HIGH SCHOOL BANQUET HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

The annual Junior-Senior high school banquet was held Friday night at the Laguna roof garden, amidst the usual splendor of decorations for this event, which is the outstanding feature of the pre-graduating events. Spring flower bouquets and gay streamers carried out the spring theme. An interesting program was given with the junior president, Paul Mosley, as toastmaster, who welcomed the seniors to this joyous event.

Kenneth Huffman, president of the senior class, responded to the words of welcome. Appropriate place cards and favors were laid out at each plate.

Speeches were Mrs. Ora Kirkland, B. D. Williams and Miss Marion Chubb.

There are about 65 members of the senior class and 70 in the junior group.

Other members of the program were as follows:

Invocation—Mrs. Alfred Irbly.

Prayer—Alice Louise Farley and Sylvia Hazel.

Reading—Zovella Cagle.

Conrad Duet—Harry Grantz and B. D. Williams.

Vocal Duet—Mary Frances Urban and Winnifred Tichenor.

Victory Song—All present.

SCOFFED—Henry J. Kaiser, miracle shipbuilder, who asserted that charges of acquiring vital war materials without authorization were minor error of one of his 200,000 employees. He said it would happen, while delivering 60 10,000-ton ships monthly.

Mrs. Charles Flaherty has recently had word from all four of her sons, three of whom are with the armed forces, somewhere abroad, while one is with the army at maneuvers in Louisiana.

Ralph, with the See Bees, enlisted last October, and among other things, wrote, "I go to work before sun up and very seldom stop before sundown, but an ok."

Julian joined up in April, 1941. He wrote, "Just a few words to let you know we arrived safely and that I am all right. The weather here is hot, but much like Texas, so I can stand it. The Australian climate is just backwards to the one in the states—the farther north you go, the hotter it gets, and the reverse when you go south. I hope we won't have to be here much longer, but I'll be back, no matter what—so don't worry. Love."

Donald enlisted in the navy in January, 1942. His letter was to his father in Vallejo, Cal., and was dated Feb. 13, 1943, as follows: "Dear Daddy: I don't think we will be here much longer. We came back to Pier the other day and have been busy since, but will probably leave soon. Did I tell you about the campaign bars that I rated? Well, I have the African, American-European and the Asiatic. Take good care of yourself."

Charles Flaherty's letter was from somewhere in Louisiana. He was in a fox hole while writing. It stated he was ok and asked to be remembered to his friends.

STEEL CENTER OF NAZIS GETS 57TH POUNDING

LONDON, March 27.—A strong force of British four-engined bombers resumed the Allied pre-invasion aerial offensive against Germany last night with a block-buster raid on Duisburg that left the great inland port and steel city blasted and burning.

Returning pilots told of observing many large fires, including one conflagration that painted the clouds a vivid red. One pilot said he saw three large explosions, each lasting 10 seconds.

The air ministry's announcement that a strong force participated in the raid indicated that the participating planes may have numbered in the hundreds with bomb tonnage approaching the 1,000-mark. Targets may have included the big August Thyssen Steel Works.

It was the 57th raid of the war on Duisburg, Germany's biggest inland port, but the first since December 20.

AWAITING ACTION.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A Swedish dispatch quoted by the Office of War Information Saturday said 500 British agents and 500 Norwegians have been dropped into Norway by parachute during the winter and that "there's an army of ghosts now in Norway which may one day suddenly grow up like mushrooms."

"They are living in secret places awaiting action," the dispatch said.

CALF-GOAT CANNING.

ARLINGTON, March 27.—Arthur Hunt has 57 No. 2 cans of meat for the nine members of his family from the calf demonstration held for the Negro families in Arlington. A goat which cost Luevina Johnson $2.50 and made 32 cans of meat was also canned the same day.

PHYSICAL FITNESS—Garbed in snappy red and black riding habits, these "Sky Riders" prepare for an equestrian review, in Inglewood, Cal. They formed troop as part of North American Aviation's program for physical fitness among the workers. Generally they're employed to aid the men who ride the clouds.

MOUNTING PROBLEM—How to get aboard this camel is problem confronting, or backing, two flying officers of RAF in Tunisia. Native driver and onlookers seem to enjoy it. Somehow camel is of contrary mind. Its bleats may be heard at front lines, for this airfield is not far from them.

AGED CITIZEN WAS BURIED AT BAIRD FRIDAY

Geo. H. Chambers, one of the old pioneers of Cisco, who had reached the age of 90 years, died at his home at 701 East Sixth street, Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. He was buried at Baird, Friday.

Mrs. Chambers has been dead several years and Mr. Chambers and his daughter, Miss Kate Chambers, were living at the home on East Sixth street at the time of his death. He was a member of the Baptist church.

Among those who survive are Mrs. Mary Stuart, Miss Kate Chambers, Joe H. Chambers, Mrs. Myrtle Lavender, all of Cisco, and Mrs. Leslie Fleming, of Nimrod, and a large number of grand children.

RUSSIANS KILL NAZIS IN HAND TO HAND FIGHT

MOSCOW, March 27.—Russian troops, swinging over to the attack, broke into German trenches in the Belgorod area today, killed 200 of the enemy in hand-to-hand fighting and captured the positions.

INTERNATIONAL CHAT—British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, right, has chat with Vice President Henry A. Wallace, in Washington, preliminary to conferences concerning post-war relations of nations. Mr. Eden is guest of U.S. government.

que also reported new Russian gains south of Lake Ilmen on the northwestern front and in the northwest Caucasus, but said Red armies on the central front had paused to consolidate their positions deep in the outer defenses of Smolensk before lunging forward in a new attack.

(A Stockholm report published in London said Russian tanks had broken into Dorogobuzh, German stronghold 50 miles east northeast of Smolensk.)

The sudden Russian attack on the Belgorod front, 45 miles north-northeast of Kharkov, resulted in the capture of six machine-guns, two anti-tank guns, a radio transmitter and much other booty, the

T. K. SIMMONS ONCE PARTNER OF BOB GILMAN

TULSA, March 27.—A friend of socially prominent Mrs. T. Karl Simmons said today that he feared she was carrying a gun shortly before she was shot to death in a struggle with Mrs. Ella B. Howard of Fort Worth for possession of the weapon.

Mrs. Simmons, 55, one of the nation's most prominent exhibitors of thoroughbred horses, was shot to death Thursday night in Mrs. Howard's room in a leading hotel. Mrs. Howard, 44-year-old divorcee, held in county jail on a murder charge, said Mrs. Simmons came to her room and threatened to kill her.

George Sheehan, close business associate of Mrs. Simmons' millionaire husband, told authorities he was in the lobby of the Mayo Hotel Thursday night with Mrs. Simmons and searched her purse shortly before the shooting. He found no gun, he said.

Assistant County Attorney M. S. Simms said, however, he had "definitely established" that Mrs. Simmons was shot with her own .25 caliber pistol. Sheehan, office manager of Simmons' numerous oil interests, did not say why he searched Mrs. Simmons' purse, but authorities said he apparently had reason to believe she was under emotional stress.

The county attorney's office said T. Karl Simmons was not available for questioning. His attorney reported that he was ill, and would not be able to appear for questioning, or several days.

Mrs. Howard refused to talk to newspapermen, but she told authorities she had known Mr. and Mrs. Simmons for "seven or eight years."

Well Known Here.

T. Karl Simmons, husband of the slain woman, is remembered by many Cisco people as having been connected with the late Bob Gilman in local oil operations in 1919.

In a telephone conversation Saturday, Mrs. Bob Gilman said she had known both Mr. and Mrs. Simmons for about 25 years and that Mr. Simmons attended Mr. Gilman's funeral here in June, 1938. Mr. Simmons never lived in Cisco, but visited here frequently during the early days of the oil boom.

Cisco's First Gasser.

The Cisco Roundup of December 12, 1919, carried the following news story:

Gilman & Simmons, oil operators have the honor of presenting to the city of Cisco the first well to be brought in near this city, in their 3,000,000 foot gasser, four miles north of here.

Not only is the new well believed to be indication of the trend of development in this direction and a prediction of bigger things for Cisco in the matter of development but it opens up the possibilities of a big oil and gas field right at the city's door—with perhaps unlimited gas yet untapped.

The well came in last Sunday night on the E. J. Ward tract. Coincident with bringing in the well Gilman and Simmons saved their lease for future development.

CATTLEMAN DIES.

STEPHENVILLE, March 27.—Burt Johnson, 65, widely known cattleman and commission merchant, died here Friday night after a heart attack. He had lived in Stephenville 15 years, coming here from Fort Worth.

MANPOWER REPORT.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Odds are that there will be no public release of that kitchen-cabinet manpower report, prepared by Baruch, Byrnes, Hopkins, Leahy, Rosenman. It will be officially scored too hot to handle. But it's already had one result—the Chester Davis appointment.

ALLIED SOLDIER SAYS: "THE EARTH SWALLOWS UP EVERY- THING WHEN THE BOMBS HIT"

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, March 27.—The British Eighth Army has carried out a successful attack against one sector of the Mareth line and is inching farther into Axis positions in the face of stern, determined opposition.

(Radio Algiers said British infantry, in a cold-steel bayonet attack, had gained ground in the Mareth area.)

Today's Allied communique indicated that the northern front, where the Allies apparently have been content to conduct a holding operation, was coming to life. Patrols from the British First Army conducted large reconnaissance actions, inflicting casualties and taking prisoners.

The tide of battle in the air continued to run heavily in favor of the Allies. Eight enemy planes were destroyed yesterday against an Allied loss of one. Axis pilots made a weak raid against the Algiers area and dropped a few bombs. Two of the raiding planes were destroyed.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army, supported by tremendous aerial power, appeared to be slowly wearing down the German-Italian forces in the Mareth line. The communique reported that prisoners were falling into the hands of the Eighth Army men, indicating a slow but steady advance.

Two-ton block busters were used by the Western Desert Air Force to help reduce the Mareth fortifications and to make raids far behind Axis lines. One squadron leader said enemy camps "just ceased to exist" under the impact of the big bombs.

"The earth swallows up everything around," he added. "The whole countryside is lighted up."

There was nothing more than local activity in South-Central Tunisia where two American columns are edging toward the sea in an attempt to cut off Axis forces in the Mareth Line.

However, a German tank attack, accompanied by a heavy artillery barrage, forced American troops to the southwest to fall back up the slope of Djebel Berda, near El Guettar, late Thursday.

C. R. Cunningham, United Press war correspondent on the El Guettar front, said the Americans now were holding positions on the top of the northeastern tip of Djebel Berda and atop Djebel Ank, directly east and across El Guettar Pass from Djebel Berda.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Republican congressmen talk more and more of MacArthur as their presidential nominee. Their reasoning: Roosevelt is sure to run. GOP will have to do something dramatic to beat him. Meanwhile Wendell Wilkie—whose strength is going up in his home state—tries to win over congressmen. It is agreed that the CIO chief—invites groups of them to visit him in New York, talk things over.

COAL STRIKE UNLIKELY.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Post-mortems today on John L. Lewis' three-hour debate with the Truman committee of the senate produced a general conclusion that the fighting leader of the United Mine Workers has been convinced he could not successfully pull a great coal strike in the middle of a war. However, it is agreed that the CIO chief—invites groups of them to visit him in New York, talk things over.

SOMETHING TO STUDY.

That "Freedom from Want" document issued by the National Resources Planning Board is arousing interest, in spite of most Americans' dislike for serious study of public questions. It was prepared by experts, and the long work has been reduced to a 58-page document, which can doubtless be obtained by application to the aforesaid Planning Board at Washington. Its theme is not a matter about which much can be done now, but it is a prospectus for the future development of our American democracy and the gradual solution of its big problems.

The aim is economic security for the American people, with what has been termed "the achievement of a stable security with a minimum dissipation of existing economic institutions." These are big words and broad principles, but probably not beyond the understanding of the average American. The job might be more simply described as a systematic plan to get out of the booms and busts, to keep people at work doing useful things in a natural way, to avoid social and business stresses and strains, to keep our American civilization rolling along more evenly and productively.

This is a job for government and people together, working at it more systematically than has yet been done. A good book to read along with "Freedom from Want" is the remarkable book, "Non the Unknown," written by Alexis Carrel, some years ago.

WORK AND FAITH.

Spring is here, as the reader has probably heard. And it ushers in the brightest year of American history. There will be little fun for anybody of normal understanding and imagination in this abnormal time. Everybody may as well get used to the fact that it will be work and slugging.

Worry has no doubt for millions of us. That is the worst devil we people have to fight. It is worry, rather than work or danger, that kills.

The best preventive is concentration on the job, whether that job be fighting or making munitions or growing crops, or a job keeping the home fires burning.

And faith—our cause and ourselves—is the greatest "moral builder."

THOSE CANNED BEANS.

When household experts began to advise amateur canners not to try to can non-acid vegetables, but to enjoy them while fresh and to throw their remaining energies into fruits and tomatoes, quite a few people protested that they had no ways to eat all kinds of vegetables safely. As no doubt many had, one very clear and interesting letter came from Dr. Eunice Walde, chairman of the Floyd county, Iowa, nutrition committee, printed in the Charles City Daily Press.

"Hundreds of thousands of people throughout the land are a happy, healthy testimonial to the fact that today's home canned vegetables are wholesome and nutritious. Home makers may follow the simple rules of home canning recommended by our own state experiment station and the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

"Grandmother depended upon high concentrations of sugar, salt or vinegar to keep her canned foods. Today, we depend upon heat to kill the organisms causing spoilage, upon hermetic sealing to keep the food sterile in both home canning and commercial processes. Acid fruits and vegetables require little heat, bland vegetables require more. In general an hour's processing in a pressure cooker, or three hours' cooking in a water bath, is necessary to guard the bland vegetables, such as beans, peas and asparagus, against fermentation, flat sour and petrefaction; and the Creased botulism organism is destroyed by ten minutes' cooking after the can is opened."

Some experts want the food cooked full twenty minutes after opening; but except for that one point, all authorities agree exactly with Dr. Walde.

KITES.

The American air men in China are not only doing a good job of hunting the oriental Huns, but incidentally are having some fun. They keep 'em flying in many ways than one. They have taken up kites for recreation. Even the warlike officers fly them, along with the enlisted men, and there is keen competition. There's a practical method in it, too, for gunners find the high-flying kites very good for practice targets.

Probably the mere mention of this development is enough to start a corresponding wave of kite-flying here at home. And if it seemed necessary, for the war effort, air guns might be used to shoot them down.

Kiting, by the way, like so many other things, seems to have originated in China. It has been a favorite sport not only of boys but also of old or idle men, possibly for thousands of years.

November, 1919

(From Files of the Cisco Roundup)

Following the arrest of C. P. Caldwell and R. H. Dorsey, local agents for the Texas & Pacific and M. K. T., who were charged by Dr. J. W. Gregory, city health officer, with responsibility for the unsanitary conditions that have existed in the lavatories of the local passenger station and the subsequent resignation of officials throughout railroad carmen of status here of the United States Railroad administration, two engineers and other representatives of the railroad were rushed to Cisco with the result that conditions at the station improved immediately. Doctor Gregory told the railroad representatives that he was satisfied for the present with the improvements and an understanding was reached whereby the city officer is to inspect the station daily and night except to the railroad when they are in caring for the lavatories again become apparent. The railroad men had the health officer was their plan to provide a set of benches to care for the lavatories and that the railroads would have no other duties. The T. & P. is planning an expansion of the station for the near future and its representatives told the city officials they would begin work the last of the month. So for the present at least the United States Railroad administration is safe from the clutches of Cisco law.

Cisco has a park board. Consulting M. H. Fleming is president, D. L. Rogers, J. H. Stamps, Mrs. F. E. Harrell and Mrs. H. O. Hawkins, and known as the park and cemetery board, the new body was brought into official existence this week through an ordinance unanimously passed by Mayor J. M. Williamson and the board of city commissioners. Duties of the new board are to be varied. It is to have full control of all land owned or to be owned by the city for cemetery or park purposes and will have power to adopt and enforce rules for the maintenance and beautifying of parks and cemeteries. It shall appoint a superintendent and care-taker and such labor as is necessary and will supervise the planting of shrubs, trees, or bushes. The members of the board will serve until relieved from duty by the mayor and board of commissioners who will elect successors. Work is to be started immediately on improving the appearance of the cemetery and members of the board have sites for new city parks already in view which it is planned to improve in the near future. It is said one of the proposed new parks for the city is a small tract located in Rosewell Heights which its owners will donate to the city.

What effect does the war have on the church attendance? Not much at all. Those who have developed a sense of need for worship will find their way to the sanctuary in fair weather and foul. Those who have never cultivated that element of living will not suddenly awaken to a taste for the sublime. The urge to worship is not dependent upon storm or calm. It is a process of growth and reflects the great purposes to which a life is devoted. It may be encouraged by deliberate attention and effort as one may learn to appreciate lovely music or it may be so neglected as never to have any vital place in one's life. But the church goes on and today those who want to worship, civilian and soldier, will seek out the sanctuary for

The marriage of Miss Gordon Gale Murray, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Murray, former Ciscoans, and Lt. Urcel F. Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Holloway of Los Angeles, Calif., took place Friday night, March 19 at 8:30 in the chapel at the Naval Air Training Center, Corpus Christi.

Cathedral candles in seven-branched candelabra lighted the flower-banked altar where Chaplain J. H. Brooks read the double wedding service in the presence of members of the family and a few friends.

A prelude of nuptial music preceded the ceremony. Perry Horine sang "There Are Such Things" and "Because." Traditional wedding marches were played for the professional and recessional.

Miss Murray entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a white satin wedding gown with val lace sashes and her veil of illusion fell from a beaded halo. Her gown was styled with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline with full skirt and court train. She carried a Colonial bouquet of callas and white carnations.

accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. J. R. Lanham of Cisco, grandmother of the bride, wore a pink pastel wool frock with blue accessories and corsage of white gardenias.

A reception was held at the home of the young couple, 314 Melrose Drive, immediately following the ceremony. The bride's cake was a two tier confection, topped by miniature bride and groom. The bride cut the first slice with the saber of the bridegroom.

The Bonds We Didn't Buy!

'Tis a mighty task my brother, This of waging Freedom's war; And we'll need a brand of courage That we've never known before But the Victory that awaits us, And no tyrant shall deny, Won't be had by wishful thinking, Nor the Bonds We Didn't Buy!

Those we love will strive undaunted In the sky! On land and sea! And they'll not renege at dying For the likes of you and me. And there'll be no turning backward Of the lads within the ranks— But the measure of their effort Is of Planes—and Guns—and Tanks! What of him who faces battle And a Nation's fate at stake? Waiting! Hoping! Vainly pleading, For the things we didn't make! What of broken lines that falter; Pay the penalty—and die? All for needless lack of something Bought with Bonds We Did Not Buy! ... And a chapter would be written Should they fail to see it through Of a beaten cringing people And the task "WE" failed to do; There would be a despot's emblem Where "Old Glory" used to fly, O'er a once proud land! Grim token of THE BONDS WE DIDN'T BUY!

To the Citizens of Cisco

I became a candidate for Mayor of Cisco not because of any one person, or any one group, but after the insistence of a great number of my friends.

As to my integrity, ability and honesty I will leave that to you, the voters of Cisco, where I have lived since 1913.

I claim no divine power, but with your help and cooperation will do everything that I can for the best interest of Cisco.

Anything that you can do or say in my behalf will be greatly appreciated.

WE WANT SERVICE

I, Jesse Penn, will express my opinion as to the coming city election. We do not want to make any changes in city officials now. I am like Dr. Ghormley. My mind is made up. We have wide-awake businessmen for our city officials now and let's keep them.

I have known G. P. Mitcham as long as anyone in Cisco, and know he is absolutely O. K. We don't want the bottom to fall out of Cisco altogether. We want a payroll of some size here if we can get one, and Mr. Mitcham will do everything he can for Cisco.

These sit-down soft-pedal mayors are no good for any town.

Vote for G. P. Mitcham for mayor — Geo. Boyd and J. J. Collins for commissioners.

I have done all I could for Cisco, but I was too little to do much. But I helped pave the streets — $2,600 worth. Show me any man that has beat that, will you? I served the city well on the city water works—15 years—What was I put out for? Just spite work. And it cost the city $1,600 when I was put out. I can prove that—A new pump to buy — nothing the matter with the one I was using. It was practically new. I bar no man in the water business—from one end to the other.

It's service we want now.
