The adjournment of having Dr. Sutton speak in two cities within the district Teachers' district is made to substitute for a district convention usually held early in March each year. Because of the adjournment the convention has been postponed for this year.

FD DRAFTS DAVIS.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The War Relocation Authority today led a drive to give Chester C. Davis, the new War Food Administrator, undisputed power over farm prices. President Roosevelt, in announcing the authority of Davis to replace the War Relocation Authority's Agricultural Administration, said he would have powers over production and distribution of food and fiber farm labor, but not over prices. An executive order is expected to be issued soon spelling out Davis' powers.

STOWAWAY — Navy recruiting officers at Charleston, W. Va., turned down James Edward Pettey because he was only 14. So he stowed away on a train bound for Great Lakes Naval Station, Ill. He was discovered and now he'll wait till he's 17.

BRITISH DIG DEEPER INTO MARETH LINE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, March 26.—The British Eighth Army, throwing a frontal assault against the Mareth Line, has advanced deeper into Marshal Erwin Rommel's positions while fighting died down along the rest of the Tunisian front pending the outcome of the battle in the south.

(Radio Algiers and Radio Morocco, both sponsored by the Allies, described the Mareth Line fighting as fierce and said many hand-to-hand combats were taking place between the veterans of the Eighth Army and the Afrika Korps.)
(Rommel was said to be throwing wave after wave of tanks and infantry against the salient which the British had driven into his positions. British heavy artillery rained steel and explosives into the German lines.)

The Germans made a minor jab at the American lines three miles southeast of Bou Hamran in the El Guettar sector, but both sides appeared to be holding back and waiting for the outcome of the struggle at the Mareth Line. The American forces, occupying a slope near Bou Hamran, easily beat off the German thrust.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., sent American patrols out 10 miles southeast of Seneb and they established contact with the enemy, but there was no fighting of consequence.
The Allied air offensive, favored by good weather, continued unabated. Yesterday 13 enemy planes were shot down against an Allied loss of six.

U-BOAT GETS IT—There's an enemy U-boat out there stalking a United Nations convoy, somewhere in mid-Atlantic. So Coast Guard cutter lets go a gun, blasting into the night and probably ending the U-boat's depredations forever.

SUGAR TIME—Sap's running in Geauga County, Ohio, and here's scene at Carroll farm Fowler's Mills, as maple sap is taken on sled to boiling shed. It's county's main industry.

CROFTS ADD FINE CATTLE TO RANCHES

Better cattle as a foundation for herds kept by farms and ranches in the Cisco area seems to be the basic thought for many growers of purebred cattle here.
Sutton Crofts, who with his brother, Franklin Crofts, operates the Fish Hook ranches north of Cisco, breeding registered and commercial Aberdeen-Angus cattle, returned Wednesday from a tour of various stock farms in Oklahoma. Mr. Crofts also attended the Annual Consignment Sale of the Oklahoma Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association at Oklahoma City.
While in Oklahoma Mr. Crofts purchased for the firm sixteen head of fine blooded females to add to their registered herd. These animals come from the noted herd of Charles T. Bates of Ada, Okla., who last year sold the herd bull, Envious Blackcap B the Sixth, at the record price of $15,000, some of the most popular blood lines of which are represented in the Crofts herd, it was stated.

"The fact that we are developing a superior quality of breeding cattle is evidenced by the fact that our bull, Eribus Evaxus C, was awarded first premium in his class at the annual fat stock show at Fort Worth on February 26 of this year," said Mr. Crofts.

BOMB WIDE AREA.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, March 26.—Japanese bases 1,700 miles apart in the island arc above Australia were blasted by General MacArthur's bombers yesterday, with Amboma, 600 miles northwest of Darwin, hit hard in one raid and Rabaul smashed heavily for the second time this week.

Her Skates Bring Freedom Nearer

Sonja Henie, whose native Norway is Axis-held, presents a pair of her skates to a War Bond purchaser. Put up for auction at her Ice Revue, the skates netted $109,000 in sales before going to Joseph Arace, shown above, for purchase of a $20,000 bond. By buying Second War Loan Bonds you can help finance the weapons of freedom.

CISCO TO GET MORE MEAT

BULLETIN—Following a late afternoon message from Mr. McGee, Mayor Mitcham said the OPA has agreed to supplement Cisco's meat supply by 5,000 pounds of beef and 1,000 pounds of pork for the next six days between now and April 1. This additional supply, however, will continue in the new setup expected following April 1.

This extra meat will be prorated among Cisco meat dealers and will be slaughtered locally.

All of which means, said Mayor Mitcham, that Cisco butchers may slaughter an additional 1,000 pounds of meat per day for local use.

Cisco and Eastland county will get more meat, as a result of a telephone conversation today of Mayor G. P. Mitcham with Mark McGee, Texas OPA administrator.

For some time Mayor Mitcham has been trying to get relief for Cisco through the packers on the basis that, while Cisco was being furnished on the population figures of 1941, the Women's Ordnance Workers Training School and the influx of hundreds of soldiers on week-ends, made meat supplies insufficient for our needs.

The mayor suggested to Mr. McGee that, since the packers said they could not supply the extra meat needed for Cisco and Eastland county, local butchers and slaughterers be allowed to slaughter the extra amount of meat.

McGee said he would grant it for Cisco and for Eastland county as well, adding that he would immediately get in touch with Eastland and Ranger and ascertain their needs, following which he would set his machinery to work granting the relief asked.

He promised to confirm his actions by telephone this afternoon.

REDS MOVING ON TO SMOL-ENSK CITY

MOSCOW, March 26.—Russian forces surged ahead on the Smolensk front today and fought bitter defensive battles in the Donets Basin. Scores of additional towns were reported liberated by the Red army advances and hundreds of enemy troops were slain in a dozen battles from the Smolensk area to the Caucasus.

The noon communique reported capture of 16 enemy blockhouses in fighting on an undesignated sector of the central front. Several additional towns were taken in the Kuban area of the Caucasus where the Russians have resumed the offensive after a lull of several weeks.

COURAGE LACKING.

AUSTIN, March 26.—The house balked yesterday at accepting the first economy recommendation of its committee on appropriations. The first big money bill of the session, carrying committee recommendation that appropriations for the judiciary be slashed $723,714 for the next biennium, was taken up on the floor of the house briefly, then dropped.

BILL NOW UP TO GOVERNOR STEVENSON; HIS VETO WOULD KILL IT; ACTION EXPECTED NEXT WEEK

AUSTIN, March 26.—Gov. Coke Stevenson must now decide the question of whether the state of Texas will regulate labor unions. House and senate passed such a bill finally before adjourning yesterday until Monday.

The adjournment will prevent the bill reaching the governor's desk before Monday as it must first be signed in both house and senate by the presiding officers.

(All the Fort Worth delegation voted in opposition to the bill.)

The governor left for his ranch in the Kerrville country today without having announced his decision upon the Manford bill.

Final action by the legislators on the bill was the house acceptance of a senate amendment to the bill by Rep. Durwood Manford of Smiley. The amendment makes specific a provision that there shall be no charge for a permit to work. Manford said the bill already provided that but recommended concurrence.

Votes in the senate and the house indicate that should the governor veto the bill it would not be passed over his veto.

The final senate vote was 15 to 8 with a pair and the house final vote was 82 to 37. Two-thirds of the membership of each is required to override a veto.

Senate committee meetings ended for the week with the adjournment but house committees kept at work until near midnight.

In one of the committees a bill to tighten optometry regulation was sent to a sub-committee after the main committee had refused to strike out a provision for suspension of optometrists' licenses for price advertisement or misleading advertisement, or for operation under a trade name. A ban on claims or superiority was taken out. The sub-committee is to report Tuesday night.

Also to sub-committee went a bill to regulate river development authorities, after objections from many conservation districts and assertions that the bill as drawn would hamstring public power projects.

The house committee investigating the welfare department heard a prediction that old age assistance rolls have reached a saturation point and that benefits being paid to dependants of soldiers cares for many who otherwise would be on the pension rolls.

HOGS AT $15.25.

Light supplies of cattle and calves sold at fully steady prices on the Fort Worth market today. Butcher hogs were strong to 10c above Thursday's levels at a top of $15.25 while packers paid up to $15.15. Packing hogs were steady to 25c higher while stocker pigs were unchanged. The few sales in the sheep yards carried steady prices.

NAB HOSE SMUGGLER.

LAREDO, March 26.—One thousand pairs of women's nylon hose, 800 silk dresses, and a quantity of women's silk underwear were recovered from a single smuggler's automobile in Nuevo Laredo yesterday.

FT. WORTH WOMAN HELD.

TULSA, March 26.—Mrs. T. K. Simmons, society woman, wife of a millionaire oil man, known nationally as an exhibitor of fine horses, waited in the lobby of a hotel for a woman last night, loved her to her room, and afterwards, was shot to death by Mrs. E. B. Howard of 2436 ton Terrace, East Fort Worth who police said, had known Simmons "for years," said Mrs. Simmons had strangled Howard for possession of a pistol which Mrs. Simmons had threatened her life, and that Mrs. Simmons was shot in the scuffle. Howard gave her age as 44, Mrs. Simmons' age was said to be between 55 and 60.

LEWIS AND PILATE.

As for the threatened coal miners' strike, or any other effort of the kind, there are too many generalities argued on both sides. It is easy to say miners or other workers should have "fair wages," but the determination of "fair wages" is often as difficult as the famous question of cynical Pontius Pilate. "What is truth?" he asked. And he went right on without waiting for an answer, because he didn't expect any.

In the matter of wages and hours, and most other matters that modern civilized man fights about, a sort of rough equality is possible. But accurate measurement of just how much should go to this or that economic group is, as a highbrow would say, "impossible of precise determination" in these matters, much as modern thinkers dislike to admit it, the rewards of capital and labor seems a good deal like those of the Middle Ages, which were based on "the simple plan" which they should take who have not power, and they should keep who can.

One principle, however, is purely applicable to these modern struggles for power, wealth and comfort. There should be no settlement of big public questions like coal wages and prices by private dictatorship of one individual or group. By public intervention, while we cannot attain perfect justice, we can reach a kind of rough fairness that enables us to get along from one crisis to another.

NAZI COME-BACK.

The recapture of Kharkov was a painful reminder that the Nazis are not yet done for. The analogy between the German retreat in Russia and Napoleon's was evidently exaggerated. Napoleon's French army was in no shape to start anywhere, much less drive ahead in a conquest come-back and retake an important post. The Germans may have been heavily punished this winter, but a good deal of life is left in them yet.

At the same time they are not what they once were. Otherwise they would not be being ground to the Russians on the road to Simonsk.

The "good neighbor policy" is just as important among our own states as it is among our American neighbors.

THE DOOMED AXIS.

The Nazi-led axis will wobble till the sun goes down, and the Nazi sun may still be far from setting. Hitler seems to be back on the job, though with lessened vigor and prestige. His generals are now believed to have more authority.

The Germans are doomed, and probably know it, but will fight on. Prime Minister Churchill, as good a judge as anybody says it may take two years more to beat down those powers of evil into "death, dust and ashes." And there is no assurance that Japan can be licked until the European job is done and the Allies can concentrate on the Asiatic gang. It should not take long then.

Churchill's last word to his countrymen is suitable for Americans, too. "Concentrate more zealously upon the war effort and do not take your eye off the ball even for a moment." For the dragons of the East and West that we are fighting are slippery devils, who will fight till the darkness closes over them.

THE LAST TERM.

General thinking seems to be falling into a pattern something like that of college students in their senior year. The long grind is nearing its conclusion and something new and strange in the way of working life may lie ahead. Young men and women begin to plan for that next year and those to come. But at the same time they know they have to work harder and harder at the job in hand. If they don't, they may fail to pass the last difficult exams—and then where will they be? No diploma for the labors of the last four years, no job coming on, no good future until another hard period of the same study has been put in.

Churchill says it is likely to take two years to defeat Germany. But miracles do sometimes happen, and we could possibly get that degree and diploma in one more. It is possible, however, only if we do extra homework and put all our strength into the job in hand without halting or faltering until we are through. We've still got the hardest exams of all to pass.

Concentrated present work and clear thought for the future are both necessary at this time.

Saturday will see the first rail haul for the Cisco & Northeastern railroad should live carloads of steel arrive here in time, according to R. Q. Lee, president of the new road. President Lee states he has received a letter to the effect that the steel was furnished over to the Santa Fe railroad on November 17, for shipment to Cisco, and he believes it should have arrived a number of days ago. If the steel does not arrive in time for ceremonies of setting the first rail Saturday the services will be postponed until next week. President Lee states the first rail will be laid, regardless of weather, as soon as possible.

G. H. Julia, proprietor of the Julia theater, opened at 2:30 last Sunday and throughout the evening and until the usual closing hour the theater played to an audience that, it varied from the usual run of attendance, exceeded that of week-days. Shortly after opening his show Julia was informally placed under arrest by a city officer and his case was set for Wednesday afternoon. Informal also was the procedure of the court. Julia appeared before Mayor J. M. Williamson Wednesday afternoon, plead guilty to the charge of operating his show in violation of the Sunday closing law and paid a fine. The theater manager was intent as to his future plans but did not manifest concern over the results of his arrest in committing he said, "I have been the popular recipient of considerable advice about my business. I am thinking all the time about my business and that is the reason I took a course of procedure contrary to advice. It was not a desire to make more money that caused me to open my theater last Sunday afternoon. On the contrary I felt I was rendering an accommodation to the hundreds in our city that have no homes and nothing to do on Sunday afternoon. I felt that I was only supplying a long felt want here in Cisco. I believe we should conform with the growth of our city and welcome our new population with a portion of what they have been accustomed to. I opened my show as an accommodation to the many who leave Cisco on Sunday and indulge in worse debauchery at other places and for those who have no time for diversion except "Sundays." Both favorable and unfavorable comment has greeted Julia's action.

CROSS PLAINS

Last rites for H. A. McWhorter, 84, beloved pioneer citizen and Callahan county ranchman, were held from the First Methodist church in Baird Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 with Dr. J. T. Griswold, veteran Methodist minister, conducting the rites. He was assisted by the Rev. W. B. Hicks, pastor of the church. Burial was in Ross cemetery at Baird. Born in Hood county, near Granbury, November 18, 1859, Mr. McWhorter came West settling in Callahan county in 1876, one year before organization of the county.

C. R. Sheppard, who has been working in Pearl Harbor as a boiler-maker for more than a year, has returned to his home in Cross Plains, having arrived here Saturday. He plans to undergo a minor operation on his eyes within the near future.

Callahan county maintained its perfect batting average of never failing to meet a war time goal this week, as the Red Cross quota assigned Callahan was exceeded by nearly $1,000.

Lee Pierce, 55, brother of Mrs. W. B. Irving, Joe, Elbert and Ben Pierce of Cross Plains, and himself a former resident of this city, died Monday morning at three o'clock in Memphis, Tennessee, after an illness of more than two months. Death resulted from heart trouble. Funeral services were held in Dallas Tuesday afternoon and burial was in a Dallas cemetery. Aside from his three brothers and one sister in Cross Plains, Mr. Pierce is survived by his widow and a number of near relatives and friends. Mr. Pierce taught school at Board Flat and at Colony in Eastland county as a young man. He left this locality however, in early manhood and for the past 25 years has been associated with a national tire concern, being at the time of his death manager of the company's branch at Memphis.

Whereas it has seemed good to the Heavenly Father in the dispensation of His wise providence to call to his reward Mr. A. J. Olson, a beloved member and pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Cisco, Texas, be it resolved by the elders and deacons of this church:

1. That we record our deep appreciation of the interest and devotion manifested by our esteemed brother and friend in the work of this church and in the kingdom of our Lord. It has been a high privilege to be associated with him as fellow-laborers in the Master's vineyard.

2. That we express our keen sense of loss and sorrow over the decease of this fellow-officer, whose wise counsel and active spirit will be greatly missed.

3. That we extend to his bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy, and pray that God's all-sufficient grace may sustain them in their bereavement.

4. That these resolutions be recorded in the minutes of the session, a copy be presented to the family, and given to the Cisco Daily Press for publication.

5. That, despite our personal sorrow, we bow in humble submission to the Heavenly Father's will. Even so, Father; for so it seemed good in thy sight."
