ASA SKILES SUCCUMBS THIS MORN

News of the passing of Asa I. Skiles, 56, this morning at about 2 o'clock, at a Fort Worth hospital where he had undergone major surgery some two weeks ago, threw a spirit of gloom over his hundreds of friends who had inquired eagerly each day for some information of his condition, with a hope that improvement would come to him, and that despite the faint chance for a recovery, he might do the miraculous and be spared for a time, at least.

A telephone message early this morning from Dr. Elwin Skiles, the only child, who had been summoned to his bedside a few days ago, announced to A. C. Green undertaking establishment that Mr. Skiles had passed away, and for him to come for the body. The ambulance returned with the body from Fort Worth about noon today accompanied by Mrs. Asa Skiles, Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Skiles, Algie Skiles, and Rev. G. W. Parks, father of Mrs. Asa Skiles.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church, with Rev. Cooper Waters in charge of the services. Dr. A. C. Miller of Dallas will bring the message, and Rev. Judson Prince, of Fort Worth, another former pastor, will assist in the services. The body will lie in state at the First Baptist church from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. Wednesday.

Asa I. Skiles was born, Jan. 2, 1887, near Trenton, Tenn. He came to Scranton while a young man with his parents. In 1911, he married Miss Leoma Parks, and they both afterwards attended Simmons college at Abilene.

Like many other young men Mr. Skiles taught in the public schools and then became connected with Draughan's Business college as teacher, later becoming connected with West Texas Utilities company at Abilene. He was transferred to Cisco in 1919, but decided to enter the grocery business in 1920.

From a small store near the Grammar school building, the business grew until Skiles Food Store became one of the largest credit stores in this section, with the reputation of quality, which Mr. Skiles emphasized all through his business career.

Mr. Skiles has been a zealous and tireless worker in church affairs. Was a deacon since early life, was Sunday school superintendent for a number of years, and a member of the Rotary club.

Deceased is survived by his wife, one son, Elwin Skiles, and a grandson, Elwin, Jr. Three brothers also survive. They are Algie, Inman and Otis Skiles.

CISCOAN GETS WINGS. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas, 405 West Eighteenth street, have returned from Alabama, where they attended the graduation exercises Friday of their son Clifford Thomas, 20, who received his wings at Craig Flying Field.

Young Thomas returned to Cisco with his parents where he will spend his ten-day furlough. He has been assigned to duty near Richmond, Va., and will leave for his post at the expiration of his furlough.

GOAL OF 100 POUNDS PER PERSON NEAR

With piles of junk nearing 200 tons along the right-of-way of the EWF & G railroad Monday, trucks and details of the army's salvage unit now stationed in Eastland county were reaching out of the environs of Eastland, Ranger and Cisco this week to comb the smaller communities and rural districts in a continuing search for old metal.

Lt. W. A. McAleer, in command of the group of 60 men and some 30 trucks, jeeps and other vehicles, estimated that by Monday, after five days of work in the three cities alone, his unit had collected 175 tons. "It looks as though we will recover the expected average of 100 pounds per person from the county," he said. "That will be 3,000,000 pounds or 1,500 tons."

The soldiers will endeavor to see every householder in the country during the few weeks they are here. They will visit every house and knock on the door, requesting contribution of any amount of old metal which may be lying about. Nor will they ask assistance of any citizen in recovering and loading it. "Just tell the boys where it is, in the pasture or on the front porch, they will go and get it," said the officer. "We are equipped to remove and handle any junk. It doesn't make any difference how much or how little—the army wants it and we will be glad to move it."

He added that should anyone with junk to contribute be overlooked, he would appreciate a notification. His telephone number is 311, Eastland. Or a notice may be left with the local junk campaign chairman.

"The army needs your old metal to keep the production of weapons rolling. By cooperating in this campaign to the extent of giving us every scrap of metal that you don't need you will have an effective part in whipping Hitler and blasting Tojo off the map," said Lieutenant McAleer.

BAILY COMMISSIONED.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Bailey have returned from Moore Field, Mission, Texas, where they witnessed the graduation of their son, M. D. Bailey, Jr., Lieutenant Bailey, in addition to receiving the coveted silver wings of a flying officer and a commission as second lieutenant in the United States army air forces, was also presented a medal in aerial gunnery.

DR. WHITE QUIT UNIVERSITY TO BE SECRETARY

ABILENE, June 1.—Dr. W. R. White, president of Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene, since July 29, 1940, Monday submitted his resignation to become editorial secretary for the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, with offices in Nashville, Tenn.

The board of trustees late in the day accepted the resignation with regret and requested Dr. R. N. Richardson, chairman of the faculty to serve as acting president, pending selection of a successor. J. D. Sanderfer, Jr., Breckenridge, chairman of the board, was directed to name a committee of five members immediately to recommend a new president.

At the same time the board

COLLEGE STUDENTS GRADUATE

"Remember, that third name of yours is the important one you bear, and the one that will always catch up with you wherever you go," said Sen. A. M. Aikin, of Paris, who addressed the graduating class of Cisco Junior college Monday evening at the high school auditorium.

The senator said he attended a junior college and had always been a friend to such institutions, believing that the two years one spent there would be the most fruitful ones of the college career, because when one goes to a larger university, one becomes merely a number, with no personal touch or acquaintance.

Senator Aikin dispensed with all oratory and spoke in conversational manner as though he were talking to and instructing personal friends. His talk was very impressive and both graduates and audience gave the closest attention to every word.

"Pay your debts and keep that third name clean," the speaker said, and then went on to explain that your first name is the name of your father, the second name is the one your father and mother gave you. You have nothing to do with those names. But the third name is that which you make for yourself, and you will be making it all the rest of your life. "Be sure that it is a good one," he said.

The processional and recessional were played by Betty Slicker, Rose Ann Woods and Gloria Grakam, with a harp number by Mrs. H. B. Dierdorf. Registrar C. J. Turner gave the awards to Yvonne Morris and Jack Chambliss as honor students, while Dean O. L. Stamey presented the class to President R. N. Cluck who gave the diplomas.

Following the graduation exercises, Senator Aikin was taken for a visit to the Cisco War Workers Training Center, inspecting the training school and canteen. The senator expressed himself as greatly impressed with what the setup might mean to Cisco.

Those in the party were R. N. Cluck, L. A. Warren, E. L. Jackson, G. R. Nance and W. H. LaRoque.

FREE CHINESE HAIL GREATEST WAR VICTORY

CHUNGKING, June 1.—Five Japanese divisions were caught today in a trap formed by counter-attacking Chinese forces which rolled back the forward prongs of an enemy drive aimed at the heart of China.

COAL PRODUCTION HALTED 2ND TIME IN MONTH; MINERS IGNORE CALL OF GOVERNMENT TO WORK

PITTSBURGH, June 1.—Production of coal vitally needed in the war effort came to a halt today for the second time in 31 days when virtually all of the nation's 530,000 soft and hard coal miners remained away from the pits in conformity with their union's policy of "no contract, no work."

Even before the expiration last midnight of the truce called last month by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' president, when the government seized the mines scattered walk-outs took place, mostly in the soft coal fields of Kentucky.

The work stoppage became general today when the morning shifts in all the biggest coal producing centers ignored whistles at the shaft's and remained at home, apparently unimpressed by the fact that they now were striking against their government and faced the possibility of military action to reopen the pits.

In West Virginia, largest soft coal producing state, 130,000 miners due on the midnight and morning shifts did not report, and no major operations in the state reported men on the job. Operators reported that the work stoppage in the state's 600 coal mines will cause a daily loss of production of 800,000 tons.

The American flag flew over idle tipples in the Western Pennsylvania vituminous fields, where much of the coal used in the war-vital steel industry is mined. Approximately 625,000 tons of coal daily were shut off when the field's 125,000 miners refused to work.

RUSSIANS SEND NAZI ATTACKS REELING BACK

MOSCOW, June 1.—The Red army hurled back two German counter-attacks on newlywon Soviet positions near Lisichansk in the Ukraine today, inflicting what were officially described as "great losses" on the enemy.

Joining the fighting on the Lisichansk front, Soviet aircraft shot down four German planes in dogfights and destroyed 10 others parked on an enemy airfield, the Russian mid-day communique said.

Continued fighting was reported by the midnight communique in the Kuban area northeast of the Black Sea naval base of Novorossisk, but no details were given. The Germans have been battling desperately to retain their bridgehead there.

(German broadcasts said the Russians lost 65 tanks, 173 planes and a large number of infantrymen in the first five days of the Kuban battle, which they claimed still was continuing.)

(The Germans also reported that their troops forced back the Russians in a violent attack southeast of Velizh above Smolensk on the central front and beat off four Soviet counter-attacks. The German attack was designed to straighten the Axis line on the central front, the broadcast said.)

ITALIAN POSTS RECEIVE MORE BOMB ATTACKS

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 1.—The American air attack on Pantelleria and Sardinia, Italy's outposts islands, was maintained at a savage pace Monday and Flying Fortresses gave Foggia, the aviation and railway center on the mainland, its third heavy bombing in four days.

Incurring amazingly low losses in the face of dwindling opposition, the Americans shot down four of the enemy's planes in the sweeping assaults for a loss of two of their own.

It was officially stated that the confirmed score for destruction of enemy aircraft in May was 337 planes shot down in combat, against an Allied loss of 108.

LONDON.—RAF fighter squadrons sped through broken clouds over the southeast coast Tuesday to resume attacks on the Nazi-leased channel coast.

Many formations were seen from the ground and others, flying too high to be seen, were heard. The daylight stabs by fighter planes followed what was presumed to be night attacks by bombers, as residents on the English side of the channel reported the sound of bomb explosions from the Calais region.

THE TAX.

The modified pay-as-you-go tax plan adopted by the House and Senate conference committee on May 25 is probably as fair and reasonable as could have been expected. Those who are still dissatisfied should bear in mind that it might very easily have been much worse.

The best feature of the tax is the bringing of income taxes up to date, so that people will stop "paying for dead horses." Taxes coming due this year will be paid this year. Current taxes will come out of current income. And this should be easier for everybody.

The so-called "forgiveness" of three-fourths of last year's income taxes, which by the old system would all be payable this year, leaves one-fourth still to pay, but is a reasonable compromise. Strictly speaking, there never was anything to forgive, and the logical thing would have been to forget about last year's taxes altogether, in switching over to this year's plan. Not too much would have been lost by the government. But if paying a sacrificial one-fourth of the customary last year's taxes due this year, in addition to the 20 per cent new taxes starting this year, makes anybody feel more honest, that is all right. It will be collected by installments over the next couple of years.

The basic new tax of 20 per cent, which starts this year and will be collected one-fourth every quarter, makes this simpler by absorbing the present "victory tax." Thus when the hang-over tax above referred to is once cleaned up, the federal income tax will mean simply the payment to Uncle Sam of one-fifth of the annual income of a taxable person, in quarterly installments on the 15th days of March, June, September and December. People not drawing regular salaries will guess at their quarterly payments and make necessary corrections at the end of the year.

SENSIBLE.

Canada has a sensible way of guarding war prisoners within her borders. She has established a "Veterans Guard," composed of These older soldiers, trained long ago in the regular routines, are fitted to go on duty with only the slightest of refresher training. They release younger men for service abroad.

Recruiting officers of the Veterans Guard are urging men who could leave their farms or small businesses to their wives, fathers or younger sons, to join it and thus help their country. They are told that the financial set-up is generous, with leaves and personal care assured.

The United States has never had foreign prisoners in such numbers as are now coming, and no foreign prisoners at all for many years. People have naturally been wondering how they could be taken care of. The abandoned buildings of the CCC have been suggested and, indeed, may well be so used. Outdoor work improving the public domain seems appropriate occupation for prisoners who want to work and earn a little something for it. CCC camps are usually found at a distance from cities. Guarding the prisoners with older soldiers looks reasonable also.

"TATERS"

It takes a time like this to make people appreciate simple blessings. Potatoes for instance. Consider Sam Palmisano of Baltimore.

Sam managed somehow to acquire a truck load of these once humble vegetables, and was driving them to a market stall to dispose of them in a normal and lawful way, when a horde of women swooped down on him. They begged so hard that he simply couldn't help stopping and letting them buy a few. And while he was engaged in this humane procedure, the police swooped down and arrested him because he hadn't any license.

He drove obediently to the police station, and managed to get his license, and by that time a hungry mob had collected. They bought up every potato, at 10 cents a pound—which seems to add up to about $6 a bushel—before he could get away. Men and women were grabbing them and throwing money at him, and running with their precious "prizes" to keep from being robbed. Anybody might think it was Russia in her "hunger" days.

Well, it seems clear that there are going to be a lot of potatoes planted this year—if people can keep from eating all the seed. They'll be growing in thousands of formerly well-kept lawns. And city farmers will be standing over them with guns. Who would ever have imagined it?

SAME RUSSIA.

Some people seem to think that announcing the end of the Comintern Russia has abandoned Communism as a political faith. That is not the case. All the announcement meant was that Russia will no longer urge Communism on other countries. The Comintern was the great proselyting agency.

Stalin himself was never very much interested in what happened to governments outside Russia. The improvement of Russia herself, so that her citizens might be better fed, clothed, housed and educated, has been his great concern. In this he differed from Leon Trotsky, who wanted to Communize the world. Under Stalin, interest in the Comintern lessened. The war made Russian interest center on life itself. So the Comintern has been dying a natural death for years. All Stalin did the other day was to announce the death officially.

Russia inside its borders seems to be working toward some kind of democratic government. Russians like the Communist idea, especially in the collective ownership of farms, but their economy becomes more capitalistic in fact as the years go on. The announcement makes no change in Russian life or policy. It merely takes formal notice of a condition which has been growing for some time, and seems to pledge the end of proselyting.

SOUTH SEAS FIGHTERS FINDING THEIR PRAYERS ARE ANSWERED

American fighting forces in the Southwest Pacific are "taking their religion straight" and there isn't an atheist in a foxhole. Chaplain C. C. Taggart of the Army Air Force, whose base is in Abilene, declares. He just recently returned from the Pacific battle zone.

"In the Southwest Pacific battle zone the tempo of existence is stepped up," Chaplain Taggart writes. "Weeks, months, years of ordinary living are crowded into a single hour. Under these conditions diluted faith is not enough. At the front a man needs his religion straight. And when he prays, he wants his answer in a hurry. Many times their prayers have been answered with the speed of lightning."

As an example of answered prayers, Chaplain Taggart tells of the miraculous rescue of a Flying Fortress' crew of nine, through the sustained praying of Sgt. Albert Hernandez of Dallas, one of the crew members.

"One of our Flying Fortresses was forced down at sea on its way back to Australia," the chaplain relates. "The crew of nine was given up for lost. Weeks later nine bearded, disheveled men struggled into camp, and I had the story of their rescue from them."

The plane crashed before dawn and the crew only had time to shove off two rubber rafts, without a crumb of bread or a drop of water.

"The boys were pretty worried—all except Sgt. Hernandez," the pilot related. Right away that lad from Dallas started praying, and pretty soon he started us by announcing that help was on the way.

He didn't know how or when, but something told him that we should be saved."

"It's the gospel truth," Sgt. Hernandez told Chaplain Taggart, as related in the article. "I'd only been praying a few minutes when I felt like God had heard me and was taking a hand to help us out. From then on, no matter how bad things got, I was sure we would come through."

Before nightfall of the second day, "we felt a current reach us and hurry us along," the pilot reported. We soon saw the silhouette of palm trees, the white streak of surf, and, almost beyond belief, the black hulls of three outrigger canoes."

The nine crew members found a group of Australian aborigines who the day before, had changed their course and landed on the beach of a "worthless bit of coral." "A strange urge came over them and something impelled them to land and stay there," Chaplain Taggart relates.

The chaplain also tells of how he cancelled his reservation

Economical Meat Extender

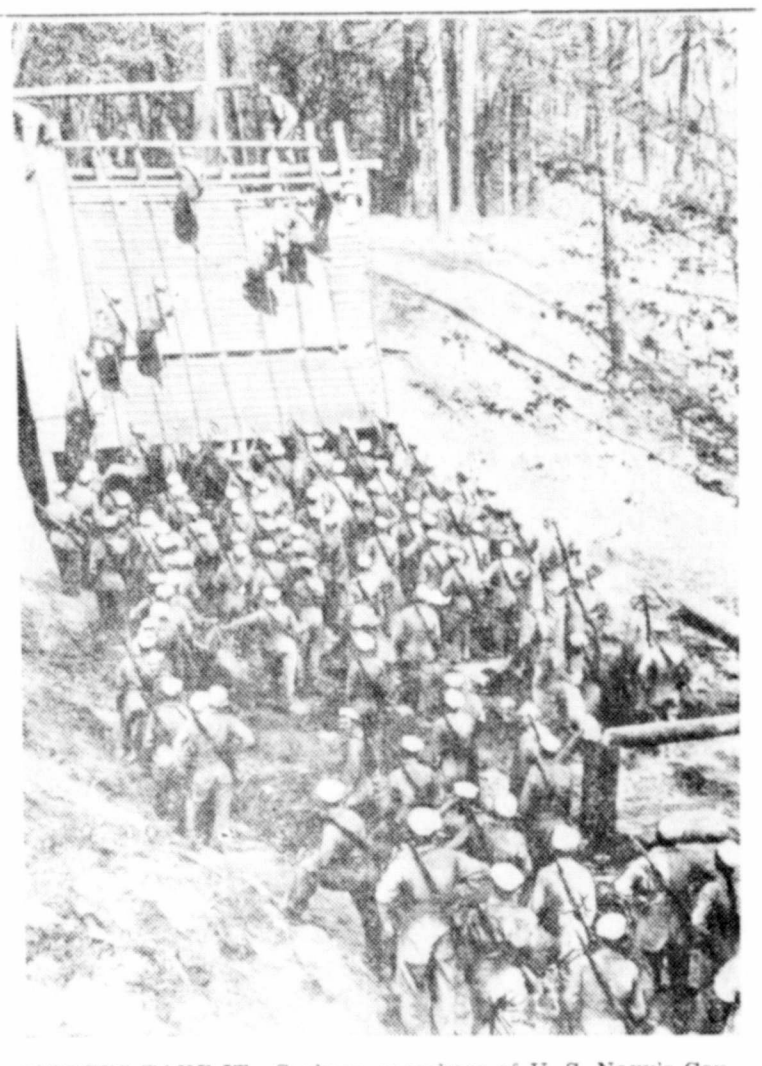

THESE are days to make a little meat go a long way. This recipe for Mock Chicken Legs will serve 12 with a pound and a quarter of ground veal. This economical meat extender dish can be prepared ahead of time and fried quickly in a little salad oil poured from your handy bottle. To make 12 Mock Chicken Legs, use:

1-4 pounds ground veal	1-2 teaspoon paprika
1 cup soft bread crumbs	1-4 teaspoon nutmeg
1-2 cup milk	1 egg, beaten with 2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt	2-4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1-8 teaspoon pepper	1 cup glassed salad oil

Combine ground veal, bread crumbs, milk, lemon juice and seasonings. Shape small portions around wooden skewers to resemble chicken legs. Dip in crumbs, then in egg and water mixture, and again in crumbs. Fry in hot salad oil, turning frequently so that Mock Chicken Legs will be evenly browned.

SOMETIMES - ON SOME CALLS - THE LONG DISTANCE OPERATOR WILL SAY -

"Please limit your call to 5 minutes. Others are waiting"

Many Long Distance calls go through about as fast as ever. But sometimes there's an extra-heavy rush on certain circuits—especially to war-busy places. Whenever that happens, the operator will ask you to limit your Long Distance calls to 5 minutes. The idea is to give everybody a fair share of the wires. That gets to be more and more important every day.
