CASABLANCA MEETING CLOAKED IN MYSTERY

U. S. President's Dramatic Trip To Africa Sets Whole World Agog

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Jan. 27.—President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in the most unprecedented and momentous meeting of the century, have reached complete agreement on war plans for 1943 designed ultimately to bring about the unconditional surrender of Germany, Italy and Japan, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Defying every tradition, the president flew across 5,000 miles of the Atlantic ocean for a ten-day meeting with Churchill which has the leaders of the two nations being Gen. Charles DeGaulle and Gen. Henri Honore Giraud together for the first time in a little while just outside this city.

Virtually the entire war staffs of both nations participated in day and night discussions which ended Sunday afternoon with a press conference before a group of war correspondents flown secretly from Allied headquarters halfway across North Africa.

These are the high spots of the conference, which Roosevelt and Churchill agreed was unprecedented in history and may decide the fate of the world for generations to come.

1. The leaders of America and Britain, both military and civil, have agreed on a war plan for 1943 designed to maintain the initiative in every theater of the war.

2. Churchill and Roosevelt agreed that peace can come only through unconditional surrender of Germany, Italy and Japan.

3. Generals Giraud and DeGaulle, meeting for the first time under sponsorship of the president and prime minister, are negotiating for a united French movement designed to put French armies, a navy and an air force again into the field against the Axis.

4. Premier Joseph Stalin of Russia was kept informed of the results of the conference. In fact, Churchill and Roosevelt offered to meet Stalin very much farther to the east, but the Russian chief was unable to leave the U. S. S. R. due to the need of his services for present Red army offensives. The president and prime minister also have been in communication with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and "have apprised him of the measures which they are taking to assist him in China's magnificent and unrelaxing struggle for the common cause."

5. A maximum material aid to Russia and China will be one of the prime aims of the United States and Britain.

GOOD PRICES MAJOR M'CREA PREVAILED AT AND WIFE CISCO AUCTION CO VISITORS

Some mighty good cattle passed over the block at the Cisco Livestock Exchange Auction yesterday, according to Secretary Paul Booth, who also mentioned that a calf brought $63, thus showing that prime conditioned stock are bringing with-while prices.

Farmers say that dry weather had greatly injured grass and hindered the growth of grain for winter pastures. In many places, fires have destroyed grass that was being conserved for extreme cold weather. It will be necessary for many stockmen to use feed for their herds, especially if there should be very much wintry weather.

Sales totaled about $4,300.

SANDLER AND GRIST IN PIANO NUMBERS

Three new Lion members were reported today for the membership drive now on by the three groups in a contest which ends Saturday at midnight.

Melvin Sandler and Barbara Grist were introduced in piano numbers by W. E. Dean, program chairman. Following the duet numbers, Sandler played two piano solos, all of which were appreciated by the audience.

Charles J. Klemer, county chairman for the president's ball benefit for infantile paralysis, announced that all towns in the county were following a program of donating directly, rather than a dance or games plan, this year.

O. L. Stamey, chairman for the army division of the Lions membership contest, reported two new Lion cubs, Dr. C. E. Paul and Rev. Russell Dennis; Harry Schmidt, of the air group, reported one new member, Julien J. Perkins.

Lion Geo. W. Downie, chairman of the losing group in a recent attendance contest, was urged to hurry his penalty banquet for the winners.

Lion Carlos J. Turner was welcomed back to the club after an absence in defense work since late summer.

EASTLAND-CALLAHAN MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETS

The meeting of the Eastland-Callahan County Medical society at Laguna hotel last night was well attended and thoroughly interesting, the program being furnished by members of the medical and surgery staff from Camp Barkeley.

Following the invocation and banquet, Dr. Frank M. Pugliese and Dr. Louis Zetzel discussed "Peptic Ulcers," while Dr. Murray Gibbens, also of Camp Barkeley, discussed the Kenney treatment of poliomyelitis.

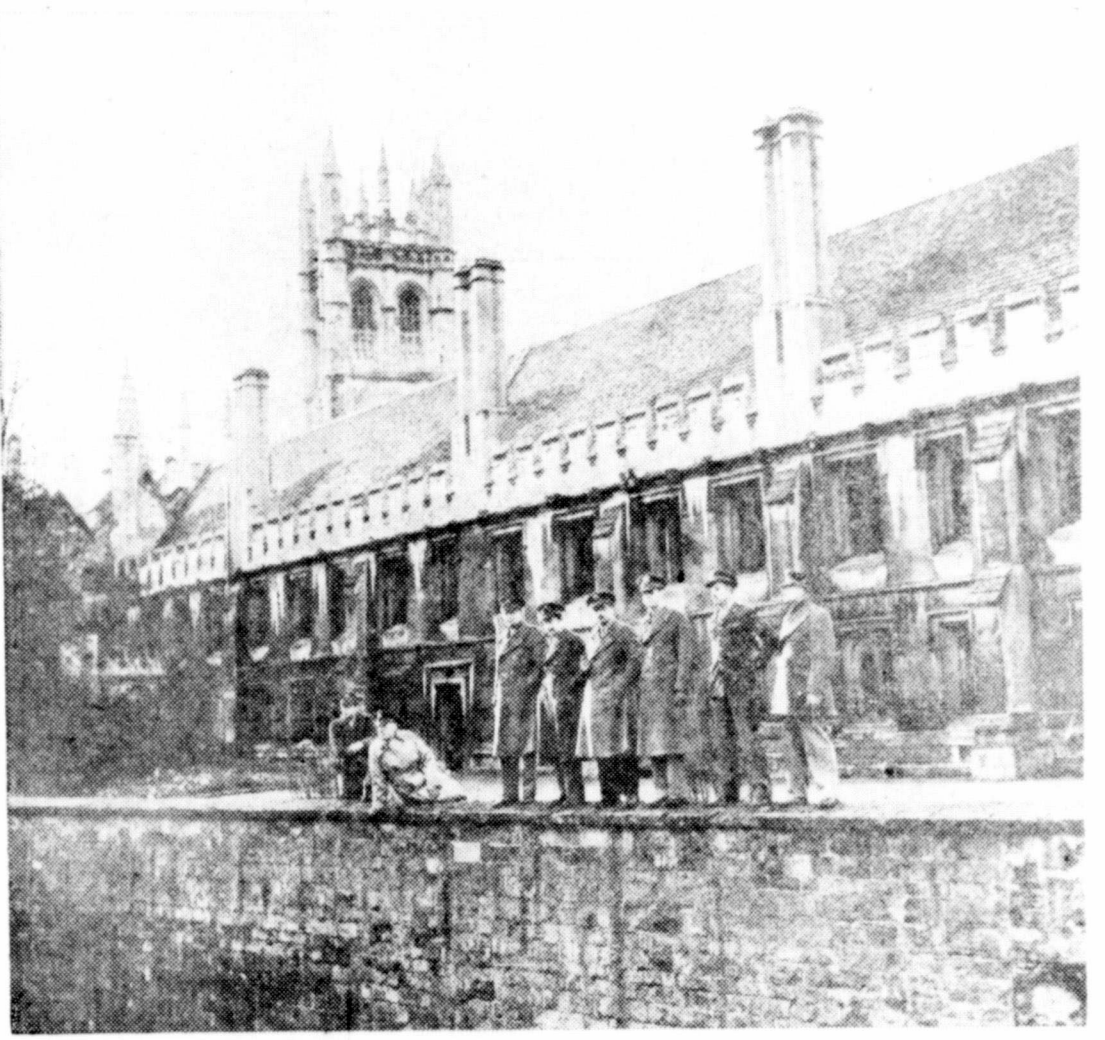

Dr. R. C. Cockrell of Baird, retiring president, was in charge of the meeting, which began at 8 o'clock.

At the business session Dr. D. V. Rogers of Gorman was elected president and Dr. J. H. Caton of Eastland was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Among those present were the following:

Breckenridge—Dr. Quinn, Dr. Cartwright and Dr. Parks.
Carbon—Dr. T. G. Jackson.
Ranger—Dr. W. L. Jackson.
Gorman—Dr. D. V. Rogers and Dr. M. L. Stubblefield.

FLYNN GETS OK.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The senate foreign relations committee today approved President Roosevelt's nomination of Edward J. Flynn, former national Democratic chairman, to be minister to Australia and the president's personal representative in the Southwest Pacific. The vote was 13 to 10.

HITLER DUPES AT STALINGRAD LAY GUNS DOWN

MOSCOW, Jan. 27.—The entire German 534th Infantry regiment surrendered today, and part of the 609th, including staff officers, was wiped out as Russian troops mercilessly attacked the 12,000 ragged, starving Axis troops remaining on the Stalingrad front from 22 divisions, totaling 220,000 men.

On the Voronezh front, where innumerable German and other Axis forces have been encircled, group after group laid down their arms, the noon communique reported, and within a few hours 1463 prisoners had been rounded up and sent to the rear.

The fate of Gen. Friedrich von Paulus, German commander in chief on the Stalingrad front, and of the many high officers of his staff remained a mystery. There was no indication whether he had escaped by plane or elected to remain with his men, who had resisted to the last after Adolf Hitler had threatened reprisals against their families if they surrendered.

YANKS STRIKE GERMANY.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—United States heavy bombers, Flying Fortresses and Liberators, attacked naval installations in Germany today, it was authoritatively announced. It was the United States Army Air Force's first attack on the German homeland.

It was believed that German U-boat centers particularly were chosen for the attack. Just what part of the Reich was hit was not disclosed.

JEFFERS UPHELD.

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—Federal bureaus were sharply criticized in resolutions adopted unanimously by the Texas house today. In one resolution, the house demanded the price of crude oil be raised 50 cents a barrel to provide incentive for exploration. In another William M. Jeffers, rubber administrator, was upheld in his fight to obtain priorities for construction of synthetic rubber plants in this and other states.

SAM ERWIN, 82 IS ILL AT HIS SABANNO HOME

J. S. (Sam) Erwin, 82, is ill at his home in the Sabanno community and fears are entertained that he may not recover, although he is better now than he was for a time.

Mr. Erwin, one of the best known and most highly respected farmers of Eastland county, resides on the farm he purchased in 1886. He is a native of Texas and was born in Parker county and is the father of eight children—five daughters and three sons.

Those at his bedside in addition to the wife and mother are two daughters, Mrs. D. A. McDonald of Breckenridge and Mrs. Bedford Meshburn of Cisco. A brother, John Erwin, formerly of Cisco, now lives in Brownwood.

YOUTH DELINQUENCY.

FT. WORTH, Jan. 27.—County Judge Clarence Kraft today was studying a report by R. E. Neely, chief probation officer, who has found that juvenile delinquencies in Tarrant county gained more than 20 per cent in 1942 over 1941. Mr. Neely said that lack of supervision of children was one factor that caused the increase.

CORRESPONDENTS HINT OF ENEMY PARTICIPATION IN TALK; LITTLE IS KNOWN DEFINITELY

ALGIERS, Jan. 27.—Conviction grew today that the "unconditional surrender" pronouncement of President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill tells only a part—and possibly not the most exciting part—of the story of their 10-day meeting at Casablanca.

Correspondents who attended the historic Roosevelt-Churchill press conference which concluded the deliberations in the white-walled city of Africa's west coast believed that the official communique did not cover all the activity of those 10 days in the sun-drenched Moroccan port.

Rumors of what occurred at Casablanca have run a gamut to end all gamuts and none, thus far, has taken any form of authoritative-ness.

These rumors had it that Italians, Spanish and even Finnish and Turkish delegates had representatives at the meeting.

The rumors were that these representatives were invited not necessarily to join the United Nations but to become convinced of the might of the Allies. Then they could make their own choice.

It is not believed that President Roosevelt would have cared to take the risk of a 6,000-mile airplane ride for nothing more than a "heart to heart" talk with Prime Minister Churchill.

What particularly aroused the interest of the correspondents was the complete air of mystery which surrounded the entire proceeding.

Casablanca was literally saturated with rumors. Crowded as it was with special anti-aircraft emplacements, special guards, secret service men, and troops, almost any kind of report was passed avidly from person to person.

One of the most frequent of these reports was that the anti-aircraft batteries had orders not to fire on any planes—whether enemy or not—which might appear at certain hours of the day. The inference, of course, was that some sort of emissary from some belligerent state was expected.

With Churchill sitting at his left, Roosevelt explained to war correspondents hastily flown in from the Tunisian front that he and Churchill had pledged themselves that peace would return to the world and that this peace could not come unless it was accompanied by the total destruction of the power of Germany and Japan to make war.

The president told correspondents gathered at his feet in the velvety grass of the villa's rear garden that the keynote of the meeting had been taken from Gen. Ulysses S. Grant.

General Grant, he said, was known as "unconditional surrender" and that was the purpose and purport of the present deliberations. He said that the meeting would be known as the "unconditional surrender" conference.

The prime minister, speaking a few minutes later echoed Mr. Roosevelt's statement and said that with unconquerable will America and Britain would pursue their purpose to its logical conclusion.

KEEP IN BALANCE.

We like the idea of a navy of around two million men—now and after peace comes. With the army, however, it would seem to us that five million men during the war would be sufficient and that the total army strength should be cut to a million and a quarter after complete victory has been won over the Axis.

It should be clear to all who think seriously that the water holes of the world must be partitioned continuously and systematically if peace is to be maintained. In short, the United States should and must take the lead in establishing a permanent international police force. That is the only way to keep the Hitlers, Hirohitos and Mussolins (professional politicians) in their places.

On the other hand, Washington insistence that we arm approximately 11,000,000 men now, might easily drain this country dry and thereby endanger the complete victory that appears certain if we do not forget that the laws of balance and reason can never be successfully violated for long.

CORNER-STONE DEMOCRACY.

One farmer contributes his three-cents worth to the farm problem discussion by writing to a newspaper that if farmers would stop loafing the manpower shortage would be much less. He says they loaf at the corner store, sitting around growing about a labor shortage, and that any sale, even on a perfect working day, will draw farmers from as far as 15 miles, just to see who's there and growl about gas-rationing. He complains also that they won't use the equipment they have, don't keep it in good repair, don't use it enough hours themselves and won't rent it to neighbors who might make good use of it.

Some of these kicks may be justified, especially the ones dealing with farm machinery. More co-operation in the use of tractors and other machines would do a great deal to help the situation. And a farmer might even self-sacrificingly deny himself and his family the pleasure of an occasional sale with no harm done. But when anyone tries to deprive the farmer of cracker-barrel discussion of his country's rights, wrongs, and methods of government, is he not attacking one of the inalienable American rights, the denial of which might go far to dry up the springs of American democracy?

TRAITORS' PUNISHMENT.

The Irish invented something when they originated the boycott. As a means of treating public enemies who are too powerfully protected to be dealt with by law, it has no equal. It is one of the few remaining weapons left in the hands of the conquered peoples of Europe.

A new form has been invoked in Norway against the country's foremost literary figure, Knut Hamsun, author of "Growth of the Soil" and a Nobel prize-winner for literature. As such he has been honored by every Norwegian. Now he has chosen to become a follower of Quisling, the traitor who rules Norway as a Nazi agent.

Nazi power prevents measures of punishment, but it does not keep his countrymen from letting him know how they hate and despise his desertion. Every house, therefore, that has owned a copy of Hamsun's books is now returning them to Hamsun. So many copies have been sent back that the post-office in the little town where he lives has had to hire extra helpers to handle the mass. Every mail brings him more of his books, rejected by the people who once held them in honor.

Authors, like other artists, are apt to be more sensitive than the average run of men. If this applies to Hamsun, he has fallen on evil days.

FOOD SHORTAGE.

Herbert Hoover's statement on farm and food problems calls for careful consideration. Most Americans have had the impression that there was a great surplus stock of foodstuffs in this country and that vast quantities had already gone to our foreign allies, with plenty to follow.

But Mr. Hoover, a relentless statistician, says bluntly that we are sending less than half the meats and fats to our allies that we sent them in the last war, and yet we face a greater shortage of such foodstuffs at home than we did then.

The main trouble, he explains, is that since the last war the supply of American livestock has not kept pace with the growth of human population. We may have more cattle, sheep and pigs than we had 25 years ago, but they have not kept pace with the human population. We haven't so much meat and milk per person. Per capita supplies of beef and milk cows are less now than they were at the end of the last war.

The obvious need is, as Mr. Hoover sees it, "to build up flocks and herds and the production of vegetable oils." This requires farm labor, and cannot be done adequately by women and children while their men go to war.

Fortunately the American public has begun to realize some of these facts, and congress is turning to the task of keeping more men on the farms and seeing that they are supplied with adequate machinery. Otherwise we cannot feed both our own people and our foreign allies, to whom food itself is war material.

A FRENCH KING?

If a house is suddenly vacated but is still attractive, new tenants are apt to apply. This is particularly true if the applicants are former residents who regret their departure and are eager to get back.

This is the situation of France, following the downfall in 1940 of the Third Republic. The Vichy regime of Petain and Laval is obviously temporary. It will not survive after the war, and may not last that long. A new government will have to be formed, and there are already candidates for the position. Chief among them is Henri de Bourbon - Orleans, Count of Paris, the heir of the house of Bourbon, whose kings governed France for centuries.

A few years ago there would have been not only one claimant for the throne of France, if that country were going to return to the rule of sovereigns, but three. The last Bourbon, King Charles X, was deposed in 1830, and succeeded by his cousin Louis Philippe of the house of Orleans. For some time there were claimants to the throne from both the Bourbons and the Orleans houses, until a few years ago the death of the last male Bourbon left the present head of the Orleans family the sole contender. The Bourbons are all gone.

It is unlikely that the French will wish to go back and not forward for their new government. However, the French "are not what they used to be."

That sweep of the Russian armies westward this winter, for the reconquest of their lost territory, is one of the most magnificent war exploits in history. They now seem likely to reconquer the whole area that had been overrun by the Germans, much of it a thousand miles wide. It might all be won back this year. Hats off to the Russians—they are doing their full part in preserving civilization.

Your Saxons and your Bavarians would probably be peaceful enough without Prussian leadership. They used to devote themselves to the creative arts of wood carving and china making. who have been subject to selective service registration for as long as six months and who do not have their classification cards, are cautioned by General J. Watt Page, state selective service director, to communicate with their local boards at once.

On and after February 1, Page pointed out, any man in this age group who does not have in his personal possession his classification card (Form 57), as well as his certificate of registration, is liable to fine or imprisonment, or both.

The recent order of the Selective Service Bureau of the War Manpower Commission, setting the February 1 deadline for possession of Classification Cards by men of military ages, has met with prompt response in Texas, General Page said. Many registrants are reporting to their local boards, requesting classification or asking that lost Classification Cards be duplicated. However, General Page says he believes there are still a few who have failed to get in touch with their boards because of carelessness or negligence.

TELLS ALL—Dancer Peggy Satterlee steps from witness stand in Los Angeles court after relating story of yachting trip with actor Errol Flynn, who is on trial charged with statutory rape. Defense attorney brought out story of the girl's other men friends.

RUSHING TO THE RESCUE—One of British Air Force's speedy Rescue Service boats speeds out to sea off the British coast after R. A. F. plane had been seen going down during aerial combat with Nazi fighters who had pursued British bombers out over English Channel.

GLAMOUR NEVER HAS BEEN PUT ON THE PAN by glamour itself as it is by Paulette Goddard, Dorothy Lamour and Veronica Lake singing "A Sweeter, A Sweeter, A Sweeter" in Paramount's "Star Spangled Rhythm." With Paulette wearing a sweater, Dotie clad in her shortest sarong and Veronica's gown slit from bottom and top, the three glamour gals brutally raze their trademark and poke fun at Hollywood and its traditions.

"BLACK MAGIC" is the title of the beautiful ballet number danced by Vera Zorina in Paramount's new-style musical, "Star Spangled Rhythm." The lovely dancing star does the number while Johnnie Johnston sings "That Old Black Magic" in one of the many specialties in which Paramount brings to the screen more than 70 stellar and featured film personalities.

To serve you best... WE MUST SERVE THE NATION FIRST

Long distance telephone calls are helping move things faster these days in scores of army camps and munitions factories. And long distance telephone lines are crowded.

We know you're glad to help us clear the way for vital war calls by making as few calls as possible, by being brief, and by avoiding the long circuits to faraway cities particularly between 7 and 9 p.m. After all, war is everyone's Number One job.

But don't think we have forgotten that your calls are important, too. We're as anxious as ever to serve you when you need us. If we ask for your co-operation, it's because we know that to serve you best, we must serve the nation first.

B'PTIST BROTHERHOOD NAMED NEW OFFICERS

A program consisting of a singing led by W. Frank Walker, local male quartet, instrumental music by Ernest Hilson, A. E. McNeely and Ray Janta, and short talks by Rev. Myers, pastor of the local church for Negro Methodists and Rev. Carrington, West Texas negro evangelist, were the main features of the Brotherhood meeting last night at the First Baptist church.

W. W. Fossil, president of the meeting, which was the first since the reorganization some months ago. He announced that a joint meeting will be held in the church by means of which the special evangelistic program would be held at 9 o'clock, through the assistance of Paul M. Cup.

Sanitation of the program the session of officers was held, starting in the following staff: W. W. Fossil, president; Asa Skiles, vice president in charge of attendance. W. H. LaRoque, vice president in charge of programs. A. E. McNeely, vice president in charge of social activities. B. B. Hurst, secretary-treasurer.

The Rev. M. Carrington spoke very earnestly for a few moments, with the burden of his talk hinging on the text: "Be Sure Your Sins Will Find You Out," adding that "We Can't Fool Ourselves; We Can't Fool Our Neighbors, and We Can't Fool God—Not All the Time."

The speaker pleaded for an impartial hearing for members of the race, not imputing to all the shortcomings of a few. He said he did not want race equality.

MITCHELLS HARASS ROMMEL.—Close cooperation between land and air forces has been one of the outstanding features of Allied successes on the Western Desert. Winged ahead of ground forces to bomb Axis is a flight of U. S. Mitchell bombers.

Planes Without Equal Aim of U. S. Industry

Companies that never thought of making aircraft parts are helping to supply one of our essential military needs—warplanes. Here a router cuts alloy sheets in as many as a dozen identical parts with one operation in a plant of Pullman Standard, which pioneered the streamlined train, and is now producing subassemblies for big bombers.

By George Stauffer
WASHINGTON.—(Special)—American-made warplanes—weapons of death and destruction to the Axis—are blazing the way for Uncle Sam's fighting forces on world-wide battlefronts.

These bombers and fighters—Boeing Flying Fortresses, Consolidated Liberator, Douglas Dauntless dive bombers, North American Mustangs and others—are enabling the United Nations to wrest air supremacy from the enemy.

To meet demands of war air strategy for planes and more planes, particularly bombers and fighters without equal, American industry, with its resourcefulness and genius, has gone all-out to produce new and even startling advances for our aircraft—1943 models.

One of the most important is a lighter and stronger aluminum alloy—the "skin" and many of the "bones" of planes—which the Aluminum Company of America has developed along with forged aluminum cylinder heads, forged hollow propellers and other innovations that by decreasing weight permit planes to fly faster, cruise farther and carry heavier loads.

Symbolizing war expansion, one Alcoa mill is today turning out in one month one and one-half times as much high-strength alloy sheet as the whole nation used in an entire year before the war.

Yet these are but a few of the indications that American industry has tremendous muscles of resourcefulness which it is flexing to keep this country's aviation preminent.

COOPERATION

The Key to Successful Happy Living

With the momentous announcement of the meeting between President F. D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill in the northern coast town of Africa, much more emphasis is placed upon the need for cooperation—cooperation among nations down to the cooperation needed to make any community a thrifty, happy place to live and rear one's family—a place to do business, because it is a pleasure to do business with one's close friends.

Looking at the pictures heading this item, one gets at a glance the idea of how people of the United States are cooperating to carry on in this critical time of the world when the flower of our young manhood is busy fighting the enemy of the peace of the nations.

One sees how important it is to divide the work of the country or community. The young soldier at the front, the businessman at his desk, the machinist at his lathe, the farmer providing the food for the world, and the young woman at home processing the surplus food for future use.

In building a community there must be that close shoulder to shoulder link—each person doing his job as best he may, and not hindering the other person in his particular line of work.

To keep this feeling of close connection between all people of a sector of country, it is necessary to keep each informed of the activities of others. They must share the sorrows and joys of one another.

The biggest factor in keeping a community geared to the greatest efficiency of cooperation is the newspaper—that instrument that distributes the news that the people themselves make—their every day living, deaths, births, marriages and visitations with each other.

Send your local newspaper to a friend or relative—lengthen the chain that binds Your Family to Others.
