MAIN DEFENSES OF TRIPOLI HAVE FALLEN

TEXAN DEMANDS THAT LABOR UNIONS BE MADE TO WALK CHALK LINE, LIKE OTHERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Representative W. R. Poague of Waco, Texas, took the floor in the House today to voice a bitter denunciation of the striking anthracite coal miners and the labor leaders who had caused the miners to go on strike.

"It is unfair and in the long run it never pays to give one group of citizens privileges that are denied others simply because the favored group seems to be in position to blackmail the public," Poague told the house.

"A little more than a year ago the government, under threat of a shutdown of all in heavy industry extended unfair privileges to John L. Lewis and his fellows. All coal miners were forced into his union regardless of their wishes, and were required to pay tribute in the form of dues not fixed by the miners themselves, but by John L. Lewis and his fellow officials. The dues were deducted from the miners' pay and turned over to the Lewis organization by the mine operators.

"To return for the closed shop and the check off, Lewis agreed that there would be no more strikes. That agreement which the government so ruthlessly imposed on the miners and the mine operators was binding on everyone except the ones who got the cash. Has Lewis made good? Has he stopped strikes in the coal mines? Not only is the war being unnecessarily prolonged today by the strike of thousands of miners whose labor and personal freedom Lewis assumes to offer for sale in the market place, but we are now threatened with a much more far-reaching strike in April.

"In the meantime, why has not Lewis and his United Coal Miners been held accountable for their breach of contract? Simply because years ago the congress exempted labor unions from the responsibility for their acts that is enforced on any other group of citizens engaging in business.

"The least we can do is to pass legislation to make labor unions responsible for their acts just as all other business institutions are responsible for their acts, and liable for damages when they break contracts."

MIDNIGHT COLLISION HURT SIX

A head-on collision of a Plymouth and a Ford automobile about 10 miles out on the Moran highway last midnight, caused six men to go to the hospital for more or less serious injuries, and demolished both cars so completely that it was said they were not worth bringing in to the garage for repairs.

Five of the young men, all in the teen ages, were Cisco boys and the other was an employee of the Lone Star Gas company of Eastland.

E. E. Kingston of Eastland, and Darrel Dean McCrary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCrary of 600 east 11th street, Cisco, were the most seriously injured and were retained at Graham Sanitarium for further treatment. The other four were dismissed from hospital today.

Those dismissed were Travis Cutler, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Childers, 806 W. Eighth street; Leon Hamrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Hamrick, 309 W. Fifth street; J. E. Norris, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Norris, 901 W. Eighth street, and Arnold Ray Dolgener, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dolgener, 905 W. Sixth street.

SPURN U. S. OFFER.

HAVANA, Jan. 22.—A general assembly of the National Association of Sugar Growers approved Thursday night a motion to reject United States terms for the purchase of 2,600,000 tons of Cuban sugar this year and shortly afterward issued a manifesto charging Washington with seeking to strangle the Cuban sugar industry.

HOLD U. S. WOMEN.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Fourteen American women residents of Norway, arrested several weeks ago by German authorities "in reprisal for mistreatment of German nationals in the United States," have been confined in a German concentration camp, a Stockholm dispatch to Reuters reported today.

MRS. COOLIDGE DECLINES.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Grace Coolidge, widow of President Calvin Coolidge, has declined an offer to take over leadership of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps, asserting the post should go to a younger woman. The corps, which has 6,000 uniformed members, is being reorganized.

AIR CRASH PROBE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A board of army officials today was investigating the greatest single plane disaster in American aviation history—the crash of a four-motored transport in Dutch Guiana which killed 35 Americans. The accident occurred several days ago.

PRISONERS OF JAPS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The war department has been informed through the International Red Cross that Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright and 12 other generals are held prisoners of war by the Japanese in Taiwan camp on the Island of Formosa.

"UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT"—One of the many enemy airplanes captured during action in the western desert, poses in its new dress of "R. A. F." markings prior to test flight by Allied pilot who'll probe its capabilities. Plane was a Nazi JU-87-D.

REDS IN WHITE—Russian army scouts, in camouflage dress of white, man an observation post in tree. Wintery setting is on the Middle Don front, where the Red Army is reported to be crossing the Donets River and approaching Rostov, Nazi-held key to the Caucasus and object of a multi-headed Soviet drive.

11 OF 12 HONOR ROLL STUDENTS GIRLS

CROSS PLAINS, Jan. 22.—Only 12 students made the honor roll at Cross Plains schools for the first semester, according to information released yesterday from the office of Alvin McCuin, high school principal. Of the 12 students making the honor rating, 11 were girls. Highest average for the first semester was made by Betty Jean Browning who had 97. In close pursuit was Wynola Thate with 96 and three fourths. Other honor students listed according to averages are as follows: Dorothy Ripper, Dixie Respass, Bessie Foller, Mildred Newton, Tessa Mae Havens and Jimmie Kate Howell. To make the honor roll a student must have a general average of 90 or better in all subjects.

B. O. Brame, of Baird, was appointed sheriff of Callahan county in special session Wednesday. He will serve out the two year term for which C. R. Nordyke was elected but failed to qualify. Nordyke was recently named to the State Rangers and is now stationed in Austin.

Mrs. L. D. Montgomery, about 65, died in a Coleman hospital Thursday morning, shortly after four o'clock, following an illness of about 10 days. She suffered a stroke of paralysis at her home two miles northeast of town on Sunday morning, January 10. Her condition had grown steadily worse since that time.

Every war develops words to soothe the conscience. This one gave us "if I don't buy it, somebody else will."

CITY ISSUES LAST WARNING

The setting of grass fires must stop, according to Fire Marshal O. Gustafson, who carries an advertisement in this issue of the Press and who intends to use the full powers of the law vested in his office, assessing fines for the act and compelling the persons responsible for the fire whether accidental or otherwise, to pay full damages for property of others that may be damaged by these fires.

"If grass should be burned, one must notify the fire department and let the lighting of the fire be under the supervision of that department, otherwise the offender will be brought into city court for fine and damages," Gustafson said.

"The city fire department is being kept busy answering fire calls, while valuable rubber is being used and equipment worn out through these needless acts," said Mr. Gustafson. "Valuable property is being destroyed and adjacent property imperiled through these wanton acts of unsupervised fires," he added.

"Only yesterday a residence was destroyed, and all the household goods of the widow who lived in it, including the fresh-washed clothes hanging on the line, were totally destroyed by a grass fire that got out of control. A neighboring house barely escaped burning also, despite the heroic efforts of firemen who were pouring water on the adjacent property after the first house was destroyed," the fire marshal added.

C. V. KENNEDY KILLED AT AIRCRAFT PLANT

News received by friends in Cisco today told of the accidental death of Clyde V. (Rip) Kennedy, 50, which occurred at Fort Worth Thursday at the Consolidated Aircraft plant, where he was employed. Funeral and burial services will be held in Putnam Saturday afternoon.

Deceased was a brother of the late Les Kennedy and veteran of World War I and a member of American Legion, Masonic and IOOF lodges. He is survived by his wife and four children of Fort Worth; his mother, Mrs. Ella Kennedy, two brothers and four sisters.

MANY LOAFERS.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—Bonuses totaling $10,000 a month will be given by Consolidated Aircraft company of San Diego, Cal., to employees who excel in keeping absences to a minimum.

STORK'S BUSIEST YEAR '42

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The stork had his busiest year in the nation's history in 1942, delivering at least 2,800,000 babies.

Although the number is greater by at least 200,000 than the previous United States record for new-born infants—2,600,000 in 1921—the present birth rate of about 21 per 1,000 population is nevertheless below the rate of about 25 per 1,000 population registered in the first World War, say statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

The increase, despite a decline in the per capita rate, is due to the growth of the total population, they explained.

Another factor the statisticians considered is that the lives of babies and mothers are far safer today than they were 25 years ago.

Out of 1,000 babies born alive in 1917, they said, approximately 95 failed to survive to their first birthday anniversary. Today, however, deaths in the first year of life number about 45 per 1,000—a decrease of more than 50 per cent. There has been a similar decrease in deaths of mothers.

Unrolling further their charts of the stork's flight during the past quarter-century, the statisticians turned up another interesting log entry:

The United States child population under 15 years of age has declined by 3,000,000 in 19 years—from 36,100,000 in 1930 to 33,100,000 in 1940, demonstrating that storks loaf around the chimney during depressions, but take to the air in war.

GROCCERS MAY STOCK UP IS OPA RULING

FT. WORTH, Jan. 22.—Unlike consumers, retail grocers will not be required to register before the start of the forthcoming point rationing program and restrictions will be relaxed to permit them to stock up on processed foods before the program gets under way, J. H. Kultgen, regional OPA food rationing executive, said at a meeting of grocers here Thursday night.

More canned and processed foods will be made available so that inventories can be built up during the week-long "freeze" period preceding the beginning of point rationing, Kultgen told the grocers. During the week's period, which he predicted will start about Feb. 21, sales of commercially processed foods will be prohibited, the OPA rationing authority said.

CLEANING 'EM OUT.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 22.—One of the four pockets of resistance still held by the Japanese in the Sanananda sector of New Guinea has been liquidated, the Allied high command reported today. One hundred and fifty Japs were slain in this operation. The pocket was the one about 700 yards in from the beach, near Sanananda road.

TWO LARGE APARTMENTS.

FT. WORTH, Jan. 22.—Housing facilities for 630 families will be provided in two large apartment projects which were laid before the Zoning Board of Adjustment here Thursday. Both projects, estimated to cost $1,800,000, are financed by Dallas interests.

CISCOANS TO BANQUET.

BASE CITY OF AXIS AFLAME; ALLIED TROOPS NOW IN SUBURBS; NAZI RETREAT IS ON

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Allied radio reports said today that the main defenses of the big Axis base of Tripoli had fallen and that advanced units of the British Eighth Army had fought their way into the suburbs of the flaming city.

The vital airport of Castel Benito, 10 miles south of Tripoli, almost certainly is in British hands, Radio Cairo said. If British planes are able to operate from Castel Benito, they can deliver a terrific pounding against the city and harbor of Tripoli, which already are smashed and smoking from previous raids.

Official Allied sources were reticent on the position of the Eighth Army, but there appeared to be no slackening in the retreat of the Afrika Korps from Tripoli to Tunisia along "the hundred miles of hell."

American and British planes gave the retreating Germans and Italians no rest. Axis forces as far west as Ben Gardane, 20 miles inside Tunisia, were attacked. Military observers believed Marshal Erwin Rommel was attempting to rescue as many of his troops as possible from Libya in order to make a stand along the Mareth Line in Tunisia, 82 miles from the Tripolitanian border.

The fall of Tripoli would climax a campaign that began three months ago and was featured by a headlong, 1400-mile retreat by the Afrika Korps that for swiftness was almost unprecedented in military history.

The British apparently intend to harass the Germans and Italians all the way into Tunisia. London military observers said there were strong indications that the Eighth Army had sent out a southern column to by-pass Tripoli and attempt to cut the enemy retreat beyond the city.

A communique from the U. S. Ninth Airforce in Cairo said American medium bombers and fighters were taking an active part in harassing the Axis retreat. American Liberator bombers attacked shipping in the harbor of Tripoli itself.

Cutting sea supply lines to Axis forces both in Tunisia and Tripolitania, an Allied torpedo boat sank another Axis merchantman off the Tunisian coast, and a tanker was "successfully attacked."

The British have announced the sinking or damaging of at least 20 Axis ships in the Africa area in the last three days. All but a few were sunk.

Additional Allied units attacked small enemy ships between Sicily and Tunisia yesterday with "good results."

Dispatches from Algiers, via Madrid, said some Axis forces had tried to flee Tripoli in small boats, undergoing a hellish bombing and machine-gunning from American and British planes. The harbor was choked with the wreckage of vessels sunk in earlier raids and the Axis was unable to get out or in with ships.

Quay sides and the Spanish mole in the harbor were said to be burning fiercely.

FARM MACHINERY.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board has authorized a 30 per cent increase in production of farm machinery and in an explanatory statement questioned the fairness of a senate committee's criticism of the previous program.

State and local governments aren't living on scraps. It just sounds that way because they take what is left.

BOARDS AND BUREAUS.

At a time when the functions of government and the powers of its boards and bureaus are growing so rapidly that no man knows how great they are and when they are actually usurping the functions of the courts, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times, told 200 Detroit automotive and advertising executives that the press of America and industry must guard the fundamentals of our system of free enterprise against encroachments of government. Sulzberger said: "I cannot over-emphasize the power and authority piling up in Washington. I would be derelict if I were not to point out that there are those in my opinion who seek to use the smokescreen of America's foreign wars to promote and forward their American revolution."

"We of the press must be alert to protect the fundamentals of our system of free enterprise, and you must be doing some more egg hatching. You must be preparing to show the people of this country what industry can and will do for each man, woman and child in the community when our major task is completed, far away as that goal still is."

"The men of industry must keep ahead of the procession in helping prepare a sound plan, said Sulzberger. "Let us point it in all the colors of our genius—new routes, new cars, new education, new opportunity of every kind."

"That's what democracy offers when we, the people, do it. And to do all that, we need a free press."

In other words, industry must go on the offensive. It has the brains and it has the capital. Management and labor must work together as never before.

Our people have everything to gain from a free enterprise system. They have everything to lose by the extension of state socialism. We have but to look around the world to prove this point to ourselves.

Real statesmanship, industrial and labor leadership, and an informed public must cooperate to see that the United States remains the land of individual opportunity.

TOO MUCH PETTING.

Some American labor leaders and groups have acted lately in a way to endanger the public safety and cast discredit on organized labor in general. It is a very unpleasant climax in the rise of labor's free status when its organized power is used to stop war production at a critical time. Whether a stoppage is caused by the workmen themselves or by their official representatives, the result is evil and dangerous. It is certain, however, that too much petting by the politicians has given the average union man the wrong idea.

Any good citizen may properly denounce the coal strike that has been in progress lately. It has threatened a serious fuel shortage in mid-winter and also threatened the supply of coal for the nation's armed forces in a perilous war.

Such procedure is inexcusable, whatever the alleged grievances may be. For there is ample machinery in this country, both governmental and private, to adjust industrial disputes. The coal strikers' refusal to adjust their complaints and go back to work argued either poor citizenship or a bad conscience.

American labor has a right to strike as a last resort. But it has no more right to break a contract than any private citizen has, and in war time even some constitutional rights may be suspended temporarily on grounds of national safety. Whether constitutional or not, the attitude adopted by the strikers in this case has been unnecessary and unpatriotic and dangerous.

FILIPINO MARTYR.

The Filipinos are still resisting the Japanese, and their leader is a man who has been dead for nearly half a century. Jose Rizal, leader of protests against the cruelties of his people's Spanish rulers, was finally shot by the Spaniards in 1896. But he has remained enshrined in Filipino memories as a martyred leader for whom they feel much the same devotion that we do for Lincoln. His name is invoked in guerrilla attacks against the Japanese, and inspires the Filipinos to continue resistance.

Such men are the real achievers. Their work continues long after that of the conquerors has crumbled into dust.

A FAMOUS MESSAGE.

The man who carried the "message to Garcia" is dead at 85. Col. Andrew Summers Rowan, ordered just before the Spanish War to get in touch with Garcia, leader of the Cuban rebels, did so and, much to his surprise, became famous. The fame was due to an article by Elbert Hubbard, praising Rowan and contrasting his quiet efficiency with the indifference and half-heartedness shown by too many employees.

The theme was likely to appeal to business executives, and they ordered copies of the "Message to Garcia" in great numbers. The New York Central railroad alone took 1,500,000. Copies are still given to Boy Scouts and Marines. All in all, it is estimated that 80 million copies have been sold, and it is now selling at the rate of 150,000 copies a year.

Ironically, this burning tract, praising the achievement of an American army officer, has also been thought good medicine by the Japanese. They give a copy to all soldiers, and all civilians in the government service. Such willingness to borrow from their enemies is one of the sources of their strength.

Another ridiculous idea presumably intended to save manpower is the federal order that bakers must not slice bread hereafter, but that it must be done in the home. As a matter of fact, no manpower is saved and much bread is wasted. In the meantime, the mechanical slicer used by the baker must be placed on a shelf, while bread knives that might be used by the housewife are almost impossible to secure.

JUSTICE RUTLEDGE.

Judge Wiley Blount Rutledge, nominated by President to succeed Justice Byrnes on the Supreme Court, will not be the first Rutledge to sit in our highest court. John Rutledge, a distinguished son of South Carolina, was one of the first members, having the distinction of being nominated by George Washington.

Indeed, he had the even rarer distinction of receiving two nominations from Washington. Resigning a year or two after his appointment, he was a few years later named for chief justice, but failed of confirmation by the senate. It was just as well, for he became ill shortly afterward and died a few years later.

The present Judge Rutledge may hope for a happier career. His fellow citizens trust that he will add new luster to an honored name.

The old building, just east of the Eppler hotel, is being demolished by its owner, A. J. Ward, who says he will salvage what lumber is good. It is not his intention to rebuild on the site. This is one of the earlier buildings of Cisco, as it was said to have been erected about 40 years ago by Noel Mason, who used it as a home for several years. There was only a shack on the property when it was acquired by Mr. Mason, and at the time the present structure was erected it was one of the better types of residence property. During recent years the property has been rented by G. N. Price, who used it as a rooming house. The property was owned by Rochelle Daniels at one time, and was acquired from him by A. J. Ward and Frank Redlinger during the boom days. Mr. Ward, a few years ago, purchased Mr. Redlinger's interest.

"I am well pleased with the attitude which the new members of the Eastland county commissioners court have displayed," said Commissioner Birt Britain, of Cisco Saturday. "County Judge Clyde L. Garrett and Commissioner T. G. Gray, of precinct No. 2, are going to make Eastland county excellent officers. I believe them to be men big enough to see the needs of the county as a whole irrespective of the interests of a particular section and I am sure that the court is going to work harmoniously. I regret, of course, that we are losing Ed S. Pritchard, retiring county judge, and W. M. Burns, retiring commissioner from precinct No. 2." Mr. Britain is entering upon his third term of service as commissioner from precinct No. 4. He took office for his first term on January 1, 1925, and has served continuously since, having been elected this last time without opposition.

Tools were moved on location for the well to be drilled on the Theresa Weddington lease by G. P. Mitcham, et al, Monday. The location is just west of the corporate limits of the city of Cisco. "We moved these tools in from Brownwood and contemplate little delay in spudding in the well," said Mr. Mitcham.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Crawford and daughter, Helen, returned Sunday from a most delightful trip to South Texas in which was mingled pleasure and business. They visited Waco, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Laredo, Caterina and other sections of the Winter Garden of Texas. "We enjoyed every minute we were gone," Mr. Crawford said. "We saw the citrus groves of South Texas in full fruitage, and had the privilege of plucking ripe grapefruit, oranges, lemons, nectarines, etc., direct from the trees. All the time we were in that country we were served at dinner with fresh vegetables grown in that section. The only thing that marred our trip was that we had our citrus fruit confiscated by the custom officer on our return from a short excursion across the river into Mexico. We had just visited an orange grove where we plucked the fruit from the trees, and decided to drive across the river. Not knowing that we could take this fruit into Mexico but not bring it back, it never occurred to us to leave it behind before we crossed the river. Of course the custom officer inspected our car before we went across, and saw the fruit in the car. But imagine our chagrin on our return, when we were told that we could not take the fruit back into the United States. Our protest that we had it with us when we went over an hour earlier was unavailing. Seeing that it was no joke, I asked the officer if we might eat it. He said this was all right, that we could eat all we wanted, but we could not carry it away. We ate some, but having just finished dinner before we went to the orange grove, we could eat but little, so we left the bulk of the fruit with the custom officer."

Dog Biscuit Is Not a Cookie

How many times have you tossed a dog biscuit to your dog, watched him seize it eagerly and munch on it contentedly, as if it represented everything in the world that he wanted? Yet, few dog owners ever realize that in that "cookie," as many people regard it, is contained practically every ingredient necessary to the health and well-being of your four-legged friend.

To begin with, a dog biscuit is anything but a "cookie." Some dog products, ground oat groats, certain dairy by-products, A & D vitamin oil, calcium, and salt.

Each of these ingredients has a very definite job to do in maintaining the dog's health and in providing the vitamins that he requires. Liver and fish meals, for instance, provide building foundations of the flesh and connective tissues, iodine, and iron, and are an excellent source of vitamins, proteins, and minerals. Cane no-biscuits contain more than a dozen different ingredients, most of which are not commonly used in human foods; so that our national food supply is not affected, an important matter in wartime.

We are indebted to Fred A. Rech, prominent Chicago chemist specializing in dog nutrition research, for the list of ingredients that have been going into dog biscuits made by a large company: Liver and fish meals, cane molasses, seed and corn oil meals, beet pulp, wheat, corn gluten meal, residual cereal lasses provides energy from the sugar it contains.

The corn oil meal offers Vitamin A, while the residual cereal products add bulk to the ration in addition to furnishing some Vitamin B1. Wheat provides Vitamin E, while the calcium and salt offer minerals necessary for balancing the deficiencies in the ration.

In short, the average dog biscuit is anything but a "cookie." Rather, it is a finely balanced ration that appeals to the dog, keeps him healthy, and in fine spirits.

FACIAL FUR PIECE — England — This fine 4-month-old beard and mustache worn by Warrant Officer Vernon Schneider, Royal Canadian Air Force observer from Toronto, Canada, is a "personal trophy" of four months internment in North Africa before the opening of the Allied campaign there led to his release. He was interned after the Coastal Command flying boat in which he was serving crashed and he was landed at Algiers.

COVER TO CONTRACT — Recently United Artists and The American Magazine, independently, were looking for a typical American woman war plant worker. The magazine found her first in the person of Dorothy Vogley, above, 21-year-old machine operator at the Timken Roller Bearing plant in Canton, Ohio. Her picture appeared on the cover of The American Magazine and, pronto, United Artists signed her for a part in their picture, "Stage Door Canteen."

IN MY EASTER BONNET — Three hat styles for the Easter season which are guaranteed to make any woman forget—for the moment—the present state of the world and her new problems such as rationing and substitutes. The styles are nice, aren't they?

ARGUMENT SETTLER — Fighter Facts and Fallacies, new book by John G. Lee of United Aircraft Corporation, explains in simple words and pictures how planes with various characteristics act in different circumstances. There is no one "best" fighter plane, each type being designed for a particular job. Photos show (1) Republic Thunderbolt, (2) the Grumman Wildcat, and (3) the Vought-Sikorsky Corsair.

CELEBRATE AIR AWARD — Vice President Wallace, left, William L. Cheney, editor of Collier's Weekly, and Major General Harold E. George of the Air Transport Command, shown at luncheon following presentation of the famed Collier Trophy, which this year went to the Army Air Forces and the airlines of the United States "for pioneering worldwide air transportation vital to immediate defense and ultimate victory."

GIVE 'EM BOOKS — Kate Smith, noted Radio Singer, donates her favorite books to the 1943 Victory Book Campaign, with the help of Paul Gallico, well-known author. All Americans are urged to give the books they prize... take them to the nearest library.

LAMPOONS DISHONORABLE ANCESTORS — U. S. Army Private Mitchie M. Miyamoto puts a few touches to a cartoon which he is making in his spare moments while serving in the 9th Armored Division. He is of Japanese descent, though he does not speak the language.

PITCHING FOR THE NAVY NOW — New York — Larry French, southpaw pitcher who won 15 games and lost four with the Brooklyn Dodgers last season, was sworn in as a Lieutenant (JG) in the Navy Supply Corps. Larry is shown receiving his blood pressure examination from Lieut. Comdr. D. M. Clark.

TOMMY RIGGS admires a picture of his mythical niece, Betty Lou, conceived by Hollywood artist Fred Moore. RISING STAR Jan. 22.—News was received here Tuesday of the death of Sergeant Dalton E. Bowman, of the U. S. air corps, who lost his life in a plane crash in the Hawaiian Islands on January 8.

News was first received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bowman, in the form of a wire from the war department to their address in Wilmington, Cal., which was relayed to members of the family here.

He is survived by his parents, one brother, R. D. Bowman of the U. S. army at Ft. Sill, and a sister, Mrs. D. E. Ware of Wilmington, Cal.

Bowman, aged 20, was a graduate of Rising Star high school finishing with the class of 1942. During his high school days he was an outstanding athlete, a star performer on the Wilmington football team. He was a favorite with all high school students and his tragic death will be mourned by all.
