HULL SAYS FALL OF TRIPOLI GREAT VICTORY

Grass and Brush Fires Kill Lots of Good Pasture

Great grass and brush fires have been raging since Friday to the east of Cisco, branching in a north-south direction as flames were swept by wind that scattered them to adjacent pastures and grass fields.

Dr. Charles Jones said only a part of his pasture land had been affected by the fire, but that many neighboring ranches were now or less damaged by flames that destroyed grass that had grown long due to the mild winter making it necessary that ranchers who have been depending on the grass to keep their cattle in prime condition, buy feed should cold weather come.

GRASS FIRES POPULAR.

FT. WORTH, Jan. 23.—Fort Worth firemen Friday answered 96 fire alarms, one of the heaviest days in its history. Most of the calls were trash and grass fires, but a considerable amount of property damage resulted.

SUICIDE LIKELY.

BARNHART, Jan. 23.—The body of S. T. Allen, superintendent of schools here since last September, was found in a small building back of his home Friday.

YANKS REACH IRAQ.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—An additional contingent of United States troops has arrived at Mosul, Iraq, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch quoting a Rome radio report. The report was not confirmed by Allied authorities, but it may well be true, as considerable American forces are stationed in the Middle East.

GREAT RECORD.

MELBOURNE, Jan. 23.—One American Flying Fortress squadron operating in the Southwest Pacific has flown six months during which it has destroyed 33 Japanese fighters in combat and more than 20 afloat, sunk a heavy cruiser and sent two merchant ships and a transport to the bottom. The disclosure was made in Sydney by Sgt. Pilot Mervyn Bell of the Royal Australian Air Force, co-pilot of one of the planes in the squadron.

GUANI IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Dr. Alberto Guani, foreign minister and vice-president-elect of Uruguay, arrived from Miami today as an official guest of the United States government.

NO LET-UP IN ADVANCE OF RUSSIANS

MOSCOW, Jan. 23.—Red Army artillery opened a bombardment of Voroshilovgrad today while storm troops drove on that rich Donets basin war industry and mining city from lines only 10 miles away.

On the southern front, the Russians advanced on Tikhoretsk, on the main Rostov-Caucasus railroad and greatest German air base in the entire region, 75 miles to the northeast.

In the Caucasus, the Russians were within 70 miles of Maikop, oil field center in the Black Sea area, after capturing Mikoyan Shakhra, where the Germans had made their deepest penetration in the mountains and freezing the 17,000-foot peak of Mt. Elbrus, 18,471 feet high, whose scaling the Germans had so proudly announced.

VANDALS ARE A PROBLEM

"Several boys have been apprehended in acts of vandalism and petty theft," said M. L. Perdue, police chief, Saturday, in discussing conditions that have developed in Cisco. Hundreds of windows have been broken in vacant houses, along with other destruction of property. The great number of window panes that had to be replaced in converting the former C. and N. E. round house into the War Industries plant was an example of the local growth of juvenile vandalism.

WAR PROGRAM CHANGE IS A PREDICTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Look for an important announcement soon affecting North Africa and the whole United Nations war plan. We said it last week and we repeat it. Announcement has been delayed, but it's still coming.

TWO PLANES LOST.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Navy aircraft and army searching parties Saturday combed wide areas in California and Arizona for two navy planes missing since Thursday with a total of 25 persons, including 13 naval officers, aboard.

EGYPTIAN "ONE-HOSS SHAY"—Gas rationing, and the lack of a motor, don't worry this native cab driver in Cairo, Egypt, as he makes a deal with an American soldier for transportation. Front axle and steering pivot, plus horse, solved his problem when gas shortage became acute.

LIFE GOES ON—On the Island of Malta in the Mediterranean, the most bombed spot in the world children still act like children despite the ravages of war. The healthy-looking boys and girls pictured above are wishing they could get their hands on toy display in shop window.

3 WATER TANKS NOW

G. R. Kilpatrick, city water superintendent, stated Saturday that all three water reservoirs in Cisco are now hitched into the city system and water pressure should be at the maximum immediately.

A great majority of the leaks over town have been mended, and conditions should begin to assume normal proportions after so many breaks in lines, caused by the sudden drop in temperature the past week.

KILL THE YELLOW KILLERS

MacARTHUR HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Jan. 23.—American and Australian troops after smashing the last organized Japanese resistance in Papua hunted down today the handful of tattered, hungry, fever-ridden fugitives who remained of an enemy army that, four months ago, 15,000 strong, was within 32 miles of Port Moresby.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced in a communique that the last three enemy pockets of resistance, two flanking Sana-manda point on the north coast of New Guinea, the third inland, had been broken and that 725 enemy dead had been counted. The day before 150 Japanese had been killed when the first of the enemy pockets was taken.

MacArthur announced also that American B-17 Flying Fortresses and B-24 Liberators, in an amazing pre-dawn raid in which the great four-motored bombers swept down like fighter planes on Rabaul, the biggest Japanese base in the Southwest Pacific, had destroyed four enemy ships totalling 24,000 tons.

ITALIANS' ONCE PRETENTIOUS AFRICAN EMPIRE PRACTICALLY GONE; BATTLE STILL RAGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Secretary of State Hull said Saturday the fall of Tripoli to the British constituted one of the most overwhelming, outstanding and important victories of the war.

This government and the people of the United States rejoice in the achievements of the British 8th Army in capturing the North African city from the Axis forces, Hull asserted.

Battle is Raging.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The British Eighth Army marched into Tripoli and hoisted the Union Jack at 5 a. m. today and then sent striking forces racing west of Benito Mussolini's last African capital in an attempt to encircle and annihilate Axis forces straggling into Tunisia.

A terrific battle was believed to be raging between encircled Axis forces, presumably west of Tripoli on the road to Tunisia, and advanced elements of the Eighth Army. The Nazi Radio Paris acknowledged that this battle was under way, admitted that the German forces had been encircled, but claimed that the British attempt to trap them had been "frustrated."

Allied dispatches had indicated an American, British and French plan to trap the ragged shreds of the Afrika Korps as it quit the last Italian soil in Africa, and completely destroy it in southeastern Tunisia.

Brig. Gen. Jacques LeClerc's Fighting French forces from the Lak Chad region were reported to have turned toward Tunisia and the Mareth Line, along the border, where Marshal Erwin Rommel was believed to be hoping to hole up for a while and give his Afrika Korps a breathing spell.

A dispatch from a United Press correspondent in southern Tunisia had hinted that American paratroops and infantry, along with French forces, might soon stab to the coast, cutting the Afrika Korps off in a narrow, desolate corridor.

Three months to a day from the start of his smashing offensive at El Alamein, more than 1400 miles to the east, Lieut. Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery's desert-hardened empire troops were swinging down the narrow, twisted streets of Tripoli, and under the marble triumphal arch that the Caesars built.

A column that had by-passed Tripoli moved ahead on Zura, 70 miles west of Tripoli; along a road that was a graveyard of Axis tanks, trucks and troops.

Beyond the border lay the old French Mareth Line of forts, Ben Gardane, 20 miles inside Tunisia, Medenine, 48 miles west of Ben Gardane, and Gabes, 45 miles north of Medenine, the first big enemy base and anchor point of the corridor to the north.

The Italians' once pretentious African empire was for practical purposes gone. To the Italians had come the final humiliation, after seeing the fall of Tripoli, of accepting British charity for their bread, and British protection from the 800,000 bitterly hostile Arabs, whose land Mussolini had stolen and who had slaughtered or put in concentration camps thousands of them.

BEHIND THE LINES.

The most far-reaching speech of the past generation from the standpoint of governing individuals at liberty under an American form of government was made by United States Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Democrat, on December 8, 1942.

Without rancor or partisan bias, he shows that we face a danger at home, not so much from the enemies as from the ideology which made these enemies prepare and precipitate the war. The ideology of the authoritarian state.

We are rapidly drifting toward the totalitarian idea that the state is the master and that the individual has no rights which the state must respect. The senate traces the growth of bureaucracy in our country up to the moment, and shows that it is but a short step from the point at which we now are to the European theory of the authoritarian state.

"If we believe as the founders of this nation did, in a separation of the powers of government into the legislative, the executive and the judicial, and if we look for the restoration of that balance after the war, then it is imperative that we should at least make ourselves acquainted with the recent trends of government," said Senator O'Mahoney.

He then cites from the record to demonstrate how executive orders and acts of bureaus have developed a new executive legislative function. He shows how the new manifestation of the expansion of executive power became evident, namely the tendency by interpretation, to expand the power and authority given by statute. The recent remarkable salary limitation by the Director of Economic Stabilization is a case in point.

Advocates of a new order proposed to democracy have reached their conclusions because they believe that the modern world has become so complex that people can no longer govern themselves as they did in the past and that it must be governed by experts who will tell them what they ought to do and what they must do.

Senator O'Mahoney then points out that government by executive order, and bureaucratic pronouncements, which control congress, is dangerous because a pattern can be set whereby executives surrounded by tremendous concentrated power, will become the instruments of a permanent bureaucracy.

CANNED GOODS MYSTERY.

L. A. Warren, president of Safeway Stores and a nationally known figure in the food supply field, has presented some interesting figures for public consideration. Following the government's announced plan for rationing of canned goods, Warren said:

"Somewhere along the line a lot of canned goods have disappeared. I don't believe that food has been consumed. It is around, either in packed pantries or in warehouses of speculators, or still in the canneries.

"One of the situations is the disappearance of the pea pack. The pack in the past has been between 22,000,000 and 23,000,000 cases. This year the government said it wanted 12,000,000 cases. So the pack was upped to 35,000,000 cases. Yet the supply of canned peas has disappeared in sixty days."

All people must join in plans to save or distribute needed food supplies. Grocery stores are doing their best to apportion food fairly to make supplies go around, before compulsory rationing is inaugurated. All of us can cooperate and help in this necessary task.

We all know what a run on a money are at stake. They are the strength of democracy. And he knows that by his efforts to sell war bonds directly to the people he is doing his part to save both.

HOW COMELY IT IS.

O how comely it is, and how reviving To the spirits of just men long oppressed, When God into the hands of their deliverer Puts invincible might, To quell the mighty of the earth, the oppressor, The brute and boisterous force of violent men.

He all their ammunition And taste of war defrauds, With plain heroic magnitude of mind, Their armories and magazines contents, Renders them useless, while With winged expedition Swift as the lightning glance he executes His errand on the wicked, who, surprised, Lose their defense, distracted and amazed — JOHN MILTON, Chorus from Samson Agonistes.

CURTIS

The recent cold spell was rather severe, considering the fact we do not have much of that brand of weather in the Cisco Country.

Even the old settlers complained, and those who had lots of canned stuff, but no cellars, lost much of it by freezing. Moral: Build a cellar at odd times.

Mrs. Walter Brawley of Cisco has joined her husband, Private Brawley, at Barkdale Field, Shreveport, La.

Earl Stullers and Lewis Brawley attended the livestock sale in Cisco Monday. O. E. Pierce and son Kermit also attended the sale.

Mrs. Forrest Harrison of Colorado City has returned home after two weeks here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Vowell. Her husband is with the armed forces.

Dorothy Fay Brawley sealed her ankle, but will be back in school shortly.

First Methodist.

The church, as an organized body of people who believe in and seek to put into practice the teachings of Jesus Christ, is the one great hope of salvation for the world of the future. The fundamental work of the church at home and around the world is without ulterior motive. It is carried on with no desire of personal profit or gain. This fact has helped to offset the unfavorable influence of commercial exploitation of backward peoples and has built a reservoir of good will. As we make the church strong we indeed make more secure the future hope of peace.

The church represents today the Light of the World. You are invited to worship with us this Sabbath day. Sunday school at 9:45. Morning worship at 10:50 and evening worship at 5:30. The young people meet at 6:30 and stay until 9 or 9:30 for their devotion and for good fellowship. LESLIE SEYMOUR, Minister.

This is light, but rugged containers and wrappings which serve as excellent substitutes for heavier wood and vital tin which heretofore had to be used to protect delicate instruments and surfaces from the ravages of the salt and moisture-laden sea air. Pine trees of the South, plus the genius of its scientists, have become the "new crop" of the land of cotton, with the rough type paper and cardboards derived from the tree proving ideal mediums for transport of war supplies to both Allied and U. UNCLE SAM PROTECTS

Yes, the broad wings of Uncle Sam spread to protect the war ships upon the seas and the far flung flights of his war planes of the air. The American eagle is a war-like bird, once you get him angry. And just now that usually placid EMBLEM OF POWER is thoroughly aroused at the wanton murders of citizens of peaceful nations . . . their women and children, and the visitation of starvation upon them in order to break their spirits and to have food for their own sword driven armies . . . armies marshalled in Germany, Italy and Japan.

The treachery of Japan has removed her from the pale of civilized nations of honor; the brutality of Germany is forever a disgrace upon the leadership of that nation, while the back stabbing Italy makes cowards of her leaders in the minds of every brave, honorable human being on the face of the earth.

We, in Texas, Cisco and Eastland county, have a part in keeping those wings spread to protect the liberties of the world . . . to see that justice reigns and that people have the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of human happiness. We secure this part by buying war bonds to help win this war and feed the starving nations who have no other hope than the power YOUR bonds and MY bonds carry to them. The destiny of the world rests upon how well we do this job that Uncle Sam says is OURS.
