BILL LATCH HEART ATTACK WRITES FROM BROTHER Brought Sud-Pacific Area Den Death

Letters from Corp. Bill Latch, U. S. Marine somewhere in the Pacific, have come to his mother in Cisco, his brother, Leonard Latch of Lubbock and his sister, Mrs. R. V. Rendell of Odessa. Mrs. Latch's letter was dated Feb. 22. Excerpts from it and the others read:

At long last this war is looking like things are in our favor. I will celebrate by writing some long overdue letters. If we could say anything, it wouldn't be so difficult to write, but you folks at home must get awfully tired of these "I am fine, how are you" letters.

We have had some good mail service recently but don't let the speed in getting mail from me deceive you as to distance. Maybe we will get to come home some time, but it won't be soon. I certainly wish I could have seen all the kids Christmas but my job is here so that old Santa can keep making his route at home.

Our Christmas was as nice as we could expect out here. We sang carols up on the fan and had some of the boys off the beach who don't have as much chow as we did out to dinner. Then group had last nearly exciting day. Part of our Christmas they come from sharing our gifts and food with them. We gave them some of our clothes, too, because they were marines and some of them were personal friends of ours.

Leonard, I'm enclosing money for ten dollars. Please go to a bookstore in Lubbock and get me a small atlas—not larger than 12 x 14, for I haven't space for a bigger one. Also enclose a six-inch celluloid ruler. These may sound like strange requests, but we don't have the illustrated maps you do. All we get are names of places in the news which is meaningless if you don't know where they are. It's rather interesting to keep up with where we are also. I'll bet we have been places that won't be found on that atlas! If there's any money left from this exchange, buy something for Jane and her little sister, my namesake, whom I have not seen—Miss Billie Ruth Latch.

Don't kid yourself by thinking the war is a knife fighting duel with bows. It's still a most silent and demoralizing weapon. Ask the Japs. The Marines have shown them a few tricks at their own expense. Say what they may, a good little man still isn't the equal of a good big man.

If you had to eat some of this muck that they throw at us, you'd know why the people at home shoot sheep herders.

Mother, I don't know any reason why you should dream of my being in battle unless you are overly nervous and worry about me too much. My duties here are neither hard nor dangerous, so please brace up and quit worrying about me. The only thing that worries us is the monotony of things—no action now. Imagine my going from July 4th to now without a movie or speaking to a whole woman! Behind the line of action, I'm afraid we don't have much chance to be fighting heroes. We are guards here and, true to the Marine motto of "always faithful," we'll do our duty with God as our helper.

With love,
BILL LATCH.

MOVING TO COLEMAN.
Sterling Drumwright has just passed his refresher training course for primary instructor at Coleman and is home now packing up to move his family to that city, where he begins his army duties Monday.

AT RANDOLPH FIELD.
Mrs. L. F. Mendenhall is in receipt of a letter stating that her two sons, Sgt. John Cummins and Pvt. Bill Cummins, have been transferred to Randolph Field. The former has been at the Blackland Flying Field, Waco, while the latter was transferred from Pampa Field. The young men are 21 and 18 years of age.

Funeral services are pending for S. H. (Dad) Montgomery, 66, who dropped dead Wednesday afternoon at about 4:30 o'clock in the bath room adjoining the office of Dr. C. E. Paul, who was waiting to treat him for a liver disarrangement which was giving him great pain.

Mr. Montgomery had been coming to the barber who had shaved him in the afternoon, and had made his first visit to the office of Dr. C. E. Paul for treatment.

According to Dr. Paul, Mr. Montgomery came and asked to be treated, but asked first that he be allowed to go to the bath room. On entering, even before he had time to close the door to the bath room he was heard to fall. When they reached him he was dead.

Decedent had lived at 1405 W. Fifth street in Cisco for the past 14 years, being a driller in the employ of Gallagher & Lawson, oil producers, for the past 30 years. He came to Cisco from Gorman and had many friends here.

Mr. Montgomery was born in Saxburg, Pa., May 17, 1876. He lacked just two months to a day of being 67 years of age. At the time of his death he was operating the bowling alley at 711 D avenue.

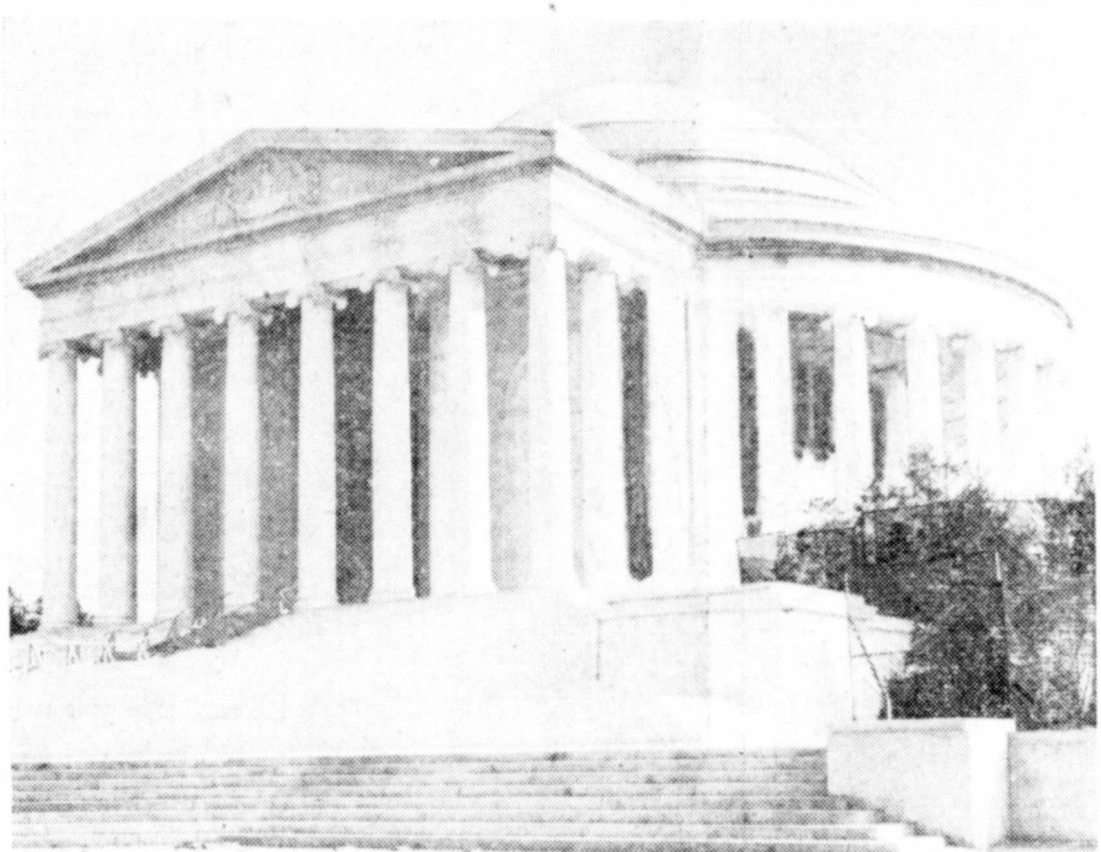

He is survived by his wife, a brother, W. J. Montgomery, of Saxburg, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. J. E. Neal, of Yorkstown, Ohio. The funeral will be at the Thomas funeral home chapel, conducted by Dr. Gary L. Smith. Time of the funeral awaits word from the brother and sister. Pall bearers will be H. T. Huffman, W. E. Dean, John Kleiner, L. H. McCrea, Carter Belew and Joe Gallagher.

LEGISLATORS KNOW HOW TO SPEND IT ALL

AUSTIN, March 18.—Old-age pensioners of Texas will receive an unexpected windfall of $1,165,000 but whether it will come to them at once or be paid in installments is a policy question yet to be determined by the legislature.

At this time the pension account has a $1,165,000 surplus of unexpended and unappropriated money above the lawful limit of $1,750,000 allowed each month for the payment of old-age assistance.

Representative Ben Sharpe, Paris, had the house pass his bill allocating the entire amount in a lump sum and the state welfare board would then have the right to add it immediately or in such installments as it sees fit.

The senate finance committee agreed to transfer of the money but stipulated that it should be done in twenty-four monthly installments which would amount to about $50,000 each. As thus changed the bill passed the senate yesterday, 24 to 3, but it remains to be seen whether the house will accept it.

WAR SCHOOL STUDENT SANG FOR ROTARY

A most interesting program at the Rotary club today, following a meal that brought many compliments for its goodness (built around the home-made, hot, wholewheat rolls), put members into an especially good humor and a delightful attitude of "at peace with the world."

Ten candles burning on the table were said to be for Vice President Lonnie Shockley's birthday, though President Hittson said he couldn't see why so few candles, unless it was to emphasize the fact that he was the baby Rotarian in age.

Dr. E. L. Graham brought the program and he introduced Miss Mary Jane Collins, formerly of New Orleans, now a mechanic student at the Cisco Women's Ordnance Workers school, in his inimitable way, saying she is both a singer and a composer, and that Cisco is very fortunate to have such talent, which should be used more often.

Miss Collins sang several songs and an encore playing her own accompaniment to her own compositions.

Harold Grossman, personal director of the school, was also present and spoke his pleasure at being a guest of the club.

J. R. D. Eddy, state director of vocational education, and Geo. A. Blitch, district supervisor of this department, were also present.

Mr. Eddy complimented Cisco on making the school such a success, saying that in many respects it was the most outstanding school in the United States. He then suggested that Cisco U. S. O. organization or the Rotary club arrange to care for visiting soldiers over the weekend in private homes. The soldiers would be glad to pay for the lodgings, he said. They want to get away from themselves and their barracks, Eddy stated. Mr. Eddy was told that such a move had already been started by the U. S. O. group.

R. N. Cluck responded to a call by speaking of the talent that might be uncovered at the training school.

Rotarian O. J. Russell announced the result of the Rotary-Lions banquet and President Ernest Hittson said that this was the third 100 per cent meeting for the month and that the Cisco club stands second in the district on attendance.

GIRL WRITES EDITORIAL ATTACKING ALLY

AUSTIN, March 18.—The Daily Texan, University of Texas newspaper, was advised yesterday in a house resolution to change or strengthen its editorial supervision, after publication of an editorial listing religion among seven sins which Russia has wiped out.

The resolution rebuking the paper, by L. H. Flewellen, Ranger, touched off lively debate for more than an hour. Flewellen suggested that the Daily Texan devote more space to democracy and religion and less to Russia. He called the editorial alarming, a disgrace and embarrassment.

"Such an unfortunate editorial policy might lead people to believe that such views are being taught at our state university," said Flewellen.

AUTO LICENSE PLATES.

George W. Downie, city secretary, informs the Daily Press that auto license plates may be secured at Cisco city hall Monday morning, at which time Clyde Karkalits, county tax collector, will have a representative here for the convenience of citizens and others of this area. The new plates must be on your car by April 1 if you expect to operate it.

AMERICANS IN NORTH AFRICA ADVANCED 30 MILES TO OCCUPY GAFSA; GABES NEXT GOAL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, March 18.—American forces have advanced 30 miles to capture Gafsa, Axis base in the south-central sector, and are pushing on eastward in what appears to be an attempt to cork the bottle neck at Gabes and trap thousands of Axis troops.

The German-Italian forces are withdrawing southeast toward El Guettar, on the road to Gabes, leaving many mines and booby traps behind in an attempt to impede the American advance, but little opposition has been encountered so far, an Allied communique said.

If the Americans can continue their push eastward and reach Gabes on the coast, they will have inflicted a serious blow on the enemy. One arm of Chott Djerid (salt lake) thrusts out toward the coast above Gabes, leaving a narrow, 12-mile bottleneck through which Axis troops must pass if they attempt to retreat northward from the Mareth Line.

Thus Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces would be caught in the paws of a nut-cracker with the Americans holding them on the north and the British Eighth Army pressing them from the south.

Gafsa is the base to which Rommel withdrew most of his forces after an Allied counter-attack had hurled him back through Kasserine Pass a few weeks ago. With the loss of Gafsa, Rommel's gains in his thrust toward Thala in an attempt to smash the Allied lines have been nullified.

French mobile units, assisting the Americans, helped gain control of the hills overlooking the Gafsa area. Then, without pausing, the Allied force moved on eastward in pursuit of the retreating Germans and Italians.

In preparation for the big push the Americans named a new commander for the south-central sector. Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., a rip-roaring tank fighter who is known to Army colleagues as "Old Blood and Guts," has taken over command from Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall.

Patton, carrying a tommy-gun and with two pistols strapped to his waist, commanded the U. S. task force which took Casablanca.

As soon as Gafsa had been taken, Patton sent his forces racing on east and southeast until they had occupied a strategic hill six miles farther toward Gabes.

WANTS EVERYBODY.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Secretary of War Stimson and Under-secretary Patterson today called for enactment of the Austin-Wadsworth bill for universal service of men and women on the ground that it is vitally necessary to win the war.

TWO GOOD LAWS.

AUSTIN, March 18.—On the statute books today with Governor Stevenson's signature are bills: Authorizing removal from office of superintendents of state hospitals for good cause after a court trial. Licensing employment and labor agents.

MODIFY SHOE ORDER.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The OPA today modified the shoe ration order to provide additional rations for "safety shoes" and to permit the sale of more types of sandals and play shoes ration-free.

REDOUBLES EFFORTS.

AUSTIN, March 18.—Recalling that four public school buildings have burned in Texas in recent months, Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, today urged school boards to redouble their efforts to correct fire hazards and keep buildings repaired.

FACTUAL READING.

The New York public library reports that people "seem to be buying for the present moment, ignoring the past and scarcely daring to think about the future. Their concern is with immediate facts, not with great principles."

"Knowledge and understanding of the war in its various phases—the home front and the many battle front—are the primary concern of today's readers. People come to the library for information that is of vital importance to them rather than to look up material of casual interest."

A decline is seen in requests for the so-called "escape" literature. People want more serious books and fewer purely recreational ones. Lessened circulation of escape books may also be due to the fact that inexpensive "pocketbook" editions are selling fast. It's often easier for people to buy a mystery tale for a quarter than to go to the library. In the depression years, the money saved by reading a book instead of going to a movie made a difference. Now the movie wins.

People had more time to read books dealing with "great principles" then, too. Now they are busy, and tired at night, and they want to know more facts about where Johnny Doughboy is and what he is doing, and how to manage their kitchens and gardens. It is a natural trend.

But more and more it becomes wise for readers to turn to the books about great principles—history, literature, scientific theory, religion. Pope two centuries ago, said "The proper study of mankind is Man." Alexis Carrel, modern scientist, says people investigate parts or aspects of human beings, but never seem to think about the powers and possibilities of the whole man. He called his book "Man, The Unknown." Socrates said "Know thyself." Maybe, at the edge of a new world, we'd better know more about ourselves, who are to inhabit it.

The 20 percent withholding tax about which there has been so much discussion is very likely to be passed by congress and will go into effect July 1, it is thought. The 20 percent will be deducted from wage checks and include both victory and income tax.

BREAD AND EGGS.

The bread-slicing problem, gross errors. The government at Washington, for reasons which seemed sound to the "experts" forbade the slicing of war-time bread and decreed that Americans must do their own slicing. But after a brief trial of the old-fashioned plan, the "experts" passed the slicing job back to the bakers. Whether Americans had forgotten how to slice, or had mislaid their slicing knives, or their slices were too big for war-time economy, or the government had decided to save the crumbs, is not revealed.

Canada, however, which seems to hold itself a little steadier in such world-shaking matters, goes right on making the buyer slice his own bread.

Serious trouble between neighbors might come from such a divergent record. There is the classic record, for example, of the woe which came to two neighboring countries described by Dean Swift in his famous "Gulliver's Travels." The nations, originally of the same stock, disagreed as to whether an egg should be opened at the big end or the little end, and the Big-Enders and Little-Enders fought an endless war about it.

Perhaps it should be explained to Americans that those stubborn neighbors evidently used egg-cups in the neat English way, thus breaking the egg delicately at the top and lifting out the contents with a small spoon, as Britons still do with their one egg a month. But as Ruggles of Red Gap used to say, "That would never do with us." We insist on breaking two eggs and stirring them very messily.

THE CIRCUS SURVIVES.

The world has not entirely gone boom. There are still some vestiges left of old-fashioned civilization. It may have been crude in spots, but it had its points. And the point of this comment is the glorious news from Sarasota, Fla., that war or no war, the circus will carry on.

The best part of it is that the Ringling Brothers' outfit, which liberates down there, is going old-fashioned. Advance notices assure the fans that, while of course there will be gorgeous scenes and beautiful and talented ladies on the job, they will not monopolize attention so much. There is a trend back toward the older and simpler days, stressing clowns and elephants, peanuts and spectacles.

People nowadays need some quiet. They can also profit by going to see and then to observe the other animals. And to let them observe us. It would be worth a pocketful of peanuts to know what they think of us.

HUMBLE'S GOOD WORK.

Since 45 days before Pearl Harbor the Humble Oil and Refining company has been producing more toluene-base ingredient of the deadly T. N. T., than was formerly available from all other combined manufacturing sources in the entire United States.

Furthermore, the production of this toluene by the Lone Star industry is over double the amount produced in World War I from coal tar. As in the last war, Texas crude is in the forefront of vital material for war.

dressing down from Rilea W. Doe of Oakland, Calif., governor of Rotary International's fifth district at the Rotary luncheon yesterday at the Baker hotel.

The sharp-tongued vice-president of Safeway Stores, here on a swing of the southwest, called for a general hushing of wailing that tends to sabotage needed unity of thought.

"There are a few who fretfully complain and whine with petulance over their increased personal expenses," said Doe. "Such mutterings surely are unworthy. For, if we are to lose only money, but by that loss be given freedom from dictatorship and the blessings of peace, the price will be cheap."

"The lessons learned in frugality and in sacrifice will be beneficial to our personal and our national honor in our later peaceful pursuits."

Rationing has come as a shock to Americans, but they are taking it, as a whole, in good spirits, Doe said. Naturally, there are the borderline few who scream at everything, but the majority know its cause and are proving good soldiers.

Out in his California home, where meat has become almost an unknown thing, women come to the stores early in the morning, ing, sit in their cars and knit, sew and read while waiting for the meat truck to arrive, he said. The basic fault with meat rationing, in Doe's eyes, is one that is well known to everybody: that is, rationing is not a ration pack to consumers—the allotment regulation. Packers are allowed only 70 per cent of their 1942 kill and with populations increased in California centers some 20 per cent, the packer and retailer are behind before they start.

WAACS AT WORK—Waacs in motor transportation work know the value of moving supplies. This Waac driver cleans the motor of her ton-and-a-half truck after a day's driving at an Army post. Each Waac driver is responsible for the cleanliness and upkeep of the vehicle as good to her. At Army posts and stations throughout the country Waac drivers are doing much of the work of driving Army vehicles, releasing able-bodied soldiers for fighting duty. Each Waac driver undergoes an intensive training course in motor transportation and maintenance at a WAAC training center before being assigned to duty.
