ROBBERS LOOT HUBBARD CITY AND COOLIDGE

HUBBARD CITY, June 2.—In two swift raids shortly after midnight Tuesday, robbers cleaned out the cash drawers and safes of eight business houses in Hubbard City and an equal number in Coolidge nine miles away in Limestone county, after seizing the night watchman of the two towns.

Sheriff Sam Adkins of Limestone county, who discovered the Hubbard City raid as he investigated the mass burglaries in Coolidge, estimated the loss will be more than $1,500.

From the method of operation, Sheriff Adkins expressed the belief that the night raiders were the same gang that since May 11 has struck the business districts of Grandview, Deatur, Clifton, Ligan and De Leon and robbed a package store in downtown Fort Worth. Victims of those robberies have identified a picture of an escaped Texas convict as the leader.

FUNERAL HELD AT 3:30 FOR ASA SKILES

With altar banked with many lovely flowers, tributes of respect to the departed friend, funeral services for all that was mortal of Asa Skiles, churchman, civic worker and successful businessman, were held this afternoon at 3:30 at the First Baptist church, with his pastor, Rev. Cooper Waters, in charge and Dr. A. C. Miller and Rev. Judson Prince, former pastors, assisting in the final rites for this well known man.

The body was held in state at the church during two hours of the early afternoon, where throngs of friends and co-workers passed in sorrowful review.

Dr. Elwin Skiles, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Skiles, now pastor at Russellville, Ky., together with his wife, were present, having been called to his bedside at the Fort Worth hospital where he underwent major surgery, when a turn in his condition came.

Green's Funeral home had charge of the body and burial which was made at Oakwood cemetery.

Pall bearers were Dr. E. L. Graham, J. E. Spencer, Leon Maner, K. H. Pittard, G. B. Langston and C. S. Karkalis. All deacons of the church were honorary pall bearers.

ANTI-STRIKE BILL REVIVED IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The work stoppage in the nation's coal fields influenced many congressmen today to decide to support the drastic Smith-Connally anti-strike bill.

The House prepared to take up the bill despite protests by government officials that the measure would not help the coal situation and might contribute to further industrial unrest.

Ranking members of the House rules committee said they would fight efforts to delay the bill longer. The military affairs committee, however, called a last-minute meeting to discuss modifications which might make the measure more acceptable to government officials.

Previously there had been indications that Republican members might oppose the bill on the floor, but these have dwindled since the coal dispute reached its climax.

M'CAULEY TO HEAD LIONS CLUB

Lions had a full program today, which included a musical program, a very interesting talk on the Court of Civil Appeals, and the nomination of officers for the club for the next fiscal year which begins July 1.

Lion G. P. Mitcham had charge of the program, presenting Mrs. Oscar Stutenroth in vocal numbers with Mrs. Mort Forber at the piano. They were encored. The program chairman then introduced Judge O. C. Funderburk, of the Court of Civil Appeals, with jurisdiction in 23 counties of this section.

Judge Funderburk said he would bring a classification talk and tell something of his duties, which he summed up in one general statement of facts: To try appeal cases from lower courts where objections had been made by lawyers in the cases, but had not been sustained by trial courts.

The speaker explained fully that a court had only one function, and that was to interpret laws made by legislative bodies. "We as judges cannot make laws, neither can we execute them. We cannot usurp either of these clearly defined powers granted by the constitution that is the basis of all civil liberties of the people," the speaker emphasized.

"If a legislature makes a law that is a bad law—one that works an injustice, we can do nothing to change it. We can only interpret what we consider to be the intention of the lawmakers when they did it. The people, themselves must change it," the judge continued.

Separation of powers of the three branches of government—executive, legislative and judicial—must be kept separate if liberty of action is to continue. Any infringement by any one of these powers would destroy civil liberties, he emphasized.

Lion Russell Dennis, reporting for the committee on delinquency in Cisco and measures to be taken by the Lions club in solving some of its problems, recommended that the Lions sponsor a playground for all youth of the city, and to ask all civic and church groups to appoint representatives to meet with the Lions committee in a discussion of relief to the problem, which is growing in most every community of the United States.

Lion O. L. Stamey presented a graduation gift from the Lions club to Betty Slicker, who has been the pianist for the past several years. The gift was a traveling bag. Betty said "thank you" in her most perfect manner.

Acting for the nominations committee, C. M. Nevill presented the list of officers for the year, to be voted upon two weeks later.

It was as follows: President, R. W. McCauley; first vice, C. J. Turner; second vice, G. P. Mitcham; secretary, W. H. LaRoque; treasurer, J. T. Eggen; Lion Tamer, Austin Flint; Tail twister, Ray Judia; assistant tail twister, Harry Schmidt; directors, Geo. W. Downie, O. L. Stamey, Charles Sander, L. W. Seymour; pianist, Betty Slicker. Other visitors were P. R. Warwick and Rip Galloway.

All persons interested in securing or renewing automobile drivers license should appear at the city hall tomorrow between the hours of 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. during which time N. W. Jackson, Drivers License Division of Department of Public Safety, will be present to conduct examinations.

WORKERS AND OPERATORS FAIL TO AGREE AS STRIKE SPREADS TO THREATEN RAILWAY TRAFFIC

The nation's war industries — steel, railroads and electricity — were threatened today with immediate curtailment by the general coal strike which has halted production of an estimated 2,250,000 tons of bituminous and 183,000 tons of anthracite a day.

While 530,000 United Mine Workers refused to work for the second day without a contract, it appeared that President Roosevelt might intervene directly to get the mines operating again and prevent serious disruption of the nation's war effort.

The possibility of presidential intervention developed after the operators and the UMW were unable to agree on a portal-to-portal pay compromise suggested by Solid Fuels Administrator Harold L. Ickes.

The UMW agreed to a $1.50-a-day compromise, retroactive to April 1, but the operators balked on the retroactive clause.

As the impasse continued as Washington between the operators and mine chieftain, John L. Lewis, who have tried vainly since March 10 to consummate a new contract, industrial leaders pointed to dwindling stock piles and predicted serious repercussions to war production.

Steel operators, with coal supplies already at record lows because of a previous work stoppage in the bituminous industry, said continuation of the present strike will cause a sharp drop in steel production within a week.

Coal stockpiles at steel plants ranged up to enough for four weeks' operations, but many were less. Officials of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. said they had less than a 10-day supply at Clairton, Pa., which feeds six Carnegie-Illinois plants and two mills of other U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiaries.

WARSHIPS, U.S. PLANES HIT ITALY COAST

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 2.—British warships in their second bombardment of Pantelleria in less than 48 hours Tuesday heavily shelled the harbor area, barracks and batteries of the Italian island, it was announced Wednesday.

U. S. Flying Fortresses joined the air offensive against the battered island 45 miles off the Tunisian coast while other American attacks were made on the islands of Sicily and Sardinia.

The warships blasted Pantelleria Sunday night and then returned Tuesday afternoon, an Allied headquarters communique announced, to carry out a heavy shelling without loss, although there was some retaliatory fire from the shore.

Italian Fleet Powerless.

The communique's announcement of the bombardment said: "The island of Pantelleria was successfully bombarded by naval surface forces on the night of May 30-31. There was no effective opposition and our ships sustained no casualties or damage. The Italian fleet dispersed along the Italian west and east coasts appeared powerless to intervene against the British navy and no enemy air attacks against the warships were reported.

U. S. SOFTENS JAPS.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—American submarines, planes and surface ships Wednesday continued their deadly forays against Japanese supply lines throughout the Pacific, paving the way for new United States assaults on the road to Tokyo. In the latest foray against Japanese shipping in the Pacific, long-range United States submarines destroyed seven Jap vessels, including a destroyer. In addition, one vessel was listed as damaged and probably sunk.

CHANGING.

Little by little, the barriers between Soviet Russia and the western democracies break down. It is interesting to watch the changing situation, as it appears in the moves of Premier Stalin and President Roosevelt. The latter seems to do most of the barrier-breaking and the former does most of the yielding. Stalin is the stronger and tougher, but there is an old saying that "the soft tongue breaketh the bone."

The tough Russian dictator is certainly softening. Week by week he seems to emerge more from his isolation and cooperate more fully with his international associates in the huge job of smashing the powers that would wreck civilization. Developments are dramatic. The new Russian to Moscow of Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador, has been an important part of the drama, and a news picture of the messenger and the Premier clasping hands with broad smiles on their faces indicates further progress.

It is believed now that Premier and President will soon meet, to bind the mutual war programs more closely together. It will be a big diplomatic victory merely to draw the dictator out of his isolation. When they really get acquainted, Mr. Roosevelt may be saying: "You are a very stubborn man, Mr. Premier." And the latter may be replying with a grin: "You are a very persistent man, Mr. President!"

INCOMES.

Large incomes are not envied lately as they used to be, in the days of Andrew Carnegie and the elder John D. Rockefeller. And for a very good reason. Millions grow fewer, even in a time when immense profits are made by big business men. It has been said lately that, in spite of the apparent war opportunities for making money, no more millionaires are produced.

The money is made, but it doesn't do the makers much good. They earn it, but don't have it. Income taxes rise so sharply in the upper brackets that three-fourths of a big business man's earnings may go to the government. The captains of industry and finance are now "working for Uncle Sam" more than they are for themselves.

From present indications this situation will continue, and from it come notable changes in the American way of life and the relation of classes to each other. Workmen's wages rise as business incomes fall. Economic extremes come closer together. Aristocracy wanes and democracy waxes.

TRILLIONS.

"Trillions" is a word that most people know only vaguely, as being the number next above a billion. Astronomers may use it in measuring their colossal distances, but till lately it has been of no concern to anyone else. It may mean a little more hereafter. The House of Representatives recently passed unanimously a navy appropriation bill for 29 billion dollars. This, according to Congressman Joseph P. O'Hara of Minnesota, whose figures may or may not check up with the facts, brings the total cost of the war to this country, including lend-lease operations to "a quarter of a trillion dollars."

Not many years ago no one would have believed such an achievement possible for any nation. Yet even this vast sum is not a circumstance compared with what the United States will spend, if necessary, to preserve its freedom, or what it would cost if this freedom were lost.

VARIED WORLD.

Writing on the Russian situation, Anne O'Hare McCormick says in the New York Times: "More important than all is the evidence that Stalin has learned that the appeal of nationalism is stronger in the appeal of internationalism. Experience has taught him the indelible force of national loyalties, and the terrible test of war has proved beyond doubt the mighty strength of national feeling in his own country."

This might be called a picture of the world in general. International cooperation for peaceful progress is now the ideal of all truly civilized nations, but complete merging of the nations is something that hardly anyone wants. It is felt instinctively that separate development, with unity in broad essentials but with independence and diversity in their own national lives is the best ideal. A world in which all people were trained to do the same things and speak the same language and think the same thoughts would be terribly monotonous.

INFLATION.

People get tired being told of the danger of inflation. Mostly it is just a word to them. But when potatoes are ten cents a pound and there aren't any potatoes, they begin to get a vague idea of what it may mean. Inflation in its extreme, runaway stage may mean that a home which it took years to pay for may be sold for the price of a meal, and not much of a meal, at that.

Buying homes or building lots or bonds with the spare cash, and living with as little other outlay as possible, will help to avert that danger. Paying off mortgages and other debts helps, too. Buying lots of giddy goods and gadgets, and demanding raises to pay for them, only brings on trouble for everyone.

It is announced that women are going to dress plainly from now on. Could they be persuaded to leave off a little more of that lipstick?

If some of the beautiful dreams run out, things won't be so bad when it's over, over there.

KING-PRATER RITES HELD ON MARCH 22ND.

Miss Edna King of Scranton became the bride of Clayton James Prater of Fort Worth in an impressive ceremony held there on March 22nd with Dr. W. B. Andrews, pastor of First Methodist church, officiating.
The bride wore a becoming frock of heaven blue crepe, trimmed with lace and sequins with corsage of pink carnations. Her accessories were black. For "something old" she wore a gold locket of her mother's. "Something borrowed" was a pretty lace handkerchief belonging to her sister, Mrs. C. C. Webb.
The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. King of Scranton and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Prater of Lawton, Okla. The couple will make their home at 1201 West Rosedale street, Fort Worth where the groom is employed in war work with the Civil Service corps at the quarter-master depot.

LATCH FAMILY RETURN FROM TRAGIC RITES

Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Latch and daughter, Miss Lela Latch, have returned from Odessa where they attended funeral service at 10 o'clock Saturday morning held at the Immanuel Baptist church for Betty Jean Latch, 12 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Latch of Monahans.
The child was dragged to death while riding a rodeo horse last Friday morning on the property of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rendall, three miles from Odessa. She was an excellent rider and was playing "Rodeo" with her cousins when the horse broke into a gallop, dragging her by a rope tied to the saddle horn. She died enroute to the hospital.
Besides her parents and three sisters Faye, Lois Marie and Roylene, she is survived by her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.

SHE FORMERLY SAT ON IT—How to frame your face in the seat of a chair is demonstrated by Phyllis Jeanne Rose of Chicago. That nifty hat she wears is nothing but the cane seat of an old chair, done over with needle and scissors.

MRS. BATES' SISTER DIED IN SAN SABA.

Mrs. R. M. Bates returned home from San Saba Monday evening where she was called a week pre-

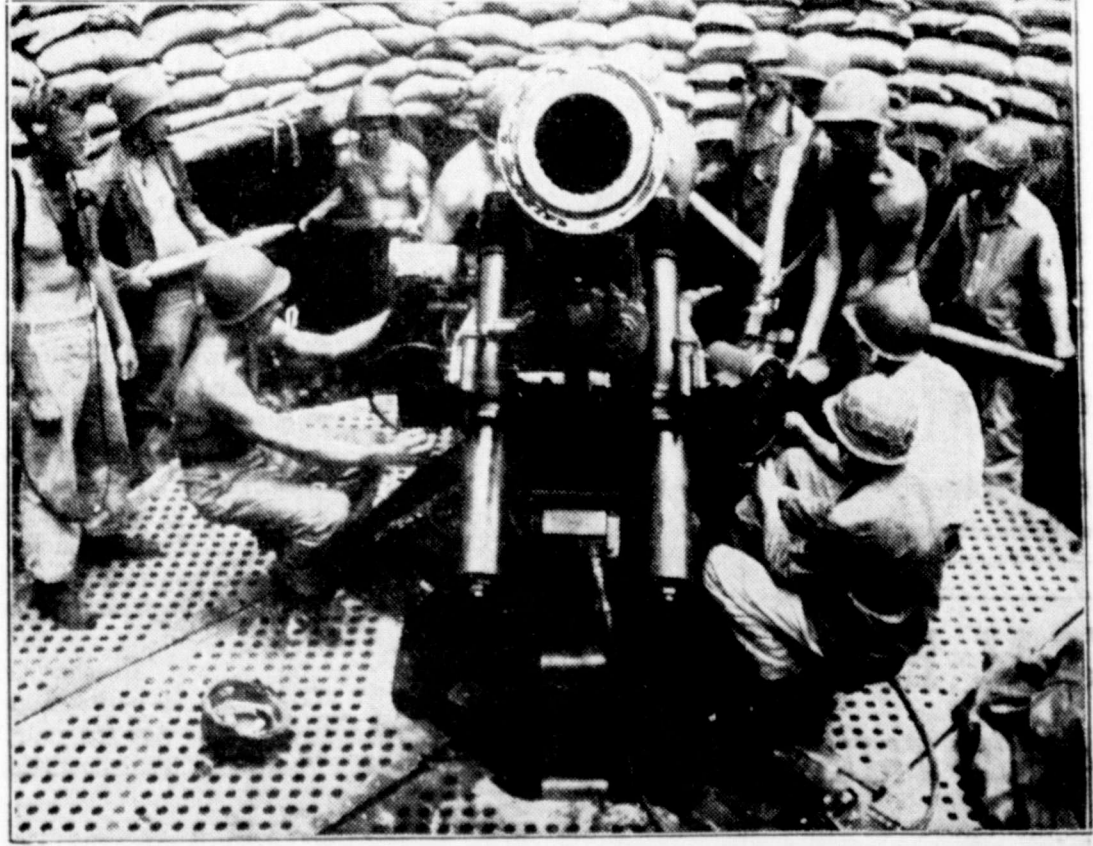

DECREE—Death penalty for strikes or slow-downs in The Netherlands has been decreed by Arthur Seyss-Inquart, above, German high commissioner for the enslaved country. Reports from London state that many Dutchmen already have been executed.

THERE LET HIM REST—Fellow-soldiers hold American flag over the plain box coffin of American soldier who died "somewhere in Alaska," as commitment service is held. He died a hero in the service of his country and his resting place is a wind-swept hill in the Far North. Bugler at right sounds Taps.

JAP SAVAGERY—Because Chinese aided Doolittle's men after raid on Tokio, Japs destroyed their towns and tortured and killed inhabitants. Picture taken by Vincentian missionary priests shows Jap destruction in Ying-tan.

BUSINESSLIKE SNOOT OF ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN—It pokes its way skyward while members of the crew get down to business. At extreme left is the "talker" with his telephone on his chest. Behind him are the ammunition passers, handing up projectiles from ammunition dugouts on either side of the emplacement. Just at the right of the gun a shell is going into the fuze-setter which sets the fuze to burst at a predetermined altitude. Sitting at either side of the gun are the men who match pointers on the dials of the mechanism which keeps the muzzle of the gun on the intruders.

(See Answer Below)

Know each step in OVEN CANNING before you begin!

All fruits and tomatoes, and tomato mixtures containing at least 50 per cent tomatoes, may be processed by the oven method. However, Lone Star's Home Economics Director, Albertine Berry, does not recommend this method unless the heat of the oven can be accurately controlled and maintained, because a constant, even temperature is most important. In oven canning, follow these steps:

1. Be sure that the oven heat can be accurately controlled.
2. Preheat and maintain oven temperature at 250 degrees, making sure that temperature does not build up during the processing time.
3. Use only tempered jars and check them to see that none are cracked or nicked around the rim.
4. Count processing time from the time oven door is closed. In filling jar, have at least one-half inch headroom at top.
5. In removing from the oven, be careful that cold air does not strike the hot jars. Place them on several thicknesses of towel out of drafts until they have cooled to prevent breakage.
6. Complete seal immediately upon removing jars from oven if necessary.

Help FOR HOME CANNERS

To provide all the information you need for successful home canning, Lone Star Gas Company offers a new fact-filled "Wartime Canning Booklet." Covered in this booklet are such important subjects as sterilizing and selection of jars, sealing, methods of canning, as well as a number of standard canning recipes. Here, in condensed, easily understood form, are 36 pages of detailed instructions that will aid both the beginner and the experienced home canner.

No charge is made for this valuable booklet. It is part of Lone Star's Service to you, our customers. Ask for your FREE copy today and get started on your home canning program.

Answer:

If you are one of the one hundred thousand homemakers who already has a copy of Miss Berry's Wartime Canning Booklet, you can tell at a glance what's wrong in the above picture. The oven is crowded. Remember to process only one rack of jars at a time and arrange them at least one inch apart and allow good space for heat circulation between jars and oven wall. To facilitate handling the hot jars, they should be arranged on shallow pan. This pan also will protect oven floor if there is any boilover or breakage.
