to protect my wife's honor."

FARLEY'S PREDICTION.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 19.—James A. Farley, former postmaster general, predicted today that Germany will be knocked out of the war this year. "Germany will be driven out of the war before the end of 1943 and the Allies will then go ahead with the elimination of Japan," Farley declared.

RED CROSS CALL.

All garments in the hands of Red Cross workers should be delivered to the work rooms by Wednesday or Friday, says Mrs. W. W. Wallace. Those unable to deliver their finished garments may call 435 and arrangements will be made to bring them in.

WOMEN'S WAYS—The ways of women have changed with the war, and now it's women of the ways in Canada as in other lands, as feminine patriots lend a hand in the war effort. Members of the fair sex are pictured at work at Canadian East Coast shipyard.

C. A. GROSS DIED MONDAY; BURIED HERE

Charles A. Gross, 59, died Monday at 6:10 p. m. at his home, 609 W. Ninth street, after a long illness. He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Dee Bacon, of Cisco, to whom he was married in August, 1928, in Kansas City, Mo.

The funeral will be held at Thomas funeral home at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. R. Wright of the First Christian church, with interment in Oakwood cemetery.

Burial services will be in charge of Cisco Masonic lodge and all members are asked to meet at Masonic hall at 2 o'clock preceding the funeral.

Deceased was born June 8, 1883, and spent his early days in Chicago. After graduating from high school he located in Topeka, Kas., and became accountant for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company, where he spent the next twelve years. In 1934 he accepted a position with the Kansas income tax department, which he held for several years. Failing health caused him to move to Cisco last October.

Mr. Gross was a Mason and a member of the Episcopal church.

The evening meal will be served in the basement at 5:30, with the local church providing the drinks and the delegates bringing their own picnic lunches. This meeting will take the place of the regular mid-week prayer meeting and will be open to the public.

RATION BOOKS READY—Eunice McCawley exhibits some of the 644,000 war ration books just delivered in San Francisco for distribution in February. They're based on point system of rationing.

HUNG ON TILL FREED.

MOSCOW, Jan. 19.—A tiny Russian garrison, under a lieutenant of artillery, held out in ancient Schlusburg fortress, outside the city proper, during all the 16 months of the siege of Leningrad, the first special dispatches from the freed city revealed today. Lieut Pavel Kochanekov commanded the garrison which took all the Germans could give and survived.

AUSTIN, Jan. 19.—Total average daily allowable for Texas' 99,902 wells for the week ending Jan. 16 was 1,396,452 barrels, an increase of 1,385 over the previous week, the Railroad Commission reported.

FREEZE TO DEATH.

CAMP POINT, Ill., Jan. 19.—A coroner's jury was summoned today for an inquest into the deaths of a boy and girl, who, Coroner Eugene Johnston said, froze to death in an automobile parked on the main street of Camp Point.

SWIPE RATION BOOKS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Police and federal agents today investigated the theft of 6,534 rationing books, representing approximately 1,500,000 gallons of gasoline, from a West Side rationing board office.

POLAND CHINA HOG BROUGHT $69.46; 20 STEERS SOLD BY NORVELL AVERAGED $100 EACH; CISCO GROWS AS STOCK MART

Despite the extreme cold of Monday afternoon, the Eastland County Stock Commission auction sales reached the $8,140 mark, with big prices paid for both cattle and hogs, and an unusual number of hogs being bought and sold.

One Poland China sow was bought by V. V. McMurry from W. C. Allen for $69.46.

About 20 head of steers were sold by L. B. Norvell for $2,002, averaging about $100 each.

Over 200 head of hogs were sold this week against 311 for last week at the first auction sale, which totaled $12,698 for all stock which changed hands.

Towns represented this week were Cisco, Cross Plains, Pioneer, Rising Star, May Cottonwood, Breckenridge, Putnam, Baird, Moran, Eastland, Ranger, Carbon, Gorman, Abilene and Sweetwater.

J. A. Trigg, owner of the new barns, announces that he now has his scales in operation, and a cafe, 36 feet in length, is operated each Monday.

The fact that hog prices were within 30 cents of the Fort Worth market, and that cattle prices were unusually high in almost every sale, coupled with the additional fact that a very large section of country is being represented by people attending and participating in the buying and selling, shows that Cisco is fast becoming an important market for all kinds of livestock. Quality of hogs and cattle plays an important part in this success, and a perusal of the stock brought here shows many steers to be fed butcher stock of high breeding, while the hogs are uniformly well bred and in butcher condition.

MAC'S MEN MOP UP IN NEW GUINEA

MACARTHUR HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Jan. 19.—United States and Australian troops have taken Sanananda point and Sanananda village, the last Japanese stronghold in Papuan New Guinea, General MacArthur announced today.

Japanese remnants, all who were left of the enemy's Papuan army of 15,000 shock troops including naval landing parties and marines, were sliced into four isolated pockets, two on the north New Guinea shore, two inland, and their position was hopeless.

FIVE BROTHERS.

The five Sullivan Brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan, are now immortal. Call the roll for them: Albert, Madison, Joseph, Francis and George, ranging in age from 22 to 29. They lived in Waterloo, Ia., and now live wherever people remember them and their loyalty. That should be everywhere and forever.

It is a short and simple story. George explained how it was when the boys enlisted a year ago. They worked for a meat packer and always did things together. A buddy of theirs named Bill Ball had been killed by the Japs at Pearl Harbor. So they wanted to join the navy and take his place. The navy officials understood and they went, and served on the cruiser Juneau from the time it was commissioned. They helped to lick the Japs in the fierce battle of Guadalcanal. They gave all they had and never came back.

These are the men for whom the bell tolls. It tolls on a reef in those coral islands of the far Pacific, and it says over and over: "Albert, Madison, Joseph, Francis, George—" the boy-men who avenged their friends and helped to cleanse the sea, and are now a part of it all, and will never be forgotten.

CARTER GLASS.

An eighty-fifth birthday anniversary was celebrated by Carter Glass on January fourth. The Staunton News-Leader reminds its readers that he was a member of the Virginia senate; a member of the Virginia Constitutional convention of 1901-2; member of the House of Representatives; chairman of the House Banking and Currency committee; author of the Federal Reserve Act; Secretary of the Treasury; director of the Victory Loan Drive and of the post-war finance program after World War I; member of the U. S. Senate since 1920.

These are indeed achievements. The News-Leader goes on to say: "In clarity and brevity of thought and its expression, Senator Glass is without a peer. He can say more and does, in fewer words, than any other member of Congress. He knows more about currency, banking and general finances, and sound and progressive schedules for putting financial programs into effect, than any of our current public experts. Despite his years, he is one of the greatest fighters for that in which he believes his country has seen in a half century. And the principles to which he subscribes, and the logic of his thinking which creates his codes, are always sound and progressive."

The American who can win, by deserving it, tributes like that is one of whom the nation may be proud. America wishes more and better years to come for this useful elder statesman.

JAPANESE LOSSES.

The Navy says that only five American submarines have been lost as against 150 Japanese. This bears out the figures for planes, nearly every conflict ends in a Japanese loss four or five times our own.

In all this there is just one consolation for the Japanese. It is not so bad for them now as it is going to be later.

FOOTBALL AND WAR.

President Roosevelt once compared himself to a football quarterback, whose aim was to get his team across the goal line. To do this he might try several types of play, adopting one when another failed.

This analogy with football has a bearing on the war. Football players know that it is often easy to gain ground in the middle of the field; but as the offensive approaches the goal line, where the defense has a chance to concentrate, further gain becomes harder and harder, and sometimes downright impossible.

The war is like that. In North Africa, in Russia and in the Pacific, one side or the other has often made large initial gains, only to find progress slowed down to a halt as the supply lines become extended and the enemy has had a chance to bring up reserves.

On this account it would be unwise to let large victories in Russia or elsewhere lead us to believe that the war will soon be over. The real test is yet to come.

PLANETARY TRIPS.

No one can say that the British are not forehanded. An American library has come across the record of a British Interplanetary Society, founded as far back as 1934, whose purpose was to investigate and, if possible, make journeys to the moon and the nearer planets. The farther ones can wait for a bit.

Just now this seems like a lead worth developing. After the war a whole lot of people are going to find their own countries in pretty unsatisfactory shape. They would probably give serious consideration to a well-planned proposal for migration to another planet, where life could be started anew. They would be repeating after a fashion the action of our Western pioneers.

Horace Greeley, the famous editor, used to tell the ambitious, "Go West, young man!" Perhaps today's or tomorrow's advice will be, "Go to the moon!"

WARLIKE AMERICA.

Americans like to think of themselves as a peaceful people. Perhaps we are, but from one point of view history hardly bears this out. In 166 years of independent national life this country has taken part in seven wars, all but two of which taxed resources to the utmost. This does not take account of the numerous Indian wars, or the armed expedition sent to China in 1900 to rescue American missionaries from the Boxers, or the expedition against the Barbary pirates under Jefferson.

How much fighting would be needed for the United States to rank as a war-loving country? A good deal, perhaps. American fight when they have to, but they never really enjoy the prospect.

Will We Regret.

Scottish Rite News Bulletin: Character founded on spirituality is the most valuable asset in a human being, the building of which must be done in youth. Should we fail to do this, we find when old age overtakes us that we have no solid ground on which to stand. We are then as a ship without a rudder, just drifting aimlessly, hitting rocks of disappointment and illusion. We become remorseful, we hate, we criticize, we find fault. We have no use for sacred things and call those who do hypocrites. We gossip. Our talk is degrading. We do not always speak the truth. Others shun us. We have made material things of God. Finally, our flimsy bark is completely wrecked on the rock of regret.

It is well to remember that money cannot buy character, love, contentment, or happiness. These we must find within ourselves. God grant that we shall have few regrets to mar our happiness and peace of mind in the years still allotted to us; and that contentment may be ours to the end is the prayer and sincere wish of one who has had many years of experience in life's problems.—H. What You Buy With WAR BONDS

All branches, the Army, Navy, Air Corps, the Marines and the Coast Guard, use balloons for various purposes in this war. The barrage balloon, with flapping wings and fins, plays an important role as protection against air blitzes. Observation balloons of the Navy, or the anchored balloons of the Coast Guard and Marines, also play important parts.

Some are used over troop concentrations to prevent ground strafing. Some are towed by merchant ships to make direct air hits more difficult. Anchored balloons are moored by some 9,000 feet of cable or mounted on mobile trucks. They cost upwards to $9,000. You can help pay for them with your regular investment every payday, of TEN PERCENT OF YOUR INCOME in War Bonds. Do your bit toward winning the war.

COLE-HALL WEDDING SATURDAY NIGHT.

The marriage of Miss Billy Cole and Warren G. Hall of Fort Worth took place at 6:30 Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Cole, 709 W. Thirteenth street. Rev. Cooper Waters, pastor of First Baptist church, said the impressive double ring ceremony before an altar of cut flowers and ferns.

Mrs. Roy Camfield played the wedding march and also played "The Flower Song" during the ceremony.

The bride wore a two-piece rose crepe dress trimmed with puffed ruffles and covered buttons, a contrasting blue hat with blue veiling and tort tan accessories. She wore a single strand of pearls and her shoulder bouquet was of white carnations.

The couple was unattended and only members of the two families were present for the ceremony.

Mrs. Hall is a graduate of Cisco high school, attended Cisco Junior College and is a talented vocalist, having won recognition in several state musical contests. She is now employed in the office of the Cisco war industries school.

Mr. Hall is a graduate of Cisco high school, attended Texas Wesleyan College and is a graduate of the Landis School of Mortuary Science of Houston. For the past two years he has been connected with the Harveson and Cole Funeral home in Fort Worth.

After a short wedding trip the couple will return to Cisco.

FRENCH-HART RITES HELD IN SAINT LOUIS.

A marriage of interest to the many friends of the bride in Cisco took place in St. Louis, Mo., on Friday, January 15. Miss Gladys French, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. French, San Antonio, became the bride of Corp. J. Y.

Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hart of Mineral Wells, in a simple ceremony read by Daniel L. Smith, in Westminster Presbyterian church, 3300 Delmar boulevard.

FAIRY L. HIDDLESTON HONORED WITH PARTY.

Mrs. G. T. Hiddleston complimented her daughter, Fairy Lynn Hiddleston on her thirteenth birthday Monday afternoon with a party celebrating the event.

Games, directed by Robbie Joe McNeely, were enjoyed by the girls and a program of accordion music by Dana Jane Thornton was much appreciated.

After the birthday gifts were inspected, the group was invited into the dining room. The pretty white birthday cake, topped by pink and green candles making a Victory V, centered the table. The cake was cut and served with cocoa and candy. Valentines were passed as favors.

The guest list included Fairy Hiddleston, Jessie Lou Litchfield, Nelda Smith, Ruth Lanham, Mary Martha Ball, Robbie Joe McNeely, Dana Jane Thornton, Azalee Morris, Mary Louise and Elizabeth Ann Kleiser and the following adults: Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Freeman, grandparents of the honoree; and Mrs. C. J. Kleiser.

North Texans Take Victory For Theme in Election

DENTON, Texas. - Taking victory as their theme, collegians at North Texas State selected these ten favorites in a wartime favorite election which stressed economy and a minimum of fanfare. Expensive signs and printed election materials were outlawed this year in an election which was marked by the absence of the traditional high rivalry between independents and club groups.

Still following the victory motif, campus voters chose collegiate servicemen for favorites, all of the boys elected being members of some branch of the United States reserve programs. The U. S. Naval Reserve claims two of the boys; one is enlisted in the Army Air Corps Reserve, one in the Marine Corps Reserve, and one in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps.

DATE UNCERTAIN.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The date for drafting married men with children is still uncertain, in the opinion of War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt. Asked at a press conference about the possibility that fathers might be drafted about the middle of the year, McNutt said: "I don't think it would be wise to excite men with children by naming a date no one can be certain of."

MILK PRICE ADVANCED.

FT. WORTH, Jan. 19.—Milk distributors in Fort Worth this morning posted a price of $3.40 a hundredweight for milk bought from producers. Although a figure hasn't been posted by all distributors, the price usually seeks the same level in most of the industry. "I don't baby MY servants!"

"Why? Because they're electric servants! Of course, I'm good to them. But they don't need any babying. They're built to last many years... for which I'm truly thankful. They've really solved the labor problem at our house... what with help so hard to get—or keep. My sweeper, coffee-maker, toaster, iron, refrigerator, washer... they just keep pegging right along. And their wages! Why, my electric bill is most reasonable... not a cent higher than before the war! I certainly have reason for being grateful to my electric servants. I take good care of them—and now they're taking care of me!"

MAKING AMERICA STRONG

GIANT TRANSPORT!

ACCOMMODATING 206 SOLDIERS, THIS 30-FOOT TRUCK-TRAILER SPEEDS THE MOVEMENT OF TROOPS AND DECREASES THE LENGTH OF LAND CONVOYS!

IT'S A THRILLING SIGHT

To WATCH two mighty horses of the draft type move great loads from a dead standstill across the street or roadway and then, once it is started rolling, seemingly with all ease, take it to its destination.

The hard part is the overcoming of the law of inertia of position, which resists changing its state of rest. This is done by this great team through cooperative effort—pulling together, evenly and steadily, rather than by spurts. After the load is started, a constant pull of minimum effort keeps the movement going.

Thus it is with building a town or starting a business. The hard part is getting the activity going. After being once launched, momentum is gained as it travels.

The really hard part of town or community building is the cooperative spirit. Once that has been formed, it is surprising how easily other difficulties are surmounted.

And cooperation comes of close association—knowing each other better—sharing the sorrows or joys of each other—and naturally this comes from knowing the goings and comings of each individual of the town.
