Numerous States Consider Laws Forcing Unions To Give a Public Accounting

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 22.—It would be noticed that in Washington, the American Federation of Labor, which used to give orders to the United States congress and the attorney general, has now turned to compromise and pleading in the pending matter of Hobbs bill whose purpose is to revoke the special privilege of union criminals to engage in highway robbery, atrocious assault, extortion and kindred practices. Justice Felix Frankfurter and certain of his colleagues have failed to legislate union practice under existing law says Westbrook Pegler, noted columnist.

Continuing, Mr. Pegler says a similar message is noted in the legislature of Kansas, which has under consideration a proposal to compel unions to give a public accounting of their collections. In Kansas the lobbyists of the racketeers are demanding the defeat of the statutory measure but implying in rejection with compensatory promises of certain reforms to be wrought involuntarily.

The most important development regarding that certain measure now realize that their craft has been thoroughly exposed and that the people have come to realize that their lawmakers are determined to be relieved of a system imposed on the citizens for the benefit of a predatory and disreputable few. It is as if the operations of an honest labor movement and, indeed, satisfied as such by the criminal customs of certain unions are now plainly exposed to be just that and the old arrangement has vanished from the scene of most of the official blunders in Washington.

Like the political terrorists of the Air Saloon league during prohibition they have at last exhausted regular patience and come to see to it that changes in public sentiment, is about to slap them down.

In this connection, I should like to mention to the true status of Joseph Padway, the general manager of the A. F. of L. and of seven or eight of its component unions including the Browne-Bioff racket which is still a racket notwithstanding the conviction of those two eminent vermin who, incidentally have never spent a single hour in any prison, although they have been sentenced to eight and ten years, respectively. Padway also represents as attorney in particular cases many other A. F. of L. unions and about a year ago a Cincinnati judge awarded him a fee of $5,000, payable by the workers for a few days' service in a case in which a group of union transgressors had made serious allegations against a dictator who had resigned as he pleased for about twenty years by appointment from the union's main office in Indianapolis.

Padway's compromise stipulated that the complaining workmen must withdraw and promise not to attempt to prove by trial or otherwise their charges against the dictator. He came into the case by way of the main office of the Teamsters union, which is one of the most profitable clients and he is an intimate friend of Daniel Tobin, the president.

Many times Padway has had success in intimidating congress and in one historic instance he got away with it on the department of justice but not for long. Appearing before committees to oppose various measures intended to disarm corruptors of their guns, blackjacks and sawedoff tool cues, Padway has affected a weary and officious presence and thus it was that the A. F. of L. was enabled to dictate to Homer Cummings when he was attorney general those alterations of the Cleveland anti-racketeering bill several years ago, which last year were construed by a justice, in the majority supreme court opinion, as congressional approval of highway robbery provided the brigands pretend to represent labor. Cummings wrote a memorandum back to congress embodying the ideals of Will Green, the president of the A. F. of L., and of Padway, and congress made this the law of the American people.

Padway was born in England and struck his dirt in the union business in Milwaukee, where he was appointed to the bench in the guise of a labor leader which he was not and never has been. Padway has found union practice highly profitable and by sheer effort, operating on the gullibility of congress and various state legislatures, has promoted himself to a status of such prestige that President Roosevelt delegated him as one of two American representatives, Daniel Tobin, being the other, on a mission to England last year.

Actually, Padway has no more right or warrant to speak for labor because he is a lawyer specializing in the lucrative field of union law than the janitor who sweeps out a union hall or any other employee hired to perform certain services for a union. And the fact should be weighed in any weighing of Padway as a man that he is not only represented and continues to represent the Browne-Bioff union but the bar-tenders union as well, whose affairs have been tainted by the brazen operations of seamy racketeers in Chicago and Miami.

By his own admission he got $1,000 from George Sealise when Sealise and his underworld mob were running the Building Service Union.

The Fant Milling company of Sherman has just shipped to the J. M. Radford Grocery company, headquarters at Abilene, a solid train load of Gladiola flour for distribution among Radford's 30 or more stores in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. The Cisco store got two of the carloads, which have already been sold and another car arriving tomorrow, according to C. E. Hickman, Cisco's Radford company manager.

Mr. Hickman, whose picture is carried in the 1,000 line advertisement of this trainload of Gladiola flour, has been in Cisco 17 years, working for Radford Grocery company all that time. "I have never had but the one job in my life," said Mr. Hickman.

In November 1941, when Oscar Cliett was called to Abilene to become general manager of the entire Radford group of stores, Mr. Hickman was made local manager for Cisco. The management of Mr. Cliett for the group, and that of Mr. Hickman for the local store, has evidently been successful, since Hickman states "the past year has been the best since boom days."

Mr. Hickman was born 38 years ago in Stamps, Ark. He went to Tyler when 15 years of age, then to Cisco in 1926. He married Miss Willie Sandifer of Cisco in 1928. They have two boys, Edgar, age 10, and Carlos, age 6. The Hickmans are active in civic and church affairs, being members of the First Methodist church and Mr. Hickman is a director in the chamber of commerce.

CALLING ALL MEAT MEN!

Floyd Lynch, county agriculture agent, has called a meeting of all butchers, local and farm slaughterers of meats in the Cisco area, to meet him at the Cisco chamber of commerce building Wednesday, 2:30 p. m., March 24, to secure permits for themselves before April 1.

Under the national war program for conserving meat supplies, the county USDA war board will issue permits to cover all butchering, it is stated.

Apparently all persons, including farmers, must have permits to kill any meats to be sold.

TEXAS PROGRESSES TO SECRET VOTE

AUSTIN, March 23.— Voters can participate in Texas elections after next July without their employers, friends, enemies or political bosses knowing how they voted under terms of a bill passed yesterday in the state senate.

It provides for use of a ballot with a detachable number so no one can open ballot boxes and see how the individual voted.

Amendments require election officials to make affidavit they are not related to candidates within the third degree, and call for counting of ballots hourly.

An attempt to require voting with an "X" instead of scratching a ballot was rejected, but is still to come before the legislature as a separate bill.

Final vote for the bill was 18 to 6 after several senators asserted the secret ballot gives no way to contest an election effectively.

HUSBAND STABS RECTOR

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—A 50-year-old Episcopal rector, stabbed in the abdomen, was held under police guard at a hospital today after admitting, City Detective Charles Mellon said, that he shot and wounded his former secretary and her husband. The officers said Rev. Charles Monroe, for 16 years rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church here, was stabbed Monday by John McBride, 38, who objected when the minister kept sending pay checks to his wife, who had resigned as the rector's secretary.

RATION AIR MAIL

LOS ANGELES, March 23.— Rationing of air mail service seems a definite possibility following a statement by Postmaster General Walker, here. Citing overburdened mail planes, Walker said it may become necessary to exclude the public entirely from their use. Or, a priorities system may limit private airmail to a radius of 500 miles.

The shortage that caused every grave problem we have was the shortage of backbone and good sense in Washington.

THEY WERE ALL THERE—Notables of many nations turned out to witness ceremony dedicating new $2,000,000 race track, Hipodromo de las Americas, in Mexico City. Above, President Manuel Avila Camacho congratulates Bruno Pagliai, track president. Senora Camacho in box behind husband. Dedication parade of charros is starting.

GIANTS ON WHEELS—New York Giants use bikes to get to training field in Lakewood, N. J. From left, front: Catcher Gus Mancuso, Infielder Dick Bartell and Pitcher Thomas Sunkel. Rear: Outfielder Herbert Barna and Pitcher Carl Hubbell. Field is about two miles from resort hotel they use for quarters.

MODERN RALEIGH—Colonel Reistad, commandant of Norwegian flying school, Little Norway, near Toronto, assists Lady Hardwicke over puddle. She and Sir Cedric Hardwicke were honor guests when new film, "The Moon is Down," was shown.

GEN. MONTGOMERY OF EIGHTH BRITISH ARMY AND AMERICAN GEN. PATTON WORK IN UNISON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, March 23.—The British Eighth Army, executing a brilliant wheeling movement around the Mareth Line, has driven to within 30 miles of the big Axis port of Gabes, and American forces have pushed east of Maknassy and now are only 31 miles from the sea in south-central Tunisia.

The twin successes in the early stages of the big Allied push left Marshal Rommel's Afrika Korps in a desperate plight. The Americans are threatening to cut off his retreat from the Mareth Line and the Eighth Army is crowding him steadily northward into a 12-mile bottleneck below Gabes.

(Allied-sponsored radios in North Africa broadcast that the Eighth Army breached the Mareth Line at its strongest point and now was pouring through onto the plain that leads to Gabes).

Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of the Eighth Army, achieved a brilliant tactical success in sending a force, including tanks, around the Mareth Line. It promptly struck northward and was last reported to be within 10 miles of the Axis strong point of El Hamma, which is only 20 miles west of Gabes.

Americans under command of Lieut. Gen. George S. (Old Blood and Guts) Patton took Maknassy at 5 a. m. yesterday without much resistance, but the Germans then started an aerial counter-attack that lasted all day. Stuka dive-bombers and Messerschmidt strafing planes flew in for many attacks, but the Americans fought them off and sent armored patrols three miles east of Maknassy—only 31 miles from the sea.

United Press Correspondent Phil Ault, with the American forces in Maknassy, reported that men armed with tommy guns and smoke smudge pots to screen subsequent movements of armor and infantry, were the first ones into the sleepy town, with its tin-roofed houses.

Ault referred to Maknassy as "a whistle stop" on the railroad to Gabes, and it was apparent that the Americans had placed themselves in position to make a lightning race for the sea and close the 12-mile bottleneck at Gabes through which Marshal Erwin Rommel must retreat in the face of the Eighth Army's pressure.

All day yesterday, Ault wrote, the Americans held Maknassy against a determined attempt by the Germans to blast them out. Dive bombers came over the American positions almost all day, but the U. S. armored infantry forces stood firm and even began sending patrols cautiously eastward and northward in preparation for the next thrust toward the Gabes bottleneck.

Five miles to the east of Maknassy, Ault said, there is a narrow pass over which the Axis has emplaced guns, and apparently plans to make a stand. If the Americans can storm that position, they can roll through the pass onto the coastal plain, and thence march on to the sea.

ALLRED NOMINATION STILL WITHOUT O. K.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The senate judiciary committee declined on a 9 to 9 tie vote Monday to report favorably President Roosevelt's nomination of James V. Allred, former Texas governor, as judge of the fifth circuit court of appeals.

Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming said the committee subsequently declined to adopt a motion by Senator Danaher of Connecticut to postpone consideration of the nomination indefinitely, a move tantamount to killing it. The vote on the Danaher motion was also a tie, 8 to 8.

The vote on the motion to report out the nomination favorably was:

For the motion—Democrats: Hatch, Connally, Kilgore, O'Mahoney, Chandler, Murdock, McFarland, Andrews, Van Nuys.

Against the motion—Democrats: McCarran, Wheeler. Republicans: Austin, Danaher, Wiley, Langer, Ferguson, Revercomb, Wherry.

CALM BEFORE STORM

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Secretary Knox said today the Pacific is very quiet at the moment, but "this may be the calm before the storm." "The war is still on out there—very much," the secretary told a press conference.

WORTHY LAW.

The Hobbs bill, now before congress, aims to modify and correct a supreme court decision which the present advocates hold encourages racketeering by labor unions. The bill provides that whoever obstructs interstate commerce by robbery or extortion, or conspires or attempts to do so, or threatens physical violence with such intent, shall be guilty of felony under the Federal Racketeering Act.

commendable aim at this time. There may be some kind of mental reservation in Mr. Lodge's mind as to past times, but it is evident that there are strong forces in congress, and in the nation, favoring permanent world organization to prevent a third world war. Another such catastrophe, it is feared, might destroy modern civilization.

CHAMPION COLLECTOR.

Most people are collectors. Some collect food or drink, not always to their advantage. A good many collect money, all they can. Others get fun out of life by collecting stamps or books or fancy spoons or needlework.

The greatest collector of all, if the scale of objects collected is the test, is undoubtedly Adolf Hitler. Where other people collect whole countries, so far his collection numbers 15: Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Luxembourg, Denmark, Belgium, Holland, France, Bulgaria, Hungary, Rumania, Greece and Italy.

But one of these fine days the world's greatest collector is going to find his collection completely broken up.

Enough tin for 2,704 bombers was gathered up in a moderate-sized section of a big western city. It is estimated that as well as this country would get enough war material out of waste alloys to beat the Axis.

The saddest sign is that seen in many drugstores in many states. "No ice cream sodas, sundaes or cones. Only milk-shakes." The word "No" is getting to be the most used word in the English language.

From the way people are said to be buying farms, the farm situation would seem pretty good, except from the way the owners are selling those farms.

Just how much driving they may do, however, will continue to depend upon how much fuel they are allowed to buy. And here is a matter in which there may soon be trouble and complaint. Many people have conscientiously taken A ration books, while many others, with no more need of gasoline, have asked for, and received, B or C books. It hasn't mattered so much in the winter. But with summer coming on, and the situation apparently easing up a little, many of the conscientious fellows may be asking for a better break.

Truly "times change and we change with them," as the old song says. There is a striking example in Washington.

At the close of the last war, when President Wilson proposed a general League of Nations to keep peace in the world thereafter, the effort was blocked in the senate by what Mr. Wilson called "a little group of wilful men." Their leader was Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who headed the powerful foreign relations committee.

Now there is a grandson of that statesman, likewise named Henry Cabot Lodge, in the senate. There is also a similar effort to organize the free nations in what it is hoped will be eventually a world union for peace. And Mr. Lodge, asked about his attitude toward this effort to line up the senate for international cooperation after the war, says: "I think that collaboration between nations is a very ing just completed, eventually to be a new building in itself, to be erected at a cost of approximately $70,000 according to records at the city hall.

Mrs. P. Pettit as president, Mrs. J. O. Hawkins as vice-president and J. J. Godbey, superintendent of city schools, as secretary were chosen as officers to direct the activities of the Cisco Teacher-Patron society, a new civic organization brought into existence at a special meeting at the high school last Thursday evening. Dr. J. D. Leslie presided over the meeting as temporary chairman. The object of the new body will be to affect closer co-operation between parents of school children and teachers.

Under the direction of Miss Velma St. John, assisted by Miss Mae Starkey and George McMannus, postal clerks, a branch of the local post office was opened this week at Fifth and Main, in the Webster corner, from which parcel post business for Cisco will be handled.

After a session of 11 days the Eastland county grand jury adjourned last Thursday and tendered its report to E. A. Hill, judge of the 88th judicial district of Texas. The report was not lengthy. It called attention to violations of the Sunday closing law and stressed the importance of a more diligent prosecution of violations. Both the sheriff and county attorney were commended for their work. During its session the grand jury returned 57 indictments and examined 17 witnesses.

Broadway at the intersection of Main was opened up for traffic passing in all directions early this week, following completion of the paving at the intersection and the paving crews have proceeded almost half the distance of the next block south. Four carloads of brick arrived here Tuesday night and with abatement of the "brick famine" which, through slow freight service, put a stop to Cisco's extensive program of paving, it is expected that paving will proceed uninterrupted for at least a short time. With completion of the storm sewer on Seventh, for which preliminary work is now in progress, Pet Brown, paving contractor, will devote his attention to the paving of side streets for which he has the contract. The first street to be paved will be

Seventh, it is planned, since traffic is considered exceptionally heavy there.

Cisco will accept or reject on January 26, the proposition prepared by the mayor and board of city commissioners calling for an issue of $500,000 worth of bonds for the construction of a dam on Little Sandy creek and necessary supplementary equipment to provide the city with a complete new water supply system, it was decided at the commission meeting Monday night at the city hall when an ordinance calling the election was passed.

Plans for the new building to be erected by the Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph company, Broadway and Avenue E, at an approximate cost of perhaps $30,000, have been completed and submitted to contractors, bids are to be let immediately and work on the new structure will start in the near future according to P. Pettit, local manager. The building is to be of concrete and brick, two stories in height with a stucco front. It will be modern in detail and will front south on Broadway.

That the price of Cisco water should be boosted in the near future was the opinion expressed by W. J. Donovan, city commissioner of the water department, at the regular meeting Monday night of the mayor and board of city commissioners. Donovan believes the water department should be made to return all the revenue of which it is capable, but has not decided how much of an increase should be made in the price. "Everything else has gone up and I see no reason why we should not boost the price of our water," said the commissioner. Water now sells to the retail consumer at 30 cents the 1,000 gallons, or $1 the 3,333 gallons; to the wholesale consumer at 15 cents the 1,000 gallons when more than 50,000 gallons a day are consumed.

We the undersigned merchants of Cisco agree to keep our stores open until 9 p. m., daily, beginning Monday, December 15, except Saturday and Christmas, to keep open until 10 p. m. The sign, Mrs. H. Garner's, Roper and Fisk, O. H. Bibby, E. J. Barnes Co., Patton and Williams, Cisco Variety Store, The Model, W. P. Palley, successor to Kean dry goods company.

That Cisco will have its "new" street sweeper, a second hand machine purchased some time ago from the city of Fort Worth, within the next few days and in time to give the city streets a thorough cleaning before Christmas was the hope expressed this week by J. M. Williamson, mayor.

So rapid has been the growth of railroad business for Cisco that both the Missouri Kansas & Texas and the Texas and Pacific have found the necessity of creating the office of general passenger agent for this city and Geo. Langston, formerly an attaché of the ticket department of the Texas & Pacific is passenger agent for both railroads.

The employees of the Humble Oil and Refining company enjoyed an elaborate dance at Recreation hall, Humbletown, on Christmas Eve. The affair was of an informal nature.

England learned, after the other war, that an official in her secret service was a German agent. Is anybody checking on men who delay our war effort?

"More to come." This was the warning to Hitler and Hirohito that employees of the Dallas Division of North American Aviation, Inc. painted on the first B-24 Liberator bomber which rolled this week from the assembly lines of the company's second plant at Dallas. The term was borrowed from the jargon of newspaper men who use it at the bottom of a page of copy when a story is unfinished. Lucille Kelly is holding the paint jar in the picture and C. H. Williams is putting the finishing touches on the sign. North American has been manufacturing TEXAN combat trainers in its initial plant at Dallas for nearly two years. It is also in the preliminary stages of turning out the famous P-51 Mustang fighter. The company is included in the B-24 program along with Consolidated, designer of the ship, Ford and Douglas.

Serve U. S. While Serving Yourself— Re-Dye at Home to Conserve Fabrics

It was always thrifty and wise to re-dye your wardrobe and home decorations. Now it's patriotic—and necessary. Certain fabrics are irreplaceable, others hard to get. Re-dyeing saves both for the fighting forces. At the same time it makes your present belongings last longer and look better. And it saves you money as well. Most anything made of fabric can be treated at home. There's a special dye for stockings in four shades that's made to order. It restores color to faded hose and re-creates old stockings. Another special dye, in fact, is available for curtains. In all, there are more than 40 different colors in household dyes from which to choose—so you needn't fret about color shortages. Home-dyeing is simple as A B C—and takes no time at all. The cost is trifling. A package costs only 10c and 15c at drug, department or dime stores.

INSPECTION—Getting along okay, is report wounded men make to Senior Nurses Frances J. Cable and Edith F. Drew, members of Roosevelt hospital nursing unit recently arrived in Tunisia.
